Furious Fighting Flares On Gaza Front

Israeli Raiders Blow Up Egyptian Military Base

Second Air Battle Occurs As Jets Cross Into Palestine

JERUSALEM (AP) — Fighting flared furiously along the Gaza front today. Israel said two of her jets shot down two Egyptian fighters. A Cairo broadcast said the Egyptian planes crashed during a reconnaissance flight.

Amid the fighting and disputed claims, an Egyptian spokesman declared Egypt had received an Israeli message urging an end to hostilities all along the tense border line.

The spokesman said the message was delivered through UN truce supervisor Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada and came from the Israeli foreign ministry. The message asked Egypt to cease "all future hostilities along the entire length of the armistice line."

Burns appealed to Israel and Egypt to accept his plan for a cease-fire until the United Nations can deal with the "very dangerous situation" in the Gaza area.

The air action came a few hours after Israel's foreign office flew to Cairo and tanks and troops blew up an Egyptian military headquarters inside the battle-scarred coastal area. The Egyptians admitted that 10 of their men were killed and 12 were wounded.

REPORTS DIFFER

An Israeli army spokesman said the Egyptian Vampire jets were patrolling over Israeli territory when the Israeli jets engaged them. He said one Egyptian plane blew up and the other crashed.

But a Cairo broadcast quoted an Egyptian spokesman as saying the two Egyptian planes collided in heavy clouds during a dawn reconnaissance flight. The spokesman denied that the planes were shot down.

Apparently referring to another air encounter, an Egyptian spokesman in Cairo said Egyptian planes engaged twenty Israeli planes in a biter. dogfight over the Gaza area today. "All our aircraft returned safely to base," he said.

The Israeli foreign office described Wednesday night's Israeli raid against Egypt's Khan Yunis encampment as "a reaction to active warfare" by Egypt. A spokesman said armor and Israeli troops punched through frontier lines "to wipe out a base "Egyptian terrorists" were said to have used as backs against Israel.

The attack came after the Jews said they would not join Egypt in a United Nations - sponsored cease-fire unless Egypt stopped shouldered blame for the last week's stepped-up violence along Gaza's frontier. At least 26 Israelis and 10 Egyptians have been reported killed since last Thursday.

Egypt agreed to the cease-fire Tuesday night.

A fiery broadcast by Cairo radio Wednesday night declared "the Arabs are on their way to Tel Aviv," the Israeli capital.

It promised that from now on there will be "only terror, the murderous terror struck by Egyptian commandos."

The state-controlled radio said in part: "There will be no more complaints or protests . . . no more policies of diplomacy, no Dulles and no Macmillan, only terror, the murderous terror struck by Egyptian commandos."

LONDON (CP) — Britain has delivered a new warning to Egypt and Israel about the dangers involved in continued fighting in the Gaza strip, a foreign office spokesman said today.

The warning, delivered orally by British envoys in Cairo and Tel Aviv, was the second one by Britain to the two states now involved in repeated hostilities since the Gaza border territory.

CALLS ON NASSER

CAIRO (Reuters) — Eric Johnston, President Eisenhower's special envoy to the Middle East, today called on Prime Minister Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Johnston is trying to get Arab and Israeli leaders to agree to a division of the Jordan and Yarmouk rivers in the Jordan river valley for irrigation and power projects.

French Troops Plan New Drive Against Berbers

CASABLANCA, Morocco (Reuters) — French troops were ordered today to make a new sweep in the Oued Zem-Khenifra area where Berber tribesmen staged a massacre of French settlers last month.

Reports reaching here said the security forces, supported by tanks and planes, were regrouping to comb out Berber tribesmen who had refused to capitulate.

Units involved are stationed in Morocco, as French reinforcements poured into the country by air and sea.

In Rabat Gen. Pierre Boyer de la Tour, new French resident-general in Morocco, began to carry out France's promised "new deal" for the strife-torn protectorate.

MEETS SULTAN

De la Tour had a date for talks today with aged Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Arafa who after two years on the throne will abdicate soon as part of Paris's plan to stabilize Morocco.

Strict security measures still were maintained today in the Arab quarters of Morocco's main towns, where new disorders were feared in protest over de la Tour's removal of the popular Gilbert Grandval.

PREDICTS ONEDAY WEEK

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Men will work one seven-day day a week and receive the amount received the same pay they now get for a 40-hour week, says Joseph Frederick Lamport, director of the National Recreational Association of New York. He told the California Recreational Association of New York. He told the California recreation committee Wednesday that the work week was 84 hours 100 years ago, and within 20 years it will be 30 hours.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Temperatures this morning were typical of early September. Most of southern Ontario dropped to the low 50s while low 40s were reported in the north country. White River, traditional cold spot, sank to 36 degrees. It will be cool again tonight but Friday's sunny skies will see temperatures warming up to between 75 and 80 degrees throughout the entire province.

CHRYSLER STRIKE SETTLED AFTER JUST SIX HOURS

Agreement Patterned After Ford, GM Terms

DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler Corp. and the CIO United Auto Workers agreed on a new contract today six hours after a strike shut down Chrysler plants in the United States.

The settlement was expected to end immediately the strike which already had sent many of the 139,000 American Chrysler workers off their jobs.

The UAW said it would try to get all of its members back to work as soon as possible.

The agreement was patterned closely after the Ford and General Motors contracts reached in early June. The provision included . . .

Ford-GM-type layoff - pay plan which guarantees employees 60 to 65 per cent of regular take-home pay for up to five weeks of idleness.

Chrysler and the UAW compromised on an issue of retroactivity which had snagged the settlement beyond the strike deadline last midnight.

Chrysler finally agreed to start paying five cents an hour for each employee into a trust fund beginning today—three months after Ford and GM started paying into their trust funds. But benefits under the Chrysler plan will become available only to the 1, the same as at the other two big three companies.

The strike came as somewhat of a surprise. Most observers here today had predicted an early and peaceful Chrysler settlement in line with the Ford-GM pattern.

When no settlement had been reached at midnight, union officials announced firmly: "the strike is on."

Hubby Sleeps As Wife Argues With Intruder

KITCHENER (CP) — Gordon Mogridge's unlikebidden wanderings led him into an 8 p.m. curfew Wednesday.

Convicting the Galt man of Indecent assault, magistrate James Kirkpatrick ordered him to be in his own home every evening by 8 p.m. for the next month, and to take mentalhealth treatment.

A pretty young brunette housewife told the court she testified he had ventured into her bedroom while her husband slept by her side.

She had awakened to feel the bedroom move, then to touch of a hand. She said she argued 15 minutes with the stranger, trying to persuade him to leave.

Mogridge told the court, "I'm a very sound sleeper."

Negro Boy, 15, Insults White Woman So Is Abducted by Husband, Shot

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP) — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People says Mississippi "has decided to maintain white supremacy by murdering children."

The statement came after the body of Emmit Louis Till, 15-year-old Chicago Negro, was found in Tallahatchie river Wednesday.

A sheriff's deputy said the boy had been shot in the head shortly after he was abducted from an uncle's home after, some witnesses said, he had made "ugly remarks" to a white woman in her husband's store.

Charged with kidnapping were Roy Bryant, the storekeeper, and of the so-called better citizens."

The NAACP in condemning the boy from his uncle's home, but that he told him Till was released later unhurt.

Shortly after the body was found, executive secretary Roy Wilkins of the NAACP in New York issued his statement charging white supremacy by murder.

He also said:

"The killers of the boy felt free to lynch him because there is in the entire state no restraining influence of decency, not in the state capital, among the daily newspapers, the clergy nor any segment of the so-called better citizens."

Madman Hid in Wild 1½ Years, Made Mill, Lathe and Guns

EDMONTON (CP)—A man who lived like an animal but purchased survival with mechanical genius is reported to have been returned to a mental hospital from the thick woods he made his lair for 18 months.

He prowled by night in search of food and whatever he could fabricate uncooked, In summer his bed was a mound of mulse covered with tree limbs and burlap sacks and in winter he huddled without a fire in a small hole in a bank.

Yet without proper tools, and using castaway parts of tractors and old automobiles, he fashioned a grain mill to grind the wheat he picked up from the fields, built himself a lathe, a rifle and a revolver.

The strange story of the man everyone thought was dead was reported Wednesday by the Edmonton Journal, which said the escaped patient was captured last week and returned to the mental hospital at Ponoka, Alta.

The paper's account says, posed a new problem for police—the identity of a body found in a burned haystack shortly after the escape. In the belief the body was that of the escapee, the case was closed.

The 51-year-old man was reported to have been found in dense bush 40 miles southwest of Edmonton, flushed out by RCMP officers and district farmers who started a search after finding his summer sleeping place.

"At first the men thought they were bears as they drew the account said. "His black hair was hanging to his shoulders and was tied in a bun on top to keep from falling in his face.

Policeman Calls Mass Murders In Sask. 'Methodical Madness'

The Pellock family home near Fenwood, 30 miles west of here, for 20 years an uneasy vault for their mile-square farm's crops in turns, was raided thoroughly by the gunman before he fled, police said, but from outside the trim two-storey house there was no sign of disorder.

The bodies of Pellock's 21-year-old wife, Angelina, and his widowed mother, Mrs. Harry Pellock, 72, were covered with potato tops the two women had cut while working in their garden 50 feet from the house. Angeline was shot twice—once from close range, police believe the shootings took place Monday.

When Michael's brother, 35-year-old John, was reported missing Tuesday, an RCMP constable looked around the farm, but found everything seemingly normal.

Later, two other constables did the same, and found nothing out of place until a playful barnyard cat led them to the women's bodies in the garden. Then the search for Pellock's two children forced their way into the house through a window.

Diefenbaker Asks Commission On Administration of Justice

OTTAWA (CP)—A noted Canadian criminal lawyer who is also a member of Parliament says Canada should have a royal commission on justice administration and penal reform.

John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative MP for Prince Albert, told the Canadian Bar Association Wednesday such a royal commission's main aim should be to find ways of rehabilitating hardened and confirmed criminals and of repeat offenders. There should be a wide investigation into penal methods.

Mr. Diefenbaker, member of a five-man panel discussing criminal law before a section of the association's annual convention, said the royal commission be composed of "men who are judges of nominees of federal and provincial governments; social service institutions and other organizations.

He said he is certain that a revision of prisoner handling practices would result in fewer persons being convicted a second time after serving sentences.

The association's civil liberties section, meanwhile, heard a report from the Ontario section explaining its objections to recent Ontario legislation reducing jury representation in civil cases to six from 12. The report also suggested simpler procedures by which Ontario government tribunals, commissions and the like can be reviewed in the courts.

MANNING MEETS PRIME MINISTER, HOWE ON PIPELINE

Natural Gas Dilemma May Be Solved at Talks

OTTAWA (CP—Canada's multi million-dollar dilemma on a west-to-east natural gas pipeline could be cleared up today.

Prime Minister St. Laurent and Trade Minister Howe will be discussing the problem with Premier Manning of Alberta, where most of Canada's gas reserves are located. The cabinet may take up the question later.

The three-night speculation in the capital the ministers would have before them at least two proppositions connected with the $550,000,000 project of Trans - Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. to bring natural gas from Alberta to Ontario and Quebec.

Trans-Canada proposed originally to build, with private financing, a 2,295-mile from Alberta to the east, going north of the Great Lakes. It ran into money raising difficulties, and that plan has been indefinitely for the present.

The speculation was that the cabinet might consider today these alternatives:

1. A sale of gas by Trans-Canada to the United States mid-west to Tennessee Gas Transmission Company, with Trans-Canada buying gas from Tennessee at the Ontario-U.S. border at Niagara, Trans-Canada would then build to Toronto, Montreal and other customer communities while building money for later building of the over-the-lakes line.

PUBLIC FINANCING

2. Public financing of the all-Canadian route from the west by way of a crown company, in which the federal, Alberta and Ontario governments would participate.

Mr. St. Laurent said recently the government was looking at three proppositions. But those are all he didn't know what these were.

A third project could be one known to be in the mind of Mines Minister Prudham, which proposes Alberta gas into the eastern U.S. Prudham feels this could make the all-Canadian line economical now.

Trans-Canada, whose sponsors already have invested $13,000,000 in the enterprise, has offered the government a guarantee it will construct the Ontario-Quebec line in five years if permitted, for the benefit of gas it would bring to the U.S. and take in gas from the eastern U.S. to meet Ontario-Quebec requirements.

The company is to go before the board of transport commissioners Sept. 15 to plead for permission to build a pipeline between Toronto and Montreal. This would be to feed Montreal, for the present, with gas imported from the U.S.

Occupants Of Car Crushed To Death As Auto Dragged

Another Passenger Given Little Hope of Recovery

LAVAL-SUR-LE-LAC, Que. (CP) A slow-moving ballast train plowed into a car at a level crossing early Wednesday night, crushing six of the seven occupants to death as it dragged the car a quarter of a mile across a railway bridge.

Three of the victims were the children of a Sudbury, Ont., couple. Their mother and another woman couple also died while their father was in critical condition in hospital.

Dead are Mr. and Mrs. A. Chevrier, aged 46 and 40 respectively, of Charlemagne, Que.; Mrs. Armand Beausoleil, about 30, of Sudbury, and her three children. Only the nine-year-old girl, Desneiges, was identified immediately. The other children were a boy and a girl, one about six years old and the other about seven.

Armand Beausoleil, 28-year-old driver of the car, was given little hope of survival by Sacred Heart Hospital authorities in nearby Carterville following an emergency operation.

DROPPED THROUGH TRESTLE

He, Mr. Chevrier and the Beausoleil boy were tossed from the car as it was pushed along the tracks. Mr. Chevrier's body was cut in two and all the other bodies were mutilated. Mr. Beausoleil dropped through the trestle some 25 feet to a ledge, where he was found critically injured.

The scene of the accident was a Canadian National Railways level crossing, unmarked except for the standard-warning crossbuck, on the outside the swank municipality of Laval-sur-le-Lac, north of Montreal. On one side of the crossing is a small passenger waiting room. On the other side and about 200 feet away is a two-span bridge across the Mille Iles River.

The Beausoleil family, who are believed to have been visiting the Chevriers at Charlemagne, on the eastern edge of Montreal, had decided to go with their friends to nearby Ste. Dorothee to visit relatives. T he accident occurred about 9:15 p. m. EDT while they were en route.

TRAIL OF BODIES

The train, empty of its usual cargo of rocks and earth, trundled over the crossing and across the first bridge span and part of the way across the second before coming to a halt. It left a trail of shattered debris and broken bodies.

The two wrecked and two girls were trapped in the wreckage. Parts of the late-model car were sheared off by the bridge's guard rail, others were torn off by the railway ties.

Yak Is Charged With Assault

TORONTO (CP) — Benjamin Yakupovich, better known as Ben Yak, Canadian bantam weight boxing champion of the 1930s, was arrested today by Toronto police and charged with assault.

Det.-Sgt. Frank Tanner was walking home when stopped by two men. Detective Taulien Wedge, 27, said he was struck by one and her struck in the face and kicked into unconsciousness.

Constable Set Vacant House Afire To Prevent Children Smoking There

CHATHAM (CP)—A 69-year-old police constable charged with arson said he broke into a vacant house set fire to a vacant house in nearby Merlin to prevent children from using the building as a place in which to smoke secretly.

Sidney Sharpe, only police officer in Merlin, pleaded guilty to the charge and gave the explanation in a statement taken by police and read in court.

Magistrate Harold B. Craig suggested Sharpe should be given psychiatric examination. Magistrate Craig, before passing sentence, asked the crown to discuss the case with the judge in chambers.

Sharpe was arrested Tuesday following an investigation of a fire which destroyed the house Aug. 19. Damage was estimated at $1,000.

Evidence was Sharpe had been seen near the house by a neighbor. Sharpe said he did not intend the fire to spread to other buildings and had fired the vacant house "because people complained of children going in there and smoking."

Ten P.C. Boost In Western Freight Rates

OTTAWA (CP) — A 10-per-cent boost in western freight rates on grain moving to domestic markets has been given tentative approval in a move to balance the rates paid between rates in eastern and western Canada.

The board of transport commissioners, in a formal judgment Wednesday, said it plans to authorize the increase for the railways next March 1 but will not issue a final order until after it holds hearings here late in November.

The increase would not apply to grain moving for export, carried at the prices fixed by the International Wheat Agreement.

Convict Police In Morals Case

MONTREAL (CP) — The Herald says two Montreal policemen accused in a morals case involving "seven girls and a boy" were convicted and fined in social welfare court.

Social welfare court cases are held in camera, with the press excluded from the sessions. Judgments or convictions are not made known officially.

The newspaper says it learned the constables now await action, pending disposal of the department's disciplinary board.

The warrants accused the constables of having committed "immoral acts" in the 15-day period between April 13 with two girls, one 17 and the other 14.

If Chivalry Really Dead This Killed It

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—If chivalry isn't dead, this may kill it.

Mrs. H. D. Schuster told police Wednesday that her young son was playing in front of her home when a little girl, her arms loaded with groceries, came by. The boy ran and got the red wagon, helped her load it and waved her on her way.

Baritone Gives Brief Concert In Lions' Den

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—Gino Bechi, well-known Italian operatic baritone, gave a short but successful concert Wednesday night in a cage with five lions.

While the lions flicked their tails nervously, Bechi entered the cage at Orfeo circus, sat down at a piano and started out with "La Donna del Bosco" (The Road of the Woods).

Observers said there was a slight tremolo in his voice at the start, but he settled down nicely as the program progressed. The lions appeared confused.

Bechi said the 12-minute performance won a bet involving dinner for five friends.

He declined encores.

PEACH TREE GROWS FROM PLANTED PIT

Children often plant peach pits in hopes of someday having their own fruit trees, but one local resident proved it can be done.

The man, Mr. Alfred C. Cooper, 35 Lewis Street, planted a pit from a peach seven years ago and then waited for the results of his labor. Last year his hopes were rewarded when he noticed his tree bearing fruit, even though it was only one peach. To prove it can be done, the tree rewarded him even more this year when it produced three bushels of good-looking fruit.

CUSTOMS RETURNS SHOW INCREASE

Customs returns for the Belleville office for month of August were up $53,017.98 over the same period last year, it was reported today by Gordon Miller, customs collector.

Returns for the month were $710,675.17 as compared with $657,619.19 for August in 1954.

Chief Urges All to Exercise Greatest Care

With peak traffic conditions of the season expected to prevail over the Labor Day week-end motorists and pedestrians were urged today by Police Chief Walter Probert to exercise the greatest care for their own safety and highways.

The chief noted that especially careful driving will be called for on Tuesday following Labor Day when about one million Ontario children will be starting back to school after their long summer vacation. Of these about 100,000 will be attending school for the first time and will not yet have had the benefit of school safety training.

These children will be very young and undoubtedly excited and pre-occupied with their new experience. Their small size and swift movements make extra precautions necessary on the part of all motorists.

The chief noted that traffic movement is becoming increasingly complicated as the number of vehicles using the streets and highways increases. In Ontario there are approximately 104,000 more vehicles registered now than at the same time last year, an increase of 7.4 per cent. Taking a chance by ignoring the rules of the road or disobeying traffic signs and signals is almost bound to result in an accident.

Driving habits which fail to include the rights of other motorists or pedestrians can be a very grave menace.

"Do your level best at all times to drive and walk considerately, both for yourself and others," Chief Probert urged.

Small Changes In Hydro Price Won't Alter Rate

"Infinitesimal changes" in the rate at which Ontario Hydro wholesales power to Belleville and district municipalities are not expected to produce any alterations in the rate at which power is sold to private, industrial or commercial consumers.

An announcement from London, Ont., earlier today went into effect schedule of rates for Western Ontario municipalities ranging from Sarnia to Belleville. Rates in Sarnia is $1.00 in Aylmer.

In announcing the establishing rates effected the decreases mentioned. Whether the adjustment will be passed on to the consumer is a matter for the municipalities to decide.

E. G. Gurnett, manager of the East-Central area of the Hydro stated that the adjustments in Western Ontario are the result of constant analysis of Hydro rates. Adjustments are usually made annually based on a survey of costs.

He pointed out that Belleville, with a rate of $35.25 per kilowatt year enjoys one of the lowest rates in the province. Changes in the East-Central area affect 29 towns which include everything from Whitby east to the Quebec border, are minor. Increases range up to 37 cents per kilowatt year in certain areas. There are 24 minor increases, 20 decreases and 19 unchanged rates.

These rates are the rates at which Hydro sells power to the municipal system. "Resale", or retail rates, are not expected to change.

One of the principal factors in the reduction of rates in Western Ontario has been the construction of a steam generating plant in Windsor with substantial reduction in transmission costs.

Power originally delivered in Belleville was taken from generating stations on the Trent River and the short transmission distance is one of the reasons for a low rate. Now, however, the district has outgrown its own capacity and the local system is tied into the power network from Niagara, the Ottawa and St. Lawrence rivers.

Mr. Gurnett, when asked what effect power developments on the St. Lawrence might have on the rate at which power is sold locally, said he did not expect much change. He explained that the development of St. Lawrence power would stimulate the establishment and growth of industry and would, therefore, create new employment. However, Hydro has been working to stabilize the rate across the province and little change can be anticipated here.

Large, Varied Produce Supply On Local Market

Trade picked up on the local market this morning. Business increased over Tuesday's slow pace while produce offered was in great supply and variety. Prices however, continued mostly unchanged.

Niagara peaches were a feature offering, bringing 70-80 cents a six-quart basket, while Niagara grapes also were in abundance at 65-75 cents a basket. Clapp's Favorite pears were 75 cents a basket. Other fruits, including Duchess and early offerings of Wolfe River were 50 cents a basket. Crab apples were 75 cents. Sugar plums were 60 cents a basket and Burbanks 85 cents.

Tomatoes sold from 40-45 cents a basket with some green tomatoes also at 40 cents. Corn was 35-40 cents a dozen while pencil pod beans were 20 cents a quart. Spanish onions were 10 cents each, while cooking onions sold upwards to 75 cents a basket with silverskins 40 cents a quart. Potatoes A large

Obituary

MRS. GEORGE MANLY CLARK (R.R. 8, Belleville)

Mrs. Lillian Frances Clark, widow of George Manly Clark, R.R. 8, Belleville, died at her late residence on Wednesday, August 31st after having been ill for three days. She was in her 67th year.

The deceased was born in Prince Edward County, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Mattis, and lived most of her life in this district.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Lenna MacDonald and Mrs. Lotie Way of Belleville; and three sons, Robert, William and George, all of Toronto.

Also surviving are a sister, Mrs. Maggie Booth of Belleville; two brothers, John Mattis of John Mattis, both of Belleville, 12 grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren.

The deceased was a member of Christ Church Bedford.

The body is resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

CUTHBERT WYNNE THOMAS (R.R. 2, Belleville)

The funeral of Cuthbert Wynne Thomas was held on Thursday, September 1, from the Weaver Funeral Home, Trenton. The Rev. K. A. Slemin conducted the service. The funeral was under the direction of the Canadian Legion, Trenton Branch No. 110.

Interment took place in St. George's cemetery.

The deceased was born in Penarth, Wales, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John H. Thomas, and lived in Montreal prior to taking up residence on the Belleville Road, where he died ago. He died in Trenton Memorial Hospital on Monday, August 29, after having been in ill health for the past eight months. He was 57.

The deceased operated Thomas Tourist Camp for eight years. He was a member of the Anglican church. He was a veteran of World War I having served with the Canadian Army from 1914 to 1918. He was a member of the Montreal branch of the Canadian Legion.

Chapter Members Enjoy Corn Roast At Hay Bay

The Belleville Chapter of the SPERGSIA (the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc.) opened its fall season last night serenading the moon at a corn roast on the shores of Hay Bay.

Songsters travelled from St. Margaret's-on-the-Hill church to Hay Bay in a motor caravan that featured automobiles younger than those of the Glidden Tour and songs older than grandpa.

Members were informed that regular meetings would begin on the second Wednesday in September, (the 14th) at St. Margaret's-on-the-Hill church.

Prospective corn eaters, rather prospective new members, are invited to contact Don Sexsmith, Wonneach, 217 Pinnacle Street.

continued at 50 cents a basket, while beets were 60 cents a basket. Cabbage brought 10-15 cents a head and broccoli 15 cents a bunch. Cucumbers continued in heavy supply with dills 70 cents to $1 a basket, gherkins 85 cents to $1.50 and slicers five cents apiece. Squash was in light supply. Hubbard selling up to 40 cents, pepper squash 25 cents a patty pan 10 cents each.

Eggs were 63 cents a dozen for

Former Aristocrats of Roads, Passing Through City on Tour, Become Cynosure of All Eyes

The cars with the world's greatest air-conditioning systems passed through Belleville today but not one of them was under 25 years of age.

They were the cars of the U.S. Antique Automobile Club, bowling leisurely Montreal and the Gliddon tour of Canada.

Stopped route here during a brief lunch-break, many of the former aristocrats of the highways and now the gay dowagers of automobile history, the antiques were the cynosure of hundreds of eyes on city streets.

In all 257 automobiles, representing over 50 years of America on wheels and about a half-million dollars, brought hundreds of Bellevillians to line sidewalks and street corners to marvel at their quaint beauty.

All the giants of the spring of 1905 were there, some of them being some of the midgets besides, some of them even sawn up into the giant models of today, others now only museum pieces, their makers endless for ever.

MANY EUROPEAN MODELS

Despite the fact most of the models were American, European models were well in the line-up with the famous makes of Renault (French, vintage 1914) Ford sayings of Rolls-Royces.

Pride of the entire cavalcade was a 1907 Rolls-Royce Landaulet, which first saw the light in 1907 and still sustained pride its own from spectators as it ambled through the city.

Among the babies of the parade were a 1933 Marble Swift and a Studebaker Dictator, while the grownups are well represented with the 1928 Hudson Super Six.

Most of the drivers stopped over for lunch at a motel east of the city on the Kingston road. Here the rows of proud old models were crowded by excited auto enthusiasts, scrutinized, patted and wondered at. Climbing from their high, spectator perches, most of the drivers had to run a gauntlet of questions before they could make their ways to the dining room.

KEEP CONSTANT WATCH

Inside, some of the drivers felt little comfort either, keeping a continuous watch on their vehicles surrounded by eager, marvelling crowds.

"Oh, it's priceless," one motorist said, eyeing the crowds. "We don't mind them looking at them or admiring them but we do have to watch them."

This is easily understood when one considers the value placed on the vehicles. About the only thing needed to complete the remember of the club appears to be genuine, fascination of auto antiquity, money, spare time, and lots more money. One driver reckoned it might cost anywhere between $3,000 and $7,000 to recover one of the ancients, many of them discarded as battered, old hulks, lying in wreckers' yards, behind barns and crumbling away.

Such was the case with one of the big attractions of the cavalcade, a model-K Ford, sold in 1908 and now the proud possession of Elmer Bemis of Brattleboro, Vt. A fascinating powerful car, it was one of Henry Ford's earliest and most successful models which most people reckon didn't help him any in accumulating his fortune.

Now painted white, with bright brass fittings, Mr. Bemis reckons its value around $7,500. After he unearthed it three years ago, it was almost a case of junk: it cost him in the region of $3,500 to recover its body, upholstery and engine.

INEXPENSIVE TO MAINTAIN

However, once in running order the autos are reckoned as inexpensive items to maintain. At least so says B. C. Hartline, Akron, Ohio, who drove another one of the prize pieces in the caravan—a 1912 Locomobile. Once the Cadillac of its times, the Locomobile cost Mr. Hartline $4,500 four years ago.

"The expensive thing is getting the car," he says with justification.

About the biggest item one it's the run gasoline to be gasoline. Because of the size of the engine, which is a low-compression job like most cars in the show, and the reckoned equivalent to 120 horsepower today, the car consumes about a gallon to every seven miles.

The story is the same with most of the others; a 1906 Ford makes about 15 miles to the gallon, a 1909 Hartford, up to 18 to the gallon.

Besides being fun to drive for the average motorist it probably appears a mystery how the members of the tour can remain for hours on end, perched high in the air on seats that make today's upholstery efforts look like a silky-soft affair. The hole answer is enthusiasm.

"Uncomfortable? No sir, not after 40 years of driving," said one driver. "Besides I have more interesting than anything you would care to mention."

"Huh!" echoed another member of the open-air caravan. "No. We just keep rolling along."

Believed Injured Driver Fell Asleep at Wheel

The accident happened on Trent Road shortly before nine this morning about a quarter of a mile west of the cemetery crossing.

Jack Pearson of Guelph, driver for Allied Van, said he pulled his van off the highway and was going over his shipping papers, when he happened to glance up and saw the approaching truck coming straight at him.

"The highway was clear but the truck veered over onto the north lane and came straight on without slackening speed," Pearson said, "I think the driver must have fallen asleep."

Force of the impact drove the heavy transport loaded with furniture back about 18 inches while the engine of the smaller truck was stove in. The engineer was knocked from its mountings and driven back about three feet.

50 Jets, Canberra Bomber At Trenton Before Air Show

Fifty jets and 100 aircrew and airmen from RCAF Station Trenton and Canada will arrive at Station Trenton, Tuesday, Sept. 6th for a three-day practice period before staging a big air show at the CNE Sept. 8 to 10.

The giant Canberra jet bomber to visit this part of Canada will be featured in the aerial mystery of the Royal Air Forces. It was a Canberra jet that recently flew from Canada to New York and back to London in 14 hours.

In addition to jets, Mustangs and heavy transport aircraft will be arriving at Trenton. Practice will commence Sept. 7th and will continue throughout the day and early evening.

All aircraft participating in the CNE extravaganza, with the exception of Chipmunks, will operate from Trenton. Aircraft at Trenton will include visitors from Chatham, N.B.; St. Hubert, Quebec; Uplands at Ottawa; Toronto and London.

Shopping Made Easier At Canadian Tire

Canadian Tire Corporation for many years have built their business on a low profit, high speed pace with modern shopping habits, they have inaugurated their Credit Budget Plan. The highlights of this plan are that a customer may purchase any merchandise or service over $20, with no down payment, for weekly payments as low as $1.

On accepted accounts there is no waiting, immediate delivery of any goods can be secured. Under this new scheme there is no outside interviews or references required.

As in all of Canadian Tire Corporation activities, they have been successful in setting up this plan with a minimum cost to the consumer. Carrying charges are much below most other companies.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market was a little more lively in first-hour trading today after Wednesday's slowest session of the year.

Industrials were narrowly firmer with some selective buying in foods, papers and steels. Gains of a point or so went to Canada Machinery Corporation at a high of 13¾, Canada Packers B and United Fuel Investments B preferred, at a high of 36.

Base metals remained lightly easier on the group's index, though numerous gains dotted the list. Several seniors gained fractions. Up 15 or 20 cents were United Asbestos, Violamac, and Quebec Nickel.

There was little action among uraniums. Rabbit Mining was active for the second day, adding 7 to 91 on 61,000 shares.

Leading western oils up with light gains were Federated Pete, Canada-Atlantic and Central Leduc. Anglo-Canadian was up 10 to 13.70 following approval by shareholders of a merger with Canadian Oil Companies. The latter improved to 22.

There was little movement in golds.

Operating Theatre Should Be Kept Quiet Says Doctor

TORONTO (CP) — From the patient's eye view, says Dr. Max Alexander, of St. Catharines, a hospital operating theatre is bad enough without doctors and nurses making it worse.

That, he says in the Canadian Medical Association Journal, is precisely what they do.

While the patient is supposed to be in preparation for the operation, he says:

HARD ON PATIENT

Doctors exchange jokes with the anaesthetist.

Orderlies fuss about to no purpose.

Even cleaning goes on.

"This scene is terribly disrupting to the patient who likely spent a horrible night of terrible dreams, and now is faced with high white walls and ceilings and immense eyes that are blinking lights hanging from the ceiling."

QUIET NEEDED

The room should be kept quiet with none allowed but an anaesthetist and a nurse, with only the anaesthetist talking.

"The result," he says, "is a less excitable patient, less restlessness and confusion on recovery, and less anaesthetic required."

Probing Story Of Man Forced To Drink Poison

Ontario Provincial Police are investigating the story of Percy Brant, 28, of Deseronto, that he was grabbed Tuesday night by three men and was forced to drink poison.

The man was treated by Dr. D. C. McVicker of Deseronto who ordered him to the Belleville General Hospital where his stomach was pumped out and a sample sent away for analysis. Police reported Brant appeared normal and was apparently suffering no ill effects from anything which might have been taken.

Brant was to appear this morning in county magistrate's court before Magistrate T. V. Wills on a charge of theft of a heifer calf. His case was enlarged to September 8th.

Food Products And Merchants Day Is Observed

TORONTO (CP)—Women are in the spotlight today at the Canadian National Exhibition and the daily salute to the provinces reaches Quebec.

Wednesday was food products and merchants day. F. A. B. Rands, general manager of the Retail Merchants Association food division, speaker at a CNE directors' luncheon, argued against domination in any area by one type of retail distributor.

He said independent business believes wholeheartedly in the necessity of keeping competition strong and vigorous. However, it believed in fair competition, and the "everything goes" type in which smaller rivals were crushed without restraint.

"The managers of large corporate enterprises often forget that the test friends they have in this country are the independents. The large corporations who have used predatory practices to beat their independent competitors are terribly shortsighted."

Tenders for the new women's building at the exhibition were opened by the Toronto board of control Wednesday. The lowest of 10 bids was from the Foundation Company of Canada for $3,076,770.

ONLY JET CRASHES

BERN, Switzerland (Reuters) — Switzerland's first and only home-built jet fighter crashed today. It was Constance Wednesday after its test pilot had parachuted to safety, the federal military department announced.

ONE WOUNDED, ONE DEAD IN GUN BATTLE

A policeman is shown throwing a tear gas bomb into the Detroit, Mich., house where a crazed gunman held 500 policemen at bay for hour hours in a violent gun battle. Police identified the men as Charles Luther Rollins, 44, who had been visiting in his nephew's home. Police finally had to set fire to the roof of the house in order to drive him out. As he came out he ran into a hail of bullets and died on the lawn. One policeman was wounded as he approached the door to investigate neighbors' charges that Rollins was "terrorizing" them.

Harlem Youths Torture Peddler

NEW YORK (AP)—A policeman shot and wounded a 15-year-old boy in Harlem early today while pursuing five youngsters who set flaming torches to the feet of an ice peddler.

Joe Lee Louis, 36, said the boys used torches made of paper and cardboard on him when he refused to hand over about $85 he had hidden. One held a knife at his back and two grasped his arms during the attack.

BARKED WRONG TREE

DETROIT (AP) — James Rapp, 27-year-old sophomore at Wayne University, barked up the wrong tree to the tune of $40. He was found hacking away at a tree in a city park and fined for violating a city ordinance. Rapp told Judge W. McKay Skillman he "needed some elm bark to do research on the Judge told him.

Savings Bonds On Sale Oct. 17

OTTAWA (CP)—The 10th series of Canada savings bonds will go on sale Oct. 17, it was announced today.

Finance Minister Harris said in a statement he expects the 10,000,000b order for this type of security will be signed during the sales campaign.

Dated Nov. 1, 1955, and maturing Nov. 1, 1967, the bonds will pay 3¼ per cent annual interest, the same rate as the 1954 series. They will carry 12 annual interest coupons and will be offered for sale at 100 per cent up to Nov. 15.

Bonds will be available in denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000 and $5,000. Limit for buildings in any one name will be $5,000.

Canada's Trade Shows Expansion During July

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's trade continued to expand in July with both exports and imports showing gains in value over July last year, the bureau of statistics reported today.

Rise in the value of imports, which has been general this year, was slightly greater than that of exports, which have had uninterrupted monthly gains since October last year.

Total exports for July were valued at $357,000,000, up 8.5 per cent from $329,100,000 in July, 1954. Imports were estimated at $372,-800,000, an increase of 9.3 per cent over $341,200,000 last year.

Rise in imports was due to increased purchases from the United States. Imports from the United Kingdom and other regions were slightly lower in value.

MODERATE INCREASE

The month's trade resulted in a moderate increase in the import balance to $15,800,000 from $12,100,-000 for July last year.

In the seven months ended July 31, total exports were valued at $2,420,100,000, nearly 10 per cent above last year's figure. The record for this period is $2,496,900,-000 in 1952 when grain shipments were exceptionally high.

Value of imports in the seven months rose to $2,582,200,000, almost eight per cent over the 1954 total for the corresponding period of $2,391,300,000 and exceeded only by the 1953 seven-month total of $2,622,000,000.

PEARSON AND COMMUNIST CHINA

Hon. L. B. Pearson, Minister of External Affairs, last week raised again the question of diplomatic recognition of Red China. He raised the question in an address to a women's club in Vancouver.

Recognition of Red China is a sore point among the free world's diplomats. Pearson's sounding of public opinion at a women's club meeting is less significant than a show of hands in the Commons but it serves to indicate the trend of his thinking and may be a portent of official action. It was not the first time that he has invited discussion on the subject. His latest trial balloon is bound to provoke considerable editorial comment.

Britain has recognized Communist China since Chiang's ouster six years ago and has advocated admission of Red China to the United Nations for more than two years. Mr. Pearson has entertained thoughts of recognition of Red China for more than a year. The United States government has by themselves forcefully in opposition to any diplomatic recognition of the Red Chinese regime.

Both sides have a case.

Diplomatic recognition of a Communist government does not mean approval of Communism. Canada already recognizes the Communist regime in Russia. It is a fact that the Red Chinese government in Peiping is, in truth, the government in control of the Chinese mainland. It is the government of the Red-led resistance of South Korea. South Viet Nam and the countries of southeast Asia.

Nationalist China already has a seat in the United Nations. Peiping has established a claim. The Kai-shek's Nationalist government must relinquish its claim as China's rightful government and that Formosa must be brought under Red control as a result of a peaceful settlement. Like the dilemma in Asia. Chiang, for all his supposed faults, has been fighting Communism longer than any other world leader. His regime in China has brought down by a combination of Communist fifth column activity, pro-Red support of Communist armies by Russia, and withdrawal of aid from Chiang by the United States on the recommendations of General George Marshall in the U.S. government during the 1940's. Chiang was dispossessed of China by guile and force. He was not deposed by election.

Can the Free World, which has opposed Communism in the cold war and spent a major proportion of its treasure in an arms race with Communism, afford to cut off any natural ally? What would be the effect of recognition of Red China on the resistance of South Korea and South Viet Nam which are still in peril from Chinese Communist armies? Would recognition of Red China unleash new waves of subversion and coercion in southeast Asia? Could India resist the onslaught of Asian Communism which has gained diplomatic sanction in the West?

What would the West gain by recognizing Red China? It would be possible to meet and talk with Red Chinese leaders. Would it prevent future incidents such as the shooting down of British mail planes and the imprisonment of American civilians? Would the Red Chinese leaders demobilize their armies and abandon their efforts to subvert the rest of Asia? It is not likely.

Sampling Red Chinese opinion has been accomplished by delegations from the British Labor Party and by talks at Geneva with the present wishy-washy diplomatic recognition of the Red Chinese regime. The torture of prisoners, the continuing imprisonment of foreign civilians, the massing of armies past the 38th parallel in Korea and the harassment of Chinese civilians in the free countries and territories of southeast Asia, as well as the military dictatorship of the Communists in Indonesia, add other yardsticks for the measurement of Red China's diplomatic position.

The West has little to gain and a great deal to lose by granting diplomatic recognition to Red China.

Official negotiation with the Reds offers little hope of improving the tense realities in Asia. Whether diplomatic recognition of yet another Communist state is worth sacrificing anti-Communists, and providing the Reds with yet another sounding board in the councils of the world, is a problem that will continue to stump the Free World diplomat in their several approaches to the grim realities of the Communist — anti-Communist struggle.

SUPERIOR CREATURES

Cat-owners — "guardians" is a better word, since no one really owns a cat — have known all along that their pets are superior creatures. Now it's official, with respect to at least one aspect of the claim. Two scientists at Boston University of Chicago have discovered after a series of tests that cats can hear notes at 60,000 cycles a second, an accomplishment not shared by any other animal — not even man, whose best is 20,000 cycles. SIGHT-SAVING

Of this the grown should be aware,	We know to train their hands is wise.
Since faulty vision life can blight.	To keep them strong our plans are made.
The children's eyes need proper care.	But take for granted that their eyes
Not all are born with perfect sight.	Will perfect be without our aid.
Sight is our country's great concern,	Now here's the month that's set share.
And guarded closely it should be.	For saving sight which all can
The children that are slow to learn	The vision oft at birth denied
May possibly be slow to see.	Still may be saved with proper care.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

Sept. 1, 1935

Miss Sadie Doran has returned to Toronto after spending her vacation here with her grandmother, Mrs. M. Doran, George Street.

Miss Hazel Halpin and Miss Doris Calcutt spent the week-end in Brockville with the latter's sister, Mrs. Tree.

Mrs. R. Slone, of Windsor, Ontario, is visiting at the home of her brother, Dr. C. A. Marshall, Bridge Street east.

Miss A. Beaudoin Pierre, vicar of St. Thomas' Church, Mrs. Pierre and her son, David Payne, and the Rev. B. F. Byers and Mrs. Byers, have returned from Toronto, where they spent the month of August.

The descendants of Robert and Samantha Fleming held their annual picnic at Oak Lake on Wednesday of last week and sixty relatives and some friends sat down to a sumptuous dinner at noon. During the afternoon there was a program of sports. One of the feature attractions of the afternoon was a bang-up softball match between Harry Rollins' Blue Shirts and Clarence Rollins' Never Sweats. The latter team won by a small margin, the score being 13 to 12. The game of pitching horseshoes was watched with interest and the well known players of the game, William Holbert and Richard Fleming, showed the younger players many of the fine points of the game. The picnic was a most enjoyable affair and it was decided by the members of this branch of the Fleming family to invite all the female descendants to the reunion next year; the arranging of this event was left in the care of the secretary, Harry Rollins, of Belleville.

Sept. 1, 1925

Mr. F. Rawson has left for Montreal to bring back a new motor for the city bus service. Mr. Walter Aseltine accompanied him.

The Belleville Fair opened today at the new fair grounds and the attractions themselves to exceed all previous exhibitions here. People are surprised and delighted at the new buildings, grand stand and race track. The officers are as follows: hon. presidents, E. Guss Porter, K.C., M.P., Belleville, and P. Mayor W. C. Mikel, James Hill, M. P. P., Picton; Warden A. E. Warden of the County of Hastings, Walter Wiggins and John Wardell of the County of Prince Edward president, George F. Ostrom; first vice president, Charles Porter; second vice president, H. E. Fairfield; secretary, J. H. Mikel; treasurer, C. D. F. Reid; directors, — R. J. Garbutt H. Freeman Redden, W. W. Anderson, Robert E. Colling, Dr. R. W. Tennent, John Lafferty, W. C. Springer, Robert Mitchell, F. Denyes, T. W. Bamford, D. D'Eyncourt, Alfred R. Symons, Adam Palmer, S. Wellbanks, H. A. Thompson, R. S. Clark, Charles J. Symons, Thomas P. J. Power, C. E. Reid, Harold Sanders, Earl Wess, William Calvert, Fred B. Smith, J. Lill, S. Sinclair, Charles Babcock, Harry B. Stock, D. Valleau, Harry Greenleaf, E. Finkle and Charles Campbell.

Some former pupils may still be here. Miss Dorothy M. from our file copy at this time in 1935: "Madame Tourgis will resume her classes in music and French on Sept. 7 at her home on Potts Street."

40 YEARS AGO

Sept. 1, 1915

Mr. William Scattery has been passed for admission to the fifth year school in Toronto and will leave for that city shortly. Mr. Scattery has graduated with honors in Belleville Collegiate Institute and has been a valued member of this year's high school.

The month of August just passed was the wettest month in seventy years.

Sept. 1, 1905

A pleasant wedding occurred on Sunday last at the home of Mr. Tom Ketcheson in Sidney township, which was the gathering together of the descendants of the late James Bow, of Thurlow, Ontario township. Those present at the reunion were Mr. Tom Ketcheson and wife (nee Glass); Mr. Peter V. Green and wife (nee Ketcheson); Mr. Alfred Hawkins and wife (nee Ketcheson); Mr. Peter V. Green and wife (nee Glass); Mr. Wesley Glass, Mr. Glass, Miss Clara and Frances Glass of Sidney township.

Treasures Are Varied

(Montreal Gazette)

Near Hudson, N.Y., one of the new enterprises of the atomic age was enthusiastically set up four years ago. It is the Iron Mountain Atomic Storage Corporation, which guarantees that anything stored in its underground vaults will survive a nuclear explosion.

The storage fee is rather intriguing. Iron Mountain charges $3 a year for storing 432 cubic inches. The vaults do not accept money, narcotics or explosives. They have accepted a formula for preserving the wedding gowns; two trunks full of old family silver; a surprising quantity of diamonds; and the microfilmed membership list of the Colonial Dames of America.

This partial list shows a surprising confirmation of optimism and pessimism. After an atomic blast, one customer believes old wedding gowns will still be valuable, another believes he'll still need the family silver; another thinks money might be outdated but diamonds will still be a girl's best friend. The Colonial Dames believe the respect for blue blood will survive.

Nobody seems to have tried to rent the most obvious thing of all—living room in Iron Mountain, wastepaper basket.

Mutations Might Help

(Ottawa Journal)

There before us were the dread clippings, from Geneva, Switzerland and Geneva Park, Ont., not to mention Ottawa, describing the possible menace of radioactivity to future generations. They (the clippings) had gone and how they might be effected to cause changes in mankind as plants and insects have been changed by radiation.

Then came the news at the situation demanded until a friend peered over our shoulder and guffawed that any changes in us probably would be for the better. He elaborated. The curse of parents due to radioactivity could make future Scotsmen specifically, smoke-proof. Future Irishmen would be accordingly free from the English, make all Canadians readily identifiable to bomber Americans' bombsat.

Better, he went on, that a baby should be born with a geiger counter (junior size) in its mouth than a silver spoon. When its radioactivity was measured its abilities could be established and the necessary adjustments made with radioactive pills.

"It's an ill wind", said our adviser, heavily, and as he bumbled off we flung our clippings in the wastepaper basket.

New Era in Literature

(By Fasi Engle, professor of English at the University of Iowa, written in the New York Times.)

A new thing in the history of literature is happening in the United States as creative writers are by universities, creating their own books and helping young talents create theirs. Many people suspect all this activity. Is it possible that the air of the campus is like a pink aniseed gas — one whiff is tolerable, but prolonged breathing can kill?

The distinguished British critic V. S. Pritchett argued against writers at universities, saying that they dry up "not from lack of inspiration but from loss of the habit of writing." But the habit of eating is another one writers are reluctant to give up for long.

What is happening is this: Without professorships, you can grow your own hair on a billiard ball, many teaching writers believe that you can certainly help talent grow more luxuriantly when it is present. The great teachers have done it, after all, not abstractions called literature, but flesh and blood men committed to a page by living men in the fury of their inspiration. Even the tense presence of writers may actually warm the study of literary texts.

With a small income, the writer is free to refuse publication in the market. He can write what he wishes, without that need or grind-ing pressure that makes the faces of so many writers for contrivance. Even the writer alone among artists not teach, when surely most musicians and painters do. Talent grows by use.

There is always, of course, the problem of time. Yet there is always the impossible man even Robert Frost, still writing poetry after nearly forty years of association with colleges. And with the burden of teaching. Archibald MacLeish at Harvard, and one of his poems of lovely lyrical motion.

The sequence of school-college-college teacher certainly may shut off experience, may dull the vigor of life around him. But not nearly as much as such a sequence would in England with its more aloof social structure.

Just as genuine talent has survived the hazards of the big, public school, so will it survive the gentler corruptions o fthe university.

But there is more in the university atmosphere than the poison of poetry. The universities actually went writers. The old tradition of the writer as the court fool, the patron, more dependent than the state, more stable than the individual.

The universities in America are leading our huge upsurge in the creative arts. They have excellent university presses, many have excellent theatres (Oxford still has none).

This is a new idea in education. The emphasis is on creating the arts, as well as on flourishing departments of painting, music, studying them historically. At the University of Iowa a talented student may submit for an undergraduate degree, or for any advanced degree including the PhD, a book of poems, a novel, a symphony, a play, paintings or sculpture, a play.

The new imagination that produced the art of the past is not astonishing explosion but a steady and disintegrated. It is alive today in the young men and women of this country. It is the university's privilege as well as its obligation to honor it.

As an example of how the college can help a writer to work-in-practice, students at Iowa have produced in the past year or seven novels, as well as stories and poems regularly.

All this is not new to a different university climate. Certain teachers have always helped talented youth who would otherwise never, be found on a campus, however hospitable to talent. Of course there is a danger that a young writer may wither away in to criticism alone, but criticism alone at any time they have ever written. The right kind of encouragement with sharpness is invaluable.

There is a tremendous urgency toward the arts in the young people of this country. Our universities would be derelict if they did not help.

Boys and Butter

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

It could be assumed that everyone in Ontario and a great, great number of people in the other provinces of Canada know about The Boy Scouts' Jamboree held at Niagara Falls, Ont. This was a great event and Canada and Ontario may well be proud of itself for the manner in entertaining these boys and having a great jamboree which would have been in this great dairy country of Canada if these boys had been given the privilege of eating Canada First Grade Pasteurized Creamery Butter.

To see that these boys did get Canada First Grade Pasteurized Creamery Butter, the Ontario Creamerymen's Association financed the purchase of the butter, to the extent of three thousand dollars. The Dairy Farmers of Canada, Alberta, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, the Ontario Cheese Producers' Marketing Board, the Ontario Concentrated Milk Producers' Marketing Board, the Ontario Cream Producers' Marketing Board, the Ontario Milk Producers' League, each of the aforementioned associations, gave a substantial donation. The Montreal Milk Producers' Association, the Quebec Cheese Producers and the Co-operative Agricole de Granby gave seventy-five dollars. Each of the 17 of six thousand and seventy-five dollars. The balance was made up by the Milk Producers' League, each of the aforementioned associations, gave a substantial donation. The Montreal Milk Producers' Association, the Quebec Cheese Producers and the Co-operative Agricole de Granby gave seventy-five dollars. Each of the 17 of six thousand and seventy-five dollars. The balance was made up by the Dairy Farmers of Canada.

It took seventeen thousand pounds of Canada First Grade Pasteurized Creamery Butter to give each of the 17,000 boys a supply of butter which at fifty-eight cents a pound would be nine hundred and eighty-six dollars. Some of these boys come from countries that never see butter on their table. How nice to realize that in Canada they had Canada First Grade Pasteurized Creamery Butter at fifty-eight cents for each pound of butter, which was the amount they would have had to pay for the cheaper spread.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

It would be hard to estimate the number of millions of dollars cash the Canadian public—that is you and I—have lost during the past few years through the forest fire that have blazed all over the realm, but it must be the government's. It is not the lumber of pulpwood interests. It is every taxpayer's. For the forest wealth lost would have gone into the kitty of each province in the form of royalties on the wood industries. And the deficit will have to be made up in taxes. Every year we lose a forest fire, start figuring on adding a few dollars to your next year's or the year after tax bill. It is the impersonal attitude of most people to forest fires that most irritates those whose job it is to protect the forests from them. It is largely the fault of the terrible and costly battle of the forest rangers with camp and picnic fires, with cigarette butts tossed from cars, with truck windows is responsible for so many millions of dollars of loss and expense in fighting that the fury of a tired fire ranger at the end of one of the bestial fires that destroy.

A fire ranger friend of mine overlook a camping party of two men and two women who where standing on the shore in quiet rage at a sight that met their eyes. One of the most beautiful campsites in the region had been burned out the previous year by careless campers who had failed to extinguish their fire in the open air stone fireplace the campsite afforded. The ranger pulled his boat in shore and said:

"Isn't that a dreadful sight!"

"It is horrible. When for three years past, we have camped here every trip. And we have always been careful to leave a nice big light of our holiday. You know how it is when you're camping."

The ranger admitted he did indeed.

"Why, last year," cried one of the shocked women, "we camped here for two weeks in the middle of August. We left the afternoon of the eleventh . . ."

Then she caught her husband's eye and cut off as if she had bit her tongue.

The ranger grimly drew a little flip-flattened notebook from his pocket and looked at the date.

"The fire," he said, "that burnt all the timber and most of the top off this afternoon on the eleventh of

Malnutrition and Painful Cramps

In a recent piece in this column the quack (self-convicted by the piece) who has conducted the column since the credulous editor in monetary Minnesota jilted him to "under the sod" told why he ascribes the leg pains and cramps of peroneal muscular atrophy, usually extremely painful cramps that come in the night, to tetany.

Today I received a letter from a Kentucky reader. From the description, I fully fit my column. he is convinced that the cramps he suffers at night must be from tetanism.

Part of my daily prayer—and I mean prayer—is that Lord, let me write nothing that will do anybody harm.

On reading over the master copy (the piece in printed form as it is supplied six days in every week) released for July 9, I find I called it tetanism. And many a curious reader might have corrected what he or she considered an obvious error and written, tetany to tetanus.

The conclusion of tetanus (lockjaw) with tetany (malnutrition) by a reader who obviously is a physician, dentist or nurse, or engineer, or any advanced degree including the PhD, a book of poems, a novel, a symphony, a play, paintings or sculpture, a play.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL I. DOUGLASS

BE CAREFUL

Regardless of one's personal stand regard liquor, the relation of drinking to highway accidents is something everyone needs to consider.

During the Korean War 30 men lost their lives on an average day. Yet during that time 100 died on the highways in accidents in which liquor is said to have been involved. 30 killed every day in the Korean War. But instead of creating a panic fire on the highway situation the figures get worse all the time.

So we can be practically sure that somewhere between 40 and 50 persons will be killed every day on the highways in accidents in which liquor is said to have been involved. 30 killed every day in the Korean War. But instead of creating a panic fire on the highway situation the figures get worse all the time.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ANGER POISON

I have heard it said that when you are angry, do not speak to anyone until you have counted ten. I would suggest that you count a hundred. Nearly everyone who gets angry and speaks bitter words later regrets them—and at that time they have wrought their worst leaving damage scars in the hearts of the heart.

Medical men have had a great deal of experience in looking upon damage to many organs of the body, such as the stomach, from bursts of anger. There are instances where people have suffered a heart attack. In one of my books I read of a noted surgeon who said that he had a terrific outburst of temper and in fact upon the heart—in fact, he had a heart attack. He remarked: "I'll wager some day a fellow will arouse my anger and I'll have a heart attack and die."

I have a book by a noted German doctor in which he illustrates the action of the gall bladder when a person is in danger. It sure sets up a queer dance!

Each one of us, in early life especially, should learn as much as possible about this wonderful body of ours. If we have a dog that we prize, a piece of machinery, or a collector of fine things, we want all to be in the best of condition but this body of ours often is given by abused until Nature turns on it and finds that it's time for a rest and relax, and see a good doctor. I have been practicing a game fire on the highway situation the figures get worse all the time.

Senator Nicol Sells Majority Shares in Paper

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP)—Senator Arthur Nicol Wednesday announced sale of the majority of his interests in La Tribune, a Sherbrooke daily, and in Sherbrooke radio stations CHFT and CKTS.

A brief announcement issued following a meeting of the board of directors of La Tribune Ltee did not name the purchaser or purchasers. No price was mentioned.

It said Senator Nicol will remain chairman of the board but will be succeeded as president of La Tribune Ltee by Paul Desruisseaux, a Sherbrooke lawyer and hotel owner.

The announcement said Alphee Gauthier, general manager of the newspaper and the radio stations, was elected to the board of directors. He will continue as general manager.

Senator Nicol, 79, at one time held an interest in four Quebec province newspapers and a number of radio stations.

Big Four Armies Leaving Austria Day and Night

VIENNA (AP) — Some Russian soldiers are reported killing themselves or deserting. Long military trains are putting out through the night to East and West. Austrian girls are hurrying to wed their departing Austrian boy friends.

The evacuation of Austria by the armies of the Big Four is in full swing.

In the five weeks since Australia finally won her independence July 27 the occupation powers are estimated to have pulled out more than half of the 90,000 soldiers who garrisoned the country.

The French, who had the smallest force, will all be gone by Sept. 10, the British troops by Sept. 16. Russian operational forces will be out by Oct. 1, and the Americans about the same time.

Austrian police say several Soviet soldiers are believed to have committed suicide. Unconfirmed reports say about 10 deserted to the Western armies. Other unconfirmed reports speak of desertion, caught and shot before assembled Soviet troops.

In Salzburg, the United States Army headquarters, the American consulate reports a marriage boom. The office is working overtime to clear the records of Austrian girls the soldiers want to marry.

Launch Drive To Reduce Winter Unemployment

HALIFAX (CP) — The federal government has launched a four-point internal program aimed at helping reduce seasonal winter unemployment, Works Minister Winters said today.

But the public's representative in the cabinet told his province's Union of Municipalities that the solution to the problem of winter jobless can't be achieved by a government.

The statements were included in the text of his speech issued to the press before delivery.

Mr. Winters said a recent cabinet order to the federal government departments has told them to do everything possible to use government spending programs to provide the maximum number of jobs in the two-week winter period.

He listed the main points of the order as:

1. Departments and agencies are to arrange construction programs so they will be timed to provide the maximum amount of work in the construction trades.

2. Alterations and repairs on government buildings and equipment are to have the same timing as far as possible.

3. Procurement programs—government buying from private industry—are to be arranged "where practicable" to create most winter employment.

Generally, all departments and agencies are to arrange their plans, financial arrangements and other matters to this end.

The presentation was made by the D.D.G.M. on behalf of the Grand Master and Stirling Lodge. His son Bro. Orliff Lloyd had the honor of pinning the jewel on his father's lapel. Bro. Lloyd made a very suitable reply and wished that each one present would receive his 50-year jewel. Everyone departed wishing Bro. Lloyd many more years of membership in his Mother Lodge.

U.S. Promises To Consider Quitting Japan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ten years after he signed Japan's surrender, Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu had front the United States today a promise to consider "the progressive withdrawal" of American ground forces from Japan.

The Japanese diplomat did not get all he sought in three days of talks that ended here Wednesday, but he declared he was "quite satisfied" with the outcome.

The U. S. now has about 100,000 troops in Japan. It would like to take them out, but not until it thinks Japan is strong enough to defend itself.

No target date for withdrawal was set in the agreement announced after Shigemitsu's final talks with State Secretary Dulles Wednesday. However, it was learned that Japanese-American conferences on a timetable will soon open in Tokyo.

The two governments agreed that "primary responsibility" for the defence of Japan's homeland should be handed over to Japan along with its ability to "contribute to the preservation of peace and security in the western Pacific."

RECORD SHOWS VETS GOOD RISKS

—Central Press Canadian

One of the thousands of World War II veterans who financed a farming venture through Veterans' Land Act funds, Al Cuddy of Strathroy, Ont., surveys his income-on-hoof — $25,000 batch of turkeys. Al, a former VLA farmer, bought his farm in 1950 with the help of a $9,000 VLA loan, now values his turkey farm holdings at $120,000. First of the VLA land grants were made in 1945, and the veteran could not claim unconditional title for ten years. Now, with the first of the veterans being given title to land, the government records show that most of those who borrowed have lived up to their contracts and in most cases have benefited enormously.

Greenlease Ransom Money In Circulation

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Discovery of two more $20 bills of the long-missing $303,720 half of the Greenlease ransom money mailed and fourth in recent weeks—has bolstered the theory that the money is at last being put into circulation.

The FBI Wednesday reported the discovery of the two bills at the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis and announced they had been traced to banks in Springfield and Sedalia, Mo.

Carl Austin Hall, executed with his accomplice, Mrs. Bonnie Heady, for the kidnap-murder of six-year-old Bobby Greenlease of Kansas City, insisted that he had most of the $600,000 ransom money in his possession when arrested here Oct. 6, 1953.

Two former St. Louis policemen, Louis Shoulders and Elmer Dolan, who arrested Hall, are serving prison terms for lying about their handling of Hall's luggage, which contained only half the ransom money when checked after his arrest.

Health Minister Martin to Take Chair in Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (CP) Health Minister Paul Martin takes the chair today as the Big Four powers and Canada round off the first stage of the United Nations disarmament talks.

After today's session the UN disarmament sub-committee, which resumed its meetings Monday, will recess until Tuesday.

An informed Canadian source said the first few days of talks, in and outside the conference room, were "useful and fruitful," and had been extremely cordial "in the climate of the Big Four Geneva conference."

The sub-committee headed into its last meeting of the week with Western delegates pressing for a clearer idea of Soviet arms inspection proposals.

The long recess also will allow U. S. representative Harold Stassen to review with President Eisenhower the broad general agreement Stassen Wednesday said the sub-committee had reached on the principle of stationing ground inspection teams in the Soviet Union and the U. S.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

AT HOME

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Mumby will be "at home" to their relatives and friends on Monday afternoon and evening, September 12, from 3.00 to 4.30 and 7.00 to 9.30 p.m., on the occasion of their 60th wedding anniversary at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Mumby, Spring Brook, Ont.

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. John Clayton Timmon of Stirling, announce the engagement of their daughter, Arline Elizabeth, to Samuel Roe Wallace, of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wallace of Northern Ireland. The marriage will take place on Saturday, September 24, 1955, at 3 o'clock in Armour Heights Presbyterian church, Toronto.

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Radford, 45 East Moira Street, Belleville, wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Betty Joyce to Ronald Elwood, only son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hutchinson, 143 West Bridge Street, Belleville. Marriage to take place, Saturday, September 3, 1955, at 2 p.m. in Holloway Street United Church.

Mrs. George Lough, Belleville, R.R. 7, had the misfortune to fall breaking her arm.

Booklet Gives Army Wives Travel Tips

OTTAWA (CP) — Army wives going to Europe this fall should don't provide baby clothes.

Further note: Take a can opener, potato masher, tea strainer and egg beater with you. Also skates, if you skate.

Still further note: the army abbreviation DADST (Mov) CALE means deputy assistant director supplies and transport (movements) Canadian army liaison establishment.

All these bits of advice are contained in a 36-page booklet issued by the director of army personnel to wives of Canadian soldiers proceeding to Europe to join their husbands.

COVERS EVERYTHING

This fall, the 2nd Canadian Infantry Brigade will relieve the 1st Brigade in Germany and serve there for two years. Some 3,300 wives and children will sail for Europe shortly after.

The booklet outlines everything the wife should do from the time she starts packing until she is met by her husband in the brigade area of Soest, Germany.

There is even advice on baby formulae:

"Most ships carry a supply of the more common baby formulae. However, if your baby is on a special formula please advise the director of movements, army headquarters, in order that arrangements may be made with the steamship company to carry a supply sufficient to meet your needs."

Weddings

MURRAY—RANKIN

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the Frankford United church on Saturday evening, August 27, at 7 p.m., when Mary Wilson, daughter of Mrs. William Rankin of Frankford, and the late Mr. Rankin, became the bride of Gordon Elwood, son of Mrs. W. J. Lawson of Trenton, and the late Mr. Murray. The altar was adorned with baskets of pink and white gladioli and white satin bows designated the guest pews. The Rev. G. A. Puttenham of Trenton, officiated at the ceremony.

Miss Barbara Stickle, organist, provided the traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Gerald Cherry of Belleville, who sang "I'll Walk Beside You", before the ceremony and "Because" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Herb. Rankin, looked radiant in a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over white satin with a fingertip veil of net and Chantilly lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Robert Springett, of Warsaw, N.Y., sister of the bridegroom, wore a floor length gown of green nylon net over taffeta with lace insertions in the skirt. She wore a matching headdress and mitts and carried a nosegay of yellow 'mums and pink gladioli.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Herb Rankin and Mrs. Wilson Rankin, sisters-in-law of the bride. Mrs. H. Rankin wore floor length gown of yellow nylon net over taffeta with matching headdress and mitts and Mrs. W. Rankin wore floor length gown of mauve nylon jersey net over taffeta with matching headdress and mitts. Both carried nosegays of yellow 'mums and pink gladioli.

The groomsman was Mr. Robert Springett of Warsaw, N.Y., and Mr. Wilson Rankin and Mr. Harry Murray of Wooler, acted as ushers.

For the reception in Rose Lowery Hall, the bride's mother, received in a rose crepe dress with lace insertions and navy accessories. She wore a corsage of yellow 'mums. The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a dress of navy crepe and matching accessories with corsage of yellow 'mums.

For the wedding trip to the Eastern United States, the bride chose a sky blue linen dress with matching duster coat and navy accessories with corsage of red roses. The young couple will reside in Lindsay on their return.

Prior to her marriage, Miss Rankin was the honored guest at a cup and saucer shower at Mrs. Harry Wickson's and a miscellaneous shower at Mrs. Smith Osterhout's.

The engagement is announced of Barbara Janet, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Mowat and the late Mr. Henderson Mowat of Guelph, to Dr. John James Murie, son of Mrs. Thomas Murie and the late Mr. Thomas Murie of Hamilton. The wedding to take place in Knox Presbyterian Church, Guelph, on September 30th, 1955. The bride-elect is a graduate of the Hamilton General Hospital and the groom a graduate of Queen's University.

Woman Driver Likes Attitude Of Canadians

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Pauline Snook, driver of a 1915 automobile in the antique car parade winding its way across southern Ontario this week, thinks Canadians have the right attitude toward women drivers.

The tall grey-haired woman from Albany, N.Y., said: "In the States people say, 'Oh, a woman driver' as if they wonder what I was doing driving an antique car. Here people say, 'Oh, a lady driver' as if they're pleased to see a woman on the tour."

Mrs. Snook's husband, a garage operator, couldn't leave the business and her son is in the army, so she volunteered to drive on the tour. The whole family, she said, is dedicated to "keeping old cars out of the junk yard."

Norwegian Girls Generally Pay Half the Date

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tip to travellers:

Those Norwegian girls are inclined to keep a man at arm's length at first. But when they really get to know you—

And much the same is true of Norway's young men, says a report prepared for an American Sociological Society meeting opening here today. The study compares courtship patterns of students at the universities of Wisconsin and Oslo.

More Nurses Than Ever Before But More Needed Everywhere

MONTREAL (CP)—"Nurses are needed everywhere even though there are more trained nurses than ever before," says Miss Frances Rowe of the United Kingdom, who has been touring Canadian medical centres to study Canadian nursing methods.

"The trouble," she says, "stems not from a lack of supply, but from an increased demand."

She is executive secretary of the National Council of Nurses of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, and came to Canada to study Canadian nursing "so that I may be of greater help to Canadian nurses when they come to England, and interpret to nurses in Britain the opportunities on this side of the Atlantic," said the tall, grey-haired Miss Rowe.

Her trip through the United States and eastern Canada was sponsored by the National Florence Nightingale Memorial Committee for Great Britain. She met goes with the president of the national council, Miss Lucy Duff-Gordon, to Istanbul, Turkey, to attend the meeting of the board of directors of the International Council of Nurses.

tends to be more conservative than the American during the initial stages. . . . With greater dating permanence, however, the Norwegian male believes in considerably greater sexual freedom than does the American.

"The Norwegian girl is rather strict in intimacy terms at the early stages of the relationship, compared with the American, but considerably more liberal in the later stages of the relationship, particularly during the engagement period."

Another difference: the Norwegian girl normally pays half the cost of the date, while "the American girl rarely bears any of the

INTERNATIONAL PROGRAM

In an interview, she told about the international exchange program of nurses between 33 different countries. She said that nursing leaders in all countries are concerned with the need to revise nursing education in the light of modern trends.

"We do not operate on a reciprocal basis, but nurses come and go for definite periods of time, and are expected to return to their own countries." She explained the program is not so much designed to give service in other countries, but as a post-graduate course by which nurses can receive training they would not ordinarily get in their own countries.

Twenty Canadian nurses went abroad in 1954 under this scheme, and 99 applications are received from nurses in 14 other countries for training here.

After her tour of Montreal centres, Miss Rowe visited Ottawa and met Miss Pearl Silver, executive secretary of the Canadian Nurses Association. Miss Silver and Miss Gladys Sharpe will represent Canada at the Istanbul conference.

APPROVE REQUEST

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Authoritative sources said today Prime Minister Nehru's government has approved Lisbon's request that Goa's status as a province of Portugal's interests with the country. India broke her last official ties with Portugal this week as a result of the killing of Indian marchers into Portuguese India Aug. 15.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

THERE'S NO SUCH THING AS "LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT"

Dear Mrs. Fairfax:

About eight months ago I got out of service and very shortly afterwards I met my dream girl. I knew the minute I met her that I wanted to marry her and she seemed to be as interested in me as I was in her.

It wasn't long before we were talking about marriage, but since I hadn't yet got a job, there was nothing we could do about it. I explained all this to the girl and said we'd just have to wait awhile, and she agreed.

But soon she began to act kind of funny. Not having any money, of course, I hadn't been able to buy a car when I got home and pretty soon she began to object to going places on the bus. It wasn't long, either, before I found out that she was going out with other fellows, and when I told her I didn't think that was right, she said to stop dictating to her. One time when we are together, she will say that we will never love anybody but me. Then maybe only a few days later she will say she's not sure whether she loves me or not. All together, it's driving me almost crazy.

As for me, I love this girl so much that if I lose her I will never get serious with any other girl. So will be waiting to hear from you.

What would you advise me to do. — Dick H.

Dear Dick:

One of the troubles here is that you went too fast with this romance. Maybe you didn't mean to, but there really isn't such a thing as falling in love at first sight, as you would have it that you did.

"Love at first sight" means only a strong feeling of attraction for another. Real love is the eventual result of that first attraction, but that first attraction isn't the real thing.

If you are honest, you think they have fallen in love "at first sight," but when you look at a girl that's a "yardstick" by which to measure the people who have been of interest. Hence, there would be far less likelihood of getting so fast in love and in that in which you now find yourself. In other words, without standards by which to judge another's worth, you can't tell whether a girl will make a good wife or not. First, you must know pretty definitely what the traits are that you believe go to the making of such a wife.

You say that when you first met this girl you knew right away you wanted to marry her. But just what was it about her that made you feel that way? Her looks, her line, or what? I'll bet it wasn't because you even recognized, or thought you did, that she had the good, solid qualities beneath her looks or her line that would make her the sort of wife you were really looking for.

I'm afraid you just haven't yet matured sufficiently to realize all of life. If you did, I doubt if you would think, in view of experience you have had with this girl, that she really was your "dream girl." I think you would realize that she is quite unreliable, doesn't know her own mind and hasn't any real interests in life — or in you.

If you're going to make up your mind that this hasty romance with her will be your first and last, if it doesn't end in marriage, then you definitely need to grow up considerably.

So if you really want my advice, it is to bid this girl goodbye, and give yourself a chance to grow up a little and, in so doing, acquire these essential standards of what you really want in a wife. If you will do that, you will find that, in spite of our prediction, you'll eventually get serious about some other girl all right, and this time she'll be one who is worth being serious about.

FROZEN CAT REVIVES

BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa (Reuters) — After spending two days in the family refrigerator, a pet cat was found frozen stiff. Several hours later, after it had been laid in front of a warm stove, it began to thaw out and soon was lapping up milk, none the worse for its experience.

Desserts for Labor Day Visitors

By Mary Moore

Ivy, my next door neighbor, was visiting last week-end in the home of one of the girls who reads this column. Her hostess also had her mother from California visiting her. The Californians are good friends of Ivy's and Harold's too. Ivy has recipes that Muriel had clipped from this column, sent on to Mother Lil in California, and that Lil had tried copied out and forwarded to Ivy, in our city.

We chuckled over this almost complete circuit, for all Ivy had to do was call out of the side window to me and they were hers for the asking.

As she told me of her visit it dawned on me that during the summer in my effort to give you seasonal recipes for canning and pickling and hot weather foods I neglected your entertaining needs. Consequently today I am going to give you a dessert that is a 24-hour affair that may be made the day before your guests are scheduled to arrive. Maybe they are coming on Labor Day.

Thus when mealtime arrives you have that lovely comfortable feeling that dessert is ready and waiting for the moment when you carry it happily to the table, and there will be no last-minute scramble over that important item.

MOCHA REFRIGERATOR CAKE

Cream together until smooth 1 cup each butter and margarine), 2 cups icing sugar, 1-8 teaspoon salt and 2-3 teaspoon cinnamon. When very light add, beating after each addition, 2 squares unsweetened chocolate melted, 4 tablespoons very strong coffee, and 3 eggs which have been beaten until very thick before adding. Have ready about 2 dozen lady fingers or their equivalent in strips of sponge cake. Line a round mold 7-1-2 by 2 inches with waxed paper. Cut the ends from about 20 of the lady fingers so that they are just long enough to come to top of mold. Crumble the cut-off ends and remaining lady fingers. Sprinkle bottom of mold generously with crumbled ladyfingers or cake crumbs. Line sides of mold with cut-off lady fingers or strips of sponge cake. Fill with alternate layers of chocolate mixture and crumbs, finishing with crumbled cut layer of chocolate. Let stand in refrigerator overnight or 24 hours. To serve carefully lift out by the wax paper lining, peeling it off right on the serving plate. If desired garnish with a fluting of unsweetened whipped cream. Do I need to tell you that this is calorie-packed and rich? A peach of an item for a dessert bridge party.

Next: the best rice pudding I've ever tasted. My hairdresser says that if I want to gild the lily I'll tell those readers of yours to serve this with a large dollop of summer applesauce, for it makes a delicious rice pudding with summer applesauce they haven't tried.

BEST EVER RICE PUDDING

One-half cup uncooked long-grain rice, 2 cups whole milk, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons butter, 3-4 cup firmly packed light brown sugar, 1-4 cup icing sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon. When fore rice is done, separate yolks from whites of eggs and beat yolks. At the end of 1 hour, lift rice from heat and add butter and sugar, stirring well. Add beaten yolks, stirring constantly to prevent curdling. Mix together brown sugar and cinnamon and stir them in along with vanilla. Allow to cool. Beat whites until stiff then fold gently into cooled rice. Pour into medium greased casserole, and bake in largest dish containing warm water and bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes. Lovely served with rich pouring cream and pale summer apple-sauce. Serves six generously.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

INVITATION TO MASS AND AT HOME

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I wish to celebrate our coming Thirtieth Wedding Anniversary by inviting our families and relatives, our many friends, members of the organizations to which we belong, and my husband's co-workers. At 9 A.M. we will have a Mass in our church. Then, in the afternoon, from 3 to 6, we will have Open House. We want it to be an informal occasion, but we do want to send invitations. What would you think about my writing the invitations on the inside pages of our "Mr. and Mrs." informals? If you approve, what simple form of invitation to both morning and afternoon occasions would you suggest? — A.D.K.

It will be pleaser, very convenient and practical too, to write these informal invitations on your "Mr. and Mrs." informals, if necessary write your address in the lower right corner of the first page. The invitations on the inside pages of the informals, might read:

John and Anne Kenna
30th Wedding Anniversary
Mass 9 A.M.—St. Anne's Church
At Home — 3 to 6 o'clock

DOESN'T WANT TO BE SPONSOR

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

What do you advise that I do in a case like this? I had planned to ask my husband's cousin, who was best man at our wedding two years ago, to be sponsor for my soon-to-arrive child. I had not yet asked him (or the godmother either), as I thought I should await the "arrival" first. Now it has been brought to my attention that my husband's cousin does not desire to be a sponsor, that he has said that this is an expense involved and he cannot afford it. I certainly do not expect anything of him, but I am very sure that he should be thinking of refusing this honor. — Reader.

It is your husband who should advise you about this important matter, since the question concerns his relative. Your husband may feel that his cousin may have been misquoted (could be), or that it should be made clear to him that this there is no expense involved in being a sponsor. It's true that generally a godparent does give the baby a christening present, but this can be something small and inexpensive. The sponsor's responsibility is really a spiritual one, and not one of a financial one. If your husband's cousin still decides he prefers not to be sponsor, then I suggest you ask your husband to suggest whom he wishes to have this important honor.

INVITATIONS TO ORGANIST AND SOLOIST

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

In your column today you answered a question I was just going to send you: about sending a formal wedding reception invitation to the clergyman and his wife. But I had another question that should I send formal invitations to the reception to the organist and soloist? — Reader.

If the organist and soloist are friends of yours, you would naturally send them invitations to the reception when it is to be a big reception. But if they are taking part simply as professionals, they probably will not expect to be invited to the reception.

14 FEARED DROWNED

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (Reuters) — Fifteen and 13 of the crew of 15 of the 199-ton fishing trawler Bender were feared drowned when the vessel was driven ashore in a storm during the weekend on coastal rocks about 70 miles west of here. Two men reached shore.

DRILL FOR OIL

BURFORD (CP)—A seven-man crew from the Albert Oil Company of Detroit is now drilling for oil near here this week, it was reported Monday. The company has options on 1,000 acres here on eight farms on both sides of Highway 24 just west of here. Burford is 10 miles west of Brantford.

TIPS TO TALL GIRLS

It's nigh on impossible to make six feet look like five feet, two. But most tall girls try. They slump their shoulders, they hunch over. Their posture's appalling, their appearance is spoiled—and all because they want to be something they're not.

Why try to be a petite princess when you can be a queen? And the latter is just what the tall girl looks like when she stands tall and straight and wears clothes that accentuate her statuesque beauty.

Here are a couple of pointers which will help to give the tall girl that regal look as she walks: First: When strolling, keep the palms of your hands turned slightly forward, in the direction in which you are walking. This, automatically, gently, and without strain, throws the shoulders back and down. Second: To walk well, swing the leg as though it were a single mechanism from hip to toe, without a joint at the knee. In this way is achieved the fluid movement which can be so beautifully executed by the tall girl. Using the knees in an attempt to shorten height, makes for awkwardness and ungainliness.

And just let us consider clothes. Contrary to the opinions of many, a tall girl, for instance, should be made in a smooth fabric and see that there is something soft and feminine about its tailoring — a gently rounded lapel, for instance, or a slight drape from shoulder to bustline. Such touches take the suit out of the mannish class.

Where millinery is concerned, tall girls can have more fun than anyone. It is they who can wear the striking cartwheels, the large and spectacular hats which look so stunning on magazine pages but which alas, so few women can enjoy. But they should steer clear of the fussy types of millinery which make their heads seem out of proportion to their bodies. The tall girl can carry large handbags, too. She can wear dramatic costume jewelry which would be out of place on her tinier sister—large earrings, larger brooches, heavy bracelets. In fact, the tall girl has it over most of us when it comes to a shopping spree. She can really go to town. But the main point for her to remember is that she should dramatize her height—never try to disguise it.

Little Benny's Notebook

Pop was smoking and thinking in his private study, and ma said, I saw something in the paper that will intrist you, William.

Is it expensive? pop said, and ma said, I'm serious, William. Ziegfeld Loose has been doing a series of werd portraits of famous movie stars, and yesterday he did one on Cornwell Lord. You know everybody always tells you you'd look exactly like Cornwell Lord if you had a head of luxurious hair, she said.

And if Cornwell Lord had nothing but a few graceful tendrils of hair above each ear, he'd look exactly like me, pop said, and ma said, Anyway, William, it seems Cornwell Lord's famous wavy hair is a dark chestnut brown.

I'm sorry to dissapoint you, my dear, but I'm not a bit intirested, pop said, and ma said, But you will be, William, when you hear the whole story. It seems when Cornwell Lord was a baby, his hair was a light gold in color, she said.

Is not so. The proverbial "happy medium" is the answer. In buying a suit, for instance, choose one made in a smooth fabric and see that there is something about its tailoring — a slight drape from shoulder to bustline. Such touches take the suit out of the mannish class.

Worsted jersey, drapable, serviceable, makes up well into a distinctive and distinguished daytime dress, a three-quarter length tunic. A double row of silk braid emphasizes the round neck and the braid is repeated at the sleeves and the pockets. The dress has a low-placed belt from the side to back where it buttons. The underskirt is very slim and straight.

Toronto Church Surveys Social Work Achievements

TORONTO (CP) — A downtown church and its community centre have made a survey this summer of their achievements in social work.

Woodgreen United church and the Woodgreen community centre —in east-central Toronto — also have been assessing work for other social agencies in their area.

Results of the survey, by four university students receiving summertime salaries to devote their holidays to it, are not complete but the participants say it's given them ideas.

The researchers are Robert Wright of Lacombe, Alta., Rose Kontboll of Calgary and Jim Macey and Doris Grierson, both of Toronto.

NINE-WEEK PROJECT

All active in the Student Christian Movement and interested in social work, they spent nine weeks on the project, living "on the job" at the Woodgreen boys' home adjustment centre.

Funds for the survey were provided privately to Rev. Ray McLeary, pastor. The survey was directed by Rev. Douglas Reid, assistant minister, who calls it "a sort of internship for church and social workers."

Answers were sought on two questions:

1. How well is the church discharging obligations undertaken, not only to its own members but to non-church-goers in its community?

2. How well are the various social agencies meeting the needs of areas they are trying to serve?

URGES CO-OPERATION

Dr. Reid said the summer—its results to be disclosed later—has persuaded the four students that church and social workers should work hand in hand.

Miss Grierson, who studied the problem of the unmarried mother, said:

"I now believe we have no right to pronounce moral judgment on these girls. In most cases the factors making for unmarried motherhood are to be found in the environment. It's not just a case of wilfully straying from the moral path."

Miss Kolmodi studied the problem of the aged. She said over-65s comprise 13 per cent of Woodgreen's people.

The work indicated retirement should not be compulsory at a given age and more opportunity for useful employment and recreational facilities ought to be available to older citizens. Their interests called for political, as well as church and social action.

WORKED WITH BOYS

"Natural groupings" among teen-age boys were Wright's and Macey's project. They sought to determine whether social work should be tackled through the "natural" group — boys instinctively banded together for no apparent reason or by trying to break up the "gangs" and integrate members into broader groups.

They said something could be said for both techniques. But they preferred social workers going out into the streets and trying to channel gang activities into better directions, if enough trained workers are available.

Wright, planning to enter the United Church of Canada's ministry, says "there is a real possibility of carrying out the church's Christian duty within the present organizational setup, for all its shortcomings."

Macey said the summer probably changed his life. He had planned becoming a scientific farmer. Now, he says, he wants "if I help others, preferably backward countries, by introducing scientific agricultural methods to them through a United Nations or Colombo plan agency.

PLANTS GROWN BY CHEMICALS

SEOUL, (AP)—Construction was finished Tuesday of South Korea's first hydroponic farm — a farm where plants are grown in chemicals and water — by the United Nations Korean reconstruction agency announced.

Ireland Clan Holds Reunion

WELLINGTON — The children, grandchildren, great grandchildren and great, great grandchildren of the late James Flindall Ireland of Smithfield, met in the park at Consecon, August 24, for a family re-union.

Sixty-three relatives were present.

Letters were read by Mr. J. L. Ireland from friends who were unable to attend.

After a few remarks by the chairman, Mr. E. R. Ireland, who lives on the farm his father took over more than 100 years ago, he called upon several to speak, who expressed their pleasure in being at the picnic.

PRIZES PRESENTED

Prizes were given to the eldest lady present, Mrs. W. J. Gilroy, Brockville; youngest child present, Nigel Maybee, Napanee; family who came the farthest on that day, Mr. George Ireland, Simcoe, grandfather with most grandchildren present, Mr. H. B. Ireland, Trenton; Mrs. G. L. Sweetnam, Belleville, for her work trying and sending out invitations and help in making the day a success.

It was decided to meet next year at the same place. The afternoon was spent in games, races, ball game and swimming under the supervision of Messrs. Gerald and Leonard Ireland and Gordon Maybee of Peterborough.

After the supper hour, everyone went home feeling it had been good to get together for a day, and hoping many more will attend next year.

ENGINEERS JAILED

NEW YORK (AP)—Victor Clemente, a sewer contractor, and four former city sewer engineers and inspectors have been jailed as a result of a 1953 sewer scandal. Invertible careened along for several hundred feet, then turned over.

TCA STEWARDESS HAD PIE IN THE SKY

Madeline Ford, TCA stewardess, no longer lists blueberry pie as her favorite. On a Toronto-to-Ottawa flight, her Viscount plane hit an airpocket and dropped 30 feet just as she was serving the pie to passengers. The result: pie in the sky, on the ceiling, in passengers' hair, on the floor and on the windows. It was Miss Ford's job to make the plane neat and tidy after the episode.

NEW POLIO CASES

BOSTON (AP)—Eleven new polio cases were reported in Boston Sunday, bringing the city's total this year to 577. Even though Sunday's figure was four more than reported Saturday and eight more than Friday, health officials said they believe the polio outbreak is tapering off and should pass the critical stage by the Labor Day weekend.

THREE DIE IN CRASH

MIFFLIN, Pa. (AP)—Three teenage girls died in a mangled pile of steel Sunday when a tire blew out at 80 miles an hour on a rural highway. The 16-year-old girl were badly injured as their big convertible careened along for several hundred feet, then turned over.

Women Have Queer Views About Cancer

MONTREAL (CP)—Women have many strange concepts of what causes cancer, the Canadian Cancer Society said Wednesday.

"Referring to a recent survey among 3,000 Canadian women, the society said in a statement that one of the most surprising results was that in an "enlightened society" age 25 per cent of the women questioned thought drinking and immoralities were direct causes of cancer."

Another 11 per cent held the view that a knock or a bump or a fall was the main cause of cancer.

"The results of the survey gave the leaders of medical and lay organizations who are fighting cancer many important clues to the effectiveness of their educational program," said the statement. "It was also helpful in determining where more emphasis and work was needed as well as definitely indicating the need for more public education."

W.H. Budden, president of the Quebec division of the society, said a "great deal more money and effort is still needed to inform the public of the symptoms and treatment of the disease."

DIES FROM SNAKEBITE

SAVANNAH, Tenn. (AP) — A woman bitten while holding rattlesnake during snake-handling religious services died Tuesday. She was Mrs. Anna Covington Yost, about 40, who died at her home near Adamah. The snake struck her Sunday night during church services.

BAN SHOWING

VENICE (Reuters)—Italian film festival authorities have banned showing of a Czechoslovakian entry, "John Huss." It is believed the committee objected to the treatment of religion in the picture which features the Reformation, who was burned at the stake for his Protestantism.

Actress Gives Up TV Show To Become Minister's Wife

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Gloria McMillan, the pretty blonde whom television audiences knew as Harriet Conklin, the principal's daughter on the "Our Miss Brooks" show, is giving it all up for a secret-parting role as a minister's wife.

But Gloria, 22 and a bride of six months, has no regrets about following in the footsteps of Colleen Townsend. Miss Townsend chucked a promising career at 20th Century-Fox five years ago to become the wife of a seminarian.

At the moment Miss McMillan is working in the movie version of the famed Eve Arden starrer at Warner Bros. When the movie "Our Miss Brooks" winds up, Gloria and her husband take off for San Francisco.

The husband is Gilbert Allen, a graduate of the University of Southern California, who intends to enter San Francisco Theological Seminary for Presbyterian ministers.

MET AT CHURCH

The two met at Beverly Vista Community church in Beverly Hills where both were interested in youth work. They were married there, too.

"We've both had a good taste of church work and we love it," she added.

A veteran of radio since she was four years old, Gloria believes that her long acting career will be a big help in her husband's work. She also plans to put some of her background to use to help pay the freight while her husband is studying.

"I've already talked to some of the CBS executives there and they like some ideas I have for Sunday programs. They will be mostly Bible readings for children and of a Sunday school of the air."

NO REGRETS

To the question of whether she has any regrets about giving up a well-paying professional career for the lower income of a minister's wife, she replied:

"Emphatically no! This field is one of the few where husband and wife can work together, and we'll both be doing the work we really love. I just feel I'm turning what ability I have into another channel.

"People used to feel churches were pretty stuffy organizations. Not any more—they are a real part of the community activity as well as giving spiritual guidance. We're proud we are going to be a part of it."

CHIEF ARRESTED

MERLIN, Ont., (CP) — Police Chief Sidney Sharp, 60, of this community 15 miles south of Chatham, was arrested Tuesday on a charge of arson in connection with a fire several weeks ago.

Invents 'Slirt' For Modest Motorcyclists

IPSWICH, England (CP) — A "shirt"—a combination slacks and shirt—has been designed here for modest females who ride motor bikes.

The garment featuring the Mini-modesty line is the product of tailor John White, who noted the efforts of women aboard motorized bicycles to cope with controls and skirts at the same time.

"Most smart women don't care to wear slacks in town," says White, who with his wife's help worked five weeks on the problem.

A tug of a zipper turns the slacks into a plain, pleated skirt.

"The idea solves a big problem that has worried some women of long time," said a young lady trying the idea out for the first time. The creation will be exhibited by a London fashion house at an autumn showing.

All Children . . .

As you parents know, all children have many hard lessons to learn. But remember this: Those lessons are more difficult for children who cannot see. And that brings us to one of the most important phases of the work of The Canadian National Institute for the Blind. There's many a child who would still be lonely darkness, if it weren't for C.N.I.B. Blind children are taught the need of co-operation with those who can see. Through trained counsellors the sightless child is thoroughly prepared to meet life — without sight. And so the work for The Canadian National Institute for the Blind goes on. Funds are NOW urgently needed. Remember: they will sit in darkness without YOUR help. Make your contribution a generous one and send it to the

He ran a few feet, and then tripped. A policeman behind him was ready to spring when he noticed a large gun being held in both hands by the man, pointed straight at him. He knocked the gun aside and pounced on the stranger.

The man was handcuffed and was being led away when one of the farmers recognized him. He was the person who had farmed in the area several years ago and then was committed to the hospital. He had escaped twice before. . . .

Before the capture farmers had found well-worn paths to his wilderness kitchen, mill and workbench. Jars of berries and other food were found hoarded in nearby trees, apparently stocked against the severe Alberta winters with their bolonging temperatures.

TRAINED MACHINIST

The man, neighbors said, came to Canada from Europe many years ago and was a trained machinist. The guns were made from old pieces of farm machinery, including a plowshare, pieces of engine blocks, motor valves and crank shafts.

To form the barrel of the five-pound, 13-inch-long revolver, he used his lathe to bore a hole through eight inches of solid tempered steel sawed from an axle.

When he was finished he had a workable revolver. A gunsmith who examined the rifle described it, too, as being expertly constructed.

The revolver held three .30-30-calibre bullets and three .300-calibre shells. The holes in the chamber had been different sizes to take the different sized shells.

POLICEMAN CALLS

NO WARRANT

RCMP stress he is wanted merely for questioning. No warrant has been issued yet for his arrest.

The late Harry Petlock's contempt for banks had led him to keep his cash stored away at home. After his death, his widow apparently continued this. Police said they don't know how much money was in the house.

Also missing was Michael's late-model car. It was found Wednesday in Regina obviously abandoned.

Mrs. Katie Schurko, 47, of Jedburgh, Sask., 30 miles northwest here, a daughter of Mrs. Petlock Sr., said:

"Mother had at least $10,000 put away in a paper box. Now it's gone. Whoever killed them has it."

She said the money had been saved over a period of years by her father, Harry, who died a few months ago.

"They didn't want to put it in the bank because they were afraid of income tax."

CHRYSLER STRIKE

Midnight shifts at Chrysler plants in Detroit had reported for work, but walked out and set up picket lines. The largest Chrysler local union, with 26,000 members, is at the big Dodge main plant here.

The big snag was the matter of retroactivity. Chrysler said the new three-year contract should have become effective as of last midnight, when the old five-year-pact expired. The UAW insisted on making the layoff-pay plan and other benefits retroactive to June 1, to put Chrysler workers on a par with the 350,000 General Motors and 140,000 Ford workers in the U. S.

Ford and GM gave the union wage boosts of six cents or more hourly, improved pension plans and other benefits which the union said added up to a 20-cent-an-hour package. The average wage at all big three companies was about $2.10 an hour when the current round of negotiations began.

DIEFENBAKER

During the wide-ranging criminal law discussion, W. B. Common of Toronto, director of public prosecutions for Ontario, took exception to the panel's makeup and billing of its subject as "inequalities of the criminal law."

He complained that the panel was largely made up of defence lawyers and should have included a prosecution representative. An impression might be left, he said, that the group sought only to make it easier for criminal law specialists to get acquittals for their clients.

Mr. Diefenbaker, who usually appears for the defence, said he has generally found crown officials fair in making available to the defence results of scientific investigations in prosecutions.

OPPOSE PRIVILEGES

Arthur Maloney of Toronto, however, said he can not agree that Night Watchman Found Dead In Steam Laundry

SUDBURY (CP)—Harry Cressey, a 73-year-old night watchman was found dead this morning in the steam laundry where he worked. Police are attempting to establish whether the man was slain or whether he was fatally injured in a fall.

Authorities said they believe Cressey had surprised thieves who broke into the laundry. His body, with face battered, was found at the foot of a flight of stairs in the rear of the building.

Plant manager Herb Bisset said the thieves smashed a cash register but did not touch a nearby safe.

Cressy's last time clock check was made at 2:01 a. m.

Kingston Woman Stopped Here Given Ten Days

KINGSTON (CP)—Doreen Lipsett, 27, of Kingston was sentenced to 10 days in jail when she was convicted on five charges laid after a 50-mile-an-hour chase last Friday that ended near Belleville.

She was sentenced to 10 days in jail on each of three charges of careless driving, 10 days on a charge of obstructing arrest and fined $25 or 10 days for speeding. The sentences will run concurrently.

- ☐ GLIDE LIQUID LAUNDRY STARCH — Just add water

A ring of the telephone spelled new happiness for a London, Ontario housewife Saturday Night as the right answer to last week's contest brought her $1,000 in the DOMINION "Famous Brands" Fortune-Hunt. At 8:20 p.m. Mrs. Lillian Sargeant, 1020 Margaret Street, London, picked up the receiver of her 'phone and said "Dominion Stores — Stafford's Jam". Mrs. Sargeant won an additional bonus prize of $1,000 by having a Stafford's Jam label and a Dominion Store cash register receipt in her possession. Including the winning call, a total of eleven calls were placed Saturday Night in the DOMINION "Famous Brands" Fortune-Hunt.

You can win $2,000 this week in the DOMINION "Famous Brands" FORTUNE-HUNT. First, find the "Phantom Famous Brand" listed on this page but not illustrated. Next, if your telephone rings between 8 and 9 o'clock E.D.T. next Saturday evening, DO NOT ANSWER HELLO or you will be automatically disqualified from an opportunity to win $2,000.

Instead of answering HELLO, say "DOMINION STORES" and then state the name of this week's "Phantom Famous Brand." If you do, and it is the DOMINION FORTUNE-HUNT calling, you will win the Grand Prize of $1,000.

$1,000 BONUS! If you win the Grand Prize and have in your home at the time a box top or label from this week's "Phantom Famous Brand" (or a reasonable facsimile) PLUS a Dominion cash register slip dated this week and totalling $5.00 or more, you will qualify for a bonus prize of $1,000.

$100 CONSOLATION PRIZES! If the DOMINION FORTUNE-HUNT calls your telephone number and you make the mistake of answering HELLO, but can still name this week's "Phantom Famous Brand," you will qualify for a consolation prize of $100.

GRAND PRIZE MUST BE WON! If this week's Grand Prize is not won on Saturday night, it will be added to next week's Grand Prize of $1,000. This will be repeated if necessary until someone wins the accumulated Grand Prize.

Employees and agents of Dominion Stores Limited and their families not eligible for this contest.

Find Two Points Where Kitchener Blaze Began

KITCHENER (CP) — Fire chief Albert Putnam said today "two separate and distinct points of ignition" were found in the investigation of an basement fire that broke out here Aug. 22 under Ansell's (Kitchener) Ltd. and Alan's store for men, both on King street West.

In a written statement, Chief Putnam indicated one fire started under Ansell's store and the other 20 feet north under Alan's store.

The statement also said a break-in occurred before the fire in Ansell's office. The office was rifled and cash stolen.

One-Time Army Cook Canada's Chief of Staff

Gen. Graham immediately plunged into a round of talks with some of his senior officers.

The army's new boss, who served in the First World War as a corporal cook, has already paid several visits to headquarters in the last few weeks and was ready to swing into the routine immediately.

PLANE DELAYED

Gen. Simonds was expected in later in the day to complete a few details in the command change-over. He was scheduled to do this Wednesday on his return from England but his plane flight was held up in Iceland by bad weather and could not reach here until Wednesday night.

Gen. Graham planned to fit in a press conference later today.

Gen. Simonds said on his return that he has no immediate plans for the future and that he will take a vacation to think things over.

Starting at midnight Wednesday night, he is on six months' retirement leave and will draw a pension of $10,500 a year for 30 years service to Canada as a professional soldier. He was this country's most brilliant field commander of the Second World War.

CONSIDER WITHDRAWAL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States agreed Wednesday to consider gradual withdrawal of U. S. ground forces from Japan as quickly as Japan becomes able to "assume primary responsibility for the defense of its homeland." The agreement was made known in a statement issued jointly by State Secretary Dulles and Japanese Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu ending their three days of economic-defence talks.

JAP ROCKETEER PLANS EARTH SATELLITE

—Central Press Canadian

Dr. Hideo Itokawa, right, Japanese rocket expert, is shown here with an assistant and a launcher he uses in his rocket experiments. Dr. Itokawa announced last week that a man-made earth satellite could be built for one-tenth the cost of an atomic reactor and that he intends to build one and have it ready to go by 1962. Dr. Itokawa's plan is to launch the satellite from a rocket, which would be carried into the lower reaches of the stratosphere by balloons.

Alberta Starts Celebrating 50 Golden Years

EDMONTON (CP) — Alberta today celebrates its 50th anniversary. The theme was "50 golden years."

While today marked the official start of the jubilee celebration, it will not be ceremonially noted by the Alberta government until Sept. 7. That's when Prime Minister St. Laurent unveils a monument before the legislative building in Edmonton commemorating the inauguration of the province.

Alberta became a province Sept. 1, 1905, with Earl Grey, then governor-general, officiating at the ceremonies in Edmonton. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, then prime minister, was one of the speakers and the landau in which he rode 50 years ago will be used by the prime minister and Lieutenant - Governor J. J. Bowlen next Wednesday.

Neighboring Saskatchewan also celebrates its golden jubilee Monday when Mr. St. Laurent officiates at a ceremony on the legislative grounds in Regina.

POWER FOR N. S.

HALIFAX (CP)—A new $1,500,000 power development, boosting the electrical reserves of western Nova Scotia, was announced Wednesday by Premier Hicks. A new 2,300-horsepower generator on the Bear river will boost the power reserves of the generator now operating farther up the river.

Young Crotty Does Not Want To Leave Camp

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Ignatius Crotty, the 10-year-old boy who was paralyzed last fall from a 113-day coma, has spent this summer at a sunshine camp having such a good time he doesn't want to come home.

His mother, Mrs. Leo Crotty, said Wednesday the family had been out to see Iggy during the weekend. "He's coming on wonderful," she said. "He's putting on so much weight he's almost as big as his father."

Iggy will stay at the camp until it closes in November, then come back to school in St. John's. A teacher was there during most of July and August and now a nurse is looking after the schooling of Iggy and his 15 companions. He's doing grade two work now but will go into grade three when he comes back.

Order to Commit Man on Murder Count Quashed

TORONTO (CP) — A magistrate's court order under which Lloyd Raymond Lester, 21, of Guelph, was committed for trial on a charge of murdering his mother last March was quashed Wednesday by the Ontario Supreme court.

Appealing in chambers before Mr. Justice John L. Wilson on a habeas Corpus plea, Lester's counsel, Patrick Hartt, said the crown failed to prove when it sought the committal order that a statement claimed to have been made by the youth was admissable as evidence.

His Lordship ordered Lester held in custody pending a new preliminary hearing at which the crown will be required to establish the alleged statement was made voluntarily.

Anti-Red Demonstration Greets Soviet Farm Experts On Arrival at Winnipeg

By HAROLD MONTEITH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP) — An angry mob of anti-Communists kicked, punched and spat on four men Wednesday night after demonstrating against Russia's tour of farm experts with placards, pamphlets and shouted curses.

The four men were believed to be RCMP plainclothes men who walked out the front door of the Stevenson airport passenger terminal into the milling crowd while the Russians were taken to a downtown hotel by a side exit under police escort.

Twelve policemen were placed on round-the-clock guard duty in the lobby and at the entrances to the Fort Garry hotel. The Russians had dinner sent to their rooms soon after arrival.

The police part of a crowd of some 300 persons who gathered outside the airport gates, swarmed around the men, apparently believing they were part of the Russian delegation.

THROWS WREATH

A woman tried to crown one man with a wreath bearing the words "For brothers murdered by the Bolsheviks." He brushed it off and she tried to throw it over the head of another.

As the men got into the car, the mob shook fists against the car windows, demanding one.

Meanwhile, motorcycle police officers cleared the roads of all parties as they escorted the Soviet visitors to their hotel.

As the airport gates were opened, the anti-Red demonstrators shouted "pig" and "bandit" at the motorcade, greeting it with pamphlets describing the Ukrainian delegates as enslavers of farmers and workers. The demonstrators carried placards saying Russia was a concentration camp.

The pamphlets were signed by various Ukrainian groups including the Winnipeg branches of the veterans of the Ukrainian insurgent army and Ukrainian-Canadian Friends of the Liberation of the Ukraine.

Vladimir Maizkevich, Soviet delegation leader, tossed the pamphlets out of his car as fast as they came in.

The demonstration against the Russian visitors was far more expressive than the one that greeted them on their first arrival in Canada at Montreal last Thursday. It contrasted with the warm welcome they received in South Saskatchewan where they spent four days touring the big wheat farms.

Federal officials considering the 16-day tour had been concerned about reports that anti-Reds would stage an outburst at Winnipeg. For that reason they kept silent about its arrival time. But somehow it leaked out and the crowds were there.

BLOCK OFF CROWD

RCMP plainclothes men and local police blocked off the crowd from the airport gates. When local officials caught sight of the crowds on their arrival about 9.20 p.m. CDT, they decided against allowing the Russians to go through the terminal lobby. Taxis were ordered and brought to the apron. The RCMP gave orders the cabs were not to move without police escort.

Several reporters were allowed to enter the plane for a brief talk with Maizkevich. He told them he had received a kind reception from Canadians and that he would give a press conference in Ottawa when the 16-day tour was over. The second week of the tour opened today.

The Russians arrived here from Swift Current, Sask., to visit the board of train commissioners and the federal agricultural laboratories. They likely will leave later today for southern Ontario to see the fruit belt and tobacco farms.

Tax Agreements May Expire End of 1957

OTTAWA (CP)—There is a possibility that the Dominion-provincial tax rental agreements may have to be ended in 1957, it was learned Wednesday.

However, this is only one possible solution to the sharing of taxation among the federal and provincial governments now being discussed by federal authorities.

The officials said several schemes are being "kicked around" in preparation for the Dominion-provincial fiscal conference here starting Oct. 3.

All provinces except Quebec now rent their income and corporation tax fields to the central government in return for certain grants, and all but Quebec and Ontario rent their inheritance tax. The agreements, which this year are costing the federal treasury more than $320,000,000 in rents, are scheduled to expire in 1957.

POOR PROVINCES SUFFER

If the agreements are not renewed the provinces would regain the income, corporation and inheritance tax fields.

The poorer provinces would take in less, proportionately, than the wealthy provinces through provincial income taxes. One reason is that there are fewer persons in those provinces who would be in the taxing brackets.

One report here is to the effect that the federal government might propose, if the tax rental agreements lapse, that the poorer provinces be awarded certain grants to make up this deficiency.

Mayors Want Federal Govt. To Pay Shot

EDMONTON (CP) — The Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities wants the federal and provincial governments to pay the shot for education and public welfare.

Delegates to the federation convention adopted the policy Wednesday. It will be presented at the federal-provincial conference in Ottawa in October by municipal representatives on provincial delegations.

The plan adopted by the convention dealt with principle. How the two senior governments should pay for education and public welfare was not mentioned.

Whether a federal - provincial-municipal conference should follow the Ottawa meeting was left open.

The convention also wants the senior governments to take care of subsidizing housing, civil defence, administration of justice and provincial highways running through municipalities.

VIEW COMES FIRST

ETON, England (Reuters)—The ministry of housing Tuesday turned down an application to put apartment houses for old people on part of the playing fields of Eton. Officials of the college did not object to the plan. The move was opposed by local residents who said the building would spoil a good view of nearby Windsor Castle.

Doctors Cure Children's Warts By 'Buying' Them

LONDON (AP) — Two British doctors said Wednesday they cured children's warts by "buying" them for a few pennies each and telling the children the blemishes would soon disappear.

And, believe it or not, Dr. D. G. Aitken reported in the medical magazine, The Practitioner, they really do disappear. Now he wants to know why.

In the same issue of the magazine, Dr. David Williams, physician at the skin department of London Big King's College Hospital, confessed he uses the same treatment. He said he knew one physician who was just as successful with an orange whether the current was on or off.

Senior County Judge Requested To Hold Inquiry

TORONTO (CP) — Scarborough township council asked the provincial government Wednesday to appoint a senior county judge to conduct an investigation into the alleged bribery of four township councillors and employees.

The move followed the advice earlier Wednesday from deputy attorney - general Clifford Magone who said the township should hold a "wide-open investigation" into the bribery allegations.

The incident referred to occurred 11 weeks ago when four $500 cheques allegedly were sent by a home building company to councillors Leonard Stewart and Don Horton and to the township's clerk and planning director.

The incident was disclosed last week by Mr. Stewart who said he found the cheque on his desk after receiving a phone call.

The council, meanwhile, has agreed to hold up a home building project by the Gramercy Development Company pending the investigation.

BREAK UP RING

NEW YORK (AP)—Police broke up a summer-long sex ring on Staten Island's north shore beaches and woods Friday with the roundup of 26 teen-age girls and the arrest of seven men. The men, most of them in their early 20s, were charged with offences ranging from rape to impairing the morals of minors.

3 'Precision' Bandits Rob Bank of $10,000

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three "precision" bandits, two of them brandishing guns, held up a branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia here Wednesday and escaped with $10,000.

One of the bandits timed the smooth, one-minute operation with a stopwatch. It was the fifth bank holdup here this year.

The three executed their escape as smoothly as the robbery, merging into the traffic in a stolen car as police blocked off main streets leading from the suburban Kitsilano branch bank.

Bank officials said two men held the seven members of the staff and four customers at gun-point while the third vaulted over the counter and scooped up the contents of two tellers' tills, stuffing the bills into a shopping bag. Part of the loot was in large U. S. bills.

Anglican Church Needs 7 Million Synod Is Told

EDMONTON (CP)—A committee set up to study and report on the financial needs of the Anglican Church of Canada reports a need for almost $7,000,000 to carry out the various phases of church work.

This was revealed Wednesday in a report by Archdeacon W. A. Townsend of London, Ont., committee chairman, to the 19th session of the general synod which opened here Tuesday.

The committee, asked to make a preliminary survey of needs and possible ways of meeting them said the amount is needed for the general synod, its board and committees, dioceses and theological colleges.

The committee report said dioceses felt no immediate national appeal for funds should be launched because it would conflict with diocesan appeals about to be conducted.

The report said needs of a recurring nature should be met through increased apportionments, while capital needs should be met through a "national appeal for a large sum."

Synod delegates approved a motion receiving the report and asking that it be reintroduced after the reports on the needs of the various boards were presented.

Delegates also voted to make 1956 a "year of intensified evangelism" throughout Canada.

Earlier in the day tributes was paid to Canada's fighting men overseas by Bishop I. A. Norris of Brandon, who returned recently from a tour of military bases in Europe.

In his report on the chaplain service, Bishop Norris said "because those people have lived in Germany and France the name of Canada stands as high as that of any country."

He criticized radio and press reports which he said distorted incidents involving Canadian troops in Germany.

He said more incidents of troops becoming involved with civil authorities occurred in Canada than overseas.

Peron Tightens Firm New Grip on Argentina and Warns Violence Will Be Subdued

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — President Juan D. Peron tightened a firm new grip on Argentina today, warning grimly that opposition violence will be met by "action still more violent."

Peron told a well-organized demonstration of many thousands Wednesday night that he was withdrawing his offer to stepdown as president. Earlier in the day he had announced he would resign if it would guarantee "pacification" of the country.

Speaking before the wildly cheering throng in the Plaza del Mayo, Peron said it was clear his opponents "do not want the pacification we have offered them."

"We have to answer violence with greater violence . . . and when one of our people falls, five of them will fall."

In his speech Peron did not name his enemies, except for an occasional reference to "the oligarchs." He made no mention of the Roman CatholicChurch, with which his government had been feuding since last November.

Dominating the 10-hour demonstration in the central square were Peron's General Confederation of Labor—the popular basis of his strength—and the men's and women's Peronista parties. The army, which had saved Peron from the navy's unsuccessful June 16 revolt and kept him in office, was conspicuously absent from the vast crowd.

The first announcement that Peron had offered to resign was broadcast Wednesday morning by Hugo Dipietro, secretary of the confederation. The announcement touched off a general strike by the labor group and a call for mass demonstrations.

The resignation offer was not submitted to congress—the normal procedure—nor was there any announcement of it from any government office.

There were no reports of major violence during or after the demonstrations. Near the city of Tucuman, however, a low-hanging electric cable sliced through a crowd of Peronistas riding on top of a train to a party rally. Seven were killed and 27 injured.

The Plaza del Mayo demonstration—obviously prepared to reject Peron's resignation offer — thrust the powerful labor group into the spotlight again. It had appeared to have taken a back seat in top-level political affairs since the abortive June revolt.

There was little doubt that the June uprising weakened Peron's control, but with Wednesday's show of strength he now appears as strong as ever.

Tourists Marking Main Facade Of Peace Tower

OTTAWA (CP) — Lipstick can be rubbed and washed off the stonework of Parliament's Peace Tower but Keene's name is there to stay—barring an attempt at sandblasting it.

Keene—man or woman isn't known—gouged the surname and the date, 1955, one-eighth of an inch deep into the stone of the main arch of the Peace Tower right outside the front door of the stately building housing the Senate and Commons chambers.

The carver, presumed to be one of the thousands of tourists who flock through the building every week, did his vandalism and escaped undetected.

Staff members say they have been so occupied with an unusually heavy flow of visitors this year that they can't keep an eye on everyone. Some sections of the building had to be left unguarded for periods.

SOUVENIRS BROKEN OFF

Fourteen small pieces of iron have been broken off the decorative wrought-iron gates outside the entrance to the memorial chamber on the Centre Block's second floor, apparently wrenched away by souvenir hunters as they entered the chamber where the Book of Remembrance is kept, enshrining the names of Canadians killed in the First World War.

The prime target of thoughtless tourists, however, is the Peace Tower lookout directly under Parliament's clock. Carving of initials in the stone has been going on for some time. Some are gouged in too deeply to be removed.

But Keene is the first to attack the entrance arch where monarchs and dignitaries are received on Parliament's doorstep.

All Must Share In Helping Law

OTTAWA (CP) — All persons must share in the maintenance of the law, Governor-General Vincent Massey said Wednesday.

Addressing the Canadian Bar Association, he said risks in the matter for lawyers alone.

"The maintenance if the law and its free and fruitful development as an instrument of justice is a calling for every citizen," the governor-general said.

The statement was contained in the text if his speech issued to the press before delivery.

"In our western world, the law has done its work so well that it is imperilled by its very success. Many nowadays set law and liberty in opposition to one another, forgetting that in a truly free society we never name the one without thinking of the other."

Wreckage of Plane Missing 6 Years Found

OTTAWA (CP)—Wreckage of a twin-engine air force plane, missing with seven persons aboard since 1949, has been found about 65 miles west of Chatham, N.B., the RCAF said Wednesday.

The plane, a light Beechcraft communications aircraft, disappeared April 21, 1949 during a flight from Rockcliffe airport here to Chatham. It was the object of one of the most intensive searches the air force ever made for a missing aircraft.

CANADA'S VETERANS ON PARADE

Vice-Admiral Mainguy, chief Canada's naval staff, inspects the Warriors' Day honour guard at the Canadian National Exhibition grounds in Toronto. There were 10,000 veterans in the day's parade, including men who fought in the Boer war. Fifty-three bands were in the parade.

RAWDON

W.I. Home For Aged Built In St. John, N.B.

RAWDON—In the August issue of "The Countrywoman" an article of interest tells how 8,000 Institute women in New Brunswick have spent the past eight years in a united effort to have a "Home for Aged Institute Members".

"At long last their dream has come true and the project is completed. The home is unique and perhaps the only one of its kind, in the history of rural organizations.

This home is the property of New Brunswick Institutes, bought with money raised by their members and furnished by industrial and group contributions.

It is situated on the picturesque St. John River and its easily reached by rail or highway, Woodstock, N.B., has stores, churches and library most convenient to the home.

The main building accommodated 12 guests in May 1953, and since then an annex has been built and accommodates eight more guests with a "breeze-way" between. The result is a beautiful and valuable building where 20 ladies in the evenlide of life are made comfortable and happy —their loneliness a thing of the past.

The home is self-supporting and carries out the motto: "For Home and Country" and is a visible tribute to those who pioneered institute work.

Farming Economy of Alberta Slowly Being Industrialized

By PHIL ADLER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—Fifty years of progress and development have brought Alberta out of the wilds of a frontier economy into a province of great wealth.

Alberta's economy now is more diversified, but agriculture still is the mainstay of the province now celebrating its golden jubilee. Development of natural resources, mainly oil and natural gas, is increasingly vital to the economic health of the province and is slowly bringing about the industrialization of an agricultural area.

Estimated values of agricultural production last year was $319,368,000 compared with $18,428,000 in 1905 when Alberta became a province. Value of petroleum production in 1954 was estimated at $227,-872,000, but 50 years ago there was none.

FIRST FARMER

Hugh A. Dempsey, a member of the historical society of Alberta, says the first attempt by a white man to till the soil was in 1779 when Peter Pond, a trader with the North West Company, planted a "kitchen garden" near Lake Athabasca.

But, he says, the real development of agriculture in what now is Alberta was started by Roman Catholic Oblate priests at their missions. The first wheat was grown at Lac la Biche in 1855.

This sci up field crops as the major product of the land. Last year's crop, with wheat topping the list, was valued at $302,900,-000—nearly double the 1936 figure.

First attempt to develop Alberta's natural resources was in 1859 when coal was discovered near Lethbridge and exported to the United States. Production climbed to 340,275 tons by 1906. The all-time peak was reached in 1946 when production hit 8,824,458 tons.

But the increased use of oil for energy depressed the coal market. Production last year was 4,859,136 tons—almost half the 1946 figure. The province has the largest-known coal reserves in Canada.

ALLIED INDUSTRIES

When farming and ranching grew, allied industries began to appear. A woollen mill was established in 1885, and Alberta's first cheese factory started in 1888. A year later Pat Burns started the first meat packing plant in Calgary, forerunner of a multi-million dollar packing house industry.

Alberta's forests were also tapped, its lumber was needed for development—by 1911, there were 32 mills producing $786,000 worth of timber annually. Last year's value of forestry production was set at $14,180,000.

There had been sporadic efforts at exploration for oil since 1891 but Turner valley provided the first big boom in 1914.

Operations in the field reached their peak in 1942 when Turner valley delivered more than 10,000,-000 barrels, for a total of nearly 48,000,000 in 28 years of production.

OIL PROSPERITY

A new search, spurred by the Second World War, was rewarded in February, 1947, when Imperial Oil Ltd. brought in its famous Leduc No. 1. That was the beginning of Alberta's current oil prosperity which has made the province the most prolific oil area in the commonwealth.

With more than 5,000 producing wells in 50 fields, production in 1954 was 87,713,855 barrels of crude oil valued at about $227,000,000. Natural gas production was worth nearly $2,000,000.

Proven oil reserves are estimated at more than 2,000,000,000 barrels and north of Edmonton are the Athabasca oil sands, believed to contain from 100,000,000,000 to 300,000,000,000 barrels — largest-known reserve in the world.

Stumbling block has been finding an economical method of separating the oil from the sand. Two companies announced this year a development plan they hope will result in commercial production.

The province has another great asset in natural gas. Gas reserves are estimated at more than 12,-000,000,000,000 cubic feet.

HUGE NEW PLANTS

The petrochemical field is growing by leaps and bounds. Multi-million dollar plants have been built in the last couple of years in the Edmonton area to produce plastics, synthetic fibres, fertilizer and the like.

The dollar value of chemicals and chemical products increased to $11,000,000 in 1952 from slightly above $1,000,000 in 1941. The increase is more significant when it is realized that large-scale chemical manufacturing did not begin until last year. The chemical industry ranked eighth in value of production among Alberta manufacturing industries in 1952.

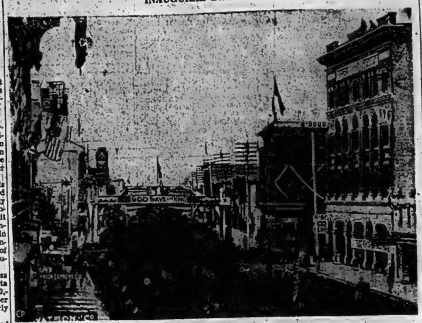
Between 1941 and 1953 the gross value of manufacturing in Alberta increased by approximately $400,-000,000 to $541,000,000. The number of employees increased from nearly 17,000 to 34,000.

Foods and beverages accounted for half the 1953 value, meat packing being the leader of the group with a gross production value of $100,000,000 compared with $46,853,-000 11 years earlier.

HOME ON THE RANGE

About 2,000,000 head of cattle roam the range, most supporting the livestock trade and the rest keeping up a $38,000,000 dairy industry. Livestock marketed last year was valued at $140,000,000—an increase of $7,000,000 over the previous year.

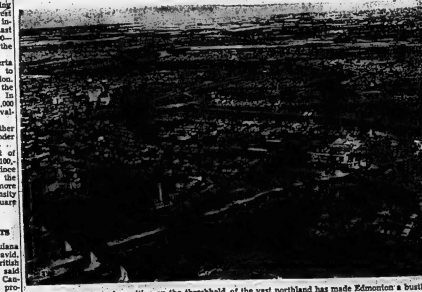
Irrigation in southern Alberta has been a heavy contributor to boosting agriculture production. Sugar beets and vegetables are the main crops on irrigated land. In 1953, total production from 730,000 acres of irrigated land was valued at $32,700,200.



Present plans call for another 180,000 acres to be brought under irrigation in the near future.

Population was not left out of Alberta's growth. There were 100,-000 residents when the province was established 50 years ago; the figure now stands at slightly more than 1,000,000, an over-all density of about 3.79 persons a square mile.

DISCUSS HYDRO PROJECTS



GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (Reuters) — Sir Frank McDavid, member for agriculture in British Guiana's legislative council, said Saturday he proposed to visit Canada to discuss hydro-electric projects in this South American colony. McDavid said he planned to discuss the projects with the Demerra Bauxite Company, which has applied for a hydro-electric licence in British Guiana.

INAUGURAL DAY PARADE

PRESENT-DAY EDMONTON

Oil and its strategic position on the threshold of the vast northland has made Edmonton a bustling city of 160,000. The North Saskatchewan river curves through the city which is the focus this year commemorating Alberta's 50th anniversary as a province. In left foreground are the provincial legislative buildings. Big building in left background is the Macdonald Hotel. — (CP from National Film Board.)

Will Substitute Lake Swim If Weather Bad

TORONTO (CP)—If bad weather causes cancellation of next Tuesday's Canadian National Exhibition lake swim across Lake Ontario, a swim along the Toronto lakefront will be substituted, CNE officials said Wednesday.

Harry Price, chairman of the CNE sports committee, said the substitute swim will be between 21 and 28 miles, compared with the 32-mile route across the lake. He said it will be triangular and will take swimmers both inside and outside the offshore breakwater.

The decision on whether to hold the across-the-lake swim or the substitute race will be made at p. m. Monday.

He said it also is possible officials may postpone the across-the lake swim for 24 hours and make the same decision at 6 p. m Tuesday. The choice will depend on wind and wave conditions as well as weather forecasts, he said.

The 40 entries for the swim underwent medical tests today and were briefed on rules and safety precautions for the event.

Marmora

Recently Mrs. G. Pollard spent a day with her cousin, Mrs. Harry Farnham, Canniton.

Messrs. Cameron and Grenville Sine and Allan Dafoe spent Monday at the C.N.E.

Miss Anne Gray, 4th Line, is spending this week with Mr. and Mrs. Ross Dafoe.

Mr. Andy Gamble and granddaughter, Mrs. Strang, Trenton, spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs. M. Carr and Mr. Carr.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Walker of Brantford, called on Mr. and Mrs. M. Carr on Sunday.

Mr. H. Wallbridge of Mountain View, was a Sunday evening caller at home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Carr.

Wants Britain To End Control Over Cyprus

LONDON (Reuters) — Greece petitioned Britain at the foreign power talks Wed. to clear the way for troubled Cyprus to withdraw from the Commonwealth and join Greece.

Greece claimed that the people of the strategic Mediterranean island should be allowed to decide their future for themselves.

Foreign Minister Stephan Stephanopoulos addressed his British and Turkish colleagues, Harold Macmillan and Fatin Zorlu, at the third day of their meeting here.

Macmillan, who addressed the conference Thursday, insisted that Britain's sovereignty over the island is vital if she is to honor her military obligations in the Middle East.

Stephanopoulos probably also reviewed to the closed-door session Greece's proposal that Britain could be granted full military facilities on the island in the event of its coming under Greek rule.

Chief Chisholm Asked to Report On Allegation

TORONTO (CP) — Chief Constable John Chisholm has been asked for a report on allegation that Don jail prisoners have been removed to Toronto police headquarters and rubber-hosed there into confessing crimes.

The report was asked by the board of control.

Prisoners at Kingston Penitentiary had sent a brief to the Canadian Bar Association convention in Ottawa, alleging the practice. It was denied Tuesday by Col. R. R. Patterson, jail governor, who said prisoners leave the jail only for court appearances or for identification lineups at police headquarters.

Controller Ford Brand, acting mayor during the absence in Europe of Mayor Nathan Phillips, said the requested report does not mean an investigation of the police department.

Col. Patterson said he has never received a complaint from a prisoner alleging a beating at police headquarters and "if I ever had such a complaint I would call Police Chief John Chisholm."

Stirling

STIRLING. — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conley entertained Mr. and Mrs. Fred Howard, Smiths Falls, over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McDonell and children of Barrie, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McDonell.

The Rev. W. H. V. Walker conducted the funeral service of Mrs. George Dreyer at Belleville, on Friday. The bearers were all former Stirling friends.

At the regular Rotary luncheon the guest speaker was Mr. George Post, who has just recently returned from Scotland, where he took a student's course at St. Andrew's University. George gave a graphic picture of Scotland as he saw it during his stay overseas.

Mrs. Douglas Smith and Eric, Ottawa, visited her mother, Mrs. Herb. David in town and spent a few days at the "Outlet" in Prince Edward County.

ATTENDS MEETING

Rt. Wor. Bro. Fred Bateman, P.G.M., of Ontario East Orange lodges, attended an executive meeting of officers and Past Grand Masters of the Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East, at Brockville. Several matters pertaining to Grand Lodge were discussed and plans were made for the annual meeting to be held in Pembroke in April 1956.

Following the business period, the committee was entertained to a steak dinner at "Royal Oaks" tourist home at Maitland, Ont.

Mrs. Jack Hansen has returned home from Kingston Hospital.

Mr. J. Allen Francis has recently been promoted to the new office of associate agricultural representative for Hastings County with the Ontario Department of Agriculture at Stirling. He came to this village in June, 1953, as an assistant to Mr. A. O. Dalrymple and he has been most active in 4-H club work for the boys throughout the county.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

(By BUNNY MORGANSON)
(Toronto Telegram Sport Slants)

TORONTO . . . Being a sneez, so says our battered-but-faithful office dictionary, is one being entertained at another's sneeze, or one living in a hotel. There is nothing in the dictionary about a guest columnist. Could that mean a guest columnist is NOTHING? Is that why George Carver wished this assignment on this department?

But one has to admire George Carver. For such a jolly ol' character as Carver to leave himself wide open by inviting his so-called alleged friends around Ontario (including myself), to write a guest column during what he has the nerve to call—his vacation, is indeed a very brave act on his part.

The atmosphere of having unlimited space for this assignment is frightening. Especially so since we are but a small portion of the hectic daily rush which struggles along under such tried and true mottos as "Keep it short, we have no room for your junk today."

For a lad who keeps reminding the various conventional meetings that he's from "Lower Canada," Brother Carver gets a lot of free ink for Belleville, and is considered one of the stalwarts of the Boy of Quinte itself. Aside from his remarks and run-making at conventions, Carver is always selling Belleville as a sports centre. I often wonder if the rood folk of Belleville appreciate the effort he puts into being their one-man chamber of commerce.

Here's one they tell about Carver . . . Two sports writers were sitting up all night on the Montreal to Toronto flyer. They were discussing many things. During the customary stop at Belleville, somewhere an engineer started to play a merry tune on his engine whistle. "What in the name of something is that?" said one. His wiser companion replied "Don't be alarmed, it is only George Carver roaring at Mike Rodden."

Seriously, we love George Carver, for no other reason than he was kind enough to give us this opportunity of meeting his fans personally.

Just a few weeks ago Carver's staff writer in Belleville was emphasized. The senior "B" hockey situation looked very dark. Despite official cut-off action by the civic authorities, Carver kept shouting for that hockey team. I honestly believe that he personally was the spark that set off the special meeting of the fans and the eventual introduction of Mr. McNevin as the new sponsor.

George Carver's loyalty to sport in Belleville has never been in doubt. At times it is my duty to call him to task to find out a score or some detail of a game. I always know by his response whether Belleville won or lost the game.

Another feather in Carver's chapeau is his continual interest for the younger lads in sport. There are but three Ontario sports writers who have attended every annual meeting of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association. George Carver of Belleville, Chick Appel of Stratford and yours truly.

We here at the Telegram shall always be grateful to George for his assistance that helped put over the Telegram Baseball School idea in Belleville some few summers ago. He freely gave his time and effort to assist this worthwhile project.

Before writing 30 to this business of being a guest columnist may I be permitted to make a few personal observations.

With the Seaway project only a few short years away, Belleville has a great sports future. Now is the time to build for the future. Being the centre of new activity, Belleville sportsmen should prepare themselves and their accommodations for the rush that is to come. Organize the youth into individual or team games. Set up leagues and year-around action. It doesn't take much more than personal attention to start things and keep them going. Despite failures in the past to keep senior ball alive in Belleville, I feel there is still room for either the revision of the Central Ontario League idea, or the formation of a new Ontario league. But we must play within our financial means. The days of semi-professional dealings are over. The one thing that will save and restore team sport is a return to pure amateur thinking and operation.

Make sport fun for the participants, and the fan will once again respond with their whole-hearted support.

But enough of this preaching. We'll close this session with a word of thanks to the publishers of this newspaper in general, and to our friend George Carver in particular, for enjoying these few moments in reading fellowship.

Chicago Only Half-Game Up In Coming Series Which May Decide Who Wins Pennant

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chicago's old-folks pitching staff reclaimed Bob Keegan today and White Sox downed off for Cleveland to put their half-game lead in the American League to a showdown test against Indians.

Manager Marty Marion has been getting a lot more mileage than anyone expected from his mound veterans, riding on top with the likes of Virgil Trucks, 36; Sandy Consuegra, 35; Millard Howell, 35; Morrie Martin, 32; Camile Johnson, 32, and Harry Byrd, 30. And now Keegan, 34, is back in good standing.

The big righthander, a 16-9 help to the White Sox last season, had a bust this year, came back with an eight-hitter Wednesday to beat Boston 4-2. It was his first victory and first complete game since Sept. 12, 1954.

STAY IN FRONT

With a sweep of the two-game Boston series, Chicago stayed five percentage points ahead of New York and Cleveland, deadlocked in second. Indians kept the pace as rookie Herb Score three-hit Baltimore, 5-1. Meanwhile, New York made it past Kansas City 11-6 behind Tommy Byrne getting his 13th victory.

Cleveland was five in the first inning against Sanders. Score now has 209 strikeouts for the season, the first 20-game leaguer to reach 200 since teammate Bobby Feller fanned a record 348 in 1946.

HIT LATE RALLY

Byrne, 35, was breezing along on a four-hitter, behind home runs by Irv Noren, McDougald and Mickey Mantle, and had retired 13 in order when the A's got to work in the ninth. A five-run outburst by A's brought on Don Larsen to finish the rally.

Today's an off day in the American League with the four-game Chicago-at-Cleveland series opening Friday night while New York begins a home stand against Washington.

In the other American League game Wednesday, Earl Torgeson plunch his a three-run homer in the seventh as Detroit edged Washington 7-4 and rookie Frank Lary won his 12th.

In the National, Milwaukee brought six Brooklyn pitchers to the mound in a 13-8 pasting of the league-leading Dodgers. New York made it three straight over Cincinnati 5-0, Philadelphia clobbered Chicago 12-3 and Pittsburgh moved within 3½ games of seventh-place St. Louis by edging Cardinals 4-3 on Johnny O'Brien's single in the 10th inning.

TWO HOMERS

George Crowe hit two home runs, Eddie Mathews banged his 35th and Del Rice walloped his third in Braves' attack. Joe Burdette, in relief of Bob Buhl, won his 11th as Milwaukee wound up 12 games behind the Brooks.

Phils as 12 hits against Cubs' Jim Davis and three relievers, while Murry Dickson won his 11th on a four-hitter. Stan Lopata and Jim Greengrass homered for Phils.

Belleville Pair Beaten on Points For Bowling Title

HAMILTON (CP) — Four victories against one defeat gave John Martin of Edmonton the Canadian lawn bowling singles championship Wednesday. He defeated Vancouver's Jack Hunter 21-18 in 16 ends in the final.

British Columbia won the doubles and Alberta the rinks title as the tournament wound up at the Roselawn club here.

B. C. won the doubles on a plus-and-minus score. John Land and Harvie Wheant won three of five and ended in a tie with Belleville's Bruce Miller and Gordon Watkin. A judges' decision based on a point system gave the B. C. pair the win.

Keenest competition was in the rinks division where Ontario and Alberta foursomes captured four of the five games they played. Alberta was awarded the championship on a point basis.

Nineteen Horses Entered to Go In St. Leger

LONDON (AP)—Nineteen thoroughbreds were among Wednesday's final acceptors for the Sept. 7 running of the historic St. Leger —the last classic of the British horse racing season.

There are two Irish-trained colts and two entries from France. The others are English trained.

Winner of the St. Leger—England's oldest classic which was first run 180 years ago—collects $37,893 for the successful owner. Second place is worth $4,466 and third $2,234.

The entries — 17 three-year-old colts and two three-year-old fillies —will race one mile, 6-furlongs, 132 yards around the Doncaster town moor track.

The most favored entries are held, a filly, at 6-4, and Acropolis, at 5-2. Both are owned by women. Lady Zia Wernher owns Meld and 93-year-old Alice Lady Derby owns Acropolis.

Prince Aly Khan's colors will be carried by Cobetto and Beau Prince is owned by Frenchman George Wildenstein.

The other entries are Truce Caveltier, Cardington King, Daemon, Nucleus, Vs Presto, Marwarl, Lovely Valet, Windsor Sun, Roman Festival, Hyperiod Kid, Harbour Bar, Our Babu, and Miss Bigton.

Montreal Holds 3-Stroke Lead Into Second Round

HAMILTON (CP)—Jack Kay, a husky 26-year-old professional from Montreal, held a three-stroke lead today as a field of 41 golfers headed into the second round of the $4,000 bursary golf tournament.

Kay stood out as the only subpar shooter in Wednesday's first day round as the 6,506-yard Toronto Golf Club course. He fired a three-under 68. That was three strokes better than the score turned in by second-place Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver.

Tied for third spot were John Henrick of Ottawa and Norm Smith of Toronto York Downs. They each had 72s.

THREE SPLIT POT

The three top men in the 54-hole tournament will split the pot of $4,000 which they must spend on a 10-week tour of the United States winter golf circuit.

Three players were bunched at 73: Bob Dean of Cornwall, Alex Shields of Windsor and Peter Hilldrop of Hamilton Chedoke.

Nashua Scores Brilliant 6½-Length Win Over Swaps In Matched Race at Chicago

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—It took Nashua three months and 34 days to catch up with Swaps—but it only took him 2 minutes to avenge his Kentucky Derby loss.

The powerful, mahogany bay pride of the east, met the California-bred Swaps under neutral conditions Wednesday at Washington Park and scored a brilliant 6½-length triumph in one of the greatest match races ever run.

It was a thorough trouncing at 1⅛ miles under equal weights of 126 pounds, the same as the Kentucky Derby when Swaps brushed off favored Nashua's midstretch challenge and swept to a 1½-length victory.

STUFFED HEAVILY

The $100,000 winner - take - all showdown, first of its kind since Armed beat Assault and pocketed $56le Arcaro by eight lengths for the same jockey at Baltimore in the 1947, undoubtedly cinched three-year-old honors and probably the "horse of the year" award for Nasrullah's handsome son, owned by William Woodward Jr., of New York.

The sweet revenge, accomplished under the sting of Arcaro's whip that spurred Nashua to a never-headed stretch duel with the latter, gave the colt his ninth victory in 10 starts this year.

Arcaro said he "hit Nashua so hard" he thought he "set his flank on fire." He added that Nashua "did everything I asked him to do including take the lead."

Willie Shoemaker, the losing jockey, said that "Swaps tried, but just couldn't get there."

LED THROUGHOUT

The $100,000 purse pushed Nashua's earnings to $629,700 as a sophomore. He collected $182,863 in winning six out of eight starts to take juvenile honors last year. The total of $982,563 left him third behind Stymie and Citation on the all-time money list.

Nashua led at every pole after accelerating ahead under Arcaro and the whip. Swaps, who never had felt the sting of Willie Shoemaker's bat in his storied speed, was bitten by it at the head of the stretch. But nothing much happened after that except that away the closest Swaps got after Nashua's chubcous turn was one-half length with six furlongs gone.

He went off at 6-5 and returned $4.40 to his screaming backers in a crowd of 35,262. There was practically no betting only.

Swaps received 1-5 backing.

Nashua's victory was $174,727, with $107,339 going on Swaps and $67,378 on Nashua.

Panthers, Elgins Win First Games In Semi-Finals

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Senior Intercounty Baseball League's stage is the scene of some hard-fought ball games these days as the four finishing teams battle it out for possession of the league's best-of-seven semi-finals.

Wednesday night's doubleheader fans saw Brantford Red Sox brought to a standstill by St. Thomas Elgins. The Elgins took a 3-1 decision in the 11-hit contest.

Meanwhile, Kitchener Panthers fought themselves back into the intercounty limelight by taking Oshawa Merchants 7-6. The win followed a series of four losses for the Kitchener team.

At St. Thomas, a tight pitching duel between 13-4 Elgins' Dumouchelle and Brantford's Don Robertson kept both teams score less until St. Thomas collected a single in the fourth. Brantford tied it up in the fifth, but St. Thomas came right back in the sixth with the winning run. It was Ray Halkard's homer that did the trick. St. Thomas now leads 1-0 in the semi-finals.

Kitchener's righthander Johnny Lucas pitched four-hit ball for his win. He fanned five and walked four. It looked as though he was going to be the hard luck loser one to Roy Lefevre in the seventh, but Panthers netted one run in the ninth.

Panthers scored their runs in the third, fifth and seventh, four of them in one inning. They blasted Oshawa starter Eddie Hamilton for six hits and five runs in five innings. They put two singles and a double and an error off reliever Billy Myers in the seventh for their final scores. The series is tied 1-1.

'Hurricane' Jackson Wipes Out Charles' Comeback Hopes

CLEVELAND (AP) — Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson, the fantastic young fighter who had just betstered Ezzard Charles into bringing back his old comeback trophies, walked up to the 34-year-old ex-champ in the dressing room Wednesday night and told him: "That was one fight I hated to win."

In the ring before the TV cameras, Jackson was a dancing, weaving, cocky jack-in-the-box, literally staggering the baffled Charles in the 10th round and hitting him for with punches from everywhere.

But in the Cleveland Arena's dressing room Jackson was shy and self-conscious as he walked up to the press and apologized for beating him.

He straightened up when reporters responded with advice to a young boxer.

'DON'T WANT TO FIGHT'

"Take care of yourself and keep trying," Charles said. "You've got a lot of ability that most fellows haven't got. Put your heart in it."

Then smiled in Jackson's eyes as he listened to Charles, and he broke in with:

"But I don't want to fight."

"Oh, if you don't want to fight, that's a different story," said Charles. "With me it was different, I had to fight."

"I fight because there's nothing else I can do," interrupted Jackson and walked away.

Asked if the defeat meant his retirement, Charles told reporters he'd have to think about it for a few days.

It looked like the end of the trail for Charles, who beat Joe Walcott for the championship in 1949 and lost it to the 37-year-old Walcott two years later. A victory would have meant a possible chance for a title bout, especially if Archie Moore, whom Charles has beaten three times, should upset Rocky Marciano on Sept. 21.

Jackson, now third-ranking contender behind Moore and Bob Satterfield of Pittsburgh, becomes a top name to be reckoned with.

Montreal Royals Only Half-Game Behind Leafs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With only four days to go, it seems a safe bet that Toronto, Montreal, Havana and Rochester will be the combatants in the International League playoffs. Still unsecured is No. 4, going to win the pennant?

Toronto is still on top after its 9-4 victory over Havana Wednesday night. Havana, now five games back, seems consigned to third place, nine games ahead of Rochester Red Wings, who blasted Richmond 14-8. But Montreal Royals, with their No. 2-2 doubleheader victory at Columbus, have moved within half a game of Leafs and are set to go right down to the wire in quest of the title they last won in 1953.

Leafs, outhit 14 to 11, backed Jack Crimian with some solid longball hitting. Homering fans were Joe Taylor and Lou Limmer with a pair of double-decker Leroy Babe Taylor, Limmer and Sam Jethroe combined to bat in all but both Royals runs. Callie Allie against Cubans' Jose Bracho, Corky Valentine and Raoul Sanchez. Bracho lost for the fifth time in 14 decisions while Crimian now sports a 12-8 record.

Montreal also was outhit in the first contest, getting only four each off Jets' John Gray, half of them by Jim Williams, who fanned five in both frames. Glenn Mickens allowed five safeties in going the route for his 11th victory.

Three Royal homers in the doubleheader opener by Pete Wojcik, Clyde Parris, Bob Wilson and Rocky Nelson, the newly-crowned most valuable player, socked three baggers to beat Gus Keriazakos.

SPORT IN BRIEF

WILL DRESS 28

OTTAWA (CP) — The Big Four football league decided in a telephone poll Wednesday to dress and play 28 players, instead of 26, during all league and playoff games. The league last January decided to increase the number of players for each game to 26 from 28 last year.

ALS WANT KORCHAK

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes are dickering for Bod Korchak of Winnipeg Blue Bombers as a placement kicking specialist. Vice-president Vic Obeck of the Big Four club stated the Als may acquire the Winnipeg boy, a flying wing, in exchange for cash and/or an agreement involving some future trade, to be completed by the coming year.

BREAKS RECORD

PRAGUE (Reuters) — Jerry Chromik of Poland Wednesday night broke the record for the 3,000-metre steeplechase by winning the event in a dual track meet with Czechoslovakia at Brno in eight minutes, 41.2 seconds. The official record stood at 8:44.6, set by Isador Rosmyol of Hungary last year.

TOP WINNER RETIRED

DUQUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Pronto Don, the top money-winning harness race horse of all time, was retired Wednesday. The 10-year-old veteran pulling was ended by pasture by his owners, Hayes Fair Acres of Duquoin, with an earnings record of $232,000. The previous all-time money winner was the pacing stallion, Good Time, Pronto passed his total winnings of $218,000 last year.

Toronto Girl Loses Final In Record Time

BLACKPOOL, England Reuters)—After a tremendous battle with 13-year-old Londoner Christine Barry, Susan Grant of Toronto was beaten for second place in the final of the girls' 110-yard British freestyle swimming championship here Wednesday night.

For the second day running in the meetings between the two, the London girl was pushed to a British record, Miss Grant finishing in 70.8 seconds in their best she had to go to beat the Wednesday night's final.

The 15-year-old Miss Grant faded a little toward the end and recorded 71.8, a second slower than Tuesday.

35 Swimmers Found Fit To Enter Lake Swim

TORONTO (CP) — Thirty-five swimmers of 19 nationalities Wednesday were found fit to enter the Canadian National Exhibition 32-mile swim across Lake Ontario.

Of the 43 who filed entries for the swim, one—Larry Bryant, 17, of Toronto—withdrew and seven failed to appear. However, it was learned likely that he would be given some leeway if they had been delayed during travel to Toronto.

FIRST WINS $15,000

The first swimmer to reach the CNE waterfront will win $15,000. If a woman wins she'll get a total of $16,500 because of a prize of $1,500 for the second swimming first.

Other prizes are $5,000 for second place, $2,000 for third, $1,000 for fourth and $500 for fifth.

Those who filed entries before the deadline but didn't arrive Wednesday included Shirley Stretton, Aldershot, Ont., and Bert Thomas, Tacoma, Wash.

Zaleski Taken Off Player List of Alouettes

MONTREAL (CP)—Vic Obeck, vice-president of Montreal Alouettes, announced Wednesday that quarterback Joe Zaleski had been signed as a scout and taken off the player list.

Zaleski came to the Big Four football club at the start of the current training season from Winnipeg Blue Bombers. He can be put back on the player list when import status—in case of injuries, particularly if quarterback Sam Etcheverry should be hurt. Also, Bruce Coulter, a Canadian, is Als' other quarterback.

It was also announced that veteran guard Herb Trawick has been selected captain of the team and Joey Pal and Bruce Coulter as alternates.

ASK NAME DEPOSITS

Obeck also said he has asked the Canadian Rugby Union to take steps toward having western league clubs name their 12 players eligible for the Grey Cup game by around the middle of October.

The western league allows each club 12 imports throughout the season. Their Cup eligibles are restricted to 10.

Alouettes open the season in Montreal Saturday against Ottawa Rough Riders. The teams play in Ottawa in a night game Labor Day.

Coach Doug Walker said Wednesday that both John Anderson and Chuck Hunsinger are on the limp from injuries and their starting status is doubtful. There is a possibility Jackie Vetlake, a versatile acquired from Ottawa, may replace either of them.

Quebec Junior Hockey Loop Has Folded

MONTREAL (CP)—The Quebec Junior Hockey League, founded 8 years ago, decided Wednesday to cease operations.

The once powerful loop was left with only two teams — Montreal Canadiens and Quebec Frontenacs —when Trois-Rivieres decided recently to move into the professional Quebec Hockey League.

Quebec Frontenacs are expected to enter the Quebec City Senior League. Montreal Canadiens may play exhibition games until it is time to challenge for the Memorial Cup.

Sparmates Told To Hurt Champ, Get Him Mad

GROSSINGER, N. Y. (AP)—Rocky Marciano's sparring partners were told Wednesday to try to hurt the heavyweight champion and get him mad.

The instructions were issued by manager Al Weill to sparmates Keene Simmons, Toxie Weill, Felix Antonello and Alex Brown.

"Rocky has less than three months before the fight," said Weill. "He's been working smoothly, maybe too smoothly. He's been keeping his punches nice and short and protecting his body. He's ready.

"But yesterday I see something I don't like," Weill added. "Antonio got fresh with Rocky and Rocky went back to his old alley style of fighting. He could be very dangerous against a sharpshooter like Moore.

"That's why I want him shook up, to see if he will control himself."

Marciano defends his title against light heavyweight champion Moore at Yankee Stadium, Sept. 20.

Trailermen Win Second Straight In Final Series

FERGUS (CP) — Peterborough Trailermen took a two-game lead in the best-of-seven Ontario Lacrosse Association senior finals by defeating Fergus Thistles 15-6.

Trailermen scored the first three goals in the first nine minutes and they were never behind for the rest of the game. They led 6-2 at the end of the first and 10-4 at the end of the second period.

Top scorers for Peterborough were Jack Mason and Bob Thorpe with three goals each; Bill Allen, Leo Hutchinson, Al Bellamy, Joe Leach and singles were scored by Ike Hildebrand, Bob Gray and Carl Brioux.

Fergus scorers were J. J. Hill and Lloyd Smith, two each, and singles by Tony d'Amico and Don Gear.

BOXING LEGAL AGAIN

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Gov George Leader Wednesday lifted a ban on professional boxing in Pennsylvania, a state since time has signed into law a new code to regulate the sport in the Keystone state. The suspension of boxing had been in effect a total of 114 days.

Leafs' Hurler, Jack Crimian, Most Valuable

MONTREAL (CP) — Jack Crimian, Toronto Maple Leafs' righthander, has been named the International League's most valuable pitcher for 1955.

The announcement was released today by Dink Carroll of the Montreal Gazette, president of the League's Baseball Writers' Association. Crimian was first choice on the 15 writers' ballots. He polled 215 points on the basis of 10 points for first, seven for second, six for third and so on.

Ken Lehman, Montreal southpaw, was the league's winningest pitcher and second in the poll with 196 points to Crimian's 215. Rex-Sallee of Syracuse righthander, was third with 135.

I'm going to talk a little today about the use of the No. 3 wood. This is a very useful club when you need a little more distance than you can get with an iron. It also comes in handy when you haven't got a good enough lofting lie for a brassie shot, or where you want to loft the ball quickly with a wood in order to clear some obstacle.

You swing the No. 3 just as you do any other wood club. The only difference is that you give it just a little shorter swing from your left heel so that you hit it right at the bottom of the arc on your downswing instead of just after, as with the woods.

The reason for this is that there is enough loft built into the face of the No. 3 wood so that it isn't necessary to hit it slightly on the upswing as with the other woods. In other words you play it more like an iron shot for best results.

Of course, one other difference between the No. 3 wood and the others is that it is shorter and therefore you stand a little closer to the ball and take a somewhat more upright swing, which is good. (Copyright 1955, John F. Dille Co.)

Chances are you got a "helping" of aluminum as part of your daily diet. Most cooks use aluminum saucepans to purify the water from lakes and rivers. Cohaws, for instance, has used it for the purpose for 15 years.

Usually, however, aluminum is associated with the cooking of foods. In cooking utensils, pots and frozen food containers, also wrappings for cakes and candy and roasts and left-overs—in bottle tops and hoods—aluminum keeps food fresh, yet and drink fresh and pure and wholesome.

DEVOURED BY SHARK

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese fisherman was devoured by a huge shark Tuesday off a tiny island 150 miles south of Tokyo, press reports said today. Otamatsu Yoshii was swimming with another fisherman to net flying fish when the shark suddenly attacked.

BOLT FROM BLUE

VIENNA (AP)—Southerners in a Vienna park ran for their lives Tuesday when a bolt from the blue split a large cherry tree in their midst from top to bottom. The bolt turned out to be a 20-pound metal bar which had dropped off an airplane passing overhead.

AT THE CAPITOL — Robinson Crusoe (Dan O'Herlihy) meets Friday (James Fitzmaurice) in the United Artists release "Adventures of Robinson Crusoe", Daniel Defoe's immortal classic opening tonight at the Capitol Theatre. On the same program in Technicolor "Rails to Laramie", starring John Payne, Mari Blanchard and Dan Duryea.

AT THE McCARTHY — Romantic intrigue in the Pharaoh's palace as exotic Joan Collins plots with Sydney Chaplin against the mighty ruler of all Egypt in Howard Hawks' production, "Land of the Pharaohs", opening today at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre in CinemaScope and WarnerColor.

Looking Into Lighted Houses Led to Birth of Popular Show

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—"No one can walk past a house with the blinds up and not look inside," says Edward R. Murrow.

This simple fact of human nature lies behind the popular appeal of Murrow's show, "Person to Person," which returns to CBS-TV Friday evening.

He recalls that some aimless conversation about walking down streets and looking in lighted houses led to the birth of this program in which cameras pass into the private homes of interesting people. "And," Murrow adds, "you don't have to be a Peeping Tom to wonder how other people live."

Since 1953 "Person to Person" has visited 170 homes. Friday night it adds those of actors Dick Powell and June Allyson in Los Angeles and of photographer Margaret Bourke-White in Darien, Conn. Generals, actors, athletes, business leaders, politicians, artists, a New York redcap and former president Truman—all have welcomed Murrow's cameras.

It's a rare citizen these days who slams the door in Murrow's face, but in the beginning there were several turn-downs. Nearly all those who first said "no" have since come around with an eager "yes."

"One of the big problems," says Murrow, "is delay in scheduling. You'd be surprised how many ladies want to have their homes redecorated before letting our cameras come in."

"Actually, it's a pleasant change of pace to me," Murrow says. "For instance, if I'm interviewing a politician or it I have to pin him or pin him against the wall on the subject of politics. After all, he's in his own home. I like doing it because I like people. And I like the unpredictability of it."

The unpredictability lies in such situations as these: Murrow, interviewing from New York, happens on occasion found the order of his two visits reversed; prepared to confront an "intellectual," he found himself with an athlete because of transmission difficulties. Again, there was the time when the lady of the house went behind a screen to change clothing and the screen looked to Murrow as if it was about to topple over—but it didn't.

"By and large, professional sectors are the most nervous," says Murrow. "Athletes are the most relaxed."

MISSED HER AUTHOR

Tallulah Bankhead told him: "Dahling, I damn near died. There I was all by myself, and all my life I've had an author."

On the other hand, Yogi Berra of the New York Yankees told him: "Why should I be worried? There ain't nobody gonna be throwin' at my head."

Murrow cannot speak too highly of the show's technical staff—who move the mass of equipment into homes. For a period of eight to 10 hours a group of 10 to 15 men are working about a home, disrupting its usual routine.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Friday, September 2, 1955:

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — A well-prepared program can make fine headway now. But the convenient method is not always the most productive. Make sure your energies are properly directed. Procrastination taboo.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Excellent business should aid your best performance. Label objectives and strive, through unswerving course, to attain. Home and romantic interests rate high in p.m.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Watch diet. Avoid overeating over-indulgence in beverages. Be consistent in what you do. Do not work erratically. Curtail non-essentials. Enjoy planning the weekend ahead.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Fine rays from the firmament smile on you now. Why not increase the tempo of your activity to speed success, provided physical or weather conditions permit?

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Supplying useful information is in order just. Others will be grateful, and you will get a chance to exercise your faculties and develop new ideas. Make time in free hours for relaxing recreation, pleasant pursuits.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo) — Focus attention on ordinary routine, home interests, on weekend plans, civic matters. Avoid a tendency to bite off more than you can chew. Better do less well. Review opportunities.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Balance efforts to insure smooth productivity. Pigeonhole for future reference those items that can wait. First things first, and your best to the fore.

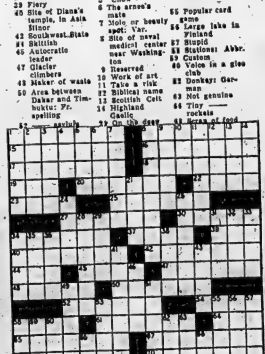
October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Auspicious variations heading your way. Proceed with due respect for daily chores that must not be overlooked. Temper enthusiasm with common sense, a touch of humor, diplomacy.

November 23 to December 22 — (Sagittarius) — Advice to Scorpio applicable now. Enhance progress with a tried but novel twist. Friends and family are rooting for you. Show them their confidence is not misplaced. Cheers!

December 23 to January 21 — (Capricorn) — Of course, modern methods are productive. But remember, the quality produced in the past through the wisdom of elders had merit, too. A happy mixture pays off well.

January 22 to February 20 — (Aquarius) — Keep your eyes on the largel. Don't deviate from a wisely determined goal. Brace yourself for maximum performance without strain. Regulate spending and avoid purchasing non-essentials, inferior products.

February 21 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Tip-top rays. What a performance can be yours! Don't let yourself down. You do have talent, ability, and opportunity. Accomplishment will bring satisfaction in a job well done.



You born today: Versatility in talent, general capability, willingness to work hard for a goal and love of ones, and high-mindedness are your outstanding qualities. But like us all, you have faults, and while few, they can be devastating to your family and your nerves and health in the long run. Overcome anxiety about daily outcomes, about whether others do things as you think they should; don't get into heated discussions over about dislikes; give yourself and others the benefit of a philosophical outlook. Handle all matters without strain, or haste. Listen to others even if you don't wish to; this teaches us much. We learn to criticize less. Pray for God's guidance.

MAY CAUSE CANCER

LONDON (AP) — Two British doctors said today antibiotics such as sulfathiazide and penicillin may cause cancer. Writing in the weekly, Medical Press, Drs. S. A. Meyer and J. D. Bejsfield noted cancer of the lung alone has increased tenfold in England since antibiotics were introduced here 20 years ago. "This is perhaps more than strange coincidence," they said, adding that by "damaging tissues in some subtle manner" antibiotics may inhibit the body's normal immunological reaction to cancer.

Australia Gets Radio Signals From Jupiter

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—Australia is getting weekly "radio signals" from the planet Jupiter, it was officially stated today.

Dr. E. G. Bowen, chief of the radio-physics division of the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization, said the signals appear to originate from a visible rearrging on Jupiter—the largest planet in the solar system, with a diameter 11 times greater than the earth's.

Bowen said the radio signals were first reported in the United States earlier this year. Since then, Bowen's engineers added to the list discovered signals from Jupiter in records it made in 1950 and 1951 while investigating radio noises from the sky.

One possible explanation of the signals was that they originate from "tremendous electrical disturbances" in Jupiter's atmosphere. But the disturbances, Bowen said, must have to be much greater in intensity than thunderstorms on earth to account for the strength of the signals received.

Jupiter's atmosphere consists largely of hydrogen and helium. It is extremely deep, and it has been estimated that pressure at its base must be about 1,000,000 times the earth's air pressure. The average temperature on Jupiter is 220 degrees below zero Fahrenheit.

South Hastings Baseball League

Shannonville traked to Cannifton last night for a replay of Monday night's tie game and downed the homesters 4-1. Cannifton now hold a two games to one lead in the best-of-seven South Hastings baseball championship with the fourth game scheduled for Shannonville on Friday night at 6:30 p.m.

Oliver pitched for Cannifton, claiming three strikeouts and walking the same number. He gave up five hits. Green fielded for Shannonville, allowing only two hits while fanning eight and passing two.

L. Maracle, in the first inning, got to base on an infield hit, and scored when Jones rapped the plate on Sero's single for a 1-0 lead for the winners. In the second, Lewis whammed a double and Bennett singled him home. They completed their scoring in the sixth on a single by L. Reid and a walk to Sero who also scored.

Cannifton tallied their lone marker in the first when Harold got a walk, stole second and third but was out trying to steal home. Shannonville Petrie followed with hits to score the run.

Lineups:

Shannonville: Barbershock, L. Maracle, L. Reid, Green, D. Gilewis, Stuart, P. Maracle, Bennett.

KILLED BY TRUCK

TORONTO (CP) — Nine-year-old Edward Joseph Quinn died Friday when he slipped from his bicycle beneath the wheels of a tractor-trailer transport. Police said the truck driver, Roy Liddier, 40, of Toronto who reported completed 150,000 miles of accident-free driving, was in no way to blame for the accident.

FACES MURDER TRIAL

TORONTO (CP)—Gregorio Gianotti, 36, Friday was committed for trial on a charge of murder in the paring-knife slaying of 37-year-old Mrs. Lila Storm July 26. Police testified Joseph Quinn testified that when he investigated a disturbance in the accused's home he found Gianotti in possession of a blood-stained knife.

RESCUED FROM ICE BOX

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Two small boys were rescued Tuesday from an abandoned ice box as they faced possible suffocation. Detectives said a boy's vandalism heard a pounding inside the box at Arthur King's garage. Inside they found Kenny's brother, James Tate, 10, and his half-brother, one-year-old James King.

FRANKFORD

Merchants Even OASA Series, Whip Cobourg 7-3

FRANKFORD — (Special) — Scoring four runs in the sixth, Frankford Merchants evened their best-of-three OASA Intermediate "B" series with a 7-3 victory over the Cobourg Indians here last night.

A flip of the coin gave Cobourg home grounds for the third game on Saturday but the Merchants won the right for last bats. Game is scheduled for 5.30 p.m.

Cobourg took a 2-0 lead in the top of the...first last night but Frankford got one back in their half and took a 3-2 margin in the second. The Indians knotted the score in the fourth and the winners sank four to wrap up the decision in the sixth.

Doug Radnor hurled a fine game for the victors, allowing just three hits while fanning eight and walking three. His mates played errorless ball to back him up. Murphy and Wickson were his receivers.

McIver and Bevan formed the loser's battery, McIver surrendering nine safeties. He whiffed two batters.

HEAT WAVE ENDS

LONDON (Reuters)—London finds relief from Britain's heat wave Friday as the temperature fell to 67 degrees. A forecast of rain promised further relief in the parched southwest of England, long the precious water to farming villages where wells and springs have run dry.

Minister Found Not Guilty Of Heresy

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A trial board sitting in the second heresy trial in the 85-year history of the northwest synod of the United Lutheran Church Wednesday night found Rev. John Gerberding not guilty of deviating from official church doctrine.

Gerberding, 33, pastor of Holy Cross church at Menomonee Falls in neighboring Waukesha county, was acquitted on seven charges and the remaining charge was set aside.

A statement issued by the trial board said it noted "obvious confusion, immaturity and inconsistencies in Pastor Gerberding's expression and testimony given before the examining committee, the investigating committee and the present trial board."

"Such behavior does not of itself constitute heresy but . . . could eventually lead to actual heresy. We therefore unanimously recommend that proper administrative action be taken by the synod to rectify this offensive situation."

Gerberding was accused of "denying the divine authority of the Holy Scriptures, holding and teaching that the doctrine of the virgin birth of Mary was unimportant and 'need not be interpreted as literal fact,' denying the physical resurrection of Jesus, the historicity and actuality of the visible ascension of Jesus and a number of His recorded miracles, denying the efficacy of intercessory prayer and the sacramental union of the Lord's Supper."

VALUABLE PAINTING

RACINE, Wis. (AP) — Mrs. S. Eugene Craig has discovered that the old oil painting which hung on her wall for 43 years may be worth $10,000. The price was quoted by Frank L. Brown, owner of the La Paris art gallery here, who took a look at the painting after Mrs. Craig had it cleaned recently. It bore the signature of Gerald Terbroch, Dutch artist who lived from 1627 to 1681.

JEERS RUSSIANS

Cries of 'Bandits,' 'Murderers' Greet Touring Red Farm Experts at London

By HAROLD MORRISON

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Russia's tourist-like farm experts ran into another anti - Communist outburst Thursday night as cries of "bandits" and "murderers" greeted them at London's Crumlin airport.

The chief delegate conducting the tour, S.I. Chagnon, has made a public apology.

The unusual deputy agriculture minister held a press conference he was very embarrassed by what has taken place and on behalf of the Canadian government wants to express regret for the anti-Red demonstrations. He said he has told the Soviet delegation that.

Soviet officials have given no interviews but reporters among the group have said privately the Russian government would not have allowed such a demonstration to take place in the Soviet.

After they landed in and out of Winnipeg to avoid clashes with anti-Reds, the visitors arrived here after about 8:30 p.m. (EST) Thursday night. A host of Friends of Russian Freedom greeted the delegation leader Vladimir Matskevich with bouquets of flowers at the airport when suddenly the outcry began.

Then the flowers on the Siberian graves of those you have murdered," and "murderers" greeted the local construction worker of Latvian origin.

Andy Kapur, a factory worker, cried:

"You put me in a concentration camp and made me work for the price of barbed wire. I hate you."

Police in plain clothes told the anti-Reds to move on, but they refused. Then a number of scuffles and demonstrators edged closer to the Russians.

The police began pushing the demonstrators back, by isolating one individual at a time. Some of the individual officials who had to cope with the demonstrators included 16 police-escorted motorcade officials, 40 Royal Canadian Mounted Police and city, provincial police who had to cordon off the airport.

16 police-escorted motorcade officials got the Russians through the crowd and into a downtown hotel where plain clothes men patrolled the corridors during the night.

Earlier, the news had been sent to the airport that the Russian visit to Britain the Soviet men got of the airport fast to avoid a disturbance.

But an airport official announced just before arrival time that the two federal planes carrying the Russian party would be delayed by hours. The planes arrived on time and the cabs which had returned to the city had to be recalled.

Mr. Chagnon told the press conference:

"These people are guests of this country and they should be treated as guests, not as hostiles. They are agricultural students, endeavoring to learn from this country of farming. We are endeavoring to show it to them. We hope the people will realize our purpose."

The Russians were conducted to this area to tour southern Ontario farms and study such crop products as corn, soy beans, sugar beets and small vegetables.

They were to have spent two days and from there possibly work towards Niagara Falls. However, plans may be changed.

Originally the Russians were to visit Windsor, Ont., from there to Winnipeg, but this was changed at the last minute. Federal officials have said the change has had nothing to do with the anti-Red demonstrations in Winnipeg and were concerned over the possibility of an accident at the border city.

They thought London would be quiet and possibly more receptive to the Soviet visitors. However, there was a small demonstration at Montreal when they arrived there on Aug. 25. But there was a contrasting warm welcome at Ottawa when the delegates arrived for a four-day stay in Saskatchewan.

However, Winnipeg proved another changeover. Some 300 anti-Reds shouting and waving placards, and a small gang mob picked and spat on four Russian officers in the airport when suddenly the outcry began.

Then the flowers on the Siberian graves of those you have murdered," and "murderers" greeted the local construction worker of Latvian origin.

Andy Kapur, a factory worker, cried:

"You put me in a concentration camp and made me work for the price of barbed wire. I hate you."

Police in plain clothes told the anti-Reds to move on, but they refused. Then a number of scuffles and demonstrators edged closer to the Russians.

The police began pushing the demonstrators back, by isolating one individual at a time. Some of the individual officials who had to cope with the demonstrators included 16 police-escorted motorcade officials, 40 Royal Canadian Mounted Police and city, provincial police who had to cordon off the airport.

OTTAWA (CP)—Construction of the a $320,000,000 natural gas pipeline across most of Canada has received a boost from a federal-provincial-company conference here.

Indications at first Thursday meeting were that Alberta gas might land in Ontario and Quebec by late 1957 and in Winnipeg by the fall of next year.

The federal government was planning on participating, in a crown company to further the Trans-Canada pipeline, Prime Minister St. Laurent said he hopes construction on the delayed portion can be started next spring.

Mr. St. Laurent made the prediction in reporters after a meeting with Premier Manning of Alberta and officers of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., whose plans for 2,900-mile pipe from Alberta to the east have become bogged down by financing difficulties.

Trans-Canada had planned originally to start construction this year. Unofficial information after Thursday's meeting was that its schedule now will run this way:

1. By late 1956, completion of a line to Winnipeg and thence down to Emerson, Man., on the United States border, where Trans-Canada will sell gas to Tennessee Gas Transmission Company of the U. S.

2. About simultaneously, completion of a line from Toronto to serve Montreal and Ottawa with gas coming from the eastern U. S., under a contract with Tennessee.

3. In the fall of 1957, completion of the "all-Canadian" line north of the Great Lakes from Winnipeg to Toronto, when eastern U. S. gas would be shut off and Trans-Canada would supply its Ontario-Quebec customers with Alberta gas.

The rough spot in Trans-Canada has been financing the relatively expensive, and non-lucrative part of the big line over the top of the Great Lakes and Mr. St. Laurent said Thursday it is possible a crown company will be set up to take on the construction job.

He told reporters Ontario is anxious to participate in this crown company, and he suggested Alberta also might be in it.

Premier Manning was to the effect that Trans-Canada pipeline now will run this way:

Britain Calms Soviet Fears Arms Inspectors Would Spy

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Britain has taken steps to calm Russian fears that the West plans to turn proposed disarmament inspection teams into espionage agencies.

This was learned in diplomatic quarters as the United Nations disarmament sub-committee members took a Labor Day holiday after their first week in their new round of talks. The sub-committee will resume work Tuesday, and some members hope they can complete their work before adjourning Sept. 16.

The Canadian delegate, Health Minister Paul Martin, left New York Thursday for consultations in Ottawa with the government officials in Ottawa.

Before leaving, Martin said: "I think I have detected a willingness on the part of all delegations to be more frank and a greater willingness (by the delegates) to examine more open-mindedly the proposals."

tions and proposals of the others."

Talks in the sub-committee so far have been secret. But it was learned from informed sources that Britain has made it clear that any inspection set up will be strictly that, and not a spy nest.

Anthony Nutting, British minister of state who came here for the talks, is said to have assured the Russians still seem to feel that the reason the West wants a control set-up is to provide a cover to set up a spy organization in the Soviet Union.

Nothing was known to have offered reassurances in the sessions of the disarmament sub-committee to the Russians on the extent of inspection. The control plan, in the early stages it would not go into members' countries.

The Russians finished the first week still silent on the American-British-French proposals calling for freedom of the air, mutually inspection and aerial inspection of the United States and Russia.

Food Costs Push Consumer Index Up During July

OTTAWA (CP) — Higher food prices in July contributed to an increase of four-tenths of a point in the consumer price index to 119.4 from 119.0, the bureau of statistics reported today.

It was the first successive monthly rise and followed an increase of one point in June. The food sub-index rose by nine-tenths of a point to 112.4 from 111.5.

Among food items, increases were registered by butter, eggs, grapefruit and most cuts of beef and lamb. Price decreases in dairy cheese, canned peas and fresh vegetables, notably tomatoes and potatoes.

The wholesale price index for industrial products, also based on 1926-30 prices equalling 100, advanced to 245.8 in July from 245.3 in June.

The increase was caused mainly by higher prices for steel scrap and copper and brass mill products, beef hides, hogs, steel bars, raw wool, sheep and lamb skins, iron ore and bleached sulphite pulp. Prices of raw wool, cottonseed oil, hides and cattle were weakened in the period.

Will Dempsey Be Admitted To PC Party?

TORONTO (CP)—The Telegram says there was a secret last month in discussions with James S. Dempsey, independent Conservative member of the legislature for Renfrew, to have Mr. Dempsey re-admitted to the party.

The paper says the premier had a friendly conversation Thursday with Mr. Dempsey, dropped by the party for allegedly accepting political contributions from Renfrew lumberman without reporting them.

An announcement by Mr. Frost of Mr. Dempsey's new application is expected Wednesday, the paper adds.

LABOR STRIKE OUTMODED SAYS ENGLISH JURIST

Says Impartial Tribunal Should Settle Disputes

OTTAWA (CP) — The labor strike, says an English jurist, has no place in a civilized community.

Lord Justice Alfred Thompson Denning of the English court of appeal told a Canadian Bar Association meeting Thursday the strike has been necessary to meet all the injustices of the 19th century.

But in "our modern day strikes are surely an outmoded weapon."

He made his remarks in an unscheduled appearance on a panel considering the role of lawyers in labor relations, one of many problems being given detailed study by various sections of the CBA annual meeting.

FAVORS INCORPORATION

He said labor disputes should be settled by an impartial tribunal and favored incorporation of unions, which he said would make operations "in fact."

Unions were unprotected before the law as much so that they may be said to be outside the law," he said. The decisions they make have on occasions been misused."

Burns, chief of the United Nations truce supervisory commission, the spokesman said he has told Israel if it was necessary for the Cairo government to ask for the return of the policemen disclosed that Burns arrived in Gaza this morning for a fact-finding investigation of the Israeli attack on Khan Yunis, a city in the Gaza strip. The United States and Britain had wrongly backed the UN truce supervisory commission.

The Israeli announcement came in the estimates of separate forces in fast nine days of fighting in the Gaza area revealed as high as 57 Egyptian dead, wounded. They said scored when Israeli troops attacked Khan Yunis military headquarters at Khan Yunis in the Egyptian held Gaza strip on Wednesday night. Israel described the raid as punishment for previous Egyptian attacks, and as a warning against future hostilities.

IMMEDIATE END

Prior to the Israeli announcement regarding a cease-fire acceptance, an Egyptian spokesman in Cairo said Israel had urged through the UN truce chief that hostilities be ended immediately.

The announcement by the Israeli foreign office said that Burns had informed that provided all attacks by Egyptians on Israeli forces will end by 0,333 from 10,734, reported today.

NORMAL FROM ITALY

There was a slight decline, to 12,695 from 13,003, was reported in services of Italians. Italy also supplied the largest number, 2,129.

The department said 32,899 arrivals in the first seven months of this year were 3,129 more than in the same period last year.

The 36,158 remainder was composed of wives, children and others not classified as labor. Arrivals compared with 37,520 in that category in the first six months of last year.

Egyptian Troops Told To Observe Gaza Cease-Fire

Order Follows Israel's Acceptance of Truce Plan

JERUSALEM (AP)—One minor incident was reported along the tense Egyptian - Israeli frontier Thursday night after Israel announced conditional acceptance of an appeal to end the fighting.

An Israeli military spokesman at Tel Aviv said Egyptian infiltrators blew up a well shortly before midnight near Yad Mordechai, an Israeli settlement northeast of the Egyptian-held Gaza strip.

It was in the Yad Mordechai area that Israel Thursday claimed two Egyptian jet fighters were shot down by Israeli planes.

Israel Thursday night announced acceptance of a United Nations proposed cease-fire, providing that "all attacks by Egyptians in whatever form will cease."

EGYPT HAS AGREED

A spokesman for Egypt's Foreign department said in Cairo that there has not replied to the bid. But he announced that Egyptian troops have been ordered to observe a cease-fire.

Pointing out that Egypt agreed subject to the cease-fire proposal by Canadian Major-Gen. E. L. Burns, chief of the United Nations truce supervisory commission, the spokesman said he has told Burns if it was necessary for the Cairo government to ask for the return of the policemen disclosed that Burns arrived in Gaza this morning for a fact-finding investigation of the Israeli attack on Khan Yunis, a city in the Gaza strip. Coffin Refused Leave to Appeal Hanging Sentence

OTTAWA (CP) — Wilbert Coffin, Gaspe prospector, today was denied leave to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada his conviction for murder in the killing of an American hunter two years ago.

Coffin, sentenced to death, is scheduled to be hanged at Montreal's Bordeaux jail, Sept. 23.

Mr. Justice Gordon Abbott rejected in chambers Coffin's application for leave to appeal his conviction by a jury in Perce, Que., Aug. 5, 1953.

He was convicted of murdering Richard Lindsay, 17, one of three Middlebury, Vt., hunters whose bodies, partly remains were found in the Gaspe peninsula, bush 13 months later.

The two other hunters were Lindsay's brother, Raymond, 47, and companion, Frederick Claar, 19.

Coffin will be hanged unless the cabinet, upon receipt of examination of sentence, the only remaining recourse that can save him from the noose.

Coffin's sought to appeal on a number grounds of law, including the claim that he should have been tried by a bilingual jury instead of by all French- and all English-speaking jurors.

Shows His Boss How to Shoot Hole-in-One

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — If the boss is a golfer, Bob Booth has the formula for making him happy.

Booth shot a hole-in-one Tuesday on the par-three, 123-yard third hole at Enger Park municipal golf course.

When Brancowske stepped to the third tee Booth made a slight adjustment on his swing and got the same result. Brancowske swung, the ball landed just off the green, then rolled in.

Prairies Now Look Their Best, Farmers' Spring Tears All Dried

By WALTER GRAY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Prairies are looking their prettiest. A bumper crop is turning green fields to gold, and the biggest harvest moon casts a silver sheen over the rolling land.

The view has done tremendous things to the spirits of farmers who dried the farmers' spring tears. It brought the words "bumper crop" to their lips and sent combines humming.

Thursday, a report by the federal agriculture department and provincial agricultural and economic laboratory here added a new touch of rose to the picture.

It said Saskatchewan, for the most competent observers that a damaging frost will not occur before the end of August," the report said.

In other words, Canada's 1955 crop has escaped last year's fate when 130,000,000 bushels of wheat prey to the rust plague, the worst in history.

In sharp contrast, the laboratory estimated that this year's loss to leaf rust in Manitoba should amount to between 300,000 and 500,000 bushels.

Many grain officials will credit the Saskatchewan Research Council of Selkirk wheat. Some 3,000,000 bushels of the rust - resistant Selkirk, a Race 115 stem rust, were distributed in Manitoba and eastern Saskatchewan in the spring.

The top-seven barley was little affected by rust and, despite a severe defoliation by leaf rust, Selkirk appears to be a good yielder in southern Manitoba and in the Dauphin area, north of Manitoba.

However, this heartening report on rust does not mean that Prairie farmers will remain in clover.

What the grassy sun disappears in the night the big harvest moon takes over and its sheen is as cool as it is silvery. Prairie nights are cool, cooler. And the threat of frost still lurks behind the scenes.

Agriculture officials say they have not yet reached maturity must be considered susceptible to frost damage," said the bureau of statistics.

Immigration Total Declines 27,000 This Year

OTTAWA (CP) — Immigration dropped more than 27,000 in the first six months of this year, it was learned with a similar period last year.

The immigration department today announced that arrivals in July and August declined to 32,417 from 36,158 in the first six months of 1954.

Biggest declines were registered in arrivals of British, German and Dutch nationals.

British arrivals—English, Irish, Scottish and Welsh—dropped to 16,179 from 21,538, a decline of almost 25,000. Arrivals of Germans and Dutch dropped to 2,112 from 14,611 and to 2,333 from 10,734, respectively.

GUIDED MISSILE PLAN PROCEEDING SAYS GRAHAM

New Chief of Staff Grants Conference

OTTAWA (CP)—A guided missile program is on the army's list of priorities, well, says Lt.-Gen. Howard Graham, new chief of the general staff.

He added, however, at a press conference Thursday that it is too early to say how soon the army, especially the artillery, might acquire such weapons.

He indicated was that the army still is studying exactly what kind of guided missiles it wants and how they can best be fitted into the army organization.

The 57-year-old lawyer-general, who took over Thursday from Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, 52, said that in view of the possibility of atomic weapons are bound to be changes in the army, most of them revolutionary rather than revolutionary. Some changes take a long time to do the evolving," he said. "Others, probably revolutionary changes might be in the offering.

QUIET ON CONFUSION

The one-time infantry private in the First World War and brigadier in the Second World War made his replies to a question on the possibility of confusion in general because, he said, "I've hardly got the seat warm yet."

He nearly parried a question about the army's conscription plan. That's really a fast ball," he said.

Would you like to take a swing at it?" a reporter pressed.

"No until my eye gets a little better trained," he replied with a smile.

Asked about the possibility of defence relaxation in light of the apparent cold-war thaw in Europe, Gen. Graham said:

"One swallow doesn't make a summer."

Gen. Graham, a member of the army council from 1952 to 1939, will visit all units in Canada in the next 18 weeks.

Told Time Bomb May Be Hidden On British Liner

LONDON (Reuters) — Scotland Yard disclosed today that it has been warned by anonymous letter warning that a time bomb may have been smuggled aboard a British liner now cruising the Mediterranean.

The warning has been radioed to the captain of the 34,215-ton liner Ocean, now en route from Naples to Gibraltar.

A spokesman for the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, owner of the Ocean, said the ship has been thoroughly searched. He said the company regarded the warning as a hoax.

Man Praises Mongrel Dog, Saves His Life in Fight With Big Bear

HULL, Que. (CP)—Percy Hussey, 52, and Happy's legs as they wrestled.

Hussey said he finally managed to get a hold on the bear's throat and "dog-fought." Then the bear got free, he said, and headed for his dog. Happy, apparently a 50-pound black bear. He said he wouldn't be alive today without Happy.

Hussey, a 23-year-old farmer, said the bear attacked him Wednesday in thick bush on his 100-acre farm at Wakefield, about 25 miles north of here.

He said the fight lasted nearly 30 minutes. Then the 10-year-old mongrel dashed in and attacked the bear, who took off.

Hussey said that when he gets out of hospital he will "get a gun and shoot that mongrel."

BOBCATS WILL PLAY AT HOME MONDAY

Bob Temple, sponsor of the Belleville Bobcats, received word this morning from the OASA that they would open their OASA Intermediate "AA" semi-finals series here on Monday.

Bobcats will meet the winner of the Peterborough-Oshawa series at the CNAAA Park on Monday at 8.00 p.m. Oshawa are in Peterborough tonight for the deciding game of that series.

The Bobcats went to the Ontario finals last year before bowing to a Toronto club.

POST OFFICE HOURS ON HOLIDAY

Mail carriers, both in the city and in the rural areas, will take a holiday on Monday (Labor Day) and no delivery or pick-up is scheduled from the Belleville office it was noted today by Postmaster Carman Massey.

However, in the city there will be one delivery and one box collection in the evening, while general delivery, registration and postical stamps will be open for two hours from 8.30 to 10.30 a.m.

Receipt and despatch of mails will be as usual while the regular special delivery service will also be given.

SCHOOL WINDOWS FOUND BROKEN

The fact that school bells will ring again next week is apparently being entertained by mischief by certain youngsters.

Evidence of this was the report today that 11 panes of glass in the Prince Charles school windows had been broken some time this week.

Given Month On Charge Of Drunk Driving

Pleading guilty to a charge of drunk driving, of driving while his licence was suspended and to having liquor at a place other than his residence, Floyd Woods, Belleville, was sentenced to jail when he appeared in city magistrate's court before Magistrate T. Y. Wills this morning.

Woods was given one month for drunk driving, 14 days consecutive for driving while his licence was suspended and ten days concurrent for having liquor.

In giving Woods the jail sentence for driving while his licence was under suspension, Magistrate Wills emphasized that something must be done to protect the public from such drivers who defy suspension orders and stated a fine, which in many instances can be easily paid, did not seem to be the answer.

Nearly 1,100 Will Register At Collegiate

Shortly after school opens for the new term this student's paradise will have available for meals a brand-new cafeteria.

Work is already proceeding on the job of converting the east-end wing of the collegiate's basement into an up-to-date comfortable eatery, where students can enjoy meals at noon and recesses rather than hitherto available, and it is expected that the new unit will be installed in about three months.

When ready for use it will seat some 250 pupils being served by a modern kitchen unit. A special dining room for the teachers also is being included in the layout.

The new cafeteria will result in a move for the welding class and the motor and mechanics class. However, this will be the result of any change in the present outlay of classes throughout the collegiate.

The outside of the building has been redecorated as has the guidance office, while pupils of rooms 103, 201, 213 and 313 also will be sitting down in redecorated attractiveness.

ENROLMENT WILL BE UP

Enrolment also is expected to be as satisfactory as ever. Already this year principal Arnold Orr reckons the total figure somewhere between 1,075 and 1,100 — this compared with the 1,039 of last year.

Already pupils are registering for the new term, a fact much appreciated by Mr. Orr and his staff.

Early signing-in by students, he points out, lightens much of the burden in the registration day rush, staff on opening day when recess BCVS registration resembles a full-scale invasion. With still some days to go before the first day of the new term, Mr. Orr is hopeful as many pupils as possible will register early.

With the 38 classes in all there has been no change in the staff roster. However, the staff has been increased to 47 with 10 new teachers engaged. Names of the new staff are: W. F. Buckley, Mrs. Patricia Crighton, J. Hyde, Miss Barbara Johnston, Miss Celine Kelly, F. L. Marchand, Mrs. W. G. Murray, Miss Winnifred Patterson, R. M. Powell and G. A. Shaver.

Hospital Movie To Be Produced By Local Talent

The Belleville General Hospital at work is the subject of a color movie which will be made and available for local showing within three months.

Titled, The Sentinel That Never Sleeps," the movie is being produced entirely by local talent.

"The story is designed to show the public what the hospital at work and how the hospital serves the public," said director Syd Rose.

The picture follows the regular procedure employed in treating a patient admitted for surgery until the patient's discharge. All laboratory facilities and technical skills that typify the medical and nursing staffs will be shown.

Photography is under the direction of William Riley. Phil Flegler will narrate the script and hospital administrator Kenneth Fox will edit the film.

The more shooting sequences have been scheduled with cutting and editing due to begin within 10 days. It is expected that the sound track for the film will be synchronized with the action by a special process of the Eastman Kodak Company, of Rochester, N.Y.

Child Injured, Darts Into Path Of Passing Truck

Struck by a passing truck as he darted into the highway from the driveway in front of his home in Stephen Parks, age 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Parks, 104 Bell St., Belleville, was seriously injured this morning.

The lad was taken to Belleville hospital by Bush's Ambulance and is under the care of Dr. J. Empson.

Details of the boy's injuries were not available this morning.

Police said the accident occurred on the top of a hill opposite the Parks home half-a-mile south of Wallbridge. Clifford Parks and R. S. Trenton, were northbound with a half ton pick-up truck when the lad darted out from the driveway. The boy was said to have been struck by the side of the truck.

Provincial Constables McKenna and Calman investigated.

Pup Returned To Lonely Boy, Everyone Happy

It was all a case of mistaken identity and a certain young boy on Pinnacle street, who earlier this week lost his three months' old German Shepherd puppy, is happy again.

The lad had taken his puppy with him on an errand to the bus terminal and when he came out of the building his pet was gone.

Yesterday an advertisement in the Ontario Intelligencer was the means of the puppy being returned to his rightful owner.

It seems that when the lad left his puppy outside the bus terminal the pet was noticed by a man who thought it looked like the dog of a friend of his. So he picked the puppy up and took it to his friend. But no, it wasn't the right pup.

But the problem then was to return the pup to his rightful owner. It was then that the advertisement appeared in the Ontario Intelligencer that the necessary connections were made.

Safe Driving Appeal Made By Inspector

An appeal for co-operation on the part of motorists during peak traffic conditions expected over the Labor Day week-end was made today by Inspector A. McDougall of the Ontario Provincial Police.

"Highways will be jammed during the coming week-end and every failure co-operation on the part of motorists in heeding all traffic regulations will prevent accidents," the inspector said.

He noted that safety on the highway could be summed up in just a few words.

"Keep within the speed limit, obey highway signs, keep your eyes on the road, and don't forget to consider the rights of others," he advised.

Russians Hear Fine Story Of Free Enterprise

By HAROLD MORRISON
"Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHATHAM (CP) — HEARD, provincial and local police and guests here today as a chartered bus carrying Russian flight and sports stopped briefly and then made its way to the nearby farm of Lawrence Kerr. There were no demonstrations.

The Russians appeared in cheerful mood.

They boarded the bus at London, travelled through the rich, fertile farm land of southern Ontario through Ingersoll and Tilsonburg and Simcoe.

At the Kerr farm two miles south of Chatham, they sat under a weeping willow tree and heard the story of how a poor farmer in the hungry 30's began building a farm until one of the wealthiest in this area.

Mr. Kerr, 62, told of buying 140 acres in 1933 and gradually building to his present 1,050.

All the cattle are pure-bred.

His farm home is a spacious five-bedroom $40,000 stone-and-brick structure with perimeter-heating and the latest in living conveniences. The farm supports his family and seven paid hired hands, all owning their own automobiles.

The farm also includes seven houses for seven hired help. The houses have electricity, gas, running water and full bath rooms.

Million Dollar Damage Caused By Terrific Blast

CHICAGO (AP)—A terrific explosion and fire Thursday night destroyed $1,000,000 worth of a new southwest side factory district, injuring at least 36 persons and causing an estimated $1,000,000 damage.

No deaths were reported but a hunt for possible victims will be made after weakened walls of the shattered buildings are demolished. It was believed all factory workers had escaped.

Destroyed in the 3½ hour fire was the three-story Griffith Laboratory building, where the explosion occurred, and two adjoining structures occupied by the Carr-Consolidated Biscuit Company. One building by a three-alarm fire, the other six.

Cause of the explosion was not determined immediately.

Young Climber Dies in Rockies

BANFF, Alta. (CP) — A young climber who detoured to death in the 10th victim claimed this year by the Canadian Rockies.

Frank Kosh, 22, of Vancouver was found dead Thursday at the 8,000-foot level of Mount Hainne and a 10-man party led by a mountaineering park warden set out today to bring in the body.

Kerr said they were to make camp at the 8,000-foot level, just 1,000 feet from the peak that was their target. There was two gullies around the barrier and Kosh went down one while the other three crossed the other route.

Police said they were not sure whether the climber fell in the gully — a water-worn ravine—and struck his head or was hit by rocks falling from the loose walls.

No Sponsor for Hockey Team, High Salaries Stump McNevin

(Don McNevin, sponsor of the Glen Roy Senior 'B' hockey team here three years ago, and proposed sponsor of this year's entry in the Eastern Ontario Senior 'B' league, withdrew his sponsorship of the team this morning. His move followed a series of meetings in the past few weeks with league officials, prospective imports and local players. Following a meeting at his home last evening he came to the reluctant conclusion that he would not operate the senior team this year.)

To the Sports Editor:

Dear Sir:

It is with deep regret I find myself unable to sponsor the Senior 'B' hockey club. I have gone into the expense of last year very carefully.

I find the big expense in operating the club this year was the salary paid to imports. It cost you over $36,000 to operate a Senior 'B' hockey club, and out of that over $28,000 was paid out for salaries. There is not much left you can cut down on except salaries.

I have talked to different out-of-town players' who were here last year and they are not interested in coming back unless they get $100 or better a week. Some have received $125 per week Monday last. Peterborough will not have a club this year. It was voted to pay 15 per cent into an expense pool at this meeting. I was opposed to this but it did not seem to make any difference.

Last year Belleville paid in over $1,100 more than it received. At the meeting in Kingston I had to sit back and let them all say that Belleville had only paid a little over $100 more in the pool than they received. Lorne Cook had the figures and should have been able to tell the cent what Belleville paid into and received from the pool. When I got back to Belleville I found out the figures that the secretary of the club had given me were correct.

Mr. Cook, these are the figures. Belleville paid $3,858.85 into the pool and received $2,770.07 from the pool. This means they paid in $1,088.88 more than they received.

If Senior 'B' hockey is going to be revived it will have to be with local players. When you start paying out $36,000 or even $25,000 for Senior 'B' hockey in a place the size of Belleville you find it cannot be done.

If I had found out I could have operated the club at a loss of three or four thousand dollars I would have gone ahead. But I can see myself, or whoever should sponsor Senior B' hockey in Belleville,, losing 10 or 15 every thousand dollars on a team that compares with the teams in the group.

I would like to thank the Arena Commission for its co-operation and the spirit they agreed to give me. But I find out even with the large percentage they offered me I am unable to operate.

Once again, I would like to say I am very sorry I am unable to operate a Senior 'B' club. It will have to be somebody who has a lot more ability than I have if they are going to break even.

Yours truly,
Don McNevin.

Car Hits Train At Anson, Three Bowlers Injured

Three Peterborough men returning home following a bowling tournament in Belleville were injured Wednesday evening when their car ran into a train at the Anson crossing on the Stirling-Campbellford road.

Injured are Harold Freeman. They were taken to Belleville hospital in two ambulances, Louis Loftus and J. Fitzpatrick. Loftus is said to have been the most seriously injured, suffering a dislocated hip and broken arm. In addition he developed injuries and shock. Freeman has chest injuries and Fitzpatrick, driver of the car, has chest injuries and shock.

Police said a tractor owned by Doug Campbell had to be used to pull the car away from the engine before the injured men could be extricated from the wreckage.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials edged ahead to a record index high in light first-hour trading at the Toronto stock exchange today. Western oils posted a string of narrow advances and showed best improvement of the list. Base metals continued the upswing begun late Thursday.

Steels and papers paced the narrow advance of industrials. Only a few issues posted gains of a point or more. They included Canada Wire and Cable B, International Paper, Steelcraft and Weston A.

Base metals were narrowly ahead on a string of small gains. Casaar, Coldstream, Duvan, East Sullivan, Grandue, International Ranwick and Quebec Chibougamau added amounts up to 10 cents.

Activity was unchanged. Volume was negligible. Radiore lost 15 at $1.75 for the biggest change.

Bailey-Selburn Consolidated Mic Mac and Jupiter led western oils ahead. Gulch went to about 10 cents at best. Rio Palmer dropped 19 to 82.04.

Thompson-Lundmark's 15 cent improvement at $1.95 was the biggest change among golds. Holding companies had Hoyle off 15 at $7.70.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream prices were quoted here at 1c on truck 58; delivered 59-60 Toronto 61. Butter print, prices were unchanged.

The egg market was firm on large and weak on medium and small. Offerings and sales were light for a good demand.

Quotations, provided by the Dominion department of agriculture: eggs, in cartons graded: A heifery cows up to $13; canners large 62; medium 49-50; A small 37-38; B 38; C 28. Wholesale to retail: A large 67; A medium 54-55; A small 42-43; B 43; C 33.

DOLLAR RATE

MONTREAL (CP) — The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 1 11-32 per cent, the Bank of Canada reported at noon EDT, today. Thursday's noon rate was 1 5-16 per cent. Pound sterling $2.74¾, against $2.74 11-16.

Crossing Crash Sole Survivor Fights For Life

LAVAL-SUR-LE-LAC, Que. (CP) — A 29-year-old Ontario man fights desperately in hospital for his life, unaware that his wife and three children and two other persons lost their lives Wednesday night when a freight train rammed his car.

Authorities of Sacred Heart Hospital at suburban Cartierville early today reported the condition of Armand Beauscoli of Minnow Lake, near Sudbury, was "slightly improved." However, the man still is far from being clear off the danger list.

Beauscoli was the sole survivor of the level-crossing mishap at the northern Montreal suburb. He was hurled from his automobile when it was struck by a Canadian National Railways ballast freight.

Killed in the accident were Mrs. Beauscoli, 30, and her children, tentatively identified as Demetigen, 9, Christianne, 6, and Francois, 5 and Mr. and Mrs. Alvarez Chevrier, aged 40 and 46, of Charlemagne near Montreal.

An inquest was formally opened Thursday and adjourned until a later date, not yet set.

Weekly Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP) — Cattle prices were lower at the Ontario public stockyards this week. Calves and hogs were steady, while lambs dropped $1.50 per hundredweight. Sheep were steady.

The cattle receipts were some 1,400 head more than last week and about 1,300 more than the same week in 1954. Receipts from western Canada totalled some 1,945 head, mostly stockers. That was an increase of 250 head over last week.

Shipments to eastern Canadian slaughterers were light at two cars and there were no exports to the United States.

Despite the heavy volume of cattle offered for sale this week, the demand proved dependable with kinds grading high-medium, good and choice clearing at firm prices. Although low-medium and down grades did not share the activity, they cleaned up at steady rates.

STEERS SOUGHT

Top quality steers, particularly those weighing from 1,000 - 1,100 lbs. pounds were eagerly sought after, as were good and choice heifers and heavy cows and fed yearlings. The least wanted slaughter cattle were low-medium heifers carrying thin flesh.

The selling side found, it expedient to coax buyers for even submit a bid on these kinds. Cows met a fair demand throughout the week at generally steady rates. However, a weak undertone was felt near the close with some salesmen reporting sales 50 cents to a hundredweight lower.

Bulls held steady with few numbers of good heavy bologna bulls offered. The top beef trade was reported "as fair and it was estimated about 300 cattle would be unsold at the close, mostly common and medium steers and heifers.

Prices: choice steers $20-21, with sales to $21.50 and several loads at $21.25; good $19-20; with sales $21.25; medium $17-19; commons $12-16; good heifers $18-18.50, with a few choice to $19; mediums $16-18; commons $12-16; boner steers and heifers $8-12; choice fed yearlings $20.50-21.50; mediums $17-20; good cows with some sales up to $12.50. Late closing sales were reported at $11.50-12. Good light heavy cows up to $13; canners and cutters down to $6; good heavy bologna bulls mostly $13; with a few good heavy baristeln bulls at $13.50; common and medium light bulls $11-13.

Replacement cattle: This class continued to meet improved demand with most sales on a steady to firm basis. Common and medium grades continued to dominate the offering. However, some good to choice stockers sold at $18-18.50; with a few good light stock calves selling at $20. Medium were $16-17.50 with commons $12-16.

CALF RECEIPTS UP

Calf receipts were sharply higher showing an increasing of some 550 head over last week. Good and choice grades continued to sell steady at $22-24 with some sales to $24.50 and a few extreme tops at $25. Common and medium grades however lost $1-2 a hundredweight with mediums $16-21; and commons $10-15. Grass calves sold for slaughter were $10-12.

Hogs were unchanged with grade A selling at $20.50 with several loads out at $21. Sows were $18.25 a hundredweight dressed while stags were $15 dressed.

Receipts of sheep and lambs were the same as last week. Lambs were $1.50-2 a hundredweight lower to sell at $19 for good handyweight slaughter wethers. Along with the drop in price, buyers were sorting carefully. Bucks were discounted $1 a hundredweight with lambs weighing 100 pounds and over being discounted $2. Common and medium lambs were $13-17. Slaughter ewes were mostly $14-15. Good light sheep were generally $8 with common and heavy sheep down to $5.

Peaches Dumped When Weather Hastens Ripening

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Thousands of baskets of top grade peaches have been dumped in this district because of freak weather conditions.

Officials of the Ontario Peach Growers' Co-operative were not able to give figures on the amount dumped but unofficial estimates place it at 15,000 basket lots.

The high dumping rate resulted from weather conditions which brought early and mid - season peach varieties to the market at the same time. Peaches normally are disposed of in 10 weeks, this year had to be handled in six.

Two dumps are located on farms on top of the Niagara escarpment and contain large amounts of rotting peaches, basket liners and packaging covers.

Prices set this year for early and mid-season types were 45 and 75 cents a six-quart basket. Late peaches sell for 85 cents paid to the farmer under co-operative regulations.

Meanwhile a chain store at Grimsby in the heart of Ontario's peachland was selling California peaches at three for 29 cents. They were large varieties but not overly ripe.

Plastic Liquor Permit May Be Issued

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario's liquor commissioners are thinking about a streamlined, plastic liquor permit for the province's drinkers, it was learned Thursday.

Liquor commissioner W. H. Collings said, however, no proposals have yet been made, for a change from the pocket-sized paper permits which sell for $1 and in which transactions are noted.

"If our present permits were changed, it would be something along the line of a means of identification when purchasing liquor originating itself as a credit thing."

HARD TO CANCEL

Mr. Collings discounted, however, reports that actual birth-certificates might ever become recognized as automatic permits for persons over the required age.

Apart from providing a source of revenue, he said, separate liquor permits are necessary since a provision of the Ontario Liquor Act empowers the board to cancel a citizen's right to purchase or have liquor. That would be difficult to enforce if birth certificates were used.

The province, he said, is waiting for Manitoba's royal commission on liquor legislation to produce its report before considering permit systems alternative to the present one.

MAGICAL OPENING

AMSTERDAM (CP) — Flames leaped from a bowl and two doves fluttered out at the opening of the International Magicians' Congress Wednesday. Seven hundred magicians from 36 countries are taking part.

Consults Bible To Interpret Building Plans

Keeley checked and found this quotation:

"Every valley shall be exalted, and every mountain and hill shall be made low, and the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough places the rough places plat"n:.: plain."

The plans were turned in by a firm working on a new General Electric plant here.

Keeley interpreted it as meaning the land was to be filled in and levelled off.

Hog Producers Start to Market Their Own Pigs

TORONTO (CP) —Ontario hog producers Thursday announced that a program under which they will market their own pigs gets under way in mid-September.

The Ontario Hog Producers' Association said plans include even the licensing of approved truckers to take members' pigs to market.

The co-operative selling agency also has planned assembly yards at Windsor, London, Stratford, Barrie and Peterborough, from which the animals will be directed to the best markets. The OHPA establishes facilities at Kitchener and Toronto last year.

Charles McInnis, association president, said the program is to overcome situations in which farmers' hogs are being delivered direct to packing plants.

"Under these deliveries," he said, "are largely in response to sales payments made to truckers by packers to encourage delivery of hogs to their particular plants." The payment, he said, sometimes reached $3 a hog.

After mid-September, he said, "the only way the packer can be sure of sufficient hogs will be to bid competitively for them—from the Ontario hog producers co-operative—which has the responsibility of selling all Ontario hogs going for slaughter."

WINS DISMISSAL

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)— James Bayers, 35, today won dismissal of a charge of not reporting a traffic accident in which apparent damage was more than $100.

Bayers claimed last week his car was not worth $100. A police officer estimated damage at $200, while a repair man said he offered to fix the car for $75.

Magistrate Johnstone Roberts, handing down judgment today, held that the offer by the repairman outweighed the opinion of the police officer.

Milk Producers Want Better Price For Product

TORONTO (CP) — The Concentrated Milk Producers Association Thursday authorized its Ontario board to go to arbitration if necessary in an effort to get a price for milk "at least comparable to the cost of production."

The association, made up of farmers who sell milk to concentrators, held its semi-annual meeting here Thursday. Statements made at the meeting reflected unrest among the producers.

The St. George, Kemptville and Beachville locals submitted resolutions dealing with the need for a price increase. The St. George resolution called for arbitration in the event other means fail.

President George Lower of Atmonte said if it weren't that primary producers had to meet competition from outside, the board would be able to negotiate a satisfactory price.

"Farmers are going out of dairying and selling their cows," one delegate said. "The present price situation is a threat to the industry and a threat to the public interest."

Says Councillors Should Disclose Personal Assets

TORONTO (CP)—Deputy Reeve Gus Harris of suburban Scarborough township said today all township councillors should make records of their personal income sources available at a forthcoming judicial enquiry.

The inquiry, ordered by the township council at suggestion of the Ontario attorney-general's department, "first was demanded when councillors said they had been offered $500 cheques by a construction company.

"Personal assets of council members and township officials certainly comes within the scope of the inquiry," Mr. Harris said commenting on a statement Thursday by Reeve Lloyd Crockford that the reeve's personal assets were his "own private affair."

BACK SEAT RIDERS

Does nobody in Belleville dream? Are there no belligerent Bellevillians? Is nobody lazy here in Quinte's capital?

These questions are posed by the opinions of psychiatrists on an important social problem, why people crowd the front end of a bus. Here in Belleville people don't. Psychiatrists, quoted in "This Week Magazine," says that those who do crowd the front of public vehicles fall into three categories of dreamers, immersed in their own problems; the belligerent ones, who just won't be ordered to "like back; and the lazy ones, who don't want to make any effort to move anywhere.

Montreal, apparently, is overflowing with the dreamy, the belligerent and the lazy, for the psychiatrists' analysis of the problem has prompted the Montreal Gazette to publish a rather pathetic appeal.

"One of the most wistful expressions to be seen on a human face is that of the person trying vainly to get on a bus or one-man street car, and who sees that the back of the car is empty, while the front is jammed," it says.

Before we jump to the conclusion that Belleville residents are a different breed, we might consider the probability that the front-end jamming referred to by the Gazette is caused by strap-hangers. Here in Belleville we don't have much to do with this species, since our excellent bus service is generally adequate to handle even rush-hour crowds. If there are no strap-hangers, late arrivals can usually make their way to the vacant seats in the back of the bus. You often, though, these back seats will be filled, while others up at the front will be vacant.

Does this indicate that Belleville people are different? If one accepted the psychiatrists' analysis, there are reasons for front-end crowding, one might be forced to answer in the affirmative. It strikes us, though, that the reason why people will choose a vacant seat in the back of the bus in preference to one at the front and the reason why, when the bus is full, a person will stand at the front may be identical.

The person may be of a shy, retiring disposition. A vacant seat at the back offers a refuge away from the eyes of all the other passengers. But if the seats are all filled, it takes a self-confident disposition to walk down the aisle to the back, apparently searching every nook and cranny for a possible resting place.

Now for the practical angle to this whole problem, a solution to the front-end crowding. The Montreal Gazette invites readers of psychiatric articles, after analyzing the disease, have little to offer by way of cure." Surely that's simple? Most public vehicles carry signs which say "No Standing." Generally this rule is not enforced. Enforce it.

But make an exception for those who sit—or stand—in the rear of the bus. Then watch everybody move back.

JAUNDICE AND THE H-BOMB

"It is gratifying that the truth is at last coming to light in the case of the Fortunate Dragon," says the New York Herald Tribune.

The truth appears to be that Aikichi Kuboyama, who was operator aboard the Japanese fishing boat, died of jaundice brought on by blood transfusions necessitated by the Bikini dust which fell on the Fortunate Dragon after the world's first H-bomb explosion. He did not die of radiation.

The New York Herald Tribune admits that this difference was not very important to Aikichi Kuboyama—it hardly matters how death any the less a personal tragedy"—but appears to believe that it is immensely important to the rest of us.

For one thing, it "nails the Communist lie." This assertion is a little puzzling. We were not aware that the statement that Kuboyama died of radiation had originated with Communists. Nevertheless, we are glad we understood it had been made by the Japanese doctors who attended him and there has never been any intimation that these men were Communists, or even fellow travellers.

The Communists, say the Herald Tribune, are not going to circulate any corrections. "They will keep on twisting news to their own purposes. . . But this country (the United States) should see to it that the truth about the Fortunate Dragon receives the widest possible circulation."

We can imagine quite a few anti-Communist campaigns which might pay bigger dividends than explaining to the world that a Japanese fisherman did not die of radiation from the H-bomb, but as a result of jaundice caused by blood transfusions made necessary by radiation from the H-bomb.

It will also be necessary to enter into negotiations with the United Nations Radiation Effects Committee as to the cause of death is to be officially corrected. The World Health Organization defines the cause of death as "that injury or circumstance which initiates the train of events that leads to death." So, officially, when Aikichi Kuboyama was mourned as the world's first victim of the H-bomb, he was correctly mourned.

To recognize that fact is not to denounce the United States for testing the hydrogen bomb. To ascribe his death to jaundice, rather than to the H-bomb, would not absolve the U.S. of guilt, if there were any guilt attached to the H-bomb test.

Rita Hayworth, fourth wife of Dick Haymes, has left the crooner, her fourth husband. "As far as I'm concerned, Rita is my whole life," says Haymes. People who think like that are likely to discover that it is a merry life but a short one.

AUTUMN PLANS

The trees are busy everywhere
Now getting ready for the fall.
They're choosing what they're going to wear,
Like ladies planning for a ball.

The master stylist has been told
The color choice of bush and tree
And though his fashions may be bold
They will be beautiful to see.

Some will a robe of yellow wear,
Others will don a scarlet gown.
The peasants—by will stop to stare
At lovely things in bronze and brown.

When autumn comes the woods, the farm,
The scarcely noticed berry patch,
The city parks will glow with charm
No mortal artist can match.

New Beauty Contest Idea

(Cleveland Plain Dealer)

Beauty contests have always rather disappointed us, in that the gals we should have liked to meet never actually came in second or third, possibly, not at all. After all, tastes differ.

Kingston, Jamaica, has come up with what seems like a dandy idea —a beauty contest with 15 first place winners! Jamaica is proud of its many racial strains; quite obviously no gal could do justice to them all. So the contest, sponsored by the Kingston Star, will offer 15 first place prizes.

Miss Apple Blossom will be the title given the queen in the class for girls of white, European descent. Girls with varying shades of skin because of Negro blood will receive titles as Miss Ebony, Miss Mahogany, Miss Satinwood and Miss Golden Apple. A girl whose parents came from India will be chosen Miss Sandalwood. Miss Ceylon will be at Chinese who are Miss Pomegranate from the Eastern Mediterranean, Miss Allspice from Jamaica, Miss Jasmine part Chinese.

Thus everyone will be happy, and it is fair to say that this will probably be the most successful beauty contest on record.

America, melting pot of world, with beauties of every race numbered among its citizens, might well consider adopting the plan of the Kingston Star.

Eager Beaver Best Builder

(By Edmund Niles in American Forests)

When North American man first settled beavers were plentiful in most of the northern sections.

But their fur was valuable, they were easy to trap, and they were nearly wiped out. The survivors are now protected, and many colonies of the little fur bearing workers are remain.

A full grown beaver weighs about 50 or 60 pounds. His hind legs are short and strong; his hind feet are webbed and can push him through the water rapidly. His teeth are large and shaped like a chisel; the enamel covering itself as it is worn away. His tail is large, flat covered with a leatherlike material.

He is constituted for a life in or near the water. His natural habitat is in the north, or other cold areas, where snow and ice abide in for all the winter. He must store his food for winter under water where he can reach it. His food consists mostly of the bark and limbs of certain trees like the cottonwood, poplar and birch.

Beavers live in colonies of two to 30 or more. When they become too thick they move and start other colonies in new quarters.

When a pair leaves to start a new home they usually travel across wooded country, passing up streams which they decide would be a suitable site.

Ordinarily the site they select will be a low, marshy area with with sufficient water to start a small stream. Here is the location which a sluggish stream constantly flows.

There will be a good supply of small trees of their food variety near by.

The beavers dig a burrow in a bank below the surface of the water, forming a tunnel that leads upward above the high water evel. There they build a nest in a dry room into which they bring grass and weed bedding.

The water in the marsh must not be allowed to fall below a stage which will expose the entrance to the burrow. It is also essential that the water be sufficiently deep so that in wintertime it will not freeze to the bottom. Beavers must be enough room between the ice and the bottom of the pond for their houses.

They now start to make a dam at the lower edge of the marshy ground, which they very often utilize as a pond, and across the little stream. Here the little engineers show ingenuity. In the centre of the little stream they place a layer of brush perhaps eight long and four inches in diameter, holding them in place by stones and dirt; then they place a layer of the same kind of material the other way across the first ones and bind them down.

They fill in behind the work they have done with brush and cover it with stones, mud and sod until they have made it water tight or practically so. They begin the wings of the dam by laying down brush and small branches and scooping up dirt and mud to cover this material.

The main trouble is making the dam secure enough against the stream hold up against the pressure of the water. The beavers insert poles or saplings in their log; any hole they can find in the beaver dam to make the structure tight.

When the pond is formed houses are built so hold the new home. These houses are usually four or five feet out of water and about the same height. All have under water entrances.

I saw one big dam in Wyoming so badly damaged by a freshet that it had been washed through. I saw the same dam 30 years later and the big hole made in the headgate was still in place.

The wings of the dam were in good shape. The large of all were across it. It was four feet wide at the top. At the bottom it appeared to be 15 feet thick. Tons of dirt and material had been used.

The beavers have been in a location a long time and the food supply is getting low. Beavers dig channels far out into other areas where they can get trees. The ditches are made at the water level for water to fill them.

The beaver is also a great engineer, treating intricate structural problems with material and concept for the built-in variety, without.

Reduce Taxes To Raise More

(Montreal Gazette)

Cut taxes, if you want to raise more taxes. That is the principle which Walter Heller, President of Germany's minister of economics.

And Prof. Erhard's route his theory on upon which economics only: he rests it, that people earn income, and he believes that people cannot be expected to work hard unless they have something to work for. It goes against the laws of human nature to adopt the opposite course, such as taxing retail sales, raising the bank rate, or increasing higher taxes to "drain off" surplus spending power.

He believes in cutting taxes to encourage people to buy what they want, and for business to do so. That will lead to more production, more employment—more wages, more spending, and more revenue from taxes.

Some of Prof. Erhard's policies make interesting reading. He is now urging the Government to allow a tax deduction for anyone who buys electrical appliances for the home. He also would like allowances for laundering, dishwashing machines, refrigerators, vacuum cleaners, "household," he says "must be rationalized to save human labor." That is not as much of a workshop as any factory but Prof. Erhard is as such for taxation purposes.

It is his theory that production will likely increase by 10 per cent in Government revenue. Instead of seeking to raise taxes from a comparatively small and overworked field, get lower taxes from a bigger field. The total will be greater in the end.

There is an interesting theory. Whether its difficulties, it at least clings to one fundamental truth. By encouraging expansion rather than imposing restrictions, the whole spirit of management and enterprise is enlarged The miracle of West Germany's economic expansion may be partly due to the simple policy of giving everyone something to do, and helping to work towards it.

Running Board Had Its Uses

(Memphis Commercial Appeal)

Several times lately we have seen more or less unsuccessful references to the new trend in automobile design, with wonder expressed as to whether it would eventually mean the return of the running board. While we doubt a comeback for the device aforesaid, it did have some qualities entirely aside from any functional value it may have had or lacked.

These days when you drive up and stop to talk to a man, he has no place to prop up his foot, and so whatever business is in hand is promptly handled. There is no telling how much time has been saved because the fellow on the ground couldn't get comfortable. On the other hand, the running board helped hold the pace of life down and contributed to neighborly exchange of news, ideas and gossip.

In running board days you could not drive off unceremoniously leaving a fellow human with his feet in the air, but you sometimes wished you could. Now you do not have to stand upon the order of your going, but you miss an interesting chat now and then. Maybe it's about as bread as it's long.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

A SERIOUS TYPE OF THEFT

Are you punctual?

People seldom think of punctuality as a moral problem; and yet it is. Failure to call them to keep a person waiting for an appointment, or to be late oneself, is worse than to say you will be at a certain place at a certain time and then fail to get there! If you want to throw away your own time, that is your own business—or is it? We are all given a certain allotment of time, which the Bible calls the days of grace. In it we make good in the school God has established for us or else we lose. We have all too little time at best.

But certainly whether you have a right to waste your own time or not, you have no right to waste somebody else's time. If you are half-hour late for an appointment, you have stolen a half-hour out of some person's day. This may be costly to the person financially. It is almost always inconvenient and irritating.

Failure to be punctual may seem to be only a failure in matters quite of this world. We do not think of it as secular but it has its spiritual connotations as well. Jesus Himself declared that it was better to be punctual than one who was late or too late. Lord Nelson once wrote: "I have always been a slave to time in matters of little importance, and it has made a man of me."

Cold-Blooded Ladies

So many cold-blooded ladies are finding advice these days that I'm beginning to worry about the propagation of the species. Remember, though, I'd never call a lady cold-blooded. Most ladies tell me they're cold-blooded.

Here, for instance, is one who admits without batting an eye that she is 40. To some cold-blooded girls that means she's 30. But I'm not taking sides — let's say she is absolutely, shall we?

"I am uncomfortable," the lady says, "until the temperature reaches 80 to 85; and my first husband, as you'd say, prefers a temperature of 45 to 50. I seem to be in good health generally except that for many years I have had sinusitis and am only occasionally free from sinus headaches.

This lady does her letter with the hope that she will have a favorable report to make in a few months.

So far as the "sinusitis" and sinus headache are concerned, I expect she will, provided (a) she consistently follows a high calcium diet, and (2) supplements with a good daily ration of calcium. The lady may have actual sinusitis, but just as likely her "sinusitis" is spurious — a mere manifestation of calcium deficiency.

Whether calcium deficiency would explain the lady's cold-blooded-ness, I don't know. Perhaps the report she will make six months hence will throw light on the question—if she makes any report.

Incidentally my advice to anyone with chronic sinusitis, genuine or spurious is precisely the same advice I give this nice clean lady.

Remember, chuckleheads, the calcium and vitamin D which I recommend is not medicine. It is essential food—and you should take it not for six weeks but from now on, just as you take bread and butter.

Regardless of calcium metabolism, I advise an adequate ration for every man, woman and child in America, and especially for the woman anywhere within sight of forty who feels chilly in the environment which is comfortable enough for ordinary individuals, the woman who has to wear her coat at the bridge table and not just to make the other girls envious.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Most of us have one or two poisonous friends. The worst type of all is the one-man or woman-who uses the leading question.

"I think," also will say, "is crazy to go with that Henderson boy, don't you?"

You don't even have to say yes. All you have to do is nod, or even say nothing. But saying nothing amounts to agreement. What you should say is that you have no opinion in the matter at all. But you probably have more than no more than your nod or your silence.

And straightway she goes all over the community imparting the gossip to others.

"Do you know what Greg Clark says?" she hisses. "He says Marion is crazy to go with that Henderson boy!"

This process is by no means exceptional or unusual. It is one of the most widely used techniques of gossip in the world, and no doubt works as effectively in French, German, Spanish or Russian as it does in English. Probably the UN is bedevilled with it. The business world, the professional world, universities, clubs, associations, families are confused, disrupted and disorganized by it. The employers of this world are legion. Perhaps as a rule entirely unaware of the fact that they have used it.

Not Drunk, His Feet Hurt

(Windsor Star)

All of us who ever have limped in tight shoes will hail the moral of Jerry von Mehren, William Corbett, 39, of Hamilton. When police found him wobbling around on the sidewalk they charged him with drunk driving. Yet he proved his innocence, on grounds of sore feet.

It looked bad for William at first, but he was able to show that a routine test for tipplers, he flunked. The trouble, Corbett said, is the fault was in his shoes, not his state of sobriety. And when he took off his shoes, he walked in his shoes off, sure enough he made it.

A shoe that has pinched for a time, raising a blister here and there, will be remembered long after is no aid to ambulation. The pedal extremities begin to relieve the pressures can cause any number of devitions.

In the circumstances, William's story must have sounded like a new kind of alibi to the experienced people who heard it. But the magistrate who dismissed the charge evidently had his own dark moments with ill-fitting footwear.

Food Store Package Deal

(Pueblo Madrid).

A Munich pastry owner, who caters to the "on the run" customer, puts on his outgoing packages a sticker with this inscription:

"This strudel is edible. In pricking the merchandise we have replaced the woodwire, the paper, etc. with fresh straw. Offer it to your horse on my behalf. Above all, do not harm the cardboard cover of this package. If you look well, you will notice it has a cardboard at all, but a very hard biscuit, especially made for canine consumption. Give it to your dog, who'll like it very much."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

BRIGHTEN THE LITTLE CORNER

I was having a little painting done at my small camp this Summer and the painter dropped in on me and said: "I love to do painting, for it brightens up the most concealed corner!" That statement seemed to carry a message to me. What a difference the brightening up of even a little corner makes!

It reminds me of the joy in bringing the corner in people's lives where it is dark and needs something to brighten it. It is usually just a message of love and understanding, or a little encouragement. It's the simple acts that often mean the most. How we all appreciate them! A little friend (kindness) often goes a long way and brightens up everything for a long time. A house newly painted cheers everyone but I love to walk in the one near by that needs to be painted badly.

I died in a restaurant recently and noted how cheerful the dining room was with a vase of flowers at each table. Flowers brighten up the tiniest corner in anyone's heart. It's as though each flower smiled a whispered — "Welcome!" There is a deeply human appeal to flowers and they are loved. It creeps into corners of one's consciousness.

In many homes a special decoration in the form of a stand with vases for cards, small books, or other collections, is put in a corner and highlighted it greatly. Add interest to the entire room.

If you could see into some people's hearts, you would be sure to find little corners there that need a lot of light and sunshine. You could surprise each one by slyly dropping a little cheer! And love spreads, you know. Love is like a vine that sends its tendrils in all directions, and lightens them for so long as they live.

Fading Hopes Of Peace Rest On Canadian

CAIRO (AP)—As Egyptians and Israelis traded blows across their demarcation line this week, the fading hopes of peace in Palestine rested heavily on a Canadian — Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, the United Nations' chief referee in the Palestine quarrel.

The Ottawa general, chief of staff of the UN truce supervision organization, is caught in the middle of a seemingly endless fight over Palestine between Arabs and Jews. It is his thankless job to try to persuade both sides not to retaliate even when attacked, and to cease firing even if the other side is still shooting.

The 56-year-old Burns went to Palestine a year ago to take over the job of watching four different armistice agreements. Israel has a separate truce with each of the Arab states on its frontiers—Lebanon, Syria, Jordan and Egypt.

On each of these fronts, joint Israeli-Arab mixed armistice commissions operate under a UN chairman to investigate frontier violations.

REDUCED TENSION

Burns has managed to reduce tension noticeably on three of the fronts, but the Israeli-Egyptian line around the Egypto-held Gaza Strip coastal strip has turned into a major headache.

Persons close to the truce chief say he suffered a bitter personal disappointment last week when months of painstaking work to ease tension in the Gaza area collapsed.

He had persuaded Egypt and Israel to open negotiations aimed at eliminating frontier incidents. But just before the general arrived in Cairo for further talks last week, an alleged Israeli attack left three Egyptians dead and eight wounded near Gaza.

There has not been a quiet day on the Gaza frontier since.

GIVEN SO-SO CHANCE

Despite the breakdown in the talks, Burns has continued to move back and forth across the lines in an effort to get the bitter adversaries to call off the shooting.

The square-jawed Canadian is given at best a 50-50 chance to restore peace, but neutral observers agree he has done almost the impossible in winning the respect of both sides. His stubborn, sincere neutrality is listed as a major attribute in this accomplishment.

"I came out here with an open mind and I believe I still have one," Burns said recently. "When I talk to one side I try always thinking how reasonable the other side is, and vice versa."

Point Anne Clips Seabrookes 8-5 To Knot OASA Playdown Series

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Taking a 5-3 lead in the first inning, Point Anne evened their two-of-three OASA Intermediate "A" series with Peterborough Seabrooke Monday night in game each with an 8-5 victory at the Point last evening. At the time of writing, no date has been agreed upon by the two teams for the third fixture although Peterborough won the toss for home field.

The game was just the opposite of the first with errors and poor fielding in general accounting for a good number of the runs. The visitors took advantage of bunts and errors for two runs in the top of the first but the Conventmen came back with five in their half, using the same method. The winners added single counters in the second, fifth and eighth, while Seabrookes plated a pair in the seventh.

Thompson led off the initial frame with a single to right field but when Mallory threw wild to second he raced on to third. Consecutive bunt singles then plated one run. Donoghue and Gross followed with a double and third on the plays. Sullivan was safe on an error by Wade and Curry down at the plate for the 3-0 score.

Point Anne's attack took to bunting with Elliott and Mulholland reaching the sacks. Bob Hull doubled home a third on one run but Mallory fanned. Gerry Goyer drove in two more tallies with a single down the centre and Wade drew a base-on-balls. Bennett advanced the runners with a sacrifice but Bob Wyatt booted John Green's ground ball for two runs and 5-3 lead.

TWIN-KILLING

Point Anne held the margin from there but it took a neat twin-killing in the ninth to sew up the decision. Gross opened the pinch-hit single off Maracle's body to centre but was run down in third with a double down the left field line. Sullivan was intentionally walked to load the bases and Curry down at out. Spencer then popped to second base and Wyatt slapped one down the third base line. Gerry Goyer scooped the ball, touched third for the force and threw Wyatt out at first to end the game.

Pat Maracle went the route for the Ox-orioters, giving up 11 hits, five of the infield variety. He nicked five on strikes and walked three while hitting one. Jack "Lefty" Davis started for the losers but did not have it. He took the loss while allowing six runs on 8 hits, whiffing four but walking 3 and hitting Compton with pitches in 1 2-3 innings. Jim Driscoll came on and threw good ball the rest of the way, allowing two runs of four safeties, fanning five and issuing three free passes.

Point Anne got their second-inning marker on a walk, Hull's single and a pair of wild pitches by Davis. Jensen robbed Jake Wade, when he slid on his stomach to come up with Jake's sinking liner to centre. Pat Curry doubled and Goyer singled in the fifth with the lead run scoring when catcher Scriver dropped a ball at the plate. Hull reached first on Sullivan's error in the eighth and scored on fly balls by Goyer and Wade.

Maracle hit Thompson in the seventh and with two out, George "Red" Sullivan smashed a terrific home run to the fence in right field for Seabrooke's final two markers. Curry's misjudged fly and a wild pitch gave them one in the third.

Bob Hull sparked the winners with the wood, banging a double and single. Gerry Goyer and Sam Mulholland each poked a brace of singles while Pat Gilmour doubled and one-baggers went to Elliott and John Green. "Speed" Curry had a good night for the losers, hammering a triple, double and single, while Mark Donoghue beat out a pair of infield hits.

Federal Formula To Aid Jobless Still Opposed

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail says Ontario likely will submit a new formula for federal participation in unemployment assistance in the provinces at the Dominion-provincial conference at Ottawa Oct. 3.

The proposal would involve payment by federal government of a flat 50 cents per capita to the provinces, to be used as they deemed best, and would avoid what Ontario considers to be a return to the cash relief days of the 1930s, the story says.

The newspaper says it has learned the Ontario government is still opposed to the federal formula whereby the provinces would pay all unemployment costs up to .045 per cent of the population. Under this ceiling, costs would be split equally by the provinces and the federal government.

Six provinces have indicated their willingness to accept the federal plan, Ontario, Quebec, Prince Edward Island and Alberta have not done so.

Under the Ontario proposal, The Globe adds, Ontario would receive roughly $2,500,000 a year, less costs over that figure would be shared equally by the federal and Ontario governments. The Ontario government now spends around $7,000,000 a year to care for its unemployables.

WEEKLY WAGES RISE

LONDON (Reuters) — The average weekly wage of Britain's 7,000,000 manual workers continues to rise, the labor ministry said Wednesday. In April the average wage was £9 2s 3d, including overtime and bonuses. The figure is equal to $25.33 on the pound's international rate, but is worth considerably more at home, it announced.

Pilot Is Killed As Small Plane Spins Into House

TORONTO (CP)—A small plane went into a spin over an exclusive section of suburban Scarborough Thursday night, veered crazily into the house, skidded along a yard and rammed into another home.

No one in the homes was hurt but the plane's pilot was killed. His companion was critically injured.

Terry Kenny, 27-year-old chief flying instructor for Central Airways, died in the shattered wreckage of the two-seater Cessna after it clipped the treetops, bounced off the roof of one house and chopped down three trees in its wild plunge to earth.

His student passenger, Henry Aw of Toronto, was taken to hospital with severe chest injuries. An emergency operation was performed on him early today.

There were at least six persons in the houses or nearby when the aircraft crashed. Mrs. Frances Mc-Kay Langan, ran for her life as the plane headed for her as she walked across her garden.

FELL AFTER LOOP

Eyewitnesses said the Cessna, owned by Central Airways, was completing a second low-altitude loop when it began falling earthward. About 100 feet from the ground it banked sharply, raced through the treetops, bounced off the roof of a house owned by Mr. Gordon McMeken and hit the home of A. E. Langan.

Had the plane burst into flames, the toll might have been higher. Fuel from the aircraft's broken fuel line poured into Langan cellar. Mrs. Langan ran for a hose but the wreckage did not ignite.

Area residents said the plane had been circling around for about five minutes before the mishap. Robbie Ann McMeken, 20, was standing outside on the patio of her home at the time.

"We had been watching this plane" she said. "It was acting crazy. We saw it loop, then go straight up in the air. Then we didn't hear any noise for a few seconds. Then we saw the plane heading toward the house."

Kenny had taken off from the Toronto island airport and headed the few miles east to the Scarborough area.

Partial Health Insurance Plan Possible in '57

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost said Thursday he is hopeful Ontario will have a government-sponsored partial health-insurance plan in effect by 1957 or 1958.

He told a press conference Ontario's proposals—giving priority to diagnostic services and help in cases of prolonged illness—will go before the Oct. 3 federal-provincial conference in Ottawa.

The plan, he said, is flexible and calls for federal and provincial financing.

"No plan will work without federal participation. 'At the same time you can't pour all the provinces into one mould and make them accept the same plan," he said.

When federal and provincial premiers met in Ottawa last May Mr. Frost raised the question of health insurance and insisted that it be on the fall meeting's agenda. Prime Minister St. Laurent subsequently invited him to draft a detailed plan for consideration then.

Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia have health-insurance programs of various types in force.

Lawyers Disagree About Ontario's Red Licences

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian lawyers appear divided on the merits of Ontario's plan to issue special colored operator's licences to drivers convicted of drunk driving.

A survey of lawyers attending the annual meeting here of the Canadian Bar Association shows that the step generally is opposed by lawyers who handle criminal cases. Those in other fields, such as corporation law, think it will do much to reduce the number of motorists who mix alcohol with driving.

Most of the lawyers interviewed were unwilling to be quoted. Many, especially those from other provinces, said they do not wish to become involved in what might be an Ontario political issue.

Lawyers opposed to the issuance of red licences, stamped with the word "reinstated," said the step is contrary to the basic principles of Canadian criminal law. It would label an individual and prejudice an investigating officer.

Supporters of the red operator's licences said they would endorse the plan so long as civil liberties were not endangered. They did not think such a danger would exist in providing police and the courts with evidence that a driver suspected of being drunk has a previous record.

"This type of licensing should go a long way to reducing the number of boughtless individuals who drive while intoxicated," said John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Prince Albert.

"If the drinking driver is willing to take the risk, then he cannot complain that the penalty will include carrying a red licence for a time."

Manpower Economy Impresses Russians

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet farmers touring Canada are said to be impressed with the economy of manpower and the extensive use of machinery on Canadian farms if they were in the United States it was reported today.

The Soviet news agency said the Russians visited Canada at a 1,440 acre Saskatchewan farm, produces 25-25 bushels of wheat an acre with the help of only one hired man and the farmer's student son during the harvest.

Weddings

ERICKSON—DYMENT

Miss Gail Dyment, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Elliott Dyment of the Town of Mount Royal, and Rose Harold Herniston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Herniston of Stirling, Ontario, were married at 2:30 Saturday, St. Peter's church, Town of Mount Royal.

Rev. Canon E. A. Findlay performed the ceremony. Harrison S. Jones was organist and soloist. Ushers were Jeffrey Eggleton, of Stirling, Ontario.

The bride wore an ankle-length gown of white embroidered organza over taffeta with draped bodice, scoop neckline, short sleeves and full circular skirt with front panel of nylon tulle appliqued with pearls and rhinestones. A tiny wreath of tulle and pearls held her long veil of tulle illusion, and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of white gladioli.

Miss Adrienne Edge was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Lorna Bain, Miss Elizabeth Flynn and Miss Judy Killian.

They wore similar gowns of Alice Blue sheer crystalette over taffeta with tight fitted bodices and bouffant skirts, and matching headpieces. They carried bouquets of salmon pink and white gladioli.

Mr. Ray Herniston was best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Keith Howard, Ted Taylor and Michael Carter.

Mrs. Dyment, the bride's mother, wore a sheath of green silk taffeta shot with gold, fashioned on princess lines, a matching hat, bronze accessories and a corsage of bronze baby mums.

Mrs. Herniston, the bridegroom's mother, was in a copper tone taffeta gown with flared skirt, round neck and short sleeves, and a black velvet hat, black accessories, and a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. A. Dyment, the bride's grandmother, wore a slate blue crepe gown with a bolero, black hat and accessories, and a corsage of red roses.

Following the reception at the home of the bride's parents, the couple left by motor for the Southern States, the bride travelling in a lime green linen suit with matching hat, black patent shoes and bag and a corsage of red carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Herniston will reside in Kingston, Ontario, where they will attend Queen's University.

GRAY—REDNER

On Saturday, August 27, at 2:30 p.m., Centre United church, Redcerville, was the setting for a very lovely late summer wedding when Barbara Jean Redner, of Redcerville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lloyd Redner, became the bride of Beverley Stanley Gray, R.R.1, Picton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gray, Gray and Lawrie Dairy Farms, Port Hope, Ontario. The Rev. T. F. Townsend officiated at the double-ring ceremony before a background of white gladioli, candelabra and ferns. Wedding guest rows were designated by white, satin bows.

Mr. Robert Barber, cousin of the bride, provided the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Mr. Roger Redner, brother of the bride, who sang "The Lord's Prayer," and "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Ralph L. Redner, the bride was radiant in a floor length bridal gown of white Chantilly lace appliqued on lace over nylon tulle over satin, fashioned with molded bodice with a floral lace pattern following a diamond design over satin. The pleated tulle neckline was enhanced with delicate tracories of sequin embroidery, and the shoulder length sleeves of floral appliqued lace ended in tiny points over the wrists. She wore a heart-shaped headdress of matching Chantilly lace dotted with seed pearls and sequins, and a fingertip scalloped tulle illusion veil, and carried a cascade bouquet of red Happiness roses, with white satin streamers knotted with tiny rosebuds.

Mrs. Anita Vanderwater, of Belleville, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, was becomingly attired in an ankle-length gown of turquoise blue taffeta with full circular skirt. The bodice featured a scalloped neckline with pleated tulle, and the skirt, permanent pleats. She wore a matching feather headdress, and carried a shower bouquet of contrasting roses.

Miss Sybil Redner, of Redcerville, also sister of the bride, and Mrs. Margaret Foster of East Lake, were bridesmaids, wearing gowns made on similar lines to that of the matron of honor, the former in shrimp pink, and the latter in yellow. They wore matching, feather headdresses and carried bouquets of contrasting roses.

Mr. Edward O. Curtis of Cobourg, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, acted as groomsman, while Messrs. Roscoe Vanderwater, of Belleville, and David Wilson, of Garden Hill, Ontario, were ushers.

The reception was held in Centre Hall, which was prettily adorned for the occasion with pink and white streamers and pink and white wedding bells. The bride's table was lovely with its damask linen centred by a lace doily, wedding cake adorned with rosebuds and silver leaves and topped by a bridal ornament. Centre W.A. catered for the event.

The bride's room was attired in navy blue crepe with navy blue inset of lace, with eggshell coincories, and corsage of pink roses, received the guests. The bridegroom's room was attired in red, wore a navy blue sheer, navy hat, white gloves, and corsage of red roses.

For travelling to Sault Ste. Marie and Kingston, U.S., the bride chose a two-piece brown ensemble flecked with eggshell eggshell accessories and corsage of tawny gold roses. Mr. and Mrs. Gray are residing in Port Hope, at Locust Cottage Farms.

Out-of-town guests were present from Toronto, Niagara, Port Hope, Binbrooke, Millbrook, Cobourg and Eastings.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was honored by several showers: by Mrs. Clifford Foster and Miss Joah Wood; by Mrs. William Cerritta, Miss Marie Redner, and Mrs. Douglas Redner; by Miss Reta Christie of Toronto. A presentation by the staff of the Bank of Montreal, of which the bride is a member, of an electric sandwich grill. The Ameliasburg Maids auxiliary presented the bride-to-be with a hammered aluminum tray, and the Women's Institute made the presentation of a lovely Wedgwood vase.

C.W.L. Plans Coming Events

The Catholic Women's League of St. Joseph's Parish held its first regular monthly meeting of the season on Monday evening in the school hall with 31 members present. The president, Mrs. R. Carr-Brains, presided.

The first vice president, Mrs. R. Lynch, reported 41 paid-up members to date. Special thanks were made to all who assisted in making the lawn social such a success. A report was then read on the annual Diocesan convention, attended by Mrs. Lynch, held in Kingston 13 June, points out the highlights and new resolutions made.

The 2nd vice president, Mrs. Maund expressed thanks to all who helped plan the Brownie, Mothers and Daughters supper. It is hoped this will be an annual affair.

Mrs. G. Williams, 3rd vice president asked all members to save old clothes and toys, which will be sent on to the Mother House in Cumberland during the next few months.

The Spiritual convener announced that the study clubs will be starting up again in October and also spoke on the forthcoming retreat to be held at the Cenacle House.

The number of hospital calls made during August were 58.

A general discussion was then held on the euchre parties which will commence this month and also a tea and sale to be held in November.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. W. Lynch and her committee.

The Experts Say—
'Rutabaga Day' Calculated To Give Turnip Shot in Arm

By PAULINE KENNEDY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP)—"Rutabaga Day" to be held here this fall is calculated to give the lowly turnip a monumental shot in the arm.

Turnip growers, shippers, and buyers will gather Sept. 26 for fun and frolic and to pick a queen —all centred around the rutabaga —which is just a high-class name for the turnip.

But in western Ontario—the richest turnip producing area in Canada—turnips are no laughing matter. They grow the biggest, best and most, by the tons of 2,000,000 pounds marketed last year.

EXPORTS TO U. S.

Most of the crop went to the United States which has developed a large-size taste for turnips lately. But Canada still lags sadly behind in eating instead of feeding to lift the product from something only small farmers and cattle raised to eat—to a national vegetable delicacy.

Rutabaga day will see princesses as well as a queen. There will be speeches by Canadian agricultural leaders and housewives will receive recipes and new ideas in cooking and serving the vegetable in more imaginative ways.

A "golf tournament" will be the day's highlight when buyers line up on one side of the course and producers and shippers on the other. Coached by the "turnip princesses" the sturdy rural contingent will push turnips with hoes right into the hands of the buyers.

The princess coaching the first producer to get his turnip over the line first will be crowned the "queen of rutabaga day."

The imaginative growers of the turnip festival have even organized the turnip production area into "rutabaga city."

The city, with controllers and councillors replaced by shippers and producers, is bordered by Owen Sound on the north, Guelph on the east, London on the south and Lake Huron on the west.

"We are ready any time this turnip rushes attractive" said A.H. Wilford of Toronto, a turnip festival worker.

APPETIZING RECIPES

Scalloped turnips and apples:

2 Cups sf. cooked turnips sliced small; 1½ cups of raw apples sliced; ½ cup brown sugar; 4 tablespoons of butter; 1 teaspoon of salt. Place half the turnips in greased casserole of two-quart size, cover with half the apples, sprinkle with half the sugar, dot with half the butter and sprinkle with half the salt. Then repeat the performance with the other half. Add 2 tablespoons of water, bake covered in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 30 minutes. Remove cover to brown if desired. Serves five to six.

Turnips, mushrooms and fresh green peas combination:

1½ cups turnips diced; 2 cups fresh or frozen green peas; ½ cup sauteed mushrooms (browned in butter in pan). Cook all the vegetables and combine together with butter, season and serve at once. Serve six portions.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

WAIT 'TIL SCHOOL OPENS, THEN ASK A TEACHER TO A MOVIE

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

My sister and I have a problem with our parents. They will not permit us to have "dates" with, in fact, they will not even allow us to talk to boys.

One day, we went to the park with Mom and Dad, and a boy said "Hi!" to my sister, and they wouldn't let her go to the park again for a month. Another time, I was sitting in church and a boy I didn't know came in and sat down beside me and Mother made me move. That made me feel bad. My father is the pastor of a large U.B. church.

I have two older brothers. One is self and out on his own. My oldest sister is 21, and when she was 19 she began to send out on dates. Finally, she got herself in trouble and had to get married. Later, I asked her why she did it, and she said it was because if the way she was treated at home is very happy now, with a baby of her own and twins.

Mother says when my other sister and I are 21 we can have a date one night a week. I am 16 and my sister is 13. — Gevon

Dear Gevon:

I can see that a difficult position you are in because, since your father is pastor of this church, he and your mother are probably following the best of their faith in refusing to live you any freedom for normal teenage social life. They believe, I am sure that to keep their daughters closely at home while they are growing up is the best way to make sure they will not get into any trouble. But I should think your older sister's experience might have made them realize the folly of keeping too tight a rein on a young person is hardly the best way.

If your parents just had old-fashioned ideas about these things, it might be bad, when a new school year starts and there will be activities you'd want to share at school and school events you'll want to attend, sent friendly teacher might make a plot of calling on your parents at try to get them to understand hat boys and girls in school shold join with t h e i r schoolmate in all that goes on. But since as I say, your parents are undoubtedly following the beliefs of thir faith in their attitude toward ye, it would be very much harder, next impossible, to get them to five in.

Still, i might be well, when school opns, for you to talk to one of your rachers and ask her opinion about this. It could be that, with all experience with girls and boys and their parents, she might it able to think of some way to approach your parents that would make them see it is not fair to you girls to make you do without many normal good times. After all, the opening of school isn't too far off now, and you can put up with the situation a little longer.

Suppose you write me again later on, after school has opened and you have had a talk with the teacher you like best, and let me know if she is willing to try and persuade your parents to give you more freedom in the coming school year.

Readers' Friday Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

I am writing to ask for some advice for my pickle making. I am a young farm wife with 3 children and lots of cukes. I have the recipe you printed some time ago for the brining of cucumbers, but I missed the recipes that were published later. I would like to have any recipes using the brined cukes—dills, sweet cucumbers, sweet mixed and sweet gherkins or any other that you have . . . does the brining process make the atrractive uniform color we find in the commercial product or is this caused through some other process? Is it possible to make as good as the bottled pickles at home . . . really appreciate your wonderful recipes that are so practical and different.—Muriel C.

ANSWER:

On Oct. 15, 1954, I gave you the method of brining cucumbers for pickles; on Oct. 16, 1954 I gave a recipe for making Sweet Cucumber Pickles from brined pickles. But since other readers will write to me (which I like of course) I think I should repeat that brining process. But I will mail you the recipe for Sweet Cucumber Pickles, and give what I have poom for of the other recipes you request.

HOW TO BRINE CUCUMBERS FOR PICKLING

1. Select freshly gathered firm cucumbers 2 or 3 inches long. Wash and dry. 2. Place in clean stone crock or new wooden keg. 3. Cover with brine made of 1 cup non-iodized salt to each 10 cups (water ((preferably soft water). Measurements must be accurate. 4. Cover with clean plate or new round board that fits inside rim and place clean heavy stone on it to keep cucumbers submerged. 5. On the second day pour 1 2-4 cups salt on centre of plate or board. Do not put salt directly in brine. 6. Place 1-2 cup salt on centre of plate or board on 7th day, and each succeeding 7th day for 4 weeks. Skim off scum from brine as it forms at top. Keep cucumbers submerged. 7. At end of second week test brine by placing an egg in it—if egg does not float add a little more salt than the amounts mentioned above. 8. At end of 28 days keep blue litmus paper at drug store. Dip in brine. If it turns pink brine is acid and cucumbers may be removed. If not, test every day until it does. Cucumbers are now ready for various processing methods.

SWEET GHERKINS

Remove gherkin-size cucumbers from brine. Cover with clear cold water in aluminum or granite kettle. Heat slowly to about 170 deg. Fahr. Immediately. Hold at that temperature for 10 to 12 hours then drain or cover with cold water, changing it every 3 or 4 hours for 12 hours. Drain and dry. Place gherkins in stone crock, cover with mild 4 to 6-grain vinegar (40 to 60-grain) vinegar and let stand 10 days. Drain. Cover with a syrup made with 6 cups vinegar, (using vinegar in which gherkins stood), 3 cups sugar and whole spices (1 tablespoon mace, 1 tablespoon cloves, 2 tablespoons broken up stick cinnamon). Bring this to boil then simmer 15 minutes and pour over pickles. Drain off next morning and again pour over gherkins. Let stand 3 hours. Then boil pickles in the syrup 10 minutes. Cool quickly in covered pan, pack in jars, cover with spiced syrup and seal.

NOTE:

Mixed sweet pickles may be done the same way but use peeled onions and cauliflowerets that have been brined only 24 hours—using only half the amount of them together, as gherkins.

I have mailed the recipe for dills.

BEAUTY

LESSON TIME FOR LITTLE GIRLS

Beauty gets an early start when a little girl gets her first home permanent and learns to care for it herself.

If your little girl's getting ready for classes, better pitch in now and give her a hand with some beauty homework so she'll be a school belle for sure.

There is nothing so fundamental to good grooming as a well-cared-for coiffure, and child psychologists agree that the discovery of her appearance-aptitude, early in life gives any young miss poise and self-confidence. So start with her hair.

A home permanent will not only accomplish the trick of giving her the pretty curls every little girl wants, but also save you the nightly sessions of curl rolling. The best time to give daughter her first permanent is just a week before school starts. In this way her whole attention will be captured before she's too busy with getting school day happenings. Also, if your child happens to be shy, getting up for school in the company will give her assurance that you are going to share this new experience with her. Once you have given her the permanent and set it in a style becoming to her, a weekly shampoo will help to keep it neatly in place.

It's fun, of course, to try your daughter's hair in a variety of styles, but settle on a fairly simple one so that she can easily care for it herself. For parties and special occasions you can always elaborate on it through the use of pretty hair ribbons.

Teach your daughter to use a natural bristle hairbrush as regularly as she uses her toothbrush. One hundred strokes a day should be a part of her beauty routine—just as it should be in yours. A good brush stroke is a long, smooth one, carried to the very tips of the hair.

Your little daughter will begin to think of shampoos as excitingly grown-up if you give her her own jar of creme shampoo to keep with her brush an' a special, easy-to-reach bathroom shelf. Always make shampoo time an occasion, taking time to provide fluffy, clean towels for drying and finishing the job with one of your own fragrances—brilliantine, a pomade or a perfumed creme rinse.

If your little girl grows up used to a clean, neatly curled head of hair, she'll never be satisfied with anything less. And that's a terrific beauty asset in Hatli!

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. SEECKMAN

WHO WRITES THANK-YOU LETTERS?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Last summer my fiance and I went to visit a couple in their resort place where we had met them through mutual friends in the early part of the summer. We had a wonderful time. The hostess is the soul of hospitality and thoughtful friendliness. Yesterday, I wrote a bread-and-butter letter (the very best I knew how to write) to the wife, our hostess, expressing thanks for both of us for their hospitality. My fiance would like to know if he too should write a bread-and-butter letter. — Bee

He would show excellent taste and a fine sense of courtesy and appreciation if he writes a bread-and-butter letter too. Since he is your fiance, not your husband, he really should write his own thank-you letter. The fact that you expressed thanks for both doesn't make any difference . . . your hosts will be delighted to receive his enthusiastic thanks also.

ON USING PLACE CARDS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We are being married in the lovely little church here in this New England village where we have always spent our summers. After the ceremony we are having a large reception in a Country Club nearby. There will be between 250 and 275 guests. Yesterday, my mother and I went to make final plans with the Club's party department. We agreed on everything except my plan to have place cards for all the guests. He said he had never heard of having place cards for so many, guests, that it was never done, would not be practical. He said place cards are used only on the bridal table and the parents' table. What is your opinion about his opinion? — Katherine R.

I agree with him . . . and I too have never heard of using place cards for so many guests. Of course use place cards on the bridal table and on the parents' table. But let the other guests form t a b l e groups of friends and or relatives for "reunions."

REPLY TO "ARE YOU MARRIED?"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am a divorcee, having very recently received my final divorce decree. My sister is a widow, her husband having passed on several months ago. I do not wear my wedding ring, and my sister does not wear hers. When anyone asks either of us, "Are you married?" we would like to know what is the proper reply for us to make? — Two Sisters

Your reply to this question depends on your point of view about giving this information. Either may simply reply, "I have been married," and let it go at that. This is the least-information answer, and I judge from the way you really called for.

Sunday School Lesson:

Worship and a Nation's Strength

By ROY L. SMITH

In recounting the sources of any nation's strength let us never forget to take into account its worship habits. No people can hope to be great who do not hold something in great reverence, and no state can endure the strain of modern life which does not keep the channels of spiritual power open.

JEWISH EXPERIENCE

When the first companies of Jews returned from their Babylonian captivity and undertook to rebuild their national life, they found their hands full getting themselves established in houses and planting crops. Their temple had to wait. Then, when the beginning was made, it was a very small beginning, and the temple they reared was a sorry replica of the glorious one they had known in the days of Solomon.

But an extremely interesting situation developed. The political and economic life of the nation went staid exactly as the religious life of the nation was neglected. It was as though having cut off the spiritual fountains they had stymied their economic life.

It is not so strange, however after all, for the spirit that enables a man to endure hardships for the sake of an abundant economic life is closely related to his spiritual nature. Kill the spirit of the people and you have cut the tap root of their economic ambition.

BUILT CHURCH FIRST

According to the Geneva agreement by which Indo-China was divided at the 17th parallel, any citizens in either half who wanted to migrate to the other half were to do so, and in accordance with that agreement hundreds of thousands of Roman Catholics migrated from the north to the south to escape from communism.

One village, composed of about 600 families, loaded all their possessions on some 20 fishing boats and, lashed to a French war vessel, they were towed 350 miles south where they set themselves up in a new village alongside a strange river. As they went ashore they carried their hand carved altar and their first act was a celebration of the Mass. Their first building was an improvised shelter for the altar which they called their church. Then came their houses. Within the space of four months the village was completely self-supporting, and rehabilitated. In the place of the improvised shelter they now had a new church, and from it flowed the spiritual optimism which had redeemed the village.

DEFEATED CHURCH

A group of business men members of a famous lunch club, were discussing the tragic situation relative to juvenile delinquency, and one of them said, "This situation would not exist if the churches were on the job and doing their duty." And the following Sunday morning he hired a boy to stay away from

East Germany Will Receive Atomic Reactor

BERLIN (AP)—A Soviet physicist has disclosed that East Germany will receive a Russian-made atomic reactor next year.

He said a gathering of scientists and Communist party leaders in Dresden Wednesday that a reactor will supply all isotopes required for industrial purposes.

Sunday school so that he could caddy for him. The next week the same group of business men agreed that the greatest menace in the country was the spread of communism, but no one suggested that their neglect of the churches and their hour of worship had anything to do with the problem.

There had never been a time in our history when the church has been compelled to compete so desperately for a hearing, competing with the very institutions it is expected to support. It is impossible to weaken the church without weakening the nation.

Turkey Rejects Greece's Appeal

LONDON (Reuters) — Foreign Minister Fatin Zorlu of Turkey yesterday rejected Greece's appeal for self-determination in the strategic Mediterranean Island of Cyprus and plumped for continued British rule of the colony.

Zorlu was making his policy statement at a three-power conference of Britain, Greece and Turkey which was called by Britain following outbreaks of terrorism by Greek Cypriots who want the Island united with Greece.

Wednesday Foreign Minister Stephan Stephanopoulos of Greece in his policy statement demanded that the Cypriots be given the "human right" of choosing their own rulers.

The day before Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan of Britain urged that the first aim on the political development of the Island should be a wide measure of self-government for its 400,000 Greek-descended and 80,000 Turkish-descended inhabitants.

WANT IT BACK

Zorlu said today that unless British rule continues on the Island, it should revert to Turkey which ceded it to Britain in 1923.

He pointed out that Turkey had ruled the Island for generations whereas it had never belong to Greece, that it was only 45 miles from Turkey and some 650 miles from the Greek mainland, that most of its imported foodstuffs come from Turkey and that it is dependent on British economic aid.

Transformation in Canadian Foreign Policy Theme of Talk

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (CP)—The transformation in Canadian foreign policy in recent years has been "an astonishing change in the Canadian economy, Health Minister Martin said Thursday night.

"We have, indeed, reason so far that the commitments which we have voluntarily accepted—in the past decade particularly—would be unthinkable to Canadians, let us say, of 30 years ago," he said.

Mr. Martin, head of the Canadian delegation at United Nations disarmament talks in New York, made no reference to the East-West discussions.

He was addressing the closing dinner of the Canada-United States conference at the University of Rochester, which has established a special program of Canadian studies.

PROFOUND CHANGE

"Our emergence as an important middle power over the last few years has perhaps left us a little self-conscious and a little breathless, and our experience in two successive generations of world wars—and of the grim aftermath of the last war have exercised a profound change . . . upon the attitude of Canadians towards the rest of the world."

Mr. Martin return to a theme discussed by external Affairs Minister Pearson—Canadian-American trade. He said:

"Our two economies are so closely intertwined that we are naturally deeply concerned—and in my view, legitimately concerned—with your policies, whether in foreign affairs or in international commerce.

"These matters are, of course, your own affairs and these you must decide, as do we, in what you consider to be the essential interests of your country.

"I might perhaps suggest, however, that we in Canada would on occasion be happier to have somewhat longer advance notice of your intentions since a relatively minor shift in your trade policies can be extremely serious—or even disastrous to certain parts of our national economy. . . .

WARNS OF DEPENDENCE

"The continuance of Canadian prosperity is very largely dependent—and to some of us alarmingly dependent—upon your capacity and your willingness to absorb a very great percentage of commodities which we now have the means to produce.

"In brief, a relatively minor recession in your prosperity or what might seem to you to be an insignificant change in your tariff structure can have grave consequences for your neighbor to the north."

Mr. Martin's statements were contained in the text of his speech issued to the press before delivery.

American League Contenders Make Little Progress During August

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

(By GARRY ALEXANDER)

MAT ACTION

The grunt and groan boys return to action in Memorial Arena tonight with a top notch card getting under way at 8.45 p.m.

Main attraction of the evening will be a big Dour Scot-burn. Doug teams with Irish Pat Fraley to a tag team bout against the German duo of Fritz Von Erich and Karl Von Schober.

Hepburn has appeared here several times this season, including last week, when he gave the Von pair a hard time. The former weight-lifting champion of the world has proved a hit in the weeks of the season today, they're practically in the same spot they were Aug. 1.

Chicago held a one game lead over Indians and Yanks then and today are only half-a-game in front.

For the month, New York was on top 13 days, Chicago 12 and Cleveland the biggest August lead, two games. Yanks led by 1½, Chicago by one.

TOO AWFUL EVEN

"All I know is," says Case, "that we have 23 more to play and must win 18 to make sure. I realize that's 37 wins, but that's what it will take. I thought before it could be done with 96."

Yanks were in the best position to get off to a fast start on their way to 97. They opened a home stand this afternoon with the Washington Senators, who they have beaten 11 times in 16, while White Sox and the Tribe meet in the first game of a four-game series at Cleveland tonight. Sox and Indians have split in 16 games.

It's just another step along a perilous path for White Sox, who are fresh from a two-game sweep of Boston. From Cleveland, they go to Detroit for a Labor Day doubleheader, then play two at Washington before entering Yankee Stadium for a pair.

Billy Martin, on loan from the army, will be at short for Yankees tonight.

DODGERS IN FORM

The only action Thursday was in the National League, where Brooklyn made the most of seven hits to thump Milwaukee 6-3, Cincinnati defeated New York 7-4 and Pittsburgh again edged St. Louis 7-6.

The Brooks got their victory with a third and-fifth innings. Roy Campanella singled home two runs and scored two more as Brooklyn trimmed the magic number to 10—any combination of 10 Dodger victories and Milwaukee defeats gives the Brooks the flag.

Joe Nuxhall won his 12th with seven-hitting Giants. He gave up two homers to Dusty Rhodes and one to Al Dark, but drove home two himself while Chuck Harmon batted in four with a home run and a single.

Pirates, now just 2½ games shy of seventh-place St. Louis after spending the last three years in the cellar, won their sixth straight with Gene Freese knocking in the clincher in the ninth to break a six-all tie.

Oakland, Calif.—Ralph Dupas, 139, New Orleans, drew with Leonard Galoza, 136, Oakland, 10.

"All right, I'll give you the $2 to play the last race. But for a week you do the dishes, mow the lawn, paint the closet . . ."

"No hard feelings, chum." Jockey Willie Shoemaker (right) has a smile for Eddie Arcaro, who piloted Nashua to his $100,000 victory over Swaps. "Nashua did everything I asked," said Arcaro after the race. "He went beautifully." Nashua supporters received $4.40 for their $2 win tickets. As the two racers turned into the final stretch with Swaps trailing, Shoemaker applied the whip, but couldn't gain ground. Arcaro, too, used the whip and Nashua leaped forward and finally crossed the finish mark with a six-and-a-half length lead.

Cleveland, Chicago and N.Y. Practically in Same Spot; Brooklyn Nearly Home Free

For all the huffing and puffing they did during August, the three leading cohabiters for the American League pennant might just as well have taken a month's rest.

It's just another step along a perilous path for White Sox, who are fresh from a two-game sweep of Boston. From Cleveland, they go to Detroit for a Labor Day doubleheader, then play two at Washington before entering Yankee Stadium for a pair.

Billy Martin, on loan from the army, will be at short for Yankees tonight.

DODGERS IN FORM

The only action Thursday was in the National League, where Brooklyn made the most of seven hits to thump Milwaukee 6-3, Cincinnati defeated New York 7-4 and Pittsburgh again edged St. Louis 7-6.

The Brooks got their victory with a third and-fifth innings. Roy Campanella singled home two runs and scored two more as Brooklyn trimmed the magic number to 10—any combination of 10 Dodger victories and Milwaukee defeats gives the Brooks the flag.

Joe Nuxhall won his 12th with seven-hitting Giants. He gave up two homers to Dusty Rhodes and one to Al Dark, but drove home two himself while Chuck Harmon batted in four with a home run and a single.

Pirates, now just 2½ games shy of seventh-place St. Louis after spending the last three years in the cellar, won their sixth straight with Gene Freese knocking in the clincher in the ninth to break a six-all tie.

NASHUA ROMPS TO VICTORY AND $100,000 PURSE

The pride of the Woodward Jr., stables, Nashua, piloted by Eddie Arcaro, became the three-year-old of 1955 when he romped to a six-and-a-half length $100,000 victory against Swaps during a winner-take-all match race at Chicago's Washington Park, Nashua, a 6-5 underdog with the 35,262 racing fans who packed the park, gained a length over Swaps, who was jockeyed by Willie Shoemaker, when the pair thunder under the finish wire for the first time. Swaps, a 1-5 favorite, made a strong effort after the half mile, but Nashua went on to take the race, avenging his only defeat this year when Swaps sprinted home by a length and a half lead in the Kentucky Derby. Nashua was clocked at 2:04 1-5 for the mile and a quarter race over a track which was rated as "good" after a heavy rain two nights earlier.

Three Canadians Ready for Fall Golf Circuit

TORONTO (CP) — Three Canadians looked ahead today to the United States winter golf circuit, with a total of $4,000 in their pockets to help them pick up experience on the game's money trail.

The three, led by Jack Kay of Montreal, finished on top in the bursary tournament which ended here Thursday. Despite a three-over-par 74 on the final 18 holes, Kay won the fourth annual tournament with a 54-hole total of 210.

Kay's three-under-par total put him five strokes ahead of pre-tournament favorite Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver and Norm Smith of Toronto. They will split the $4,000 prize money, which must be spent on the winter circuit.

Wind and rain haunted the players during the two-day tournament and they found par 71 on the 6,505-yard Toronto Golf Club course tough to crack. Kay was the only one to finish with a sub-par total.

Two strokes back of Mawhinney and Smith was John Henrick of Ottawa who came up with a 70 on the final 18 for a 217 total. Former money winner Hal Butler of Oakawa took fifth slot with a 148-70—218.

Bob Dean of Cornwall shot a 77 Thursday for a final score of 227. Jack Cuddy of Brantford came in with an 80 for 237.

Lane Fined $500, Ordered To Make Public Apology

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Lane, explosive general manager of Chicago White Sox, was fined $500 and ordered to make a public apology Thursday for what commissioner Ford Frick termed "unbecoming conduct" during a game Tuesday night in Chicago.

Lane, ordered to New York to face the commissioner, immediately accepted and then gave his own explanation of what happened in front of the box of Will Harridge, the American League president.

Sports writers said Lane stormed into Harridge's box in the seventh inning and began abusing umpire Larry Napp in loud, pungent language.

Lane acknowledged he did so but said his remarks were aimed not at the dignified, white-haired Harridge but instead at Cal Hubbard, chief of the league's umpires staff, and Harridge's boss.

"STRONG LANGUAGE"

"I protested strongly against the actions of umpire Larry Napp, in ejecting Regan Lollar, our first string catcher, from the game after he had permitted a Boston player to remain despite a serious offence.

"In the fifth inning, a Boston player not only put on a terrible demonstration in front of the fans in disputing one of Napp's decisions but actually kicked dirt at the umpire's feet. Yet he was allowed to remain in the game.

"An inning later Lollar was one of several players in the Chicago dugout to hurl some unflattering remarks to Napp and he was promptly ejected. I guess I used pretty strong language at that to get my point across."

Montreal Royals Now Head Loop By Half-Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A rained-out game may cost Toronto Maple Leafs the pennant title for the International League pennant.

Montreal's 6-4 victory over Columbus and Toronto's 9-1 loss to Havana, the latter on Wednesday night put Montreal into first place by half a game. The difference was announced on the league standings column, where Montreal has 80 to Toronto's 79.

League secretary Harry Simmons announced Thursday that the highest games can't be scrambled into the International League schedule, which ends next Monday. Thus, if Montreal and Toronto winning, Toronto won't be able to catch Royals.

Simmons also announced that, in the event of a tie, the pennant will be decided in a one game playoff. But in view of the Toronto rainout, only a similar rainout on a Montreal game would make a tie possible.

WRAP UP FOURTH

Rochester just about wrapped up the fourth place spot Thursday by beating Richmond 9-1 but Syracuse kept its fabulous mathematical chances alive by trouncing Buffalo 6-1. Rochester, with a 4½-game edge over Toledo, has nine games to play and Syracuse has five remaining.

Jim Willard's ninth-inning single, which drove home Chico Fernandez with two out in the ninth, provided the winning run for Royals.

Pinch hitter Emilio Cueche's sixth-inning sacrifice scored Nino Escalera from third base with the winning run in the bottom of the 11th inning at Havana. Escalera doubled and was advanced to third via a sacrifice.

Vincenzi Amer, who went all the way for the Cubans, scored his fifth win against four defeats. Ed Rehl, who replaced starter Ken Johnson in the fourth, was charged with the loss.

The drawing today illustrates the difference in stances for an iron shot and a wood shot.

The player at the left, who is using only a 3-iron, has assumed an open stance with his left foot drawn back from the line of intended flight indicated by the arrow. He also plays the ball in about the middle of his stance.

The player at the right is using a wood. He takes a wider and more square stance. He also plays the ball forward of centre, more off his left heel. This is correct since the wood, the clubhead to meet the ball just after the clubhead has passed the low point of its arc and started to rise.

Note also because the club is shorter, the player with the iron stands a little closer to the ball and bends forward more from the waist. He also takes a more upright swing, which is desirable.

Karpuk and Wirkowski Back In Old Football Hometowns As Big Four Ready to Open

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Pete Karpuk and Nobby Wirkowski are going home again.

Karpuk returns to football team on which he gained his bit of notoriety, Nobby the club for which he starred. Both hometown fans who gave him his worst rankings.

Karpuk, a 29 - year - old backfielder who originated the "Karpuk play," was picked up on waivers by Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four Thursday night from Hamilton Tiger-Cats. The deal was made two days before the Big Four opens its 1955 19-game schedule.

Although Karpuks became Ottawa property Thursday he will not see action when Rough Riders start off the season Saturday against the Alouettes in Montreal. He suffered a broken bone in his hand while training at Hamilton CUT BY ARGOS

Karpuk went to Hamilton last year after spending some six seasons with the Rough Riders. He pulled his now-famous play early years ago when he dashed from the bench to tackle a Toronto Argonaut player who was running unimpeded for a touchdown. At that time there were no rules to cover such a play. They were changed later on but, in referee would award a touchdown.

While Rough Riders tackle the Als, Toronto fans will get a look at Wirkowski. He was cut by Argonauts after the 1954 season. He was at Toronto's Varsity Stadium that Nobby bore the brunt of the jibes and cat-calls although he and most of the fans were on the same side of the fence.

The Argo fans made no secret about their dislike when Nobby donned their colors the ball. They may see a big difference because Hamilton coach Carl Voyles has given Wirkowski the go ahead to use his legs as well as his arm.

The Big Four teams will play again Monday. Argonauts go against the Tiger-Cats at Hamilton while the Als travel to Ottawa for a night engagement against the Rough Riders.

WIFU PLAYS FOUR

Four weekend games are scheduled in the Western Intercollegiate Football Union. British Columbia Lions go against the Blue Bombers at Winnipeg and Saskatchewan Roughriders meet the Eskimos at Edmonton Saturday. On Monday Alberta Golden Bears and Winnipeg against the Stampeders at Calgary.

Only one game is slated in the Ontario Rugby Football Union Saturday. In that one Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen entertain the Imperials at Sarnia. In a Labor Day game Toronto Beaches are at Sarnia.

Chuck Runsinger will be missing from his right halfback spot Saturday when the Als take on Ottawa. Runsinger suffered a groin injury during a Montreal practice earlier this week. The injury was aggravated in the tilt Monday. Its some drill. He is hospital for special therapy treatment.

Miss Supertest Clocked at 112.5 MPH

TORONTO (CP)—A top speed of 112.5 miles an hour was reached Thursday night by the hydroplane Miss Supertest in a test off the Canadian National Exhibition waterfront.

The saucer-shaped craft roared over a measured mile outside the breakwater after preliminary warmup runs.

Officials said choppy waters outside the breakwater prevented a higher speed.

The boat, weighing 6,000 pound and powered by 2,000-horsepower Rolls-Royce Griffin engines, was built at Sarnia. Ont., for Thompson and his father, J. Gordon Thompson of London.

MILES OFFSIDES TV

BALTIMORE (AP) — Clarence Miles, president of the Baltimore Orioles, Thursday joined a row of other major league baseball owners who have decided too much telecasting of their home games is hurting their attendance. "From my own point of view," said Miles, "I am convinced we are televising too many home games." The Oriole attendance this year is more than 100,000 behind 1954.

Valdes Wants To Wear White Trunks in Fight

LONDON (Reuters) — Cuban heavyweight Nino Valdes Thursday threatened to call off his scheduled elimination match with Britain's Don Cockell for a crack at the world heavyweight title unless he is allowed to wear white trunks.

In furious Spanish, Valdes said he had promised his mother he would always fight in white and would not break his promise, despite a British box board of control ban on white trunks.

British promoter Jack Solomons promised to arrange a meeting between Cockell and the BBC of which has beamed white trunks because Valdes shore up on them too quickly.

Sarnia Imperials Train Nightly For Heavy Schedule

SARNIA (CP) —Sarnia Imperials have been drilling through long practice sessions this week for their senior Ontario Rugby Football Union game Saturday and Monday with Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen and Toronto Beaches.

Kitchener enters Saturday's game leading the league, thanks to a 35-16 win over Imperials in the opener in Kitchener last Friday. Monday's game will be the first for the reorganized beaches.

Imperials have added junior quarterback Jack McKelvie for the season with a back injury. Rookie centre Jack Cunningham quit the team because of the recurrence of a shoulder injury. Also missing during the weekend will be halfback Johnny Chronicki and guard Pete Goetsch, injured in the opener.

Junior Golfers From Ontario Lose U.S. Match

WASHINGTON (AP) — Junior golfers of Washington Thursday defeated a team from Ontario 4-2 in the fifth annual Simpson Cup matches at Columbia Country Club. The visitors swept all three foursome and two afternoon singles but were able to win only one other match. Phil Brownlee and Bob Pazsuik scored the points for the Ontario team in the 16-year group.

Only one match went to the 18th hole—the 15-year-old Scotch foursome match in which Mark Pavelich played a fine trap shot and Keith Bowie made a four-foot putt for a par on the last hole and one up victory over Don White and Peter McCaig.

Harry Cowan of Canada defeated John Grubb in the 16-year-old singles, 4 and 3. Mr. Cowan's two-over-par golf was the best of the day for the visitors.

Ulysses Curtis Turning Out With Balmies

TORONTO (CP) — Ulysses Curtis, 20-year-old backfielder waived out of the Big Four this season, has joined Toronto Beach of the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

Curtis, with Argos for five years, hopes to make Beaches a stepping stone to a big-league comeback. He is far from convinced that he doesn't belong in Big Four company.

By going to Beaches, Curtis joins two other former Argonauts, Billy Bass and Zeke O'Connor, on a team put together by a group of Toronto sportsmen in an effort to keep the ORFU senior group alive. Argonauts dropped their championship of the team this year.

Yankees Recall Ten Players From Minors

Only two players—pitcher Jim Konstanty and infielder Bobby Richardson—have been ordered to report to the Yankees immediately following the close of the International League season. Both currently are with Richmond, Va., in the triple A circuit.

The other eight will complete the current season with their respective clubs and will report to the Yankees next spring. They include catcher Lou Berberet from Toronto of the International League.

AT THE McCARTHY
19 Nations Among Thousands Cast in Epic Production

Of the nineteen different nationalities employed in Howard Hawks' production of "Land of the Pharaohs" which the Hollywood producer-director made in CinemaScope and WarnerColor for Warner Brothers, there were 37 Americans, 18 English, 13 French, 9 Germans, 1 Dutchman, 1 Austrian, 3 Hungarians, 3 Swiss, 3 Russians, 1 Scot, 2 Turks, 4 Spaniards, 3 Italians, 2 Canadians, 12 Greeks, 3 Armenians, 1 Syrian, 7 Sudanese and 168 Egyptians.

Hawks had 307 people in his actual personnel, not to mention more than 2,000 Egyptian extras.

JURY OF PEERS

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A woman charged with overplanting her wheat acreage allotment on a 70-acre dairy farm says she wants to be tried by a jury of farmers. Miss Ruth Stambaugh went on to $402.20 penalties by the federal government. She pleaded guilty to overplanting of her allotted six acres for wheat in 1954. Miss Stambaugh, in signing the overplanting charge, said wheat she planted in 1954 was used for feed which she would have had to purchase if it were not raised on her farm.

American Motors Signs With Union As Strike Starts

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors Corp. today became the first of the "little three" in the United States auto industry to settle with the CIO United Auto Workers on the "big three" contract issues. The settlement ended a strike called by the union last midnight.

The American Motors settlement differed in one major respect with the pacts signed by the Big Three—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler. AMC's layoff pay plan will not be put into operation until a year after the others.

The company will start paying into a trust fund Sept. 15, 1956, and benefits will not become available until a year after that. Benefits become effective at the big three next June 1.

Attempt Altitude Record With Research Balloon

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (CP)—A balloon as big as a 25-storey building soared into the heavens over this international border town Thursday. Scientists hoped it would set an altitude record.

At dusk, the balloon was reported 30 miles southwest of the International Falls, Minn., airport from where it was launched. It had reached 112,000 feet and was still rising.

Attached to the balloon was a gondola containing dozens of micro and scientific instruments, including a precision manometer, a pressure-measuring device to measure altitude. A camera focussed on the manometer was geared to take a picture a minute during the flight.

The helium-filled balloon was released at 5 a.m., last of seven balloons set aloft at International Falls since Aug. 1 as part of an experiment by the U.S. air force. The air force is studying the biological effects of cosmic rays at high altitudes. Mice, guinea pigs and tissue cultures have been sent aloft to be exposed to the rays.

A timing device was to release the gondola from the balloon at 4 p.m. A parachute would carry the gondola to earth. It was not known here where the gondola landed.

Ed Lewis, launching chief for the Winona research laboratory of Minneapolis, which is conducting the experiment for the USAF, said the drop of the 2,000,000 - cubic-foot balloon would have a maximum altitude of 125,000 feet.

Wednesday, a balloon carrying three guinea pigs, 107 mice, tissue cultures and instruments was sent aloft and remained over the Fort Francies district during the entire flight. The gondola was spotted Thursday in forest wilderness 45 miles west of here. A helicopter arrived from Minneapolis to be used in the retrieving operations.

MUNI HAS TUMOR

NEW YORK (AP) — Four eye specialists said Thursday steps and screen star Paul Muni "must have has a tumor of the eye" and further tests must be made. The announcement added that Muni will not necessarily lose the sight of his eye but it is determined there is a tumor that must be operated upon. Muni, who will be 60 on Sept. 22, was forced to withdraw from the broadway hit "Inherit the Wind" on Tuesday.

ERYLSTONE

Last Open Air Concert Largely Attended

ERYLSTONE—The 9th and final open-air concert of the season at Crowe River Bridge, was held on Sunday night, with the largest crowd yet, in attendance. As it was the last of the series of concerts, it was a "Neighbors' Night", and the audience was favored with talent from most of the surrounding communities, as well as the Campbellford Citizens' Band. The scarlet and gold uniforms of the bandmen added a patch of color to the woodland scene. The microphone was set up on a flat rock, surrounded by evergreen trees, among which seats had been set up for the audience. Electric lights helped illuminate the grounds, and added a fairyland appearance to the rustic scene. Mrs. Don Kerr, convener for Community Activities, in the Rylstone Women's Institute, was master of ceremonies for the following program:

Selections by Campbellford Citizens' Band — "Invergargill"; "Largo", "Entry of the Gladiators," and "Valley in the Desert"; theme song, "Church in the Wildwood"; welcome from Mrs. Wilfred Spencer, Institute president, and Mr. H. Bourne, picnic grounds operator; vocal and guitar duet, "The Blood That Stained the Old Rugged Cross", and "When It's Round-up Time in Heaven," by Shirley and Marian Broadworth of Salem; male quartet, consisting of Jack Bush, Bryce Phillips, Grant Richardson and Harry Brown, all of Stirling "Whispering Hope," and "Church in the Wildwood", with Mrs. Glendenning at the organ; vocal solo, "Thirty Pieces of Silver" and "I Heard the Voice of Jesus" by Mrs. Don Stewart with Mrs. Ellis Jones at the organ; vocal solo, "Iris and Lilac", and "Spring," by Master Wayne Towns of Campbellford, with his mother playing the organ accompaniment; vocal duet, "God's Way is the Best Way," and "Step by Step He Will Lead Me", by Mr. and Mrs. George Watson, of Wellman's Corners, with Mrs. Watson Jr. playing accompaniment; vocal and electric guitar duet, "Just a Little Longer, Please Jesus," and "Take This Message to My Mother," by Lillian and Bill Toms, of Havelock; community singing led by Fred Petherick of Rylstone, "I Am Thine O Lord" and "Will Your Anchor Hold"; local duet, with organ accompaniment from Petherick's Corners, "Count Your Blessings", and "Life Is Like a Mountain Railroad," by three sisters, Mrs. Aylmer Petherick, Mrs. Maurice Brunton and Mrs. Walter Brunton accompanying on the organ; piano-accordion solo "The Sunshine of Your Smile" and "Abide With Me", by Gerald Taylor of Burnhrse; vocal solo, "The Day Thou Gavest, Lord is Ended", and "Abide With Me", by Peter Edwards of Campbellford, with Mrs. Ellis Jones supplying accompaniment on the organ; selections by Campbellford Citizens' Band, "Waldmere", "Perfect Day", "Faith of Our Fathers," "Breathe on Me Breath of God", "O Worship the King", and "God Save The Queen."

The program committee for the concerts is most grateful for all the fine talent that has been lent to make these concerts a success. Mrs. Don Kerr, Mrs Ernest Irwin and Mrs. Wilfred Spencer all voiced their thanks in a few words at the close of the program.

Egyptian Post in Gaza Strip Is Raided by Israeli Armor

CAIRO (AP) — An Israeli armored force attacked an Egyptian post in the northern area of the Gaza strip today, an official Egyptian spokesman said. He claimed 22 Israelis were believed killed and many others wounded, with no casualties reported among Egyptians.

The spokesman said the Israeli attack was led by four armored half-tracks—carriers with wheels in front and caterpillar tracks in the rear.

The spokesman said two of the vehicles were destroyed.

He said the Israeli force also attacked the refugee camp of Albreig, near Gaza, but retreated under heavy Egyptian fire. The exact change of fire lasted 70 minutes but no refugees were hurt, the spokesman added.

JERUSALEM (AP)—Heavy artillery firing along the northern end of the Gaza strip today sharply increased tension along the Israeli-Egyptian-Israel frontier.

An Israeli military spokesman said a big gun duel began this morning "after Egyptian outposts started shelling areas of Beeri and Nir Moshe-Israel settlements.

"Both settlements are near the Egyptian-held Gaza strip. Israel claimed Egyptian infiltrators dynamited a well in Yad Mordechai Thursday night.

The two-day lull had followed nine days of violence in the area in which the estimated casualties ranged as high as 61 dead and 80 wounded.

Israel announced Thursday that it would agree to a United Nations proposed cease-fire, provided "all attacks by Egyptians in whatever form will cease." Egypt had announced earlier that it would observe a cease-fire.

Postpone School Opening Owing To Polio Threat

BOSTON (AP) — More than 70 Massachusetts school committees faced with mounting parental anxiety over the polio situation, have postponed school opening dates despite state health officials' advice to the contrary.

School boards continue to hold emergency meetings, prompted not so much by fear that opening on time would help spread the disease but by growing pressure from parents.

Postponements vary from one to two weeks, and football scheduled in some communities have been set back several weeks.

Massachusetts has reported 2,274 cases of polio this summer, with 44—the lowest number in a month—listed Friday.

In Rhode Island and New Hampshire school opening dates have also been postponed.

Escapee Gets Rude Awakening

GUELPH (CP) — An escaped prisoner who fell asleep in an old car in an auto-wreckers yard was awakened Friday to find himself looking into a revolver.

Ernest Griffin, 20, of Toronto, who had walked away Wednesday from the machine shop at the Ontario reformatory where he was serving 18 months on a series of charges, was recaptured by Frank Dougal, assistant superintendent of the reformatory.

Dougal, on the hunt for three other escapees, spotted Griffin Thursday. He lost track of him in a bush about midnight, then found him in the wrecked car a few hours later.

Freshening southwesterly winds will continue to feed warm air into northern Ontario, whereas a southern Ontario will remain in the relatively cooler southeasterlies.

FRENCH EXPECTED TO ORDER SULTAN OFF HIS THRONE

Claim It Is Only Way To Settle Dispute

By CARL HARTMAN

RABAT, Morocco (AP)—French authorities are expected to issue a formal request this weekend to aged Sultan Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafa to step down from his pink-and-gold throne.

The 74-year-old ruler has held the largely ceremonial job since the French dethroned Sultan Mohammed Ben Youssef more than two years ago on the grounds that he abused his position to advance the cause of Moroccan nationalism.

Ben Youssef was exiled to Madagascar. The anniversary of his ouster touched off demonstrations two weeks ago resulting in bloody fighting which claimed the lives of 91 Europeans. This was followed by French punitive expeditions in which an estimated 1,000 Moroccans perished.

Officials said no announcement on Moulay Arafa's future could be made in advance of an interview today between Premier Edgar Pierre Boyer de Latour, the new French resident general.

FORMAL MEETING

The meeting, a brief meeting Thursday, but it was purely formal and informants said no business was discussed.

De Latour is believed to have orders from Paris to ask the sultan to leave "voluntarily."

The sultan's viziers of protocol, Abder Rahman el Jabouli, has said repeatedly that Moulay Arafa will not step down "under pressure." And he is supported in this by influential French colonists who fear the sultan's departure would open the door to a home-rule government dominated by Moroccan nationalists.

If the sultan declines to leave quietly, De Latour is expected to go to Paris and confer with the cabinet. The prime ministers would then have to decide what step to take next in the Moroccan situation.

It is reported the French government would offer a generous settlement to the sultan, his two sons and his family if he agrees to be faithful to him. This type of persuasion is being counted on to succeed.

The departure of the sultan would pave the way for a regency which the nationalists could support.

If the scheme works out before the Sept. 12 deadline set by the French, fearful transactions by nationalist extremists may be avoided. Both sides are always a possibility, however, since it is uncertain to what extent the French can control negotiating with the French control the extremists in their following.

Russians Buy Canadian Corn For Testing

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHATHAM (CP) — The touring Russian delegation today decided to buy 10 tons of Canadian corn seed for testing purposes in the Soviet.

Negotiations now are underway to buy the hybrid corn seed from the farm of E. M. Warwick, five miles south of here. The purchase price is about $2,500.

Mr. Warwick said in an interview that the negotiations took place Friday night following a visit to the farm by some of the other Russian farm experts.

He said they told him it was about the best kind of corn they have seen in North America.

The 10 tons will be enough to seed several thousand acres. Mr. Warwick said delivery will be made this fall.

Mounties Conduct Manhunt on Train In Search for Slayer of 5 Persons

REGINA (CP) — A transcontinental train rolling through the Rockies was the scene early today of a cross-by-car search for a man wanted for questioning in the slaying of five persons of a Saskatchewan farm family.

But as the Canadian Pacific Railway "Canadian" hurtled deep into British Columbia on its way to Vancouver, there were no reports to indicate that the bizarre manhunt had met with success.

RCMP said the wanted man, 35-year-old John Petlock, was believed to have gone aboard the train at the Rocky-mountain resort of Banff, Alta., after being interviewed on the tourist-crowded street by a pedestrian who matched him with a newspaper photograph.

"He put his face in a newspaper and ran," police were told by their informant.

There were no developments when the train stopped at Kamloops, B. C., shortly before 2 a. m. Pacific Time today but neither was there any indication that police had abandoned their belief that the man was aboard the train.

Kamloops is about 275 miles from Vancouver and the train was scheduled to reach its destination at 1:10 p. m. EDT.

Charges have been laid against Petlock but he is the last of five persons to be questioned in the slayings of the farm family.

The victims of the Saskatchewan farm near Fenwood, Sask., he has been hunted across western Canada.

Killed in the Fenwood massacre which apparently occurred Monday—were Michael Petlock, John's 56-year-old brother; their 50-year-old wife, Mary Petlock, 72; Michael's wife Angeline, 21, and their daughter Marie Ann, 3, Micaeline, 10 months.

RCMP said they have learned that a man identified as John Petlock bought a ticket from Regina to Moose Jaw, Sask., in a taxi and that once there he approached a group of men standing around a taxi stand and asked for a driver to take him to Saskatoon. That was Monday night.

Sweeping Liquor Law Reforms Recommended in Manitoba

WINNIPEG (CP)—Sweeping reform of Manitoba's liquor laws is permit cocktail bars and the sale of beer and wine in restaurants, on a local-option basis, is recommended in the report of the Bracken liquor inquiry commission released today by Premier Campbell.

At present there is no public sale of liquor or wine by the glass in Manitoba.

The report also recommended that beer parlors, beverage rooms, cabaret licences and the sale of liquor in dining rooms should be matters for local-option voting.

Beer parlors are the only ones established by local option under present laws. Both beer and wine are sold for home consumption through government stores in bottles of a 51 annual permit. Beer by the glass or bottle is served to mixed patronage in private clubs only.

The report recommended continuation of packaged sales be rejected.

Soviet Farmers May By-Pass Toronto to Avoid Trouble

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP)—The Soviet farm delegation may by-pass Toronto to avoid another anti-Red demonstration.

Federal officials are understood to be considering the possibility of delivering the Russians by plane from Nova Scotia to prevent another outburst such as those which took place at Montreal, Winnipeg and London, Ont.

From there they were to move to Toronto for a two-day stop, the first at the Canadian National Exhibition on Labor Day, followed by a tour of a Toronto farm machinery plant Tuesday.

However, federal officials concluded the best course concerned about a Toronto report that anti-Red groups are planning to stage demonstrations at the CNE on Labor Day and that they would not welcome outburst if at all possible.

A way out is the invitation from industrialist Cyrus Eaton to have the Russians visit his "thinkers' conference" at Pugwash, N.S.

Federal Works Minister Winters also has urged that the delegation be taken to the Maritime province.

Two problems face federal officials: that of getting government permission for plane transports from the east coast and the possibility that an announced diversion might cause the government some embarrassment. Officials are concerned over the thought that Canadians might feel they were afraid to face demonstrators.

The whole question of by-passing Toronto is in the hands of "higher authorities," one official disclosed.

The delegates had a pleasant day in this rich farming area Friday. They studied production techniques on the farm of Lawrence Kerr, two miles south of here, and corn-breeding and hog - raising methods on the farm of Kenneth Warwick, 10 miles farther south, near Ridgetown, Ont.

The Russians, it was learned, have told federal conducting officials they would like to leave Canada in that kind of cordial atmosphere.

They are scheduled to leave Canada Sept. 10 after a three-day wind-up study period in Ottawa. A big Soviet embassy reception is being planned for Sept. 9 at which Canadian officials who helped in the tour are to be invited. The Russians have said they will nobbler will happen before that date to the children on the farms as well as a number of farm hands.

However, police were still on guard. Sixty provincial and local officers guarded the hotel entrance and the Russians' private quarters, plainclothesmen were on guard at the two farms visited. They included a Russian-speaking lobby through the night.

Windsor Bus Strike Ended

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Windsor workers made ready to move toward long-vacated bus stops this morning, as the city's wildcat bus drivers' strike ended.

The 300 drivers, who left their jobs nine days ago after the company fired one of them, voted unanimously Friday night in favor of returning to work after an arbitration board ordered the company to reinstate the driver.

COOLIE CHARGED WITH SABOTAGE OF REDS' AIRLINER

Man Sought Has Since Fled to Formosa

By DAVID J. ROADS

HONG KONG (AP)—British police have issued a warrant for conspiracy charge against a Chinese in connection with the crash of an Indian airliner which carried eight Red Chinese officials to their death last April.

Sixteen persons perished when the plane plunged into the South China Sea April 11 while en route to the Asian-African conference at Bandung, Indonesia.

Police in this crown colony announced Friday night that the warrant had been issued, but said the man sought has since fled to the Chinese Nationalist island of Formosa. They have asked authorities there to return him to Hong Kong. No other details were disclosed.

WAS LAST STOP

The plane's last stop before it plunged into the sea was Hong Kong. Immediately following the crash, Red China charged that "secret agents" of the United States and Nationalist China had sabotaged the plane in an attempt to assassinate Premier Chou En-lai and other Communist Chinese delegates to the Asian - African meeting.

The U. S. rejected the charge, terming it "fantastic." Peiping accused Red China of seeking to make political capital out of the crash without waiting for a proper investigation.

Police identified the man named in the warrant as Chou Tse-ming, 34, who had worked as a cook and cleaning airliners stopping in Hong Kong.

CLAIM NEGLIGENCE

Aboard the crashed plane were eight members of Red China's delegation to the Bandung conference. Three of the 19 persons on the plane were Indian newspapermen and an Air India ground engineer travelling as a passenger—not involved.

At the time of the crash Red China radio also charged that the "plane disaster" was "the result of gross negligence by the British authorities in Hong Kong of the criminal activities of U. S. Chiang Kai-shek agents." It is believed the Hong Kong officials had failed to keep adequate guard on the plane so that no saboteur might be made to sabotage the plane here.

On May 27 the Hong Kong government announced that an Indonesian inquiry committee had "established that an explosion in the wing" of the airliner "was the sabotage." The investigation was carried out by Indonesia because the plane crashed in that area. The statement said it seemed "probable" that the explosive device was placed in the aircraft at Hong Kong."

Becomes Canadian For Second Time

KITCHENER (CP)—Gordon Hall Thursday night became a Canadian for the second time.

Born in Perth, Ont., he was transferred in 1906 from Montreal to Buffalo by the Bank of Montreal and became a United States citizen in the next year.

In 1926 he came to manage the B.F. Goodrich Rubber Company of Canada's office here.

His wife—U.S.-born—also became a Canadian Thursday night.

NATURALIST DIES

WADHURST, Eng. (AP) — Lord Courthope, former member of Parliament and a naturalist, died at his home here Friday night. He was 78. As a result of his 21 years work with the forestry commission he was known as Britain's No. 1 forester.

St. Laurent Tells Lawyers Govts. Need More Powers

Citizens Demanding More Services Reason Given

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent told the Canadian Bar Association's annual meeting Friday night that governments need increased powers because citizens are demanding more services.

There is a general tendency on the part of the citizens in all societies similar to ours to expect more and more of their governments," he told a formal dinner meeting.

"If those demands are to be met governments have to be endowed with the necessary powers and financial means to make that possible."

Commenting on a CBA section's motion criticizing the federal immigration department as holding undue powers, the prime minister said "we in the government have often been accused, of concentrating power in our hands."

SERVICES INCREASE

There was no desire — "especially when they are in the opposition" — he felt it was the government's duty to curb any tendency toward centralization. But governments today were increasingly under pressure to increase services in the national interest.

He made the remarks while presenting, on behalf of the CBA, the association's membership to Lord Justice Sir Alfred Thompson Denning, of the English Court of Appeal. He made the presentation in his capacity as honorary life president of the CBA.

Lord Justice Denning told the meeting a lawyer must never oppress or distort the truth.

Some judges, he said, how, with the standard before him, a lawyer could urge a jury to find a verdict against him he must know the man is guilty.

JURY IS JUDGE

"The answer to that question is that the barrister is not to set himself up as judge of his client's case," said Sir Alfred. "No barrister who improbable or incredible. It may even be impossible to see for his client's case to succeed, he must put it before the jury for them to judge.

"The limit is only reached when a barrister knows, by the man's own admission to him, that he is guilty." A lawyer may know the facts before a trial started should withdraw from the case.

Retiring secretary of the association held meetings Friday.

Judge Denning members suggested a Canada-wide system of examinations that would qualify lawyers to practise in any province, but their idea got a hostile reception from a senior member of the bar.

FEARS UNIFORMITY

Professor Frank H. Bilner of the University of Toronto, law school said he was against such an idea. Canada is a nation would bring a uniformity in law training that might "congeal" legal education.

Toronto lawyer S. C. French told the meeting that there were only two provincial governments should be liable to being sued as freely as the federal.

There now are varying types of legislation governing when and especially—on how persons or companies may sue governments.

The federal government can be sued freely in some types of damage actions—such as those arising as negligence of government employees. But in other cases where it is needed to sue in cases where contracts between the crown and private interests are involved.

QUARREL FATAL

UDINE, Italy (AP) — Arturo Pecile, 55, was shot dead and his wife was wounded Friday by an angered neighbor. Police said Bernardino Galvagno, 75, fired the fatal shots following an argument with Pecile over the feed door of their apartment house.

Price-Fixing In London Area Charged

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Retail Gasoline Association has wired a federal government committee investigating charges the Mac-Coil-Frontenac Oil Company in the London area with attempted price fixing.

Douglas J. Fletcher, secretary of the association, said in a wire to T. D. MacDonald, federal director of combines investigation and research, that McColl representatives used coercion in an attempt to force service station operators to sell at a single price. Mr. Fletcher said letters sent by McColl to declined to comment on the charge.

The Telegram said operators refusing to set the right price were threatened with cancellation of rental stations. It also said the company had offered to reduce prices in return for lower prices.

Mr. Fletcher said he has "stacks and stacks" of revolting letters from area operators who have been threatened with eviction.

HAT COSTS LIFE

BATAVIA, N. Y. (AP) — John Ryan's hat cost him his life here Friday. Police said Ryan, 60, was riding in the back of a truck when his hat blew off. He signaled the driver to stop and jumped out. Ryan could run back to get his hat but was struck by a car and hit by another truck and fatally injured.

By-Election In Toronto Spadina On October 24

OTTAWA (CP)—A by-election in Toronto Spadina will be held Oct. 24, a spokesman for the prime minister's office announced Friday.

Nomination will be held to fill the Commons vacancy caused by the appointment of David Croll, Liberal, December, to the Senate last July 22. Mr. Croll represented the constituency 10 years.

Four by - elections have been called for Sept. 26 in Quebec South, Temiscouata, Bellechasse and Rertigouche-Madawaska. No Toronto-election date has been set for the remaining vacancy, St. Johns-Iberville-Napierville, caused by the death of Postmaster-General Cote last Aug. 7.

In the 1953 general election, Mr. Croll received more than twice as many votes as his three opponents. He polled 15,496 votes, compared with 6,554 for Averell Robinson, Progressive Conservative, 3,270 for Elgin Blair, CC, and 1,938 for Jonhan Gershman, labor-Progressive.

Present House of Commons standing: Liberal, 168; Progressive Conservative, 51; CCF, 23; Social Credit, 15; Independent, four; vacant, six. Total—263.

'Topsy' and 'Annie' Can Read People's Brains, May Help Marriages

BRISTOL, England (Reuters)—A British scientist revealed Friday that twin machines called "Topsy" and "Annie" can read people's brains in a way to indicate whether marriage partners will make a go of it, or businessmen can work together in a partnership.

Topsy, which looks like a hairdrying gadget, extracts a brainwave pattern from the subject's head. Annie, standing alongside, registers the waves as they show up in 24 cathode ray tubes and analyzes them.

Dr. W. Gray Walter, director of the Bristol neurological institute, told delegates to a meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science that the machines are a development of the electric Topsy is short for toposcope and Annie for wave analyzer.

He said the tests have exposed "things people who can get on together socially, would not criticize one another, and would criticize the same mistakes. He added that the institute did not plan to use Topsy as a kind of marriage guidance setup."

Getting Ready For Duck Season Opening Sept. 17

In the first cool days of September a man's fancy turns to thoughts of . . . hunting. Ducks, that is. As the opening date quickly approaches, the zealous hunters can be seen hauling their equipment out of dark corners where it has been stored all year, polishing their guns and patting their retrievers. The afternoon of this rather large group of sportsminded individuals is comparable to that of a wide-eyed youngster the night before Santa's arrival.

The duck hunting season in this central area will open Sept. 17 and will run until December 15. In the northern district, the ducks will have to be on the look - out for hunters between September 15 and December 15. The southern area, which includes western Ontario, opens the season October 1 and has the same closing date as the other districts.

The daily bag limit in the province is eight ducks.

Young Liberals To Hear Address By Lester Pearson

"An analysis of provincial policy, platform and leadership and their relation to the June 9th election defeat," is theme of this year's Ontario Young Liberal Association summer conference being held at Sandy Beach resort in the 1000 Islands.

Young Liberals from all parts of the province will gather at the resort, 12 miles east of Kingston, Sept. 9th and 10th to discuss ways and means of improving Liberal party fortunes in Ontario and to hear an address on foreign affairs by Hon. Lester B. Pearson, minister of External Affairs.

Prof. T. Bartlett, director of the School of Physical and Health Education at Queen's University, and chairman of the Kingston public school board, will speak on Friday afternoon on the general subject "Education in Ontario". On Friday evening, Arnold Edinborough, former professor of English at Queen's will speak on "The Future of the Ontario Liberal Party".

Saturday morning, David O'Hearn, a member of the provincial legislative press gallery for 12 years, will give his "Analysis of the Ontario Election."

FORUM ON ELECTION

One of the highlights of Saturday morning's meeting will be a forum on the election with candidates, successful and unsuccessful, analyzing party, policy and leadership as they found them. Taking part in the forum are: Robert Hay, Kingston; Ross Whitney, MLA for Bruce, and Mayor of Wiarton; John Winterbottom, MLA of Waterloo North; Jim Scott, candidate in Huron, and part-time lecturer in University of Western Ontario in English and writing; and Jim Renwick, candidate in Toronto Parkdale.

Farquhar Oliver will address the conference Saturday morning following the forum.

Arthur R. M. Lower, professor of history at Queen's, will give a "Critical Analysis of Canada's Foreign Policy" at a luncheon Saturday noon followed Saturday evening by Hon. L. B. Pearson's talk on external affairs.

Saturday afternoon provincial delegates will hold their association's annual meeting and election of officers. Resolutions on policy, leadership and platform will be presented.

Social side of the conference will include a cruise through the 1000 Islands Friday evening, followed by a beach bonfire. Saturday's program calls for a dance following Mr. Pearson's session-closing address.

John Clifford of Belleville, president of the Central Ontario Young Liberal Association, is conference chairman. Others on the committee are James D. Service and Douglas Thomas of Toronto; Dr. Boyd Upper of Belleville; Alice Edwards of Kingston and Gordon Dryden of Toronto, president of the Ontario Young Liberals Association.

Wellington Man Hurt in Crash Near Newcastle

NEWCASTLE, Ont. (CP)—Seven persons were injured, three seriously, Friday night in a crash involving three cars and a truck.

Seriously injured were Joseph Vejlaware, 31, of Toronto, internal chest injuries and concussion; Gerald Stone, 39, of Wellington, Ont., face and arm burns; and John Lloyd of Hamilton, severe shock.

Police said the truck hit the rear of one of the cars, touching off a chain reaction in which the three cars were damaged. The truck overturned in a ditch.

Trade held to a brisk pace on the local market with supplies adequate. Produce continued in abundant supply and while variety while there was little change in prices.

Tomatoes, a heavy offering, continued to sell at 25 cents per six-quart basket, while corn was 35-40 cents a dozen. Cabbage was 10-25 cents a head, while red cabbage was 20-25 cents a head. Lettuce was 10 cents a head. Cucumbers were in lighter supply with gherkins bringing between 60 cents and $1 a basket, dills from 75 cents and slicers a nickel apiece. Marrows were 15-25 cents each. Spanish onions continued at 10 cents each while green onions were 10 cents a bunch. Beans were 20 cents a quart and broccoli 15 cents a bunch. Higher offering, with egg plants at 15-20 cents and pepper squash at 10 cents. Cauliflowers were 25-35 cents while celery brought 10-20 cents a head, carrots were 10 cents a bunch, three for 25 cents, with baskets at 60 cents. Potatoes were 50 cents a basket, $3 a hamper.

Apples were a varied offering with Wealthies at 75 cents per basket, Melbas 50 cents and McIntosh 65 cents, while Virginia and Duchess were 50 cents a basket. Crabapples continued at 75 cents. Peaches again were in heavy offering, selling at 70-80 cents a basket, while grapes were 10 cents. Plums ranged from 50-85 cents; green gages were 75 cents a basket, while blueberries were 20 cents a quart. Clapp's Favorite pears were 75 cents a basket while pickers, in heavy supply, brought 20-90 cents and canteloupes 10-50 cents.

Eggs were steady at 70 cents for extra large grade, 65 cents for large, 55 cents for mediums and 45 cents for pullets' eggs Poultry prices continued at 35 cents a pound for fowl, 55 cents for spring chickens.

3 Airmen Hurt In 4-Car Crash Near Shannonville

Two airmen from the RCAF station at Clinton received critical head injuries and a third airman was hurt in a four-car accident near Shannonville early today.

Provincial Police said that Jean Claude Roberts, 19, and Claude Potvin, 18, suffered severe head injuries, while Wilfred Collins, 21, driver of the car in which they were riding, suffered head lacerations. All are in critical condition in the Belleville General Hospital.

Two passengers were taken to Belleville and the other from Deseronto, took the injured to hospital. Dr. C. R. McVicar, of Deseronto, attended the injured.

The accident occurred a mile west of Shannonville as the eastbound Collins auto swung out to pass another vehicle. It attempted to get back into line because of approaching traffic. To avoid cars ahead, which were stopped on the highway, Collins ditched his car on the south side of the road, crashed through a wire fence and struck a tree.

EXTENSIVE DAMAGE

Extensive property damage was caused the three other cars involved when No. 4 car driven by George Crocker, Dundas St., East, Belleville, plunged into the rear of No. 3 car which was stopped on the highway and driven by Earl Maracle of Shannonville. Maracle car in turn bumped the car ahead which was driven by Joe VanPoele of New Toronto.

Damage to the front of Crocker car amounted to about $600.

Owen Sound Man Is Held After Indian Stabbed

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Lloyd Nashawa, 24, of Owen Sound, was arrested early today in connection with the stabbing death of an unidentified transient fruit picker.

The victim, an Indian, was found on a side road at nearby Jordan. A 10-inch butcher knife was found near his body.

Police said the victim was employed on the farm of H. B. Dougan, who called police when he heard screams coming from the clapboard bunk house where the picker was living.

Mr. Dougan told police he thought he heard men fighting.

Police are in roadblocks throughout the Niagara peninsula and picked up Nashawa about four hours later.

Two Men Killed When Fog Hides Crossing Signal

PEMBROKE (CP) — Two men were killed early today when their car was hit broadside by the locomotive of CPR passenger train at foggy Meath crossing, 10 miles east of here.

The two men had not been identified by late morning.

One of them was burned beyond recognition when the car caught fire as it was knocked across a bridge spanning the railway track and dumped at the edge of a swamp 700 feet past the crossing.

The body of the other man was thrown clear. It was found about 300 feet from the crossing.

Patches of early morning ground fog were believed responsible for the accident. Ordinarily the wigwag signal at the crossing is visible some 500 feet from the crossing.

The front of the locomotive was so badly damaged it had to be replaced at Chalk River, 20 miles west of here, for the rest of its trip to Sudbury.

Audubon Soc. Starts New Radio Program

Audubon Society of Canada headquarters have presented a new radio program which will be aired by CBC, Thursday, September at 4:05 p.m. Title of the program is "Audubon Outdoors."

A new type of natural history program, "Audubon Outdoors" provides the listening public with news of natural history and conservation, intimate, revealing backstage stories of rare and familiar animals of all kinds and bird recordings. The program will be conducted by Mr. John A. Livingston, Executive Secretary of the Audubon Society of Canada. Mr. Livingston states the program is designed for the benefit of those people who either for lack of opportunity or by choice, prefer to nature may be unaware of the role the natural world plays every day in human experience in man's progress.

The first program, September 8, will deal with the story of the wild turkey in Ontario, a discussion of the natural conditions and their effect on wildlife, and a summary of what might be to be looked for the ensuing week in the southern Ontario area. The program of September 11 will be an exciting, factual account of the changing crane, rarest Canadian bird. Featured will be an authentic soundtrack of the whooping crane, one of the most difficult to obtain of wildlife recordings. There might be further tips on the fall bird migration, and an analysis of the changing face of Canada which led to the decimation of the whooping crane.

Fine Weather For Holiday

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario will have fine weather for the holiday weekend with warmer temperatures in the southern districts and generally good to excellent weather office forecast today.

The holiday weekend began with pleasant weather extending from coast to coast across the southern half of Canada.

Southwesterly winds will continue in northern Ontario where temperatures Sunday will reach the mid 80s with showers in the southern Ontario's high 70's.

Showers are also expected for some low-lying areas, normal for this time of year, the weather office said.

EXPLOSION KILLS TWO

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico (AP) — Two men were killed and three others are missing after an explosion, caused by escaping gas, wrecked the newspaper La Tribuna Friday.

Two Men Killed In Car Accident

EDMONTON (CP) — Premier Manning's role in an exchange of ministers on a farm he owned will be one of the points investigated by a commission appointed by the Alberta government.

Mr. Manning announced at a press conference Friday the terms of reference given the commission. It will investigate opposition charges of maladministration in the provincial government.

In the campaign that preceded the June 29 provincial election—in which Social Credit was returned with a reduced majority—opposition speakers contended that Mr. Manning made a profit on the mineral-right exchange. The premier denied the charge.

The five-man commission, expected to open hearings later this month, is headed by Mr. Justice Hugh John Macdonald of the Alberta Supreme Court.

Other main points which the commission is empowered to investigate are:

1. The method of calling for tenders and awarding of construction contracts; and whether a former cabinet minister or any relatives had a financial interest in the company which manufactured building blocks and other material used by the department of public works.

2. The method of calling for tenders for the handling of certain real estate and whether any cabinet minister or member of the civil service made any personal gain from such deals.

3. Methods of calling for tenders and awarding of highway contracts and the location of highways and whether preference was shown by awarding of contracts to persons who bankrolled Social Credit and borrowed from provincial treasury branches.

4. The procedure followed by the treasury branches in making loans and "particular the manner of loans by the treasury branches to members of the legislature and whether any loss was sustained by the treasury branches by reason of such loans."

The treasury branches are provincially operated banking institutions.

Mineral Rights Deal by Manning Will Be Probed

Several Traffic Accidents Occur

Provincial and city police were keeping their fingers crossed today hoping that the number of accidents occurring in the Belleville district Friday night was not a forerunner of what might happen during the entire Labor Day weekend.

Two airmen were seriously injured near Shannonville when the car in which they were riding went into the ditch and struck a tree. Four cars were involved in the accident.

West of the city near the Golf Club a rear-end smash caused damage amounting to $500 to two vehicles. One driven by Mrs. Stefanyshyn, Toronto, rammed the back of another driven by Edgar E. Lewis, R.R. 5, Belleville.

Provincial police investigated several minor motor accidents, one of which saw a car cut off at Dundas Bridge and Front street section by a highway transport making a right-hand turn. Bernard Jacques, Windsor, pulled up alongside a Smith transport which made the turn and crowded him against the curb.

This morning Gibson Hudgin, 70, riding a bicycle on Pinnacle Street, was knocked from his bicycle when he attempted to make a left turn he collided with a car driven by Mrs. Ethel M. Perlamen. Hudgin escaped injury but his bicycle was damaged.

Drop Suggestion Illness Sinners Punishment

By DAVID GANCIA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP) — Suggestion that illness is a visitation of God punishing sinners is discarded in proposed revisions to the Anglican prayer book.

The 19th triennial session of the general synod of the Anglican Church of Canada was told Friday night that in the new revision sickness is considered a visitation of "the evil one, rather than the wrath of God."

Very Rev. C. E. Riley of Toronto, a member of the committee set up to revise the book, said the change in the ministry to the sick is "intended to bring encouragement and help and to assist in effecting a cure of the sufferer."

The synod, after hearing a brief report of the committee on revision of the book earlier in the day, went into committee of the whole to discuss changes and hear objections and suggestions of further changes.

If the synod accepts the draft, a motion will be brought before both houses to allow its "permissive use" immediately. However, before it can be used in any church the bishop of the diocese must give his approval.

Scarboro Mother, Ex-Airwoman, Foils Strangler

TORONTO (CP)—A young Scarboro mother fought off an assailant early today and police said she "saved her and herself from being strangled."

Mrs. Mark Georgina Hendry, 33, was waking to work, a heavily built man, "his eyes popping," jumped at her from a doorway. He threw her to the pavement, grabbed her around the throat and squeezed.

Remembering training she had received in the air force, Mrs. Hendry clawed and kicked. She tore half the man's shirt from his back and kicked with her heavy walking shoes. One blow caused the strangler to release his hold, another sent him running down the street screaming with pain.

Mrs. Hendry, mother of a young girl, told police the man, about 40, appeared insane.

Jamboree Visited

By NANCY CLEAVER

"We wouldn't have missed the Jamboree for anything! This is an experience we'll never forget!" the leader of Trinidad Scout Contingent of Nigara-on-the-Lake exclaimed. We agreed with him, and we were sure that the 11,000 Scouts and Scout Masters and the thousands of other visitors would echo his words.

Wherever we went, as a press representative, we were welcomed with a friendliness and courtesy which was refreshing. This Trinidad leader showed us with real pride his country's neatly-arranged display on a sturdy bamboo table of products and articles from his native land, bamboo flower pots, mahogany book-ends, red dye, sugar cane, cocoa mats, limes.

"Our people all kinds of gadgets from bamboo. Large shelters are constructed very quickly with bamboo and thatched with large palm leaves," he explained. Four boys showed us their three fine drums made from large oil drums and the two round "shack-shacks" made from a calibash gourd, filled with seeds to make a rattling sound. They beat their tin drums with just as much skill and vigor as the African boys beat their drums of hide stretched tightly over a hollow tree stump.

MANY DISPLAYS

We saw many fascinating displays in the sub camps. In the British Guiana section a very tall leader with a marvellous physique explained to us their motto, "Dans to Peliminque Vicisim" — "We give and seek in return." We thought what fun the boys from 66 different lands were having bartering souvenirs and how helpful would be the interchange of ideas about Scout programs.

A gifted painter, E.R. Burrows, in British Guiana, has taught the Scouts are keen about art. We saw several of his pictures and scenes by Scouts too, including one of the Jamboree fails on their island with a lone figure fishing with bow-spear outside.

It was significant to find that the Israeli delegation included seven Jewish boys and two Arabs. One Arab was a Moslem and the other a Christian. When we asked the leader how they all got along together on their 17-day boat trip and their six-week tour in U.S. and Canada, he replied: "Fine. They are brother Scouts."

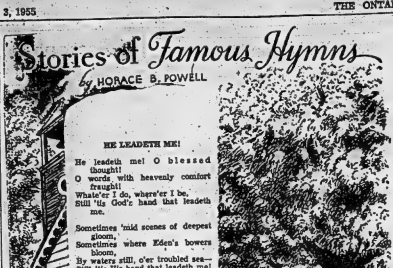
The Chinese Scouts were from Formosa and their leader admitted sadly that no scouting is allowed on the other side of the Iron Curtain, but the membership on their island had grown to six thousand. We met a Korean Scout and one from Cambodia. The latter used an English interpreter (after our halting French and "sign language" didn't prove understandable!).

LANGUAGE NO TROBLE

The language barrier didn't appear to trouble the Scouts in their efforts to communicate with each other. One of the amusing groups we saw had six or six nationalities represented. An energetic American boy was organizing them into two baseball teams.

France sent a delegation of handicapped lads who had to use wheel chairs and we saw them bowling on Indycraft-under the big elm trees. The group of blind Scouts, also from France, were cleaning up after their noon meal when we had the privilege of watching them. It was a moving sight to see how well they managed and how they helped each other.

One of the smartest groups marching across the big campus were made up of the lads from Pakistan with their green and white flag and their brown fezzes. The Italians dressed in their native costumes for their folk dance on the evening program were striking. The Scouts from Sweden, Norway, Finland and Denmark combined to present a very colorful number which included boys blowing haunting music on two very ancient models of Viking horns.



The Canadian, American, United Kingdom and French delegations were among the largest, and these boys were scattered throughout the ten camps. We saw the French contribution to the evening program. It was a most spectacular and original one showing the, way-like spirit of ancient Gauls finding expression in modern times in sport, "because man finally understood it was silly to fight."

We felt that the spirit of brotherhood between individuals of different races and creeds, which is so apparent at a Jamboree, be caught by the whole world . . . so that the generation of youth represented at Niagra-on-the-Lake shall be free to live out their lives in peace . . . .

REMOVE HAZARD

ORILLIA (CP) — Work started this week on a new entrance to Orillia from the north end of the present bypass. The project will remove a traffic hazard which has worried Orillians since the opening of the bypass last summer. Until now, southbound traffic wishing to enter Orillia has had to cut across the northbound traffic lane and several accidents have resulted.

HE LEADETH ME!

He leadeth me! O blessed thought!
O words with heavenly comfort fraught!
Whate'er I do, where'er I be,
Still 'tis God's hand that leadeth me.

Sometimes 'mid scenes of deepest gloom,
Sometimes where Eden's bowers bloom,
By waters still, o'er troubled seas,
'Tis still His hand that leadeth me!

Lord, I would clasp Thy hand in mine,
Nor ever murmur or repine,
Content, whatever lot I see,
Since 'tis my God that leadeth me!

And when my task on earth is done,
When, by Thy grace, the victory's won,
E'en death's cold wave I will not flee,
Since God through Jordan leadeth me.

He leadeth me, He leadeth me,
By His own hand He leadeth me;
His faithful follower I would be,
For by His hand He leadeth me.

"The Lord is my Shepherd; I shall not want, He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: He leadeth me . . . .

One night, in Philadelphia, a little band of worshippers met for a mid-week prayer service in the First Baptist Church. The Twenty-third Psalm was the prayer theme and the meeting centered about a devotional address given by the Rev. J.H. Gilmore.

After the service, in "Deacon Watson's parlor", the pastor and several of the others continued the discussion. It was in that cottage meeting that the hymn, "He Leadeth Me", was born. Mr. Gilmore himself described the composition as follows:

"During the conversation, the blessedness of God's leadership so grew upon me that I took out my pencil, wrote the hymn as it stands today, handed it to my wife, and thought no more about it. She sent it, without my knowledge, to the Watchman and Reflector. Three years later I went to Rochester to preach for the Second Baptist Church. Entering the chapel, I picked up a hymn book, thinking I wonder what they give over here." The book opened to 'He Leadeth Me.' That was the first time I knew that my hymn had found a place among the song of the church".

This happened exactly as he predicted. The Israelites passed over the river bed on the 'dry ground' which appeared miraculously. When all the nation had crossed over, God told this leader to direct the twelve chosen men from each tribe: "Take you twelve stones from here out of the midst of the Jordan, from the very place where the priests' feet stood. Carry them over with you and lay them down in the place where you sleep to-night."

The men did as they were commanded. This leader then explained: "Take up each of you a stone from his shoulder, that this may be a sign among you. When your children ask, in time to come, "What do these stones mean to you?" then you shall tell them, the waters of the Jordan were cut off before the Ark of the Covenant of the Lord, so that it could pass over the river on dry ground.

All Israel followed the Ark. These stones would be a memorial forever." Find this leader's name and read this story in Chapters 3 and 4 of Joshua.

A Lift For Living
Duties and Desires

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

Make a mental list of what you consider your duties. Alongside these, place a list of what you count your pleasures. Then see how closely they parallel. How many of our duties do we really enjoy doing?

Take, for instance, the simple matter of kindness, which is perhaps the most basic duty of human nature. Do we always take delight in being kind, or do we often get satisfaction in the cutting remark and the cruel little acts of getting even? Or consider generosity, which I suppose we would also admit to be a duty. Yet which do we enjoy, giving as much as we can, or getting as much as we can?

Or how is it in our reading of the Bible? We who lay claim to the name of Christian have been taught that it is our duty to read the Holy Scriptures. But the great authority of us scarcely show that we turn to the Bible with relish and pleasure.

Roughly speaking, there are three attitudes toward duty. There is, first of all, the dislike of duty and the refusal to do it. We disregard the call of conscience. We kick over the traces of conventions, cut loose from moral obligations. And so as we like regardless of the haunting inner voice which whispers, "you ought." But such seeming freedom is very misleading. The gay adventurer, who starts out dodging the strait gate and the narrow way of disciplined duty, ends up a moral vagabond, begging the morsels of satisfaction for his hungry soul from the back doors of life!

WRINKLED SMILE

The second attitude toward duty is to dislike it and yet do it. We accept certain obligations as a discipline to be taken, necessary, but unpleasant. We "grin and bear it," as we say, but our smile is mirthless. We drag our steps toward duties. With the unwilling air of a schoolboy who trudges toward his classes while he sees his classmates heading for the ball field. In such a mood we may win through, but we make a struggle a dour affair. Such a spirit of duty-doing is reserved for the little girl's prayer, "O Lord, make all the bad people good, and make all the good people glad."

The third attitude toward duty is that of enjoying and doing of it. Those who have this attitude, face up to their moral responsibilities, however exacting, and find in the struggle the exhilaration shown by Horace Bushnell, the great preacher of Hartford whose pulpit was a beacon light to all America. He seemed so to enjoy his Christian duties that it was said, "even his dying was play to him." Such persons do not give the impression of being moral acrobats, tensely trying to walk the taut line of the Ten Commandments without falling off, but rather of being moral athletes, carrying their virtues with such an easy grace and surplus strength that they make goodness seem attractive to others.

It is duty done in the last fashion which is effective. Only when we enjoy doing the good deed, does our deed do much good. If a friend, who comes to see us, is ill in our illness, drops a hint of the pleasure he is foregoing elsewhere, he spoils the flavor of his visit. If the teacher does not enjoy her work with the children, she is not likely to inspire her pupils. It is radiant goodness which gives the contagious glow.

DELIGHTS IN DUTY

In fact, it is only this joyous duty-doing which deserves the name of Christian. The Hebrew Psalmist described the godly man as one who "delighteth in the law of the Lord." And the Master so enjoyed the performance of His duties that He forgot at times the hours of His meals. On one occasion, when His disciples found Him carrying on His work through the dinner hour, explained that "my meat is to do the will of Him that sent me." He would rather eat than cease doing that eat.

But how can we learn to like our duties? Here are three basic rules.

First, set your will in motion toward your duty. Sometimes it takes only a heave of will power to get going, just as a locomotive must use a great deal of steam to get a train upgrade.

Second, use your imagination. As St. Paul said, think on "whatever is honorable," or picture yourself in your mind pulling you toward it.

Third, keep practicing. The little girl may not like her finger exercises, but if she keeps on, she will get her.

It may hurt to give the first dollar. But those who have learn that "it is more blessed to give than to receive."

Bulletins from Birdland

FAMILY CARES

Unlike the male hummingbird, Mr. Brown Thrasher is a good husband. Fortunately, he was quite willing to help his wife with the housekeeping and the children in the extremely hot weather, when they were nestlings.

Each day for many hours one parent needed to be on duty shielding them form the burning sun, yet food had to be supplied. There were five of them, all clamoring to be fed. Such quantities of insects were necessary to satisy the young appetites! Mother and father were a very busy pair.

As an adult Thrasher is an inch and a half longer than a robin, the nest had to be really large. It had been built on a very low branch of a thick alder bush, and looked remarkable like a group of various sized kitchen bowls set on end by the other.

The outside layer was made of coarse twigs. Within that came a layer of leaves. Next were small twigs and stems and the babies rested on a lining of fine rootlets. Early in the season a canopy of branches completely covered the big home, but intense heat and a lack of rain shrivelled the green leaves, so that the hot sun shone relentlessly on the occupants. When mother went marketing, father spread his red-brown double-barred wings over his family, and sat still.

PANTS OPEN-MOUTHED

As birds have no glands to send out perspiration in the way we cool our skin, they pant with mouths open.

Father Thrasher had little time for singing. However, on the early morning before the sun grew hot, and again at twilight, he perched in a tree top and gave his brilliant song, meanwhile "thrashing" his beautiful tail. Now and then two fierce, or four-note phrase he repeated. Then he began to listen to other kinds of birds, and did it very well.

When a crow or a hawk came near the nest, both parents fearlessly flew at the big bird, fighting with their long, curved bills. It was impossible for anyone to get near enough to see the nestlings properly. A stab in an eye would be just too bad.

By the time the children could fend for themselves, their parents were incubating five more eggs.

For some years brown thrashers were not very common in most parts of Canada. They still shun our Atlantic coast, but recently have been invading some of our provinces in greater numbers, particularly Quebec. Perhaps they enjoy hot summers.

Who Was This?

By A. A. M.

What was the name of the leader of the people of Israel, who after the death of Moses, led the wanderings in the desert after their escape from Egypt, became their commander? He directed the Israelites when they reached the river Jordan, "Sanctify yourselves, for tomorrow the Lord will do wonders among you." To the priests he gave this order: "Take up the Ark of the Covenant and pass on before the people."

The Lord then said to this leader, "This day will I begin to exalt you in the sight of all Israel. Then they will know that, as I was with Moses, so I am with you."

The people, old and young were assembled on the banks of the Jordan. This leader asked them to choose twelve men, one from each of the twelve tribes. Then the leader announced: "When the soles of the feet of the priests who carry the Ark of the Lord, shall rest in the river, then shall the water be stopped from flowing."

THE CCF AND ITS QUEBEC NAME

The Co-operative Commonwealth Federation in Quebec has changed its name to the Social Democratic party and the Ottawa Journal is displeased.

The change was explained by the party "as a device for meeting the requirements of the peculiar political situation in Quebec." The Journal interprets this as an effort to disguise the party's real political creed. Lack of public support, it says, had left the party leaders with two alternatives. "They could abandon socialism, but there would have been left no excuse for continued existence as a party." Or they could keep socialism and change the party name in the hope that the voters would be induced to think social democracy, whatever it may mean, was something new and different and infinitely desirable."

That may be the true purpose of the change. But if it is, surely a mistake was made in the choice of a new name. It is indeed rather difficult, as the Journal indicates, to define exactly what social democracy is, just as difficult in fact as to define liberalism, or conservatism. But there are many Social Democratic parties in countries throughout the globe, parties with polices akin, in many ways, to those of the CCF. The term Social Democratic party would, we should imagine, carry a clearer implication of the party's policies than the three letters CCF, confusing enough to many English-speaking voters, who cannot recall the English words for which the letters stand, and surely absolutely meaningless to those whose tongue is French and who would not understand the phrase Co-operative Commonwealth Federation if it were spelled out.

GO TO HALIFAX

"Go to Halifax" is—or was—an euphemism used in Britain when one wanted to consign a person to a destination in the same alphabetical classification. Probably Halifax, the British city, and not Nova Scotia's capital was the definition then in mind when one mentioned Halifax one thought of the Nova Scotia variety.

All that seems to have been changed by the Halifax, boss, board of school commissioners.

Clothed in authority, perhaps for the first time in their lives, these estimable citizens have decided that the younger generation should also present a dignified appearance when entering the sacred halls of learning. So out has gone an edict banning slacks and jeans for girls and requiring collars, ties and jackets for boys.

If there was one breed by Nature for summer's heat wave in Ontario, it was the increasing tendency of the male of the species to dress informally, having regard not to conventions but only to comfort. The tie took quite a beating around the Belleville district during the past two months. Now here is the august Halifax board of school commissioners restoring it to that place of veneration which it never deserved.

"Go to school in Halifax" shall henceforth be one of our pet phrases when peeved.

SWIM SAFETY QUESTIONS

Harry Price, CNE sports committee chairman, says the committee is "leaning over backward to stress safety" in the swimming events at the CNE.

Leaning over backward is always a dangerous procedure.

"If there is one particle of doubt about weather, the swim will be postponed," says Mr. Price.

When has there been a time when there was not a doubt about the weather?

Mr. Price added that plans for the cross-lake swim have not changed a particle since they were laid down last February.

Are we to understand from that statement that, as far back as February, the CNE sports committee was leaning over backward to stress safety? If so, how does it happen that we have heard about this before a mid-August storm in Lake Ontario swamped two press boats accompanying swimmers trying to cross the lake?

ARMY PUBLIC RELATIONS PROBLEM

An Army press release, telling of a 45-mile route march in blazing heat by 200 cadets, has aroused the ire of the Winnipeg Tribune.

"If the boys had been forced to make a march of this kind by hostile forces, it would almost certainly have been labelled an 'atrocity,'" declares the Tribune.

The general indignation of the Tribune over "this hare-brained march" is an indication of that paper's deep concern with public affairs.

Only a deep sense of perversity in our make-up can account for the fact that, in this office, the story was the occasion not for ire but grim amusement at the thought of the Army public relations officer being asked to explain how a press release quoted by the Tribune can be said to have won friends and influenced people in favor of the Army.

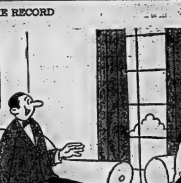
FOUR-YEAR-OLDS



Their eyes are bright,
Their ears are keen,
They will recite
What's heard or seen.
And since they share
What time unfolds,
Grownups beware
Of four-year-olds!

Too young for fact
Are children small.
Your every act
They'll tell to all.

With voices strong
To friends about
If you've done wrong,
They'll blurt it out.

They haven't learned
What they should hide.
They're not concerned
With shame or pride.
But this is true:
They can't keep still.
Embarrassed you
Those youngsters will.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

GREAT COMPANIONS

Outside friends in the flesh, there are no companions like books. Books are living companions, always at your call, and never disappointing. I have two small volumes that have given me many an hour of profitable reading. They are called "Great Companions," compiled by Robert Freeman Leavens, all in all, one of the finest anthologies I have ever discovered. The Beacon Press, Boston, is the publisher. They are fine books to take on a vacation or trip away from home.

Books are endless friends. And you can select these friends all through the years of all time. And what a comfort these books are! You can select them to read at any time at any place. You can travel with the great. You can take them to you, or dismiss them at will. But they are always ready to companion with you.

Books are nearer to the mind and heart of a writer than anything else. They are true appraisers of an author, and more than biographical, no matter how cleverly hidden or concealed. Through books you can enter into the experience of one or a thousand minds.

A great book has often changed the course of one's life, and of the thought of the world. Such books as "Les Miserables" and "The Origin of Species," by Darwin. Think for a moment of the tremendous influence of Shakespeare and the Bible. They are deathless books. There are books for every mood, as well. Just as is the case with living friends.

A book in its first edition is often prophetic. Like the first-born baby. These companionable books stay by us long after they have been read, and the great ones we wait with us time and time again. Those who lack a college education need not worry, for a love and knowledge of books can give a liberal education to anyone. I have a friend who loves books as I do. One day I asked him what college he attended. His reply was that he never went to college.

She Will Soon Return

(New York Times)

Pretty soon she will be home again, and it will be high time. The woman who first discovered that she could go away to a cheap summer resort for a few weeks, leaving her husband at home, must have been extraordinarily proud of her example has been followed with entirely too much enthusiasm by armies of wives ever since. These summer vacations are really a good thing, if often overdone. Husbands and wives should have vacations from each other. It is said. And, candidly, it must be said that there may be times when a husband, seeing his spouse off in car, train or plane, has a momentary feeling of freedom, a brief flush of excitement at the prospect of keeping bachelor hall for a little while.

This feeling may last all the way to the next morning, when it will fade as dawns the realization that he has unsalted his own grapefruit juice on the table, when the bird of the house comes down the stairs, is a hundred miles or so away, being waited on hand and foot. There is something about missing than a bachelor kitchen in the morning, of waking oneself up in sleepy and ill-humored man who has forgotten to ask the departed lady of the house where the kitchen pots and pans are hidden. Or to find that the bacon has burned, than chilled sliced bacon that refuses to be taken from its wrapping and to lie flat in a line because this morning's cook was in too much of a hurry to shave it beforehand. Scrambled eggs dropped into a hot pan absent-mindedly by butterless are pretty depressing too.

The debris remaining after prolonged use of those bachelor breakfasts is bad enough. But when the lone occupant of an untidy house decides to prepare all his own meals over a week-end, it is astonishing the number of utensils employed that afterward must be washed, even if the diner limits himself to meals on this pattern: cold consomme, a small salad, cold ham, cold salad from a delicatessen, a pint of ice cream and coffee.

Depressing also is mail received unchaged just after a breakfast during which the glass coffee-cake-and-marmalade jar has remained in the closet housewife. It is hard on the appearance of a exemplary husband he may be rewarded with letter mail, containing descriptions of cool days and evenings and clear waters, of which he will think gloomily later, as he simmers and oozes his way to the five fifteen. But if he is an average broken man the first first-class letter or two he will begin to receive post-cards on one side of which are scenes of outdoor life incredibly beautiful. On the other side are sentences that say, in effect, that he would love it here.

Persicchi, however have this advantage over letter mail: they do not contain, for all the world to see, the writer's address. By the way, could you please send Mrs. Persicchi the name of a mercy that were it not for the carefree vacation season would be prohibited by the high cost thereof. These letters may say, too, that the writer misses his wife whose honest toil makes her holiday possible, and that she is really learning to return home. No well-seasoned martyr will fully credit this. The writer will be telling with the kitchen and having to eat in restaurants and clubs, but none will be so ungallant as to say so. But Lalyde Day is up to us. She tells us that when she sees the kitchen, and the ash trays, and the bedroom strewn with unwashed socks, she will yearn for that lovely beach, that cool lake, that refreshing surf. Not of martyr will change hands, and that right speedily.

Big Brawl Over Baths

(Cleveland Plain Dealer)

In our considered opinion, the women of Japan are not entitled to sympathy for complaining against an ancient institution — the scrubbing of male bathers.

Japan's 19,000 public baths, according to the Associated Press, are patronized by 70% of the population and thus the controversy involves millions of bathers. These baths are divided into sections for men and women, but at least 38,000 men are entitled to work in both sections. Their job is to scrub the hard regular winter for the bathers, male and female, none of whom objects to male bath women workers?" An unmarried office girl wrote: "We women object to men bathers spilling eyes of these males. Why do the police permit them to intrude in the nude women's section."

"Male bath attendants," he said, "don't have an enviable job at all. I've just about had it. Besides the metals, they not only scrub naked women's backs, but double as boilermen and scroungers of firewood. Their job isn't for any woman to envy." Muto complained that by the negative debaters, we think the male bath scrubbers should be tossed out on their ears. Evidently, after that most unpalatant solution to the cook and the beefsteaks!

Plan Loans To Teen-Agers

(Wall Street Journal)

The First Commercial Bank of Chicago has set up a "Youth Credit Age Loan Fund" for high school graduates. The $1,000 fund will be loaned at 3 percent. Up to $50 "even more in special cases" without co-signers or collateral.

The fund will be administered by a board of three high school students, advised by Harold H. Stout, the bank president.

"We're convinced that the majority of today's teen-agers are responsible, level-headed youngsters," Mr. Stout said "Our program not only will help them in their immediate needs, but also gives them a chance to build a sound credit rating, something that will be of value to them all their lives."

Record Rain In California

(New York Herald Tribune)

Hurricane rain is not the record for density in the United States. The people who have to live in Weather Bureau's history occurred on April 3, 1926, when in 60 seconds almost two-thirds of an inch fell at Ogdi's Camp, Calif.

Holt, Mo., in only 42 minutes on June 22, 1947, was drenched by 4 inches of rain. Smethport, Pa., by 30.8 inches in four and a half hours on July 18, 1942.

Among high figures for the United States are Alexandria, Va., prepared for what hit it in the set few days, are: Boston, 11.91 inches in 24 hours; and Hartford, 12.12 inches in 24 hours.

Sportsmen On the Road

(Preble, Colo., Star Journal)

There's a new idea in highway safety thinking. Until now safety campaigns have concentrated very much on the individual driver. Take care of yourself. Drive carefully. The life you save may be your own.

Now there is a broader conception of the problem of accident prevention.

Briefly it's this: Be your brother's keeper. . . .

Courtesy is continuable in your driving. Bad manners and bad driving habits are highly contagious and bad sportsmanship in other drivers. You can cut in on the other fellow, you can crowd him, you can speed and pass him, you can sports ahead trying to cut in on you to get around.

But the corollary of this is that good manners and good sportsmanship often will double or treble the studies in other drivers. . . .

Colorado, for instance, has a license to drive should be tested for lack of feeling of consideration for others. One of the top traffic officials of a big city recently made a study of the causes of fatal accidents during 1934.

His findings might surprise you. Most of the cars were not jalopies but vehicles one or two years old. Most of the drivers were "old hands," more than 60 per cent having more than three years' driving experience. Few had physical defects which might have contributed to the accident.

But most of them — we hope this means that there is little or no feeling of responsibility for the accident they caused. There was no responsibility. What an indictment of a man who has been licensed to operate a machine of tons of steel at lethal speed through streets and highways.

No wean this responsibility be created and fostered? Is it perhaps a job for public relations men to get himself involved and participating in the organized highway safety movement? Such organizations as the National Safety Council are doing splendid work. But how much more effective it would be if the men who drive the drivers everywhere got in and helped. Safety must be made America a better — and more like- ly — place to live.

Live Alone and Get Scurvy

In Glasgow Medical Journal last December Dr. J. Thomson reported that 100 cases of scurvy had been admitted to a general hospital in Glasgow in the past 15 years. Of the 100, only six were in women.

In 52 cases a striking sign almost invariably present in scurvy was the appearance of large extravasations of blood under the skin of thighs and legs—they so-called "black and blue" marks. Such a manifestation of scurvy — deficiency of or deprivation of vitamin C (ascorbic acid) — has been wrongly interpreted as evidence of beatings in many instances.

To be sure, in a person with extreme vitamin C deficiency, even a slight blow or a playful slap or squeeze may produce such discoloration.

Four out of five of the Glasgow hospital patients had moderate or severe anemia.

Several of the patients were admitted with such diagnoses as "various infections," "rheumatism," "congestive heart failure" or "osteoarthritis"— the last because of effusion or accumulation of blood under the skin and around and into the joints.

Complete recovery occurred in 95 of the cases.

All of the patients whose records gave details of the domestic circumstances lived alone or were lodging houses and did their own cooking.

For every case of severe scurvy that comes under medical observation, as Dr. Thomson suggested, there are probably a great many cases of less severe scurvy that escape diagnosis. Cases other than those mistaken for phlebothrombosis, osteoarthritis etc. Dr. Thomson wisely observed that a certain proportion of apparently normal persons grow indifferent to the simplest dietetic precautions, and that mild scurvy accounts for a good deal of vague general ill-health wrongly associated with "old age."

Incidentally, Wm. Q. (for quack) Brady, P.H.D., (the degree exists only in my wistful dreams) begs to state that anybody who ascribes ill-health to old age is probably afflicted with simple dementia.

Familiar manifestations of scurvy in infants, children, or elderly persons are red, sore, bleeding gums, general prostration, weakness and tenderness in legs. Minute hemorrhages all over the body, such as a casual observer may call flea bites, gradually increasing fatigue and peevishness in the young child or surliness in the adult.

If in doubt whether the trouble is scurvy, I'd say do no harm to try the therapeutic test—take 2 vitamin C tablets daily for 10 days—each tablet (ascorbic acid) containing 100 mg. If this doesn't give positive improvement, the trouble is not scorbutic.

Scurvy or drifting along on a tea and toast, coffee and roll, hot dog and pop diet—At least one orange a day must include green salad or fresh fruit or freshly expressed fruit juice.

EASY TO ANSWER IF WE TRY

If you were to ask the question, What is a lie? you would probably find that a dozen different people would give you fifty different answers.

Some would say that a lie is an untruth told to a person who has a right to expect the truth. This sounds strange, doesn't it? Are there people who have a right to a truthful answer and others to whom we can with impunity utter lies.?

Others would say that a lie is the statement which hides part of the truth. In court, people are put under oath to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. We can sometimes tell a monstrous lie by telling nothing a single misstatement. All we need to do is such case is to tell as much of the truth as we want to tell and then stop. Others would say that a lie is the statement which is described truth telling by saying, "Let your communications be yea, yea, and nay, nay." Such a man of simple grandeur of soul could handle the statement, "Honest to God" with that searching and rudimentary fashion. When you tell the truth, tell the truth, and just part of the truth but the whole truth. William Penn would have declared that equivocation is half-way to lying, and lying is the whole way to the pit. Lord Alfred Tendell Holmes declared that although sin has many tools, a lie is the handle that fits them all.

And lies that have started in human society have dominated their hardihood through the centuries. They are still with us to be devil us.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Among the numerous hobbies regularing special study at this time of year is that of the lapidary. A lapidary is a cutter and polisher of precious stones, semi-precious stones, and our Canadian amateur lapidaries are finding that there is merely the cutting and polishing but the finding of native Canadian stones that are surprisingly many. These lapidaries are scattered all over the country. Each finds many of them fabricate brooches, necklaces, earrings and other items of jewelry from Canadian stones they themselves have sought and found.

Around the shores of Lake Superior are found agates and carnelians of great beauty, color and variety. Jade is found in British Columbia. Rock crystal and amethyst and a great variety of quartz derivatives are located in many parts of the country. Jasper, chalcedony, garnet and other beautiful stones are known to be had from Canada's widenfung mining areas or are traded within the brotherhood of the lapidaries from brethren across the border. A beautiful royal blue mineral sodalite is found in great quantities near Bancroft, Ontario, and is coming to be known amongst lapidaries as the national Canadian stone.

In a country as rich in minerals as Canada, it is natural that its industry, especially no handicraft industry, has grown up essentially as a hobby. Many of the finds take to silver, or the people of New Brunswick are fond of the native turquoise. Last week, the packsack mentioned Deaths Head Hill, Lake of the Woods, selling Canada's sportsmen, hunters, trappers and adventurers. It is said to be in the shape and size of Canada's ideal bull baffle. When the knife is decided upon and I buy mine, it is going straight to a lapidary, and on the boss of the hilt of the knife, I am going to have a bright Canadian stone. There is no reason I can think of why, no matter how shabby I may be in my hunting clothes, I cannot carry a knife as had Roderick Dhu or Robert the Bruce.

How Ships Get Down to Sea

By VICTOR ANDERSON

A launching is a dramatic and tense affair for which calculations have to be made by experts even before the ship is built. This article tells how a giant chaise form a brake on the ship; why a ship is launched sideways first; how ships have been launched by wireless, and what happened on Clydeside when a woman launching a ship missed it with the christening bottle three times.

The launching of a great ship is still an affair of drama and even tension. A launch takes place only after the most careful calculations of experts who have spent months in detailed work on stresses and strains, friction values and buoyancy and after land experiment with scale models in testing tanks. How exact their calculations can be was shown by the launch of the Queen Mary. They estimated that the vessel would travel 1,200 feet before coming to rest: the actual figure was 1,186 feet.

Even before a ship begins to be built, the question of her launch occupies her builders' minds. The stocks on which she is built are designed with her launch in view.

The keel-plates are laid on cubes of wood called keel-blocks, at set intervals between one and two feet. As the ship rises from her foundations, timber steps keep the construction structure in place. Later giant planks and timber are laid down: these are the ship's ground-ways, bolted to the concrete floor. Their upper surface is faced with wax or inch-thick layer of tallow, sometimes mixed with soft soap.

Heavy timber provides the material for the sliding ways, the ship's closely fitting launching cradle, which fits smoothly into the ground-ways.

CHAINS USED AS BRAKE

The giant hull has to have a "brake", for its weight—anything from 4,000 tons upwards—(the Queen Elizabeth has a 2,3000-tons at her launch). They are attached at the bow, or landward end of the ship. They retard the ship's motion by their dead-weight and check her with their drag. They are so arranged that the further the ship goes in the water the more drag she takes.

A ship is launched stern-first because the stern, being wider, is more buoyant than the bows—and acts as a brake when the hull hits the water. In case the ship does not start, rams worked by hydraulic power are fixed to power her off—a "push" if required.

During a launch a ship is estimated to undergo stresses more than twice as great as those she is likely to undergo even in the battering of the heaviest Atlantic gale. That is why, when a 30,000-ship is launched, her weight then is only half that. Her engines, masts and fittings are installed afterwards to avoid risk of damage.

When all is ready for the launch, workmen beneath the ship axe splitting away the last three blood keel blocks supporting the ship's weight. Imperceptibly the ship settles till the cradle is supporting her. She is restrained only by the steel triggers which hold her back.

THE LAUNCHING

The traditional champagne bottle smacks again her bows, a touch of a button releases the triggers and the great ship moves slowly on her cradle down the ways to the smell of smoking tallow and the ringing cheers of onlooking workers.

A ship, you may be surprised to know, need not be launched in motion. Several cases are recorded of ships being launched by wireless. Thus in 1934 the tonic of a politician in Government House, Wellington, Lord Bledisloe, Governor-General of New Zealand, launched the New Zealand Star at Harland and Wolff's shipyard, in Belfast, Northern Ireland, 12,000 miles away. The touching of the button released the launching trigger by a wireless impulse. The Governor-General's recorded speech was reproduced by loudspeaker. The same "magic" was repeated in 1938 when the Duke of Gloucester launched the Orion at Barrow, Lancashire by moving a small switch in Brisbane, Australia. The Duke's actual voice was heard in Barrow, and the cheers by the shipway were instantly relayed back to Australia.

Mishaps at launches occur from time to time despite the most elaborate calculations. One of the notable cases was the launch of the aircraft carrier Implacable at Deptford in 1899, when the vessel began to move 15 minutes before scheduled time, a woman was killed by a falling plank and some 20 people were injured.

In 1936, when the 13,000-ton battleship Abdiel was launched at Blackwall, London, the vessel ran down the slips at such speed that a huge wave was created which sept about 200 people off a gangway and 35 people were killed.

Sometimes the mishaps are minor, connected with the ceremony itself. Some years ago when a woman failed to break a bottle of wine over the ship's bows, she missed the vessel and hit someone in the crowd. Since then the bottle has always been tied!

MISSED THREE TIMES

Even then, some lady launchers have not been able to hit the ship. The story is told of a Clydeside launching last year when the lady flung the bottle, which missed. She swung again, and again it stopped, flung it again, missed, caught it once more, and threw it a third time. By this time the ship was well and truly moving. A hit was impossible. Furious at the failure, Shipyard workers gasped when a workman in dirty jumped on the launching dais, took the bottle from its ribbon, dropped down to the yard, ran after the moving ship and smacked it with the bottle on the after deck of the vessel.

Champagne may be desirable but it is not necessary to launch a ship. Beer has been used and whisky has been suggested. When Indian ships are launched coconuts are cracked on the hulls and rice is sprinkled on the ships' sides.

In Britain ships are not normally launched on a Friday: the day is deemed to be unlucky.

Arden

ARDEN — Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson and family of Belleville, spent the week-end with Mrs. Thompson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Lloyd.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Fielley and family, also Mrs. Nellie Woodcock called on friends in Tweed Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Votery and daughter Elva of Kingston; also Mr. and Mrs. Willard White, lock of Arden, spent Sunday with Mrs. Gladys Loyst.

Mrs. Manly Scott and Mrs. Melvin Scott of Bordenwood; also Mrs. Anderson Scott of Hinchley called on friends here Tuesday.

The many friends of Mrs. Stanlie Loyst are sorry to hear she is a patient in Belleville General Hospital. All wish her a speedy recovery.

The Anglican Church Guild held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Nellie Woodcock, Thursday evening, with a good attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Gendron; also Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Gaylord, spent the dinner hour Sunday with the latter's father, Mr. Nathaniel Keller.

HOTEL SAFE RIFLED

KHAMESHA LAKE, N.Y. (AP)—Police investigating the possibility of an "inside job" in the theft of thousands of dollars in gems and cash from the guests' safe at the 150-foot Hotel Kahmesha, District attorney Benjamin Newberg said the loss amounted to between $7,000 and $8,000 and approximately $35,000 worth of jewelry.

Board Report Not Favorable To Union Men

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail says it has learned that a conciliation board report in a dispute between General Motors of Canada and its 17,000 employees makes no recommendations for peaceful settlement.

The report, expected to be made public sometime today, makes no recommendations on demands by the United Auto Workers (CIO-CCL) for the guaranteed annual wage increase of 15 cents an hour, the story says.

It does, however, legally entitle the union to strike—seven days after it is made public.

NOT RECEIVED

The Globe quotes Labor Minister Charles Daley of Ontario as saying he has not received the board's report.

"We've been watching for it every minute," he said.

The Globe says the report of the three-man board will be a majority report signed by board chairman Judge J. C. Anderson of Belleville and company nominee C. P. McTague of Toronto. It was mainly a defence of the union's position, the chinery which UAW's Canadian director, Dennis McDermott, has boycott.

Drummond Wren, union nominee on the board, wrote a minority report, the story says.

Townsend's Visit Arouses Interest

BRUSSELS, Belgium (Reuters) Group Captain Peter Townsend, British air attache in Belgium, will fly to London Monday to visit the princess Margaret, it was announced Friday.

Townsend's visit has aroused interest because it comes a few days after Princess Margaret's birthday Aug. 22—the day on which under an ancient act she is able to set machinery moving to marry without the consent of her sister, Queen Elizabeth.

The princess has made no public move to confirm current rumors that in spite of possible change in position she wishes to marry Townsend, father of two children by a previous marriage which ended in divorce.

Says A-Power Stations in U.K. To Displace Coal

BRISTOL, England (AP) — Sir John Cockcroft, head of Britain's atomic energy authority, reported Fri. that the first atomic power generating stations will be built to supply the country's electricity.

After 1975, all of Britain's power stations will be using atomic fuel, the British Association for the Advancement of Science was told.

The first of these atomic stations will be nearing completion on a lonely coastal stretch in northwest England. It will go into operation next year, Cockcroft said.

Within the next 10 years, the atomic power stations will then save the country 8,000,000 tons of coal a year, and within 20 years the "saving should be increased to 40,000,000 tons annually, he said.

Curiosity Leads To Man's Death

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—An alley cat crossed his path and Ira Kidd, 33, lost his life today.

Curiosity as to the cat's color led to his death.

He was driving a friend home when the cat crossed the street in front of the car.

"That was a black cat," Kidd said.

"No, Ira," the friend dissented, "it was red."

NEVER FOUND OUT

Kidd braked the car to a stop, went into reverse.

"We'll see what color it was," he said. He never did.

The car smashed into a concrete street marker. Kidd was thrown out, the sharp button of the car door slashing his chest and exposing his heart. He was dead within minutes.

Police saw an alley cat slither out of the nearby ditch. The cat was black and white.

Emperor's Name On Accused War Criminals List

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur said Friday he believes all military criminals of the Second World War now in prison should be released in the custody of their own governments, with future punishment left to those governments.

The former U. S. Far East commander made the statement in a talk with Japanese Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu, in the course of which he also said he personally favors the emperor of Japan from trial and execution.

Emperor Hirohito's name, MacArthur said, was on the list of accused war criminals drawn up by the Australian delegate than the United States." Hirohito, MacArthur added, was willing to assume full responsibility for Japan's war conduct.

The footnote to post-war history came on the 10th anniversary of Japan's surrender. Ten years ago Friday, on the deck of the battleship Missouri, MacArthur accepted the surrender of Japan from Shigemitsu.

MacArthur said that when Hirohito's name showed up on the list of accused war criminals, he "realized what such an action would do and the extent to which it would complicate the occupational days ahead."

"I protested violently and my protest was heard in the Washington and finally everywhere. One of my arguments was that as a result of the devotion of the Japanese people to their emperor his trial and execution would have neutralized an additional million troops necessarily to carry out the occupation of Japan."

Escapees Given Added Terms

GUELPH (CP)—Three escapees from the Ontario reformatory were sentenced today to additional terms of six months in Kingston penitentiary on charges of escaping custody. The sentences are to run concurrently with previous terms they had to serve.

Douglas Campbell, 17, and William Shaw, 18, both of Orillia and Raymond Delarsocbel, 20, of North Bay all pleaded guilty.

Merger of Unions Will Open New Avenues for Labor

OTTAWA (CP)—Merger of Canada's two largest union groups into a single 1,000,000-member body will open up new avenues for labor, heads of the big labor congresses said today.

President Claude Jodoin of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and president A. R. Mosher of the Canadian Congress of Labor spoke in annual Labor Day messages addressed to workers across the country.

Their messages were issued a day after a TLC-CCL unity committee decided the founding convention of the proposed new Canadian Labor Congress—the amalgamated body—will be held in Toronto in the week starting next April 23.

"Unity is not only desirable but necessary," said Jodoin, who speaks for 600,000 TLC members.

INCREASE INFLUENCE

Mosher, whose organization has 400,000 members, said that by the merger the strength and influence of organized labor in Canada will be greatly increased.

President Jodoin noted that some affiliated unions have "some qualms" about the merger because they have been faced with difficulties still unsolved, this evidently was a reference to some jurisdictional troubles between TLC and CCL unions.

"However," Jodoin said, "it now appears that all sections of our movement see in the possibilities of amalgamation far greater things and in this light are prepared to face their difficulties with confidence . . .

"In my view, amalgamation will open up new avenues and opportunities for using the great reservoir of experience and achievement of this congress and all its affiliated organizations and membership to the greater advantage of all."

BENEFIT ALL

Mosher said that the merger will be of benefit not only to workers, but to all of Canada.

The CCL president, dealing with Canadian labor affairs generally, said the industrial situation is improving and the overall picture on employment is "reasonably satisfactory."

However, some industries were still suffering from setbacks.

TLC president Jodoin also said Canada's business seems to be on the upgrade but added that "unemployment remains unreasonably high."

"We cannot escape the conclusion that the number of unemployed this coming winter will again be too great and of the most serious extent," Jodoin said.

While it was gratifying that the October federal-provincial conference would deal with relief for unemployed, that was not an acceptable solution to the problem.

"We will continue," he said, "to press the federal authorities and . . . the provinces and . . . the municipalities for action which will produce work for the unemployed."

Clogged Vents Can Cause Corrosion

By EUGENE MILMOE

When inspecting the distributor cap for cracks or loose wires, be sure to check the vent holes. If clogged, they can trap gases produced during normal distributor operation, allowing them to dissolve in moisture and form acids which will eventually corrode metal parts. High resistance and a weak spark will usually result.

If your engine will not work no matter how much you crank its starter, the distributor rotor could be at fault. It's a simple little thing, yet, if the rotor spring is broken, you cannot start. You can be pretty certain a damaged rotor spring is to blame when you find a spark at the breaker points, but none at all at the plugs.

M.C. asks: "On my 1951 car, which has automatic transmission, I find that it does not always hold when in the park position. I intend taking the car in for service and would like to have some idea as to what kind of inspection the mechanic should make."

(A) Have him check both manual linkage and parking linkage adjustments.

C.S.L. writes: "My steering gear rattles, especially on rough roads. What do you think is the trouble?"

(A) Excessive play in the steering or linkage is the most common cause. Insufficient or incorrect lubrication is also being blamed.

H. G. C.: "I can't seem to keep points and plugs in my car. On the advice of my garage, I changed coils, but that hasn't helped. After installing new points and plugs, my engine is fine, but it loses power rapidly and becomes sluggish. Would appreciate your advice."

(A) How about the distributor condenser? It's easy and inexpensive to replace and may well be the source of trouble.

E.D. asks: "The automatic window lifts on my car are not working properly. I noticed oil staining at the bottom of one door but when I removed the panel, I could not find the leak. Can I replace oil in these lines? If so, where and how?"

(A) I suggest you let an expert mechanic do the job. He will be equipped to check fluid level, hydraulic pressure and the flexible and rigid lines. If necessary, he will refill the reservoir with the proper type of fluid, and of course, bleed the hydraulic system free of air.

R.P. writes: "on my 1953 car with automatic drive there seems to be an awful lot of noise from the transmission, although it performs very well. This noise is usually noticeable in drive. I have taken the car to several mechanics but they have not located the trouble. One thought low transmission oil level might be at fault, but then found it was at the full-mark. Can you help?"

(A) According to your description, I feel very confident that the trouble lies with a clogged oil intake screen.

District Young People Enjoy Wiener Roast

On Wednesday evening, South Hastings District Young People held their annual wiener roast at Foxboro.

Around 300 young people were on hand to view an exhibition ball game between the ball league champions, Holloway Y.P.U. team, and a team composed of the ball players throughout the district. At the end of three complete innings the score was 4-2 in favor of the All-Star team.

After the game, the young people gathered around a large campfire which was built near the Moira River. Reta Christie, president, extended greetings to all present and awarded a trophy cup to the 'top team in the league which was Holloway Y.P.U. team. This is their second year as champions.

A sing-song consisting of many camp favorites, was led by Miss Beth Mirsalis. A short worship service conducted by Mr. Don Gates and Miss Margaret Patterson followed the sing song.

The evening closed with the traditional wiener roast, which was enjoyed by all.

Plastic Corsage Holder Solves Florist Problem

And corsage sales are flourishing.

At a forum of the Ontario Horticulturists at Guelph, a Hamilton florist complained that florists have been unable to find any device to satisfactorily support a corsage on bare skin. The corsage business, he said, was suffering as a result.

But in Sudbury for those who insist on wearing strapless gowns florists are using a plastic corsage holder attached to the bra-band.

No pins, clips or tape are needed. Just a circular plastic ring that fits snugly inside the bra with a short stem bent towards the shoulder.

No Distinction Should Be Made In Church Work

EDMONTON (CP)—There is an "insidious tendency to lump women together which includes the still more insidious tendency to separate them from the church as a whole," a principal of a Toronto college says.

Miss K. M. Darroch, principal of St. Hilda's College, told the 1955 session of the general synod of the Anglican Church of Canada that she objected to distinctions made between women and men in the church.

She made the statement in her report of the committee on women's work in the church.

"Your committee would like to suggest four practical changes," she said. "Workers should be recognized, qualified, co-ordinated and differentiated."

She said highly-qualified women should be accepted and used for what they are, and only for jobs for which they are qualified.

The synod passed a resolution for further study which called for abolition of the use of words "male or female" in church rules.

Harsh, of the Kent State University, Ohio, third year student of Journalism, who has been interning with the Ontario Intelligencer for the past several weeks, was presented with a dozen red roses in appreciation of her fine co-operation by the staff members.

OUT-OF-TOWN PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Elliott, Skiff Street, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Elliott, of Midland, Ontario, on a tour to the west coast, via the United States. On the return trip, they spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Heath, in Edmonton. Mr. Heath is a brother of Mrs. Elliott Sr.

WALMSLEY—McKIBBON

Pastel shades of gladioli, white mums, ferns and palms formed a lovely setting in Picton United church, on Saturday, August 27, when Rev. Dr. Ross Armitage united Martha Jane McKibbon, of Picton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McKibbon, to Douglas William Walmsley, Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Walmsley. The Rev. F. J. Whiteley officiated. Mrs. Ross Armitage, organist, rendered the traditional wedding music, and the soloist, Mr. Charles Kingsley, sang "The Lord's Prayer," before the ceremony, and "Because", during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Jack McKibbon, the bride wore an imported gown of Chantilly lace and tiffeta tulle over taffeta, styled with molded bodice of lace having a low scalloped neckline and tight-fitting sleeves of lace ending in tiny points over the wrists. The bell hooped skirt extended into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was caught to a coronet of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a white Bible crested with pink rosebuds and stephanotis with pink streamers.

Miss Kaye McKibbon of Belleville, sister of the bride, was gowned in white nylon tulle lace and net over taffeta with net stole, matching shoes and bandeau headdress of nylon tulle and rosebuds. She carried a nosegay of white Shasta mums and pink rosebuds tied with blue ribbon.

Misses Lois McKibbon of Picton, sister of the bride, and Joan Wickerson, of Belleville, as bridesmaids, were gowned in matching waltz-length gowns of delphinium blue lace and net over taffeta with stoles. They wore matching shoes and nylon tulle bandeaux with pink rosebuds, and carried nosegays of white Shasta mums and pink rosebuds tied with blue ribbon.

Little Miss Brenda Lee Laughlin, of Kingston, niece of the bride, was a sweet flower girl in her delphinium blue nylon taffeta frock with scoop neckline and bouffant, tiered skirt and pink velvet sash. She wore a tiny bandeau of pink roses and blue cornflowers, and carried a nosegay of white baby mums and white poms tied with pink ribbon.

Mr. Max White of Belleville, was groomsman, and Mr. Don Rose and Mr. Bill Hunt, both of Belleville, were ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Maple Inn, Bloomfield, where the bride's mother, wearing dusty rose crepe with French lace, white accessories, and corsage of pink sprays and stephanotis, and adiantum fern, received. The bridegroom's mother, assisted, gowned in navy taffeta with sheer, navy plaid redingote, navy and white accessories, and corsage of pink roses. Others in the receiving line were the fathers of the bride and bridegroom.

The bride's table was charmingly appointed with damask linen, and centred by a three-tier wedding cake, beautifully decorated with silver leaves, and beads and topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom, and flanked by silver candlesticks with tall, white tapers.

Those who served included, Misses Janice Thomlinson, Jacqueline Hull and Doris Bartman, all of Belleville.

For the wedding trip to Quebec City, Montreal and eastern points, the bride travelled in a pale blue linen sheath dress with matching jacket, pink shoes, bag, hat and gloves, with corsage of pink roses. Mr. and Mrs. Walmsley will reside in Toronto upon their return.

Guests were present from Thornhill, Peterborough, Niagara Falls, N.Y., St. Jovite, Quebec, Kingston and Belleville.

The bride's gift to her bridegroom, a travelling kit; to her attendants, silver filigree brooches; and to the ushers, silver cuff links.

Mrs. Robert H. Elliott, of Midland, Ontario, a tour to the last 29 years, died in hospital Wednesday. He had been in hospital two months. A graduate of Queen's University, he formerly held charges in Ontario at Harriston and Grimsby.

Air Travel 30 Years Hence

By SHERLEY AND BOB SLOANE

One of the more fascinating contests to come on the national scene in recent years is being run by Trans World Airlines. For the most accurate-sounding ideas of what air travel will be like 30 years from now they are shelling out a first prize of $50,000 now, another $50,000 if it still look good in 1985.

For what they are worth, here are our ideas. We'll let you know if we win anything.

We believe that 30 years from now air travel will saturate the country as completely as rail and bus travel do today. Every town big enough to have a railroad station today will have commercial airline service in 1985, while every village big enough to have a bus station today will be served by a feeder service, probably with helicopters.

That, incidentally, will be the chief use for helicopters: to establish airlines "to connect major centers with outlying areas. Helicopters will also take passengers downtown from suburban airports. These connecting services will resolve the airlines' short haul problem, allowing them to concentrate on fast, nonstop, long distance service with 1,000 mile-an-hour jets for th ebest distance jets (vertical take-offs jets will also be is use by then.

TWO AIRPORTS

More and more cities, after the big ones lead the way, will have two airports, one outside of town for the long distance jets vertical take-off, for which big airports are unnecessary, still will not have been adapted to large planes. There will be in the process of development, and one right downtown for the VTO's.

Air service will be so much in demand, as a result of all this increased convenience, that each airline will have five to ten times as many planes as it now has.

Intercity schedules will provide as frequent service as trolley cars and buses do today. Reservations will be necessary only for the somewhat less frequent long jumps (oh happy day!). If you miss one puddle-jumper, there'll be another along in a few minutes.

Not only will direct connections to remote spots make air travel so much more popular, but the boom in business and vacation travel will continue to add its impetus.

Jets will not really come into their own until at least 1970. The turbo-props (jet engines driving propellers), now beginning to come in use, will completely capture the fancy of the public because of their superb quiet, economy and speed. The airlines themselves will welcome the turbo-props because of their popularity with the passengers, their comparative simplicity and dependability for today's planes, and their exceptional fuel economy (they use cheap synthetic fuel not kerosene).

Jets will be held up longer than expected because of noise, economy, and maintenance problems; the latter during passenger service. pilots to learn their jobs all over again from the bottom because of the great popularity of the turbo-props; and because of a general undercurrent of mistrust of the jets on the part of the public which no one will admit, but which will nevertheless be a factor.

ADVANCES IN COMFORT

Since safety considerations are even now at a high level, greater advances will be made in passenger comfort. For a few years technicians of flying around the weather to avoid turbulence will be explored, but since such optical tricks are time-consuming, engineers will develop devices that will be capable of flying over the highest storms, perhaps by vertical climbing. By 1975 or 1980 an airplane stable and flexible enough to fly through any weather without a flight will be introduced. Or else seats will be designed to absorb or "roll with turbulence.

Plane interiors will be large and luxurious as living rooms, and the two-by-two rows of seats will be of the past, replaced by lounge arrangements. All seats will be adjustable to face the rear, a recently discovered safety factor in crash landings. Noise will be virtually eliminated.

Automation will take over in airline operation as much as in other industries. Completely blind take-offs and landings in the worst weather will become foolproof and commonplace, making the airlines as dependable as the railroads at their best. Pilots will be along mainly to check on the operation of the automatic devices, and to step in in emergencies.

Reservations, ticket-issuing, baggage checking and claiming all will be done electronically and virtually without human effort of any kind. Impressively unavoidable delays and irritations of air travel.

Planes will be fuelled, loaded, unloaded and serviced by portable machines directly connected to terminals—no more dashing across ramps through rain or waiting for parking spaces to materialize or taxiways to be rolled up to the aircraft.

If there's anything more we could ask for in all this, we'll have to wait until 1985 to think of it.

Women Flexing Muscles For Sawing Title

Matters at the crosscut, Mrs. Muriel O'Brien and Mrs. Wesley Puddy will defend the championship won last year when they put younger women to shame.

Mrs. Puddy, who learned to saw in the district, were reluctant to make any predictions on the outcome of the classic.

"There could be an upset," said Mrs. Puddy. "A dark horse maybe," explained Mrs. O'Brien.

Both are familiar with the crosscut. Mrs. Puddy has helped cut wood on her farm for 14 years while Mrs. O'Brien has been sawing her share over the years. Both have vigorously followed summer training programs.

...As long as there is a good fire barbecueing chicken is no problem at all, for you simply split the young, two or three pound broilers in half lengthwise or in quarters and barbecue them concretly over the coals. Some prefer to grill the individual chicken pieces, that is the breasts and legs...all either case the chicken should be brushed with fat or a good commercial meat tenderizer or salad dressing before it is placed on the grill.

...Today's chops carry a regular supply of young tender broiler-fryers...weighing...two to...three pounds. These chickens are from 13 to 16 weeks old and are available the year 'round. They are eviscerated and sold whole, cut in half lengthwise or cut into pieces with the breast, wings, legs and so on sold separately. Cut-up chicken sold ready-to-cook is a great boon to the busy housewife. With chicken as the centre of attraction the meal can be made as simple or as elaborate as desired.

COOKING BY THE CUT

Cooking according to the cut is the theme of the home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture as a good rule for chicken as well as meats now that so many of the broiler-fryers are sold in serving size pieces. Bought this way the right amount of chicken can be purchased to suit any size of family and there need be no leftovers; likewise, there is no choosing very popular especially with the younger folk who will not because they can buy just as much as they want at a time but also because the children can help prepared in a great variety of ways.

The meaty white flesh of chicken breasts and the equally delicious dark meat of legs and thighs are fairly meaty after they are sometimes fried or barbecued, but generally they are cooked slowly by moist heat for a long time that is braised or stewed.

The bare carcasses of these small birds may be covered with water and cooked in that way and then be removed from the bones and used in salads or sandwiches or added to soups to make a delicious and substantial soup. Chicken giblets may be made into a stew or fricassees and chicken livers are a delicacy whether they are broiled or panfried.

BARBECUED CHICKEN

Everyone loves a chicken barbecued and little wonder because the very sound of the words suggests the mingled aroma of wood smoke, pungent and tangy sauce and browned crusty chicken fairly oozing with spicy goodness. Labor Day week-end is just the time for one of these delightful tempting chicken barbecues. Why not plan one?

ADVICE to the LOVILORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

IF YOU HAVE NO QUESTIONS FOR ME, WE'D HAVE SOME FOR YOU

Dear Beatrix Fairfax:

I am 16, and for nearly a year and a half I've been in love with a man of 30.

I went steady with him for about five months but we have been engaged. The lasted about nine months, when I called it quits. The reason why that he was too jealous and possessive, and was all time fine stuff arguments with me on that account. If I so much as and held to a boy, he would get a fight with the boy and argue with me.

A couple of months later he joined the army and began to write to me. Yesterday he asked me to go back with him and because I still loved him, did. We wrote to each other, happy letters, loving and full of promises and plans.

When he came home he didn't come to see me. Finally, when he didn't come to see me, I went to where he did. I left the house, because I had hoped he had said he wasn't going home and see me because I was out with others while I was home to him. I was one, he had another had left he didn't know. I was a fool to allow him who let me go his way again. Now he goes with another girl, but he is still about, possessive and now-trusting with her.

I have no problem, no broken heart to ask me to mend. I don't want to know how to forget him, man-rather, I just wanted to write to you.

I loved this man before, and I still do and, since I love him, why should I not forget him? Please tell me to go on loving him as long as I don't go to extremes. Don't you think so?

Dear Kay:

Since you state there are no questions you add to have answered, suppose I'll say a few.

The first is: Don't you think you are a very mixed-up girl?

The second is: Don't you think it's pretty foolish for a 16-year-old, who must still be in school, to have a romantic friendship with a young man of 30 whose interests are not school and boys? If, at least, shouldn't be! If you were, say, 25, instead of 16, I'd know that any young man of 30 who picks a school girl for a fiance—after then with greater volume. Try it in different keys. Also do this exercise with the vowel sounds, ah-ah-ah, then m-m-m, with your lips closed. Keep practicing, it until it really sounds musical.

For your second exercise, take a breath and let it out in ha-ha-ha staccato tones, holding the ha's for a second. Place a hand on your abdomen and, abdominal as he feel, the kick. Do it again on ho-ho-ho. First speak the syllables, then sing them.

Nervous tension is frequently the cause of a harsh, irritating voice. If you suspect that this may be your trouble, try the system used by a noted singer who, just before a performance, relaxes her throat by yawning. Then yourself in a relaxed, comfortable position, she advises, and start yawning. You can keep it up for quite a while and it's a wonderful exercise for the throat. It also relaxes the tongue, lips and jaws—all of which is important to a full, free voice.

Sometimes a voice is strident because the speaker does not use the proper pitch. She speaks in a voice too high or too low. To correct this and find out what your proper pitch is, go to a piano. Sing softly as low as you can, then as high as you can—but do not strain. This gives your voice range. Now, count the notes in your range, ascertain the middle one and take two notes below this. That note will be your normal, "natural" pitch for you. Practice a number of speech exercises in this pitch. But do not, of course, neglect to practice them in other keys as well. This will help to gain pitch flexibility and variety.

After all, a monotonous voice is just as unlovely as a strident one.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMIESON

HOW BEAUTIFUL IS YOUR SPEAKING VOICE?

How do you sound?

Know it or not, that's a beauty question because there are all too many glamour girls who are loved by book, but ignored by the movie months. Thousands that come out are anything but sexy on the stage of the listener—harsh and grating, fat and monotonous and downright irritating, to boot.

If you sound suspect that your voice is anything short of delightful, do something about it—and right away.

To help you, here are several exercises:

Take a deep breath—and correctly. This means that your diaphragm should push out slowly as you inhale. Exhale on the humming sound of sh-h-h, first softly, then with greater volume. Try it in different keys. Also do this exercise with the vowel sounds, ah-ah-ah, m-m-m, with your lips closed. Keep practicing, it until it really sounds musical.

For your second exercise, take a breath and let it out in ha-ha-ha staccato tones, holding the ha's for a second. Place a hand on your abdomen and, abdominal as he feel, the kick. Do it again on ho-ho-ho. First speak the syllables, then sing them.

Readers Saturday Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

This is my first fall letter although I have enjoyed your column ever since first seeing it. First I read it as a Public Health Nurse—often referring to it in my home visits. Two great ones were "High Works Wonders" and another on cereals. Now I read it as a P.H.N. and homemaker and someday, I hope, as a parent. Your Cocoa Gulckies are a boon to a busy girl—so yummy and uncooked cookies would be a welcome variety to our daily canned lunches. Questions —Please give the time and temperature for cooking a pork roast, shoulder (3) loin—small about 2 1-3 to 3 lbs. For two people, is it food economy to can or preserve jams and fruits. Specifically peaches. We enjoy standard grade sliced peaches at two cans for thirty-nine cents—a fifteen ounce can gives four, servings. Could, you please give some thought on home preparation of fruit and vegetables to approximate those in the frozen strained "great". Could one slove a can of adult-vegetables or fruit and freeze in small containers for a week's supply at a time? The prepared ones are very handy but quite expensive. May I slip in two things which may be of help to someone? I have discovered a method: put a can of luncheon meat through the mincer, adding an egg, mayonnaise, green relish and seasoning as-lik. Pork liver—very tasty when cooked by friend husband, has 15.3 mg. of iron per 3 oz. raw weight as opposed to beef liver's 3.6—these questions and comments have been fascinating to me as you think. Exhale on the humming sound of sh-h-h, first softly, then with greater volume. Try it in different keys. Also do this exercise with the vowel sounds, ah-ah-ah, m-m-m, with your lips closed. Keep practicing, it until it really sounds musical.

ANSWER:

Because where Marianne lives it rends this column I included your good wishes—so she will receive your thoughts direct. Think you so much for them and for the sandwich and liver data. Maybe your comment will break down some of the prejudice against pork liver. I always use it for croquettes for sandwiches and canapes. Time and temperature for pork shoulder or loin roast: 325 deg. Fahr. and 40 minutes to the pound but I would recommend that you buy a meat thermometer for roasting such small roasts. Internal temperature at centre of roast should be 185 deg. Fahr. for pork—fresh or smoked. No—it is no economy to home can peaches for two when you can buy cans and fruit at sale price. It might be if you grew your own fruit though. Serving the vegetables as you suggest, and putting them in clear ones like that are called "charcoal-lined" or enamel-lined"—a gold-colored lining necessary for most foods. Be sure to cover them tightly with saran or with aluminum foil moistened and air-proof, and use them within a week— since they will not be as good.

CARAMEL RAISIN PIE

(Courtesy Kay S.)

(I want to thank Kay S for this delicious recipe she sent in Sandwich Relish last week!) Make pie shell. Filling—1 cup raisins, 1 cup water. Put on to boil for a few minutes. Mix: 2 tbsp. flour and 2 sgrs. light brown sugar, 1 tablespoon flour (heaping), 1 egg, 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Add to raisins and cook until thick (stirring). Put in pie shell with beaten egg whites on top. (Note from Mary—Beat the whites with 2 tbsps. of tablespoons sugar.) Kay S. goes on to say that she makes the pie-crust with 4 tablespoons milk powder added to make it better for children. If you use milk powder too stir it into the brown sugar first.

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My daughter is to be married soon, and I'd like to have Julie a large tea in her honor. Her fiance's mother and father died when he was quite young, and since then he has lived with his much older sister and her husband. Would you suggest that I invite this sister when I give quite near an and whom we have met several times) to receive with my daughter and me? —Bride's Mother

Yes . . . this is the perfect plan. The groom's sister at this import ant pre-wedding tea. I hope you will also invite her to stand with you in the receiving line at the reception. And if your husband is to stand in the receiving line, it would be thoughtful of you to invite the sister's husband to stand in the line also.)

SIGNING MOTHER AND DAUGHTER CARDS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My father died last January, my mother and I (I am not married) live together, and we are planning to take our first vacation together soon. We would like to send "mutual" greeting cards, that is, to mutual friends from both of whom I would receive one. Should I write our names.—Nancy H.

There would be some friends, I imagine, who call your mother, as well as you, by your first names, and cards to them you would sign: "Dearest greetings from Grace and Nancy." To say, friends of hers or yours who do not call your mother by her first name, you would sign, "From Grace Hall and Nancy."

GIFTS FOR BIRTHDAY PARTY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A dear friend of mine is being given a surprise birthday party soon, and each girl invited is asked to bring a boy friend. The boy I'm inviting is a good friend of mine, but doesn't know the girl. On birthday card I'm to enclose with the birthday gift I'm giving her, should I include his name with mine? A.R.

I don't think this is a good idea. Even if the boy does invite Julie is a stranger to the birthday-er, I think he should make his own bow to her birthday. A box of candy, for example, or a small box of flowers, or a carefully chosen but not-expensive book (perhaps a good paper-covered book), or one simple white handkerchief. With any of these, he should enclose his birthday greeting card.

SEAL ENVELOPE WITH GIFT MESSAGE?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When you send a gift from a store and you enclose a plain white card and envelope supplied by the store, is it proper to seal the envelope—even' when you write only your name on the card, no message? — Wondering

Yes . . . seal the envelope.

PLACEMENT OF SILVER

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please settle a discussion. Mrs. A. says that when only a spoon and fork are to be used at a luncheon, the fork is placed at the left of the plate, and the spoon at the right of the plate. Mrs. B says that when there are only these two silverpieces, they are both placed at the right of the plate. Who's right? — Mrs. A and Mrs. B

Mrs. A's way would be the customary way . . . the fork at the left of the plate (the usual place for a fork), and the spoon at the right of the plate (the usual place for a spoon). Having both spoon and fork at the same side of the plate would give an unbalanced appearance to the place-setting. (Incidentally, many hostesses always place a knife at the right of the plate, even though a knife might not be considered necessary. They realize that some people, particularly those who rest in the Continental method, like to have a knife to use if they wish so. Also, placing a knife does make for a better balance and "finish" to the place-setting.)

By BOYD UPPER

Where do we go from here, boys, where do we go from here?

Don McKevitt's epistle in yesterday's edition of the Great Family Journal, gave 11,000 very good reasons why he declined to sponsor a senior "B" team here this winter. Don's fact-filled letter left little doubt that under present operating conditions any sponsor would stand to lose a whopping lot of wampum.

"I don't have to sponsor hockey," said Don in an interview Friday. "I was doing it because I like sport and I thought that the arena was going to be sold. It cost $16,000 to operate last year and last year was the first year it would call a good year at the gate. I figured if I could pare about $5,000 or $6,000 off expenses I could afford to operate at a loss of about three or four thousand dollars. If I could have figured on that kind of loss I would have gone ahead. But spending $25,000 at the club at $24,000 a year and paying players $25,000 or it don't be done in Belleville. I would have had to find $11,000 somewhere and it is too much for me to find."

It must be remembered that last year's Memos were about $5,000 in the red after spending 100 per cent of the gate. Normally the Arena Commission would have taken 40 per cent of last year's gates, or more than $10,000. But the Commission poured its take back into the players' salaries. That was the Commission in out of hockey as a sponsor, and to encourage Don McKevin's sponsorship agreed to cut its take to 30 per cent of receipts. Even that concession would have left Don with about $11,000 to make up from his expected revenue to meet expenses.

"I can't pay local players $60 a week and imports $100 a week. I just can't do it," said Don.

He also had quite a bit to say about the 15 per cent expenses pool. Figures on last year's operations explain his reluctance to meet with any money at all. Originally he was faced with the prospect of having to save up $4,500 of his own money after the best of circumstances. Belleville drew $2,856.85 into the expenses pool last year and got back only $2,770.97. In other words the Mimico Monarchs played up $1,200 at the box office to the league. Kingston Goodyears, with their big attendance, naturally paid the biggest share into the pool and took the biggest chunk out. Belleville got no gravy from the pool, contrary to the general impression of hockey fans unable to understand the workings of it. Any sponsor willing to put $4,000 of his own money into the sport just to keep his hometown fans hockey can be pardoned for not wanting to contribute another $1,100 to the cause of hockey in other cities.

With the Memos now apparently defunct for this year, and with Peterborough definitely out for a season, the Eastern Ontario Senior "B" League has four teams — Kingston, Brockville, Cornwall and Whitby. Whether or not the "western division" of the league inoperative one wonders whether Whitby may not find the long hauls cast a little wearying. It's a thought.

A BIG GAME

Although the 1955 summer has been a rather weak baseball season in Belleville, with no senior club, lovers of the sport have the opportunity to witness a pair of smart young junior clubs in action here this afternoon.

The Haggis Juniors of this city are hosts to the Oshawa Green Transporters at Jubilee Park at 2.30 p.m. in the second game of their OBA Junior series. Oshawa took the first game in the Motor City last week-end by a 5-3 score and the Haggis group must win this afternoon or hang up their stikes for the year.

Coach Al Kelleher has worked the boys every night this week in an effort to have them at their peak for this one. Mistakes made in last Saturday's game were pointed out and corrected while hours have been taken up in the batting cage. Fifteen of the boys went down on strikes before the Transporters right-hander but they swear it will be different today.

Kelleher will likely stick with the same lineup with the exception of his pitching choice. Leo St. Denis will toe the rubber with Don Cherry or Stan Reid ready to take over should trouble arise.

Oshawa will be out to wrap up the series in two straight games but if Belleville plays the ball game expected of, there should be a third game sometime next week. A little support from the grandstand wouldn't hurt. How about backing them up?

OASA PLAYDOWNS

The big question in softball circles is whether the Point Anne Cementmen can lose the first game of the series to a strong club like Peterborough Seabrooke Motors and come back to win two straight.

They accomplished the first half of the feat on their home diamond Thursday evening with both clubs playing below par. The third and deciding game of the series has been scheduled for the Bowl at Peterborough Tuesday night at 8.30 p.m.

These same two teams hooked up last year and the Peiters won that one when Bobby Hunter to back Maracle pitched and hurled both games of the series and will probably throw again Tuesday. Jim Driscoll will likely fire for Seabrookes since "Lefty" Doris was no puzzle to the Cementmen last game.

Meanwhile the Belleville Bafcats will finally see action in their quest for the Intermediate "AA" title. After a three-week layoff, caused by Kingston's defaulting the series, the Ontario semi-finals here on Monday against either Oshawa or Peterborough.

These clubs hook up in the third game of their series in Peterborough tonight and Mr. Temple has arranged for the winners to come here for a 8.00 p.m. game at the CNRAA Park. The Bobcats went to the provincial finals last season before Toronto eliminated them and they are determined to take the works this season.

Coach Herb Henn will send one of his two aces, either Al "Bearcat" Adams or Vic "No-hit" Allan to the mound in an attempt to grab that all-important first win. Sounds like a good way for district softball fans to spend the holiday afternoon.

Cleveland Indians in Hole By Losing First of Crucial Series to White Sox by 8-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chicago and New York, with the pitching and the timely hits, are off by themselves in the American League race today. Cleveland, Indians, who had neither, are in third place tied in a hole, ...

White Sox, with Jack Harshman tossing a four-hitter, smacked 14 hits while trouncing the Tribe 8-1 Friday night in the opener of a crucial four-game series. Yankees, meanwhile, claimed second place all for themselves, half a game behind Chicago, as Whitey Ford coasted Washington and Mickey Mantle delivered a three-run homer in a 4-2 win.

All of which left Indians 1½ games behind White Sox, fighting to gain at least a split with Chicago while concentrating with two doubleheaders in the next three days.

GAME AND LOST

Cleveland, however, grumbled and lost with Bal (6-3) Maglie—pulling the pressure game on Ralph Kiner's Wynn today and Bob Lemon and Mike Garcia Sunday with the hope that the Yanks can beat Kansas City Labor Day. ... ...

White Sox had the guns at Cleveland. Minnie Minoso drove in three runs with a pair of singles and a two-run homer as Sox battered Maglie and four relievers The lone Tribe run came on Ralph Kiner's home run in the sixth. ... ...

Ford, who had a one - hitter against Cleveland two years ago, was deprived of a shutout by a walk and an error by Irv Noren. Whitey walked Vern Stephens to open the second and, after one man was retired, Carlos Paula lined a clean single to left, which Noren muffed. Vernon scored on the boot and Paula chugged to third, scoring on an infield out moments later. ... ...

TWO HITS

Billy Martin, with two hits in his first game on furlough from the army, singled to open the Yank sixth off Bob Feller, followed by a single and then Mantle slammed his 36th home run into the right field seats off Bob (10-16) Porterfield. ... ...

The Boston Red Sox beat Baltimore 8-3, coupling four of their eight hits and an error in the sixth for a 3-2 tie with three runs in the eighth. Ted Williams parked his 26th homer.

Detroit had boosters by Al Kaline and Harv Kuenn's four hits but 7-6 at Kansas City.

BINDER WITH 41st

In the National Brooklyn beat Pittsburgh 2-0 with Duke Snider's 41st homer with one on in the sixth.

Milwaukee fell 14 games back as Cincinnati beat Warren Spahn 3-0 on Ted Kluszewski's 44th home run and Hockey Bridges' first.

Ernie Banks hammered his 40th homer, his first in 18 games, for a major league record 9th shortstop as Chicago Cubs belted St. Louis 12-2.

Robin Roberts won his 22nd, although not around for the finish as Philadelphia beat New York 5-3.

Schedule of Last Three Days Favors Royals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There is no doubt about it now. The race for the International League pennant is strictly a Montreal-Toronto affair with the schedule for the last three days favoring the pace-setting Royals.

The Cuban Sugar Kings lost their very slim chance of catching the leaders Friday night when they dropped a 6-3 decision to Toronto.

The defeat put the Cubans 8½ games back with only five games against Richmond remaining on their schedule. ... ...

The Royals, who are title today and then close out the regular season with four games against the Rochester Red Wings at home, maintained their half-game advantage over the Maple Leafs by downing the Columbus Jets 7-4 as southpaw Ken Lehman hung up his 21st victory — tops in the league. He has lost nine. ... ...

COAST'S HOME

The Leafs, who have had one game rained out because of rain, also are idle today and then finish the week with a pair of double-headers against the Buffalo Bisons at home. The Bisons concluded their home season Friday night in defeat, dropping a 10-4 decision to the Syracuse Chiefs.

Richmond Virginians defeated Rochester 5-0 in the circuit's other game Friday night behind the two-hit pitching of Bill Connally.

In chalking up his 21st win for Montreal, Lehman gave up the Jets' two runs in the fourth when he yielded three of his eight hits and two walks. But the Royals bounced back for five runs in their half of the inning and Lehman coasted home.

Archie Wilson drove in three runs and Mike Ballart sent two across in leading the Leafs to their triumph over the Cubans.

Carmelo Costa Earns Fight With Champion

NEW YORK (AP) — Featherweight champion Sandy Saddler is overdue for a title defense and fleetfooted, fast punching Carmelo Costa may get the chance he seeks with his victory over Bobby Bell.

The tiny, 21-year-old Brooklynite of Youngstown, Ohio, in a brilliantly boosted his chances by edging Bell by television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden Friday night. The decision, by a split 2-1 vote, ran Costa's unbeaten streak to five fights.

Matchmaker Billy Brown of the International Boxing Club said "Costa earned the title fight" and declared he would try to make the match at a Tuesday conference with Charley Johnston, manager of Saddler.

An 8-5 favorite, Costa 125½ clinched the tight tussle with a dazzling exhibition in the last three rounds after being staggered by a left hook in the seventh by the wild swinging Bell 126½.

Pitching—Whitey Ford, Yankees, hung up his second major-league one-hitter although a walk and error spoiled his shutout bid, while limiting Washington to Carlos Paula's seventh-inning single in a 6-3 victory.

Batting — Minnie Minoso, White Sox, drove in three runs with two singles and a home run in a crucial 8-1 win over Indians.

Swaps Will Be Out of Racing For Three Months

CHICAGO (AP) — Swaps is to undergo surgery on his right front foot and will be out of competition for at least three months, Rex Ellsworth, owner of the great three-year-old, said Friday.

The California-bred chestnut was beaten by 6½ lengths by Bolair Stud's Nashua Wednesday in a $100,000 match race at Washington Park. Ellsworth said trainer Meshach Tenney said Thursday that soreness was discovered in Swaps' foot.

The Kentuck Derby winner, beaten only by Nashua in nine starts this year, probably next will race at the Santa Anita meeting in California if his foot responds to treatment.

"Before surgery can be performed, we will have to wait until the soreness is gone," said Ellsworth. "We pulled his shoe off today and got into the foot. After trimming it down, we found a definite soft spot that had been getting thinner and thinner for some time. Trainer Jimmy Jones of Calumet Farm stood by while we trimmed and concurred that surgery was needed."

Teuton Teamed Win Another Unpopular Victory Over Team Of Doug Hepburn, Pat Fraley

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Fritz Von Erich and Karl Von Schober apparently took up a new and up-to-date course in criminology during the past week, or so it seemed at Memorial Arena last night as they slewed their way to an unpopular victory over Doug Hepburn and Pat Fraley in the weekly wrestling card.

The Teuton Terrors had the crowd in a blood-hungry mood throughout the match as they attempted to tear out the optical of the muscled pair, not to mention kicking in a few ribs, gouging a couple of groins and shutting off an equal number of jugular veins.

After Herr Vons had captured the first fall and the Hepburn-Fraley combination came back to win the second, the German team decided that two-on-one odds in their favor was the easiest way to win. They pulled which ever hero happened to be present at the time into their corner and went to work on him.

They kicked Mr. Hepburn in the stomach or kidneys, which ever happened to be pointed in their direction at the moment. Big Doug did not appreciate this however and clamped a terrific headlock on Von Erich. He had him in a bad way but suddenly decided to let buddy Fraley have some fun. This was a mistake. Erich promptly clawed Pat's eyes, rendering him sightless, and dragged him to the villain's corner.

As Schober's henchmen would say, "Pow". Boy, did they let 'em have it with everything but the kitchen sink. They gouged him, strangled him, kicked him, punched him, pulled his hair, kneed him, elbowed him and banged him against the ring post. What was referee Joe Gollhop doing? Why arguing with Hepburn about who was going to win the American League pennant, of course. Hepburn succeeded in entering the ring finally, but only to drag off his limp partner after Gollhop counted three. Fraley was out like a light and the Teuton Terrors had racked up another triumph.

Karl and Fritz took the opening fall in 16 minutes but each team had it's good moments in this one. Schober leered all over the place but did not find the oppositions' muscles to his liking. All four men plus someone in white roared about the ring all at once for a while and Hepburn put Erich into a sub-conscious state with a fourth headlock at one time. He got out of it however and won the fall with a knee to Fritz's groin after a bit of bouncing off the ropes by both contestants.

GOOD OVER EVIL

The world's strongest man and the big Brahman had things all their way in the second fall, giving the villains a real going over. They gave Herr Vons a bit of their own medicine at one point, working them over, one at a time in the corners. Hepburn gained the fall in seven minutes, lifting Erich upon his shoulders and juggling him there until a couple were ready to (or so it seemed to his trunks) snapped.

So far the German pair have had things pretty much their own way here but it Mr. Tunney could find it possible to send Whipper Watson and Lord Layton against them, they might get a little different.

Firpo Zbyzko and George Scott battled to a 30-minute draw in the opener while Bob Leduc and Jerry Scott hooked up in a battle of science in the semi-windup with Leduc pinning Scott in 15 minutes.

"LOOK OUT! IT'S A HAYMAKER"

Up from the floor comes this punch of Ezzard Charles (white trunks) as Hurricane Jackson looks rosy in the second round of their ten-round bout at Cleveland arena recently. The sluggers then left-hooked bout at Cleveland arena recently. The sluggers headlined the first Cleveland boxing show in months in that city, which saw Jackson awarded a unanimous 10-round decision over Charles. Charles was staging a re-match with Jackson following a recent trimming.

Shannonville scored two runs in the bottom of the sixth as darkness descended on last night's edge Cannifton 5-3 and knot their four-of-seven South Hastings Baseball League finals at two games each. The fifth game will be played at Cannifton on Monday and the sixth in Shannonville on Wednesday.

Harvey Sellers pitched for the losers, fanning six and passing one, while Bill for the winners passed one and struck out two.

In the bottom of the first Marner got a walk, Reid a single and Sero a double to bring two across the plate.

Cannifton scored one run in the second and third innings. Baker and Sheffield hit doubles in the second; Marner and Moore with single hits with Marner scoring which tied up the ball game.

Cannifton added one more in the fifth on doubles by Harder and MacDonald.

Shannonville tied it up again in the bottom of the fifth on Barberock's single.

The winners scored two more in the sixth in the twilight after the nine drive saw a nice double play to get Reid at third base.

Sero's safe infield hit and G. Lewis' hard-hit fly ball to the outfield brought in two runs.

VIRGINIA GRANT WINS

BLACKPOOL, England (CP) — Virginia Grant of Toronto Friday won the 220-yard free style title by one-tenth of a second in the British Amateur Swimming Association championships here. She was clocked at 2:47.7. Second was Angela Barnwell of England in 2:34.6 and Pearne Kwat of England placed third with the same time.

ARCHIE WANTS QUIET

NORTH ADAMS, Mass. (AP) — Challenger Archie Moore, growing more irritable from concentrated training, Friday banned interviews during the next periods. Snapped the light heavyweight champion: "I'll be pleased to meet everyone at Clover's Bowl where I do my boxing but from now on in, when I'm supposed to be resting, I don't want to break it up with press interviews. I'm training for the fight of my life with Rocky Marciano on Sept. 20 and I want to be set for it."

Playing Coach Of Argos May Return to Lions

TORONTO (CP) — The Star says Jungle Jim Martin, playing coach with Toronto Argonauts football club, soon may return to Detroit Lions.

An Argo official, informed of the report, replied: "That's news to me."

Harry Sosnihne, Argo team manager, was not available for comment.

Martin had served half a two-year contract with Lions of the National Football League before he jumped it to join Argos of the Big Four.

A judge in Martin's hometown of Long Beach, Calif., signed an injunction depriving Argos of Martin's services, reported reahon for Martin's decision.

SETS GIBRALTAR MARK

TARIFA, Spain (AP)—Segundo Castello, 22, an unknown Spanish swimmer, swam the Strait of Gibraltar Friday and lowered the record held by Portuguese Benedita Pereira by six minutes. He was timed in 4 hours, 58 minutes.

Snead, Souchak Lead in $20,000 Golf Tourney

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Sam Snead and Mike Souchak carved out-five-under-par 66s Friday to share the first-round lead in the $20,000 Insurance City open golf tournament, but they played second fiddle to an amateur who scored two amazing holes-in-one.

Jerry Kesselring of Kitchener, Ont., was tied with seven other players at 68.

Bill Ghedon, of Farmington, Conn., set what must be a record for a major tournament with aces on the fifth and ninth holes. PGA tournament director Ray O'Brien said he had never heard of anyone scoring two holes-in-one in one round of a major tournament before.

The young amateur, who wound up with a 36-32-75, used a five iron on the 168-yard fifth. He holed his second ace with a No. 1 iron on the 208-yard ninth.

Later in the day, Gene Littler, Palm Springs, Calif., scored the third hole-in-one of the tournament with a No. 5 iron on the 164-yard 13th hole. Littler shot a 35-34-69.

Lester Patrick Out of Hockey After 72 Years

VICTORIA (CP) — Lester Patrick, the "Silver Fox" of hockey, officially retired Friday from the game he has been associated with for most of his 72 years.

Announcement of his retirement followed completion of a transaction in which he severed active connection with Victoria Cougars of the Western Hockey League.

The club has been taken over by his two sons, Murray and Lynn, and a group of Victoria businessmen, which will have control of the team. Details of the transaction, under way for several weeks, were not disclosed.

Patrick, former head of New York Rangers of the National Hockey League, was major stockholder in the Cougars.

PLAYED AT 18

Born in Drummondville, Que., Dec. 30, 1883, Lester played his first hockey there. He inaugurated the game's first major farm system and, with brother Frank, the profitable playoff system and dozens of rule improvements.

He played hockey until the age of 39, starring on defence. He either played with or managed 15 clubs in the Stanley Cup finals.

Picking up the nickname "Silver Fox" when his hair turned white as early age, Lester quit hockey in 1947 as vice-president of Madison Square Garden. That same year he was admitted to membership in Hockey's Hall of Fame at Kingston, Ont.

Coming out of retirement in 1946 he started the Victoria Cougars and joined the rejuvenated Pacific Coast League, later to become the Western Hockey League.

NEW RECORD FOR TWO MILES

A last minute sprint by Miss Leila Buckland broke the tape to win the two-mile event in a time trial scratch event at London's Charlton Park, setting an unofficial record of 11:11.8.

Trailermen Win Third Straight From Fergus 18-6

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—Peterborough Trailermen defeated Fergus Thistles 18-6 before less than 1,000 fans Friday to take a 3-0 lead in the best-of-seven, eastern Canada senior A lacrosse finals. Fourth game is in Fergus tonight.

Top-sniper of the night for the winners was tall Harry Whipper Watt with four. Bobby Allan notched four as two apiece were counted by Cecil Mason, Lou Nickle, Carl Beioux and Bob Curtis.Rock Bailey got the other one leading in assists was Ike Hildebrand with six. Best for Thistles was Don Gear with three. A stiff hill bit for two and Jerry Fitzgerald one.

ARGOS PICK CAPTAINS

TORONTO (CP) — Guard Bill Albright, formerly of New York Giants, was chosen Friday night as offensive captain of Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football Union. Tackle Billy Shipp was named defensive captain.

Solmar Notes

Random Notes From The Outdoors

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT, (Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Solmar Tables)

In July, 1953, I spent a pleasant three weeks in the Bahamas, fishing among the out islands and exploring more-or-less uncharted waters. Pat McCarthy, of the Nassau Development Board, and I had been commissioned by the Development Board to investigate some of the outlying territory.

There are some 72,000 square miles of potentially good fishing water in the Bahamas. Of the vast area only about 20,000 square miles are known and accurately charted. Don and I, operating out of the cruiser Eustasia, Capt. Milton Pierce, had an extremely interesting time of it, fishing waters which never had been visited by sport fishermen.

At that time, about the only way to go fishing in the remote out of Nassau was to charter a cruiser. That is rather expensive business. In the past two years, however, fishing camps have been springing up throughout the Islands.

Now it is possible to find comfortable quarters right in the good fishing areas. No longer is a yacht necessary. All "you need is a skiff and a guide and you sleep ashore each night.

If you want information, firsthand, about the fabulous fishing to be found in the Bahamas, write to my good friend Pat McCarthy, Nassau Development Board, Nassau, Bahama Islands.

LITTERBUGS

New Hampshire may have the solution to the litterbug problem. Their legislature has just passed a new law.

Of course, a great many states have laws that impose arrest and fines on anyone who scatters trash or rubbish about the countryside. Evidently this is not enough as the trash-throwers continue to litter the camp sites and the amateur scenic still paint names and initials on rocks.

Now New Hampshire not only fines anyone who is convicted of such misbehavior; also, the offender stands a good chance of losing his fishing and shooting licence for a year. Maybe that one will do some good.

NATIONAL PARKS

Most folks don't realize it, but we have in this big country of ours 181 million acres of forest land that have been set aside as national parks and national forest areas. 000 winner-take-all match race in Some of these areas are closed to Chicago.

FISHING

Fishing and shooting but a great deal of this government-owned territory is open to both.

People who visit these areas must check with the Forest Service, which maintains convenient field offices. Last year, 1954, hung up an all-time record of attendance. More than 46 million visits recorded—somewhat in excess of double the total for 1941.

Small wonder that the outdoor writers and the conservationists of the country scream to the high heavens when these recreational areas are threatened by such things as army acquisition or governmental dam builders.

GAME-BIRD POPULATIONS

The dry weather and general lack of rainfall throughout the country is showing its various effects. Because of dry nesting grounds, duck populations are down somewhat from former years. Missouri reports that the nesting of wood ducks in that state is off 23 per cent from last year.

Conversely, warm weather and the gradual drying out of climate in what used to be called the "temperate zone" has resulted in a decided increase in the mourning-dove population of the temperate states. As you know, the daily temperatures of such states as Mississippi average an average of four degrees higher than the temperatures of 10 or 15 years ago.

Thus, mourning doves can now winter in places where, a few years ago, the ground was covered with one flock of doves wintered on the outskirts of Toronto. Chicago. No longer are these birds available to the guns of the southern states. That is a decided break for the mourning dove. The rank and file of the gunners in our temperate states still think of upland shooting in terms of woodcock, grouse, and ringneck pheasants.

The ammunition companies tell us that the dove ranks third in importance as a game bird in this country. Quail is first and ringneck pheasant second. It is a pleasant thing to see this little speed king, the mourning dove, on the increase. Maybe, dry, hot weather does have some advantages after all.

NASHUA DOING FINE

NEW YORK (AP)—Nashua returned home in "splendid shape" Friday to receive a hero's welcome from cheering admirers at Aqueduct race track. Every groom and stable boy was at the barn as the big, mahogany bay colt walked down the ramp at Aqueduct with his bone track. On Wednesday he defeated Swaps, his only 1953 conqueror, by 6½ lengths in a $100,-

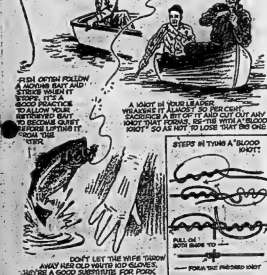
Merchants Win, Advance in OASA

FRANKFORD (Special) — The Frankford Merchants advanced into the third round of the OASA Intermediate city playdowns last night when they whipped the Cobourg Indians 11-6 in the third game of their series at Cobourg. The Merchants will now meet either Whitby or Alexandria next in the initial frame to get Frankford off to a good start and they were never threatened, finishing with another trio in the eighth. Cobourg chained single markers in the second, fifth and ninth innings.



Doug Palmer went the route for the victors, allowing but five scattered hits while striking four and passing two. Wickson was his receiver. McIvor and Bevan was the loser's mound duo, giving up seven safeties while fanning five and walking eight. The loser's were poor in the field, committing six errors to the Merchants' one.

Ross Dafoe was the only winner with two hits, banging a brace of singles while Mike Cosgrove hit a two-bagger. Singles went to Ray Cooke, Carl Austin, Harry Wickson and Gib Gilmour.

McIlporas paced the Indians with a double and single while Hogan and Jones had doubles. McIver sided his own cause with a single.

Two Men Pulled From Lake, Only 3rd-Way Across

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE (CP) — Two men who set out Friday night to swim across Lake Ontario to Toronto were pulled from the water after they had gone about a third of the 35-mile distance.

Eberhardt Mattczynski, 25, of Toronto entered the water here at 8 p. m. EDT. He was pulled out at 4:25 a. m. after he had gone 14 miles. Peter Balenkil, 25, of Dorval, Que., started at 8:10 p. m. and was pulled out at 12:25 a. m. He covered 10 miles.

A third man, George Sawyer, 36, a civic employee at Niagara Falls, Ont., started with Mattczynski but gave up after two hours because of severe leg cramps.

It was Mattczynski's second attempt this week. He was pulled out of the lake early Sunday when a sudden squall blew up after he was more than half way across.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Monday, September 5, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Very stimulating, prosperous rays for worthwhile interests, activities. Nevertheless care is stressed neither to overdo nor to be too exacting of others.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — A favorable, pleasant day. But in personal desires, things of a selfish nature, be circumspect. It can be a day for sound achievement, financial gain in business, new ventures.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Favorable but not over-stimulating rays now, going to fine influences for tomorrow. Plan carefully, wisely for the whole week's doings. Check back to find where in you can improve; then forward.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Responsive rays encourage dealings with superiors, persons in high governmental positions, and with foreign firms. New clients, customers, advantageous leads indicated, favored.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Energy, stimulus high and should be used opportunely on this generally fortunate day. At the same time, avoid a tendency toward irritability. Calmness and patience are great teammates. Aspects sponsor advancement.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Mental strain, worry taboo! Gather your opportunities (and there are many) and put them to work for you, but do not force issues that seem to need more study or time for maturity.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — More auspicious for matters of a general nature than for attaining private desires or gain. A responsive period for community and national interests.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Fine influences for sound and practical tasks and for undertakings of magnitude. However, your Mars' position cautions against disagreeable contention with business associates or family.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Encouraging Jupiter rays now, plus other splendid aspects, augur for an enlivening day. Don't fear to try new, proven methods or implements.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — While sane caution is urged in dangerous assignments, handling money, all intricate machinery and tools, this day is generally progressive, can be productive of much future good.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — You may experience unexpected changes that will be of value, new ideas, methods. Day greatly favors dealing with electronics, inventions, unusual matters; travel.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — This should be a pleasant period for daily chores, an opportune one for your particular occupation or personal interests. Be mindful first of the urgent matters; then calmly tackle others.

You born today are active mentally, physically; can become skilled in any profession, trade or business for which you have talent and liking. You make excellent journalists, reporters, scientists, writers, secretaries, also teachers and actors. Many Virginans find the decorating, dressmaking, designing, cutting, sewing and painting fields the ones in which improving your talents; study, read, take up a hobby to divert you from routine. Don't get in a rut. You are usually delightful company, entertaining. Be less critical of others' actions.

CRASH KILLS ONE

COBOURG, Ont. (CP) — C. H. Bribbin, a farmer in this area, was killed and his wife was critically injured at a level crossing near here Thursday night when their car was hit by a train. The car was carried along the track for 300 feet and Mrs. Bribbin was hurled from it as it was cut in two. She suffered critical injuries. Police said there are seven tracks at the crossing and there is no signal.

GOLDENEOD

Down by the spring in the clover meadow
Enhancing the glow of the Summer day,
Heralding Autumn's gleam and glamor,
Goldenrod flaunts its banners gay.

It gladdens the lonely wayside places,
It brightens the meadows brown and sear,
But tho' we joy in its new-found grace
It tells that the Autumn days are near.

It speaks to us of summer's passing
With all its joys of shade and shine,
And brings to mind in tender fashion
The Summer joys that once were mine.

What memories cling round the golden banners
Of Summers past with their hope and cheer,
When life held nought but gold and glamor
With love and friendship ever near.

—Helen B. Anderson.

WELLINGTON — A cluster of goldenrod among the perennials of my garden reminds one of the array of goldenrod at the Spring in my country home which always heralded the approach of Autumn.

And other signs of the passing season are noted in the passing of trucks laden with corn, pumpkins and tomatoes for the canning factories of which I believe there are four in the town, namely Lipton's, Platt's, Greer's and the Canadian Canners. These employ a large number of workers, some new at the work finding the tomato peeling very arduous. Not only are the town workers busy for the farmer-folk are eating on idle bread.

Mr. and Mrs. MacArthur and family of Welland were week-end guests of Mrs. Edna Platt. Thomson, Richard, returned home with them after spending the summer in Wellington.

Miss Mary Lamb is spending a few days with friends in Belleville and Bowmanville.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Ainsworth were tea-hour guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carley on Sunday.

Mrs. H. Tayler and David with Mrs. Gay are enjoying holidays in the U.S.A., returning home by way of Toronto Exhibition.

The sale of household effects was conducted at the home of the late Mrs. W. Monaghan on Saturday afternoon. Miss Jennie Monaghan of Windsor and Mrs. Bertha Wishart of Toronto, daughters of the late W. Monaghan were present.

Mr. and Mrs. George Valleau, Melville, were in town Saturday evening.

Miss Dorothy Tayler, Toronto, returned home on Friday evening after enjoying several weeks' holiday here.

Mrs. Alberta Smith entertained her cousin Miss Hyatt of Niagara, last week.

Mr. Ellis Durant is now able to resume work after a prolonged illness.

Mrs. Neilson and her Toronto guest called on Miss Mary Lamb on Saturday.

Billy Vandewater, who has been enjoying holidays with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Vandewater, will soon be leaving for Nanaimo, B.C. to resume training.

Two little girls, Harriet and Mary Boyle, who have been enjoying holidays with their grandparents, Mrs. T. Boyle and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Park, left for their home Sunday where they will visit awhile before returning to their home in Michigan.

Miss Helen Arthur and Mrs. (Dr.) Boyd of Belleville motored to Wellington on Tuesday and with Miss Marjorie Blakely spent the day in Picton.

Miss Marjie Platt, Toronto, spent the week-end at her home in Wellington.

Miss E. E. Blakely and Miss Marjorie Blakely spent a few days at Bath and Kingston, guests of Mrs. Leona Whyte. Dr. Don Wayte of Ottawa Civic Hospital, and his daughter, are guests of his mother, Mrs. L. Whyte over the week-end.

A card received from Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morton, who are on holiday has the following message:

"Here we are enjoying ourselves. It has been a wonderful trip around the Gaspe Peninsula. May be home some time next week".

AFTER SUMMER HOLIDAYS

The best part of holidays
Is the coming home,
Happy feet are they that turn
From the world to roam;
Just the first small glimpse you get
Seems to thrill you through
Of your house among the trees
Smiling out at you.

Coming home to plants and things
On the window sill,
Same old row of poplar trees
There against the hill;
Rooms look kind of cozy-like
At the dusk of day,
Seem like friends you've met
Since we've been away.

Coming home to school and work
(Do old routine things),
Health in every pulsing vein,
Seem to move on-wings;
Dear familiar sounds and feels,
Fireplace and den,
Holidays are wonderful
When you're home again!

Boy, 5, Gives Gruenther Salute, Receives Penknife

SOEST, Germany (Reuters) — Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, commander of NATO, exchanged salutes with Sverre-Carl Gjems Robert Kyle of Ottawa, before a march-past of Canadian brigade troops in Germany.

Bobby, who wore a kilt and tam o'shanter, was one of about 1,000 children who had come to watch the show on Friday.

He walked up to the general and gave the salute. Gruenther returned it, then pulled a penknife with pearl handle and the SHAPE (supreme headquarters allied powers in Europe) crest from his pocket and presented it to the boy. Bobby's father, Cpl. Jim Kyle of Ottawa, served with the Canadian infantry brigade here.

In a speech to troops at Fort York, Gruenther said the Canadian infantry brigade has made a "significant increase to European morale," and has helped particularly to improve German-Allied relations.

"Canada can well be proud of you. . . . I think anything this Canadian brigade decides to do it will always be able to do."

Building to Set New Records

TORONTO (CP)—It is almost certain that 1955 will be a record year in the Canadian construction industry, says Hugh C. MacLean Building Reports.

Total contracts for the first eight months of the year are $1,965,957,500, up $374,071,000 over the same period in 1954 and $373,316,500 over the same period in 1951, the present record year. The 12-month total in 1951 was $2,295,000,000.

Contract awards in August totalled $337,542,800, up $174,768,300 from August a year ago, and a record for the month.

150,000 New Students Expected To Enrol in Primary, Secondary Schools in Canada on Tuesday

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadian children return to school after the Labor Day week-end and are expected to tax to the limit the new facilities provided by struggling departments of education.

Across Canada the picture is the same. A Canadian Press survey shows that more schools have been built, more teachers have been trained—hurriedly, in many cases—and there are more students.

About 150,000 new students are expected to enrol in primary and secondary schools this fall, including 60,000 in Ontario and 40,000 in Quebec. Total enrolment will be about 3,000,000. In 1945 enrolment was 2,000,000. In the same 10-year period the population increase for the whole of Canada has been about 2½ per cent.

HARD-HIT GRADES

The tidal wave of new children born in the years after the Second World War has reached grades 1, 7, 8 and 9, and it is in these grades that the teacher-classroom shortage is expected to be felt most.

However, departments of education have been adjusted to cope with the shortage and are paying more attention to the quality of instruction. Pilot classes for gifted children have been set up in such centres as Toronto, Montreal and Winnipeg and more are being set up as teachers become available.

Most of the new enrolments are in the suburbs of major cities. Half of the 5,000 new students expected in Alberta will enrol in Edmonton schools. The Edmonton board of education has built 12 new classrooms and hired 237 new teachers to handle them.

Three Toronto suburbs — Etobicoke, North York and Scarborough townships — have built 30 new schools and about 100 classroom additions to accommodate the expected 18,000 new students and relieve the existing classroom shortage. More than 100 classrooms have been added to public and separate school facilities in Ottawa. There are 190 new classrooms in greater Winnipeg, and in Quebec province 360 new schools with 1,873 classrooms have been built, mostly in urban areas.

RURAL AREAS SUFFER

The teacher shortage exists in rural more than in urban areas because of the lower salaries offered by rural school boards. Several provinces have dropped some qualification requirements in order to attract more young teachers. Ontario held its first summer short-term teachers' course this year and 400 teacher-students obtained temporary certificates. Alberta and Manitoba offered a similar short-term course.

In British Columbia, 14,000 new pupils are expected. Thirty-six new classrooms have been added in Vancouver and no crowding is expected, but in Victoria some classes will have to double up. The University of British Columbia is building a new college of education, expected to be operating next year, in an effort to relieve the teacher shortage.

Mr. Gordon Reid and Miss Dorothy Reid, Toronto, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Tanner, on Saturday and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Reid were dinner guests at the same home on Sunday.

The McMurray family re-union was held on the spacious lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Hagerman on Sunday. A splendid number of the relatives were present and enjoyed a bountiful dinner and visit.

Misses Jean and Carol Sine spent the week-end in Toronto and attended the exhibition.

Messrs. Marvin Sine and Ted Colden enjoyed a trip to Ottawa, over the week-end.

Mrs. L. B. Wallace spent a few days visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. Charlton, Belleville, last week.

Garden Notes

Preparing the Lawn in Fall

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

Fall is the best time to build a new lawn.

Before we begin let us consider the needs of a good lawn. Of first importance is good drainage. If water lays on the surface or just below it, the soil will become sour. You cannot maintain a good lawn on that.

To cure this defect, grade the lawn gently toward the street, or lay field tile and drain it into a cinder basin, placed well below the natural water level. You may drain the tile into the dowh spout of the eaves from your house.

The composition of your soil is the next thing to consider. If you have heavy clay and the hard pan turned out from the basement excavation, you will need some lightening material.

Sand or cinders must have air and water. Neither of these can get through clay.

Take off the top four inches of soil. Break up the sub-soil and mix it with a good quantity of sand, or fine cinders to make it more porous. To this add a thin layer of cinders. This makes a good lime must not be added to the top layer.

OMIT LAND

If the sub-soil is sandy omit the sand or cinders. Now add a generous layer of humus. Well rotted manure, peat moss, compost, or even the ground corncob preparations. Spread it on and dig it in. When replacing the top soil discard all old grass roots and weeds. Add a generous quantity of lime and more humus if the soil is clay, include a slow acting fertilizer such as bone, or cotton-seed meal. New grass does not need fertilizer, but it will be there when needed in spring to maintain constant growth.

Having spread the top soil, break it up very fine, including all lumps. When the soil is dry roll the lawn up and down diagonally or it will pack too hard for the new seed bed.

You will need two pounds of seed for each 500 square feet. Good seed is expensive. Cheap seed is a waste of time. It will contain a large portion of bulk and little good seed.

From your local seedsman you can buy inoculated seed. It is well worth the extra price for it has been treated to give a quick start and it grows at a fast rate.

If you wish to mix your own seed start with Kentucky Blue grass. It will form a thick turf on a slightly acid or alkaline soil. It starts slowly, but will crowd out weeds when once it becomes established.

Mix with it some Red Top which will make up for the Kentucky Blue deficiencies. It makes a quick start and its fall resting period comes when Kentucky grass has started its new fall growth.

For shady spots include Chewing Fescue. It has a fine texture and will tolerate shade. Another grass for shade is Rough stalked Meadow grass, Poa Trivialis. Poa Nemoralis is also good for shady places. The deeper the shade the more Poa should be included.

Red Fescue and Perennial Rye is often added to Kentucky Blue to make a well balanced mixture.

For those who say they cannot maintain grass under shade we would say that it is usually a lack of nutrition rather than sunlight. Shrubs and trees are heavy feeders. Grass should be fed at three-week intervals where it has to compete with trees, or shrubs.

Having selected your seed divide it in two portions. Now it as it rolled your soil up and down and the other half at right angles. A little finer mixed with the seed will show you where the seed falls and enable you to give a more even coverage. Roll the seed in and spray with a fine mist from the hose. Keep the lawn moist, but not wet, at all-times until the lawn is well established.

Do not apply any commercial fertilizer until spring.

The grass is ready to cut when it is four inches high. Set the blades high until there is a good thick stand of grass.

Wilbert Coffin Uses Soap 'Gun' To Gain Freedom

Ties Up Guards, Flees Jail, Visits Lawyer, Surrenders

By ALEX DIMEO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP)—Convicted murderer Wilbert Coffin bluffed his way out of jail with a gun made of soap early today after tying up seven guards and locking the sergeant-at-arms in the boiler room.

But the 44-year-old Gaspe prospector, sentenced to go to the gallows Sept. 23, was taken into giving himself up by his lawyer after only an hour and a half of freedom.

Lawyer Raymond Maher, who defended the prospector at his trial last year in Perce, Que., said Coffin balked at a few hundred feet from the jail.

A BAD MAN

Coffin, convicted of murdering 21-50-year-old Lindsey, 17-year-old Hol-12-12-year-old Jean Beemer in 1953.

Good-by way out of the prison at ners at a.m. EDT. He arrived at a.m. at 2:10 a.m. and me," said he told Coffin to lie 73. 18" — the jail for fear of shooting by armed provincial and municipal police who were called out following the escape.

Coffin also threw the gun on the taxi driver during the ride, but then put it back in his pocket, Maher said. He quoted Coffin as saying: "I just wanted to show you I'm not a bad man and didn't kill Lindsey."

Young Lindsey's bear-gnawed bones, along with those of his father Eugene, 47, and Robert Claar, 20, a friend, were found in Gaspe hushland after they set out on a hunting trip in June, 1953.

Coffin's escape came at a time when it appeared that only a federal cabinet reprieve could save him from the gallows. In Ottawa last week, the Supreme Court of Canada refused to grant Coffin leave to appeal his conviction.

Following that verdict his lawyer said new efforts would be made to have the case go to the appeals

NO RESISTANCE

Maher said Coffin "has been a model citizen and well-behaved and only made the break under the stress of the imprisonment—which is a terrible thing.

"He just wanted to try to show that he is not guilty of the murder."

Maher said Coffin offered no resistance when advised to return to jail and calmly walked into the prison lobby to give himself up.

He was immediately returned to his cell and was reported sleeping two hours later.

Provincial police and police continued to maintain a news blackout on the escape. Reporters were returned away at the jail door by a guard peering through a peephole.

The prison is a huge stone fortress where Coffin has been held since his conviction in July, 1954. It is located near the centre of upper-town Quebec just off busy Grande Allee.

A high wire mesh fence topped by several strands of barbed wire surrounds the inner stone wall. All windows, including those in the administration section, are barred.

It was expected that Coffin would be transferred shortly to Montreal's Bordeaux jail where all executions in the province take place.

Britain Offers Cyprus New Constitution

LONDON (AP) — Britain today offered Cyprus a new constitution giving the Mediterranean island's 500,000 residents more self-rule and the prospect of self-determination in the distant future.

The move, announced by Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan, was intended to break a stalemate among Britain, Greece and Turkey over the future of the disputed island, headquarters of Britain's Middle East command.

Macmillan's proposals were placed before a conference of foreign ministers of the three allied countries who have been meeting here for the last nine days.

The British proposals envisage self-determination only as an ultimate goal which this country would be ready to discuss with the people if they co - operate in making the projected new constitution work.

Turkey wants the 100,000 Turkish-speaking Cypriots to be given greater or confederal rights with Greek-speaking majority—but only after the present dispute of the status of the island has been calmed.

STATUS UNCHANGED

The proposed British constitution, provides for the formation of a legislature elected by a simple majority of Cypriots. That would not exclude Turkish demands for a sort of federal parliamentary structure in which Greek and Turkish-speaking islanders would have equal standing.

The new constitution would leave the status of Cyprus unchanged as a colonial territory within the British Empire.

81 FATALITIES OCCUR IN CANADA OVER WEEKEND

55 Killed on Highways During 3-Day Holiday

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Traffic accidents killed 55 of the 81 persons who died violently in Canada during the three-day Labor Day weekend.

A CAnadian Press survey from 6 p. m. local time Friday to midnight Monday listed 14 drownings and 12 deaths from various other causes.

The count was nearly double the total for the Labor Day weekend last year, when 38 persons died violently. However, it was far short of the total figures for the Dominion Day holiday this year when 96 persons lost their lives.

The highest holiday weekend toll recorded in Canada was 100 during the four-day Dominion Day weekend in 1952.

HIGHEST TOLL

Highest toll among the provinces was that of Ontario, which listed 34 deaths, including 25 in traffic mishaps, seven by drowning and two through other causes.

Quebec's toll was 17, including 12 traffic deaths, one drowning and four miscellaneous deaths.

The country's worst accident was recorded in Alberta where six persons died as a result of a car-truck collision in Clyde, 40 miles north of Edmonton, boosting the province's toll to 12. One person was drowned and three died from other causes.

Eleven persons died violently in Manitoba, seven in traffic accidents. Two were drowned and two times died themselves accidentally.

THREE DROWNINGS

British Columbia had three drownings—all in one accident near Merritt — and one traffic death. The drownings came after a car plunged off a highway into a lake killing three of the four occupants.

New Brunswick recorded two traffic deaths while Nova Scotia had one killed by a falling log. Newfoundland, Prince Edward Island and Saskatchewan were fatality-free.

Largest holiday attraction in the country was the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto. A total of 601,500 persons visited the "ex" during the weekend.

Police said the couple were struck while crossing the road by a car driven by Ray Strange, 24, of suburban Lasalle.

Some Mushrooms Show Ability To Retard, Stop Growth of Cancer

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

EATON RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—An old folklore story says that certain varieties of wild mushrooms may help prevent cancer.

And a scientist who became curious about it has found that extracts from some mushrooms do indeed show ability to retard or stop the growth of some cancers transplanted into mice.

These extracts are not yet pure enough for human tests to discover precisely the old story. But they may provide a new clue for cancer control.

The scientific research into the old wives' tale was described by Dr. E. H. Lucas and Dr. Joseph Stevens of Michigan State University at the opening of the annual meeting of the American Institute of Biological Sciences.

Dr. Lucas became interested in the claim in some Central European countries that people eating a certain species of mushroom named Boletus edulis had few cases of cancer.

He tested an extract from it and found that it could retard growth of some types of experimental cancer in mice.

Since then—five years ago—50 different species of mushrooms have been studied. Extracts from seven of them are found to contain some principle able to slow tumor growth in mice.

Russian Farm Experts Begin Inspection of Ottawa Farm

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The 12 Russian farm experts are scheduled to begin an inspection of the big Central Experimental Farm here today after a weekend of disappointment, handicapping plans and a hurried 400-mile drive to bypass the allegedly unreceptive Toronto.

Federal officials hope the program mapped for today and the remainder of the week may wash away some of the memories of anti - Communist demonstrations and other inklings of unwelcome that led the Reds to cancel a two-day trip to Toronto and a glimpse of the Canadian National Exhibition.

But the feeling still persists in federal quarters that, from a diplomatic viewpoint, the Russian tour in Canada has been far from a complete success. It has become "a bit botched up," one official said Monday.

Diplomats said the responsibility rests with the agriculture department because it handled tour arrangements. Agricultural officials said they took over the arrangements because the external affairs department did not want to handle them.

External affairs issued a statement Monday calling the anti-Red demonstrations at Montreal, Winnipeg and Fort Garry "deplorable." But a department official said the statement could not be described as an official government apology because the incidents were not sufficiently serious to warrant such an apology.

At Vanland, Ont., near Niagara Falls delegation leader Vladimir Matalevich hurriedly called a press conference Sunday and announced a sudden change in plans. They were to by-pass Toronto altogether and travel 400 miles by chartered bus to Ottawa.

The reason, he said, was a Toronto Telegram report that Toronto civic officials planned to ignore the visitors. This was not the Russians' concept of hospitality.

In addition, there had been reports for four previous days that anti-Communists planned a demonstration when the Russians arrived at the exhibition Monday.

Toronto city clerk George Weale said the city had not planned a civic reception, but the police planned to give the Russians an official escort. Controller Brand, acting mayor, said if federal officials had wanted the city to extend an official welcome the least they could have done was to notify us." But Ottawa officials denied this charge.

At another press conference Monday in his Russian hotel room, Mr. Matalevich said that if Toronto officials had wanted to welcome the Russians officially they would have taken steps to prevent the threatening demonstrations.

Federal officials generally admit there has been a great deal of embarrassment over federal tour arrangements.

The Russians got one wish—the chance to see the world-famous Niagara Falls—last Saturday. But even that opportunity was threatened when it was apparently has been ditched because of Ottawa social engagements scheduled for the rest of the

Israel Apologizes to Egypt Saying Border Raid 'Mistake'

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel and Egypt struggled today to maintain an uneasy peace along the Gaza Strip border.

Israel apologized Monday for the "mistake" of firing along the border since both countries renewed their cease-fire pledge last May. The Israelis said one of their patrols had crossed into the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip by accident in "through a mistake."

Egypt's Cairo radio charged 20 soldiers opened fire on an Egyptian outpost. Two Israelis were killed and a third taken prisoner in the ensuing clash. The Egyptians charged that Israel was responsible for returning the two bodies to Israel Monday.

Israel radio into the recent daily violence along the Gaza border, the United Nations Egyptian-Israeli armistice commission held its 160th session since it was history Monday. After 14 hours the commission's French chairman, F. K. Cope said there had been sides had violated their 1948 armistice in the initial incident Aug. 22 —a clash between an Israeli patrol and an Egyptian outpost near Gaza.

"It is impossible in my opinion to decide which side opened fire first," Giscomagal said.

Egypt said the last four killed and nine wounded in the Aug. 22 incident, while Israel reported two dead and five wounded.

Two days later Egypt withdrew its police talks with Israel when Canada's Maj. - Gen. E. L. M. Burns, the UN truce chief, had refused to an effort to free Israel sion in the Gaza area. The Egyptians charged that Israel was trying to use military action to affect the outcome of the talks. Israel in turn accused Egypt of provoking the Aug. 22 clash to torpedo the peace talks.

In the subsequent daily violent flare-ups, fighters were shot down over Israeli territory.

Duke Defended Against Attacks By Free Church

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — Several Melbourne churchmen have defended the Duke of Edinburgh against attacks by the Free Church of Scotland for playing polo and cricket on Sundays.

The Scottish church's magazine, Monthly Record, took the duke to task for captaining a cricket eleven and for playing polo at Windsor on the Sabbath, it also criticized the Queen and other members of the Royal Family for watching the duke play.

The views of several Melbourne churchmen are published here in today's Herald.

Rev. A. Creighton Boyr of Scots Church, Melbourne, says it was "impertinent" to criticize the duke, adding: "The Free Church of Scotland has rights to decide its principles for individuals or members of the Royal Family." Other comment:

NO SIGNIFICANCE

Rev. J. C. White of Calvin Presbyterian church: "The Free Church of Scotland represents a small insignificant section; a very narrow type of churchmanship. Their attack on the duke has no significance at all."

Methodist minister Palmer Phillips: "No one has the right to criticize individuals. Sport as a recreation is harmless."

Fires Threaten Two Priceless Redwood Groves

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Destructive waves of flames threatened two priceless redwood groves today as raging forest fires blaze out of control in northern and central California.

More than 1,500 firefighters battled flames whipping through the Sequoia national forest in the Sierra Nevada mountains. Nearly 17,000 acres already have been blackened.

Other crackling flames reached within a mile of the famed General Grant redwood grove, largest living tree and possibly the oldest living thing on earth. Its age has been estimated at more than 3,000 years.

In the northern section of the state, between 17,000 and 18,000 acres are aflame on Mendocino county's huge forest fire in the area since 1945. Firefighters fought to save Sequoia sempervirens, one of the few remaining stands of virgin redwood.

A forest fire was finally brought under control in Lake county, about 100 miles north of San Francisco, after more than 200 persons were forced to evacuate. Destroyed in a force of 180 men halted the advancing flames about three miles from the Whispering Pines resort area.

BUTTER IS NO. 1 PROBLEM OF DAIRY INDUSTRY

Delegates Agree Only Solution Govt. Aid

LAKE, LOUISE, Alta. (CP) — Butter, and its place on the food shelf of the Canadian housewife, continues today to be the No. 1 problem of Canada's manufacturers and processors of dairy products.

How to meet the competition of cheaper substitutes in the face of high production costs was the keynote of the industry meeting here at the annual convention of the National Dairy Council. The only solution suggested so far has been government aid.

That the price of butter is too high was decided unanimously by the opening session of the three-day meeting. How to bring the price down and at the same time present butter-in a more attractive form to the cosumer—was the problem.

SUBSIDY NEEDED

The president of the Dairy Farmers of Canada, Gilbert MacMillan of Huntingdon, Que., representing the producers, and Grant Hartley of Calgary, NDC president, for the manufacturers, both demanded that butter prices be reduced. Both said the federal government should absorb any loss, and that the present 58-cent-a-pound price-support program must be continued.

That the industry could do much to help itself was stressed by speaker after speaker. They agreed that dairy products—particularly butter-must be offered more attractively to the consumer and that rising costs could be met at least in part by more efficient production methods.

Dr. C. F. Lee of Ottawa said the dairy industry must go into research on a larger scale if it is to keep in competition with other foods. He said a shortage of research workers is holding it back and that Canada is deficient in its supply of trained, field workers.

Prof. William Sproule, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, said he had found a dearth of students interested in dairy processing. He said the industry should offer more permanent employment to second-and third-year students of agricultural science so that such men interested in dairying.

'Copter to Lift 35 Men From Battered Freighter

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — A helicopter prepared today to fly over the ice-choked waters off Greenland's east coast and evacuate 35 men from the listing and ice - battered freighter Hilwa Jopeter.

The little 660-ton ship has been in the shifting ice floes since Saturday and with no immediate hope of her getting free the United States Air Force is setting up the evacuation system.

The Jopeter, carrying 19 passengers and a crew of 16, snapped her rudder Saturday and has only natural currents can free her. She is about 30 miles from the Greenland coast.

The captain of the Jopeter said late Monday there was no immediate danger and he suggested that the crew wait until the weather was safe. The last weather report from the area Monday said there was heavy fog and 32-degree temperature and a 300-foot ceiling.

Communist China Releases 3 American Men, 6 Women

ON VACATION

GENEVA (AP) — Communist China notified the United States today that nine American civilians detained in China, including six women, now are free to return home.

Red China's Ambassador Wang Ping-nan told U. S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson at their 160th meeting that two other Americans may leave at once if they ask for exit permits, and a third might leave within two or three months.

The two ambassadors have been meeting at intervals since Aug. 1, regarding the release of 44 Americans imprisoned in China or denied exit permits.

The announcement by Wang was the first positive result of the talks since they began.

There was no indication when the Chinese Reds would release the 29 Americans not mentioned on Wang's list, but the ambassadors agreed talks will resume Friday or Saturday.

American delegation members were also to find only a partial identification for some of the American listed by Chinese envoy Wang. A delegation spokesman said none had been imprisoned.

The reason, he said, was a Toronto Telegram report that Toronto civic officials planned to ignore the visitors. This was not the Russians' concept of hospitality.

In addition, there had been reports for four previous days that anti-Communists planned a demonstration when the Russians arrived at the exhibition Monday.

Toronto city clerk George Weale said the city had not planned a civic reception, but the police planned to give the Russians an official escort. Controller Brand, acting mayor, said if federal officials had wanted the city to extend an official welcome the least they could have done was to notify us." But Ottawa officials denied this charge.

At another press conference Monday in his Russian hotel room, Mr. Matalevich said that if Toronto officials had wanted to welcome the Russians officially they would have taken steps to prevent the threatening demonstrations.

Federal officials generally admit there has been a great deal of embarrassment over federal tour arrangements.

The Russians got one wish—the chance to see the world-famous Niagara Falls—last Saturday. But even that opportunity was threatened when it was apparently has been ditched because of Ottawa social engagements scheduled for the rest of the

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel and Egypt struggled today to maintain an uneasy peace along the Gaza Strip border.

Israel apologized Monday for the "mistake" of firing along the border since both countries renewed their cease-fire pledge last May. The Israelis said one of their patrols had crossed into the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip by accident in "through a mistake."

Egypt's Cairo radio charged 20 soldiers opened fire on an Egyptian outpost. Two Israelis were killed and a third taken prisoner in the ensuing clash. The Egyptians charged that Israel was responsible for returning the two bodies to Israel Monday.

Israel radio into the recent daily violence along the Gaza border, the United Nations Egyptian-Israeli armistice commission held its 160th session since it was history Monday. After 14 hours the commission's French chairman, F. K. Cope said there had been sides had violated their 1948 armistice in the initial incident Aug. 22 —a clash between an Israeli patrol and an Egyptian outpost near Gaza.

"It is impossible in my opinion to decide which side opened fire first," Giscomagal said.

Egypt said the last four killed and nine wounded in the Aug. 22 incident, while Israel reported two dead and five wounded.

Two days later Egypt withdrew its police talks with Israel when Canada's Maj. - Gen. E. L. M. Burns, the UN truce chief, had refused to an effort to free Israel sion in the Gaza area. The Egyptians charged that Israel was trying to use military action to affect the outcome of the talks. Israel in turn accused Egypt of provoking the Aug. 22 clash to torpedo the peace talks.

In the subsequent daily violent flare-ups, fighters were shot down over Israeli territory.

Duke Defended Against Attacks By Free Church

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — Several Melbourne churchmen have defended the Duke of Edinburgh against attacks by the Free Church of Scotland for playing polo and cricket on Sundays.

The Scottish church's magazine, Monthly Record, took the duke to task for captaining a cricket eleven and for playing polo at Windsor on the Sabbath, it also criticized the Queen and other members of the Royal Family for watching the duke play.

The views of several Melbourne churchmen are published here in today's Herald.

Rev. A. Creighton Boyr of Scots Church, Melbourne, says it was "impertinent" to criticize the duke, adding: "The Free Church of Scotland has rights to decide its principles for individuals or members of the Royal Family." Other comment:

NO SIGNIFICANCE

Rev. J. C. White of Calvin Presbyterian church: "The Free Church of Scotland represents a small insignificant section; a very narrow type of churchmanship. Their attack on the duke has no significance at all."

Fires Threaten Two Priceless Redwood Groves

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Destructive waves of flames threatened two priceless redwood groves today as raging forest fires blaze out of control in northern and central California.

More than 1,500 firefighters battled flames whipping through the Sequoia national forest in the Sierra Nevada mountains. Nearly 17,000 acres already have been blackened.

Other crackling flames reached within a mile of the famed General Grant redwood grove, largest living tree and possibly the oldest living thing on earth. Its age has been estimated at more than 3,000 years.

In the northern section of the state, between 17,000 and 18,000 acres are aflame on Mendocino county's huge forest fire in the area since 1945. Firefighters fought to save Sequoia sempervirens, one of the few remaining stands of virgin redwood.

A forest fire was finally brought under control in Lake county, about 100 miles north of San Francisco, after more than 200 persons were forced to evacuate. Destroyed in a force of 180 men halted the advancing flames about three miles from the Whispering Pines resort area.

'Copter to Lift 35 Men From Battered Freighter

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — A helicopter prepared today to fly over the ice-choked waters off Greenland's east coast and evacuate 35 men from the listing and ice - battered freighter Hilwa Jopeter.

The little 660-ton ship has been in the shifting ice floes since Saturday and with no immediate hope of her getting free the United States Air Force is setting up the evacuation system.

The Jopeter, carrying 19 passengers and a crew of 16, snapped her rudder Saturday and has only natural currents can free her. She is about 30 miles from the Greenland coast.

The captain of the Jopeter said late Monday there was no immediate danger and he suggested that the crew wait until the weather was safe. The last weather report from the area Monday said there was heavy fog and 32-degree temperature and a 300-foot ceiling.

25 Million Left Homeless in India When Floods Wreck 28,000 Villages

Indian Red Cross officials estimate that 25,000,000 persons have been made homeless in east India and east and west Pakistan, where heavy monsoon rains have coincided with the annual rise resulting from the melting of Himalayan snows.

Because the river levels rose slowly, most villagers had time to flee to higher ground, and there have been only a few deaths from drowning.

In Geneva, Switzerland, Monday Leon Gaspard of the Red Cross and Dr. Francois Daubenton, reported after a 10-day flying survey over the flood area that more than 28,000 villages were wrecked and the homes of 45,000,000 persons had been destroyed or damaged.

Daubenton added that in 35 years of public health work in Europe, Africa and Asia, "I have never witnessed such misery as that now being borne by India and Pakistan, nor suffering so great."

Buys Belleville And Peterborough Lock Companies

Corbin Is Largest Canadian Producer Builders' Hardware

It was announced today by Corbin Lock Company of Canada Limited of Belleville, that it has arranged to purchase the assets of both Belleville Lock Co. Ltd. and the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company Limited, located respectively in Belleville and Peterborough. The purchase will be made from Mr. D. L. Storey, President of the Belleville Lock Co. Ltd. who recently acquired complete ownership of the two companies.

Corbin Lock Company of Canada Limited is a wholly owned subsidiary of the American Hardware Corporation of New Britain, Conn., and is the largest producer of builders' hardware in Canada, marketing its products under the trade name of "Corbin." Peterborough lock Manufacturing Company Limited was organized in 1882 and the predecessor to Belleville Lock Co. Ltd. in 1902. Each produces a limited line of builders' hardware. Corbin Lock Company of Canada Limited, it was stated, by virtue of these acquisitions will be able to increase substantially its sales outlet volume.

The Corbin Lock Company of Canada Limited produces a complete line of locks, door closers, fire exit fixtures and hundreds of other items for installation in all types of construction. Its predecessor was the Spiralux Co. which was purchased by the American Hardware Corporation in 1931.

The plant of the Belleville Lock Co. Ltd. will continue to operate as an individual unit.

Communist China Releases 3 American Men, 6 Women

ON VACATION

GENEVA (AP) — Communist China notified the United States today that nine American civilians detained in China, including six women, now are free to return home.

Red China's Ambassador Wang Ping-nan told U. S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson at their 160th meeting that two other Americans may leave at once if they ask for exit permits, and a third might leave within two or three months.

The two ambassadors have been meeting at intervals since Aug. 1, regarding the release of 44 Americans imprisoned in China or denied exit permits.

The announcement by Wang was the first positive result of the talks since they began.

There was no indication when the Chinese Reds would release the 29 Americans not mentioned on Wang's list, but the ambassadors agreed talks will resume Friday or Saturday.

American delegation members were also to find only a partial identification for some of the American listed by Chinese envoy Wang. A delegation spokesman said none had been imprisoned.

STRUCK BY CAR

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Walter Cleveland, 73, was killed early today when he was struck by a car on Highway 20, about 10 miles east of here.

Restaurant Safe Looted of $600

Using a jimmy bar to force the front door thieves shortly before dawn Monday morning entered the Belmont restaurant on Front street and lugged away a small safe, said to contain approximately $600 in cash.

Later in the day the smashed open safe was found abandoned on the roadside near Stirling, its contents missing. A railway hammer and jimmy bars were found near the wrecked safe. At 5.30 Monday morning Jack Smith, living almost directly across Front street from the restaurant, happened to glance out his window, and saw two men leaving the front door of the Belmont carrying between them what he thought was a box.

He was suspicious of their actions and phoned police but although officers were on the scene within minutes they were too late. Police found that the front door had been forced and investigation inside the restaurant disclosed the safe was missing.

Police said the safe was a small one weighing slightly over 100 pounds and could be easily carried by two men.

No Serious Car Accidents Occur During Holiday

City and provincial police heaved a sigh of relief today as the Labor Day holiday week-end passed without a single serious accident reported in the area.

The last serious accident investigated by provincial police occurred on Wednesday Friday night, while since then no accidents resulting in personal injury were reported either by city or provincial officers.

In the city a parked car owned by Michael J. O'Shaughnessy, Bleecker Avenue, was damaged to the extent of about $300 when it was struck by a car driven by John G. Holmes, 27 Fourth St. Holmes claimed he was forced into the parked car by another vehicle. The latter driver was described to the Holmes' car.

On the Bay Bridge Road at the turn in to Zwick's Island cars driven by Robert Guthrie, Lemoine Point, and Donald Bell, Jr., of St. Catharines, were in collision causing about $250 damage.

Also on the Bay Bridge Road, a Carman Place car was driving out to pass another car. His car went out of control and he crashed into a guide rail post doing about $200 damage to his vehicle.

Market Prices Mostly Unchanged

There was the usual mid-week lull in trading on the local market this morning. There was a good variety of offerings while prices were mostly unchanged from Saturday.

Tomatoes were a heavy feature, still retaining the price of 40 cents a six-quart basket, while squash also were in good supply. Hubbard brought from 25-50 cents, butternuts 10-20 cents and pepper squash five and 10 cents. Gherkins also were a heavy offering at a bushel, potatoes were 35 cents a basket and peaches 75 cents.

Bartlett pears were a light offering at $1 a basket while Clapp's Favorites continued at 75 cents. Casteldaine brought 10-15 cents each, while watermelons were 20-25 cents apiece. Alberta peaches were 75-85 cents, Veterans peaches 70-80 cents a basket, large 11-qt. baskets were $1.25. Plums were 50 cents a basket while prunes brought 25 cents. Green gages were 75 cents a basket. St. Lawrence apples were 65 cents a basket while Melbas and Duchess held to 50 cents a basket.

Eggs were 63-65 cents a dozen for Grade A large.

Obituary

ARTHUR LORNE BROUGH (Forboro)

Arthur Lorne Brough, of Forboro, died suddenly at his home on Monday, September 5th. He was in his 72nd year.

The deceased was born at Fuller, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William D. Brough, and lived at Zion Hill prior to taking up residence at Foxboro six years ago. He was a farmer and was living in retirement at the time of his death.

He is survived by his wife, the former Matilda Jane Post; one daughter, Mrs. Edward (Ruth) Follwell, of Belleville; one son, George Morden Brough of Halloway; one brother, William Brough of Brantford and four grandchildren.

The deceased was a member of Foxboro United Church, and Halloway L.O.L. No. 251. He was a past master of the lodge and an honorary member.

The body is resting at his late residence, Foxboro. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

ARCHIBALD FRASER WALL

In his 85th year, Archibald Fraser Wall, resident of Belleville for the past 60 years, died in the Belleville General Hospital Monday, Sept. 5, following a prolonged illness.

Resident for many years at 272 Coleman Street, Mr. Wall had been a shipping clerk for General Food Sales before his retirement. He was predeceased some years by his wife, the former Agnes Record. Mr. Wall was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Wall.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Elmer Bauer, Chicago, Ill., and one son, Theo G. Wall, Indianapolis.

Resting at the Pinkston and Luscombe Funeral Home. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

THOMAS ALBERT ALEXANDER

Thomas Albert Alexander, 55 Bleecker Avenue, died suddenly in Belleville General Hospital on Sunday, Sept. 4. He was in his 74th year.

The deceased was born in Melrose, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Alexander, and lived in the Quinte district all his life.

He was a member of Tabernacle United Church and was a past president of the Belleville White Cane Club.

He is survived by three brothers, William J. Alexander of Napanee, Wesley Lorne Alexander of Belleville, Percy O. Alexander of Belleville, and two sisters, Mrs. Maude Darrah and Mrs. Arthur Naylor, both of Belleville.

The deceased was a bachelor.

The body is resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

MRS. LILLIAN FRANCES CLARK

The funeral of Mrs. Lillian Frances Clark, widow of George Manly Clark, R. R. 8, Belleville, was held Saturday, September 3rd, from the chapel of the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home.

Rev. Everett Smith conducted the service.

Bearers were Roy Reid, Stan Holton, William Spencer and William Price.

Interment took place in Belleville cemetery.

Water Skiing Marathon Gives Plenty of Thrills

PICTON — A 25-mile water skiing marathon provided plenty of excitement for contestants and spectators alike on Sunday. Winner of the first such event here was John Sibthorpe of Picton. Only other contestant, out of eight starters, was David Harrington, also of Picton.

The races started at Waupoos and several contestants found the waves too high to continue in the race. Even the winner was spilled six times but was able to get back on his skis. George Publow piloted the boat.

Several skiers took plunges when lines broke and others ran into bad luck when boats became disabled or damaged.

After the race, several skiers, including the Canadian Ladies' Champion, Sally Smith, gave a demonstration. Jack Lyons stole the show by hanging on a rope attached to a boat and sitting on a huge saucer, doing a number of stunts. It is planned to form a Water Ski Club here.

POST OFFICE ENTERED

The Post Office in the village of Bloomfield was entered sometime after midnight on Sunday. Entrance was gained by prying open a rear window. Inside, a drawer was pried open. The only loot was a few dollars in stamps. A postal inspector and fingerprint expert assisted Provincial Police in investigating.

Cat Comes Back To Foster Home

The homing instinct of a pet cat cannot be doubted even if it is but a temporary home.

Two months or more ago Mrs. Alice Gardner, 223 Foster Avenue, took pity on a stray cat which persisted in remaining at her home and until a week ago had fed it.

Then she found a home for the stray pet in Thurlow township at least two miles north of the city. The family kept the cat inside for a week then thinking any tendency to leave would have been forgotten, let the pet out last night.

This morning the white cat was back scratching on Mrs. Gardner's back door.

"I still don't know who the rightful owner is," Mrs. Gardner said.

Police Investigate Many Complaints

Investigation of several minor motor accidents, a safe robbery, several complaints, the apprehension of a number of inebriates and a stolen car kept city police busy during the week-end.

Saturday night Rev. Keith Dafoe left his car parked on the parking lot at the rear of the Baptist Church and when he returned the car was gone. Police were alerted but the vehicle has not yet been located.

A Belleville woman complained that her apartment at 309 Front street had been entered during her absence. A diary and some other articles was reported missing.

Two young boys were reported using a .22 rifle for target shooting along the bay shore at the foot of George Street. Police confiscated the rifle.

And up at Memorial Park boys playing at Tarzan by swinging from ropes in the trees were annoying nearby residents.

Windows in a vacant house at the corner of Harriett and Coleman streets were used by a group of lads to test their stone throwing abilities. Their aim proved good.

Complaint of a window peeper at the Ireland Apartments resulted in the arrest of Ronald Woodcock of Hillcrest who was found in the rear yard of the apartment building.

And finally a Frank street woman complained of attempt to burn her cottage. On two occasions papers had been set afire in the building, she reported.

STABS FATHER

BOSTON (AP)—Police said 17-year-old Arthur H. Martin, an honor student at Boston Latin school, admitted Monday night that he stabbed his father to death during an argument over washing a floor and lived alone in their home with the body for five weeks. Mrs. Isabel Martin, 39, Monday night found the body of her husband, Manuel, 51, on their bedroom floor. She had been away on an extended

Three Accidents Within 200 Feet Of Each Other

Ontario Provincial Police Saturday morning set out to investigate an accident on Highway No. 7, just west of Foxboro, but before they had ended up investigating three other smashes — all within 200 feet of each other.

Early morning fog rendered the accidents, which took place at the age of about $2,500 each. No one was injured.

First into the fog was a car driven by Wesley Hillier, Foxboro, which struck the rear of a truck driven by Clifford Ruthowskey, Kingston. Some $400 damage was caused the Ruthowskey vehicle.

While police were cleaning up investigations into the two accidents a car being driven west by Leo LaMarre, Algona, Ont., crashed into the rear of a panel truck, also being driven west by Daniel Ellis of R.R. 3, Havelock.

About $1,000 damage was estimated caused the automobile while damage to the panel truck was $150.

IN MEMORIAM

ROBLIN. — In loving memory of my dear husband, Harry B. Roblin, who passed away September 6th, 1951.

Sad was my call,
But silent grief and pain,
Were kept within my heart,
That the hills were hard to climb,
So He closed your weary eyes,
And whispered "Be at rest."
Away in the beautiful hills of God,
By the Valley or Rest so fair,
Remembered by me always,
Sadly missed,
We will meet our loved one there.
Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by wife Blanche.

ROBLIN. — In loving memory of my dear husband, Harry B. Roblin, who passed away September 6th, 1954.

Our life has left but few wild flowers,
Our hearts cannot tell what to say;
God alone knows how we miss him,
In a home that is lonesome today.
Always remembered by Art and Anna.

Obituary

ARTHUR LORNE BROUGH (Foxboro)

Arthur Lorne Brough, of Foxboro, died suddenly at his home on Monday, September 5th. He was in his 72nd year.

The deceased was born at Tillley, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William D. Brough, and lived at Zion Hill prior to taking up residence at Foxboro ten years ago. He was a farmer and was living in retirement at the time of his death.

He is survived by his wife, the former Matilda Jane Post; one daughter, Mrs. Edward (Ruth) Follwell, of Belleville; one son, George Morden Brough of Halloway; one brother, William Brough of Brantford and four grandchildren.

The deceased was a member of Foxboro United Church, and Halloway L.O.L. No. 251. He was a past master of the lodge and an honorary member.

The body is resting at his late residence, Foxboro. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

ARCHIBALD FRASER WALL

In his 85th year, Archibald Fraser Wall, resident of Belleville for the past 60 years, died in the Belleville General Hospital Monday morning after a short but lengthy illness.

Resident for many years at 272 Coleman Street, Mr. Wall had been a shipping clerk for General Wood Sales before his retirement. He was predeceased some years by his wife, Nora Fraser Agnes Record. Mr. Wall was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Wall.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Elmer Bauer, Chicago, Ill., and one son, Theo G. Wall, Indianapolis.

Resting at the Pinkston and Luscombe Funeral Home. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

THOMAS ALBERT ALEXANDER

Thomas Albert Alexander, 69, Bleecker avenue, died suddenly in Belleville General Hospital on Sunday, Sept. 4. He was in his 70th year.

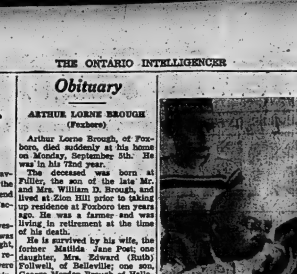
The deceased was born in Melrose, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Alexander, and lived in the Quinte district all his life.

He was a member of Tabernacle United Church and was a past president of the Belleville White Cane Club.

He is survived by three brothers, William J. Alexander of Napanee, Wesley Lorne Alexander of Belleville, Percy G. Alexander of Belleville, and two sisters, Mrs. Mabel Darrah and Mrs. Arthur Naylor, both of Belleville.

The deceased was a bachelor.

The body is resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.



MRS. LILLIAN FRANCES CLARK

The funeral of Mrs. Lillian Frances Clark, widow of George Manly Clark, R. F. D., Belleville, was held Saturday, September 3rd, from the chapel of the Belleville Burial Company Funeral home.

Rev. Everett Smith conducted the service.

Bearers were Roy Reid, Stan Holton, William Spencer and William Elsie.

Interment took place in Belleville cemetery.

Water Skiing Marathon Gives Plenty of Thrills

PICTON — A 35-mile water skiing marathon provided plenty of excitement for contestants and spectators alike on Sunday. Winner of the first such event here was John Silbhorn of Picton. Only other contestant, out of eight starters, was David Harrington, also of Picton.

The races started at Waupoos and several contestants found the waves too high to continue in the race. Even the winner was pulled six times but was able to get back on his skis. George Publow piloted the boat.

Several skiers took plunges when lines broke and others ran into bad luck when boats became disabled or damaged.

After the race, several skiers, including the Canadian Ladies' Champion, Sally Smith, gave a demonstration. Jack Lyons stole the show by hanging on a rope attached to a boat and sitting on a huge saucer, doing a number of stunts. It is planned to form a Water Ski Club here.

POST OFFICE ENTERED

The Post Office in the village of Bloomfield was entered sometime after midnight on Sunday. Entrance was gained by prying open a rear window. Inside, a drawer was pried open. The only loot was a few dollars in stamps. A postal inspector and fingerprint expert assisted Provincial Police in investigating.

Cat Comes Back To Foster Home

The homing instinct of a pet cat cannot be denied—even if it is but a temporary home.

Two months or more ago Mrs. Alice Gardner, 323 Foster Avenue, took pity on a stray cat which persisted in remaining at her home and until a week ago had fed it.

Then the cat left home for the stray pet in Thurlow township at least two miles north of the city. The family kept the cat inside for a week then thinking any tendency to leave would have been forgotten, let the pet out last night.

This morning the white cat was back scratching on Mrs. Gardner's back door.

"I still don't know who the rightful owner is," Mrs. Gardner said.

Police Investigate Many Complaints

Investigation of several minor motor accidents, a safe robbery, nuisance complaints, the apprehension of a number of inebriates and a stolen car kept city police busy during the week-end.

Saturday night Rev. Keith Daniel left his car parked on the parking lot at the rear of the Bridge Street Church and when he returned the car was gone. Police were alerted but the vehicle has not yet been located.

A Belleville woman complained that her apartment at 309 Front street had been entered during her absence. A pilot bank among other articles was reported missing.

Two young boys were reported using a .22 rifle for target shooting along the bay shore at the foot of George Street. Police confiscated the rifle.

And up at Memorial Park boys playing at Tarzan by swinging from ropes in the trees were annoying nearby residents.

Windows in a vacant house at the corner of Harriett and Coleman street were used by a group of lads to test their stone throwing abilities. Their aim proved good.

Complaint of a window peeper at the Ireland Apartments resulted in the arrest of Ronald Woodcock of Hillcrest who was found in the rear yard of the apartment building.

And finally a Frank street woman complained of attempt to burn her outhouse. On two occasions papers had been set afire in the building, she reported.

STABS FATHER

BOSTON (AP)—Police said 17-year-old Arthur H. Martin, an honor student at Boston Latin school, admitted Monday night that he stabbed his father to death during an argument over washing a floor and lived alone in their home with the body for five weeks. Mrs. Isabel Martin, 39, Monday night found the body of her husband, Manuel, 51, on their bedroom floor. She had been away on an extended vacation.

Three Accidents Within 200 Feet Of Each Other

Ontario Provincial Police Saturday morning set out to investigate an accident on Highway No. 2 about three miles east of Havelock and ended up investigating three car smashes — all within 200 feet of each other.

Early morning fog resulted in the accidents, which caused eight age of about $2,500 to the six cars involved. There was no personal injured.

First incident occurred when two west-bound cars collided in the mist. About $400 damage was caused by both autos when a car driven by Robert Boland of Campbellford ran into the rear of a vehicle driven by Kilton J. Tibbetts, Ohio.

Police were called, but shortly before they arrived two east-bound cars tilled. About $1,000 damage was received by a car driven by Frank Ramsey of Syracuse when it crashed into the rear of an auto, driven by Wilfred Ruthowskey, Kingston. Some $400 damage was caused the Ruthowskey vehicle.

While police were cleaning up investigations into the two accidents a car being driven west by Lois LaMere, Algona, Ont., crashed into the rear of a panel truck, also being driven west by Daniel Ellis of RR 3, Havelock.

About $1,000 damage was estimated caused the automobile while damage to the panel truck was $150.

IN MEMORIAM

ROBLIN. — In loving memory of my dear husband, Harry B. Roblin, who passed away September 7th, 1954.

From all thy silent grief and pain,
God knows you were suffering.
That the hills were hard to climb,
So He closed your weary eyes
And whispered "Be still."
Sadly to the beautiful hills of God,
To the Valley of Rest we bid you.
Sweet one, we know not when
We will meet our loved one there.
— Sadly missed and always remembered by wife Blanche.

ROBLIN. — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Harry B. Roblin, who passed away September 6th, 1954.

Our lips cannot tell how we miss him.
Our hearts cannot tell what to say.
Memory keeps him dear to us still,
In a home that is lonesome today.
— Inserted by Mr. and Mrs. Art Alexander.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Fired-over business at the Toronto stock exchange today saw prices moving ahead in a fairly lively market.

Industrials moved to an index high with a gain of more than two points. Papers, steels and refining oils were strong. Price changes were generally small but occasionally went to around two points. Algoma Steel was first gainer, adding 2½ to 51¼. Canadian Oil Companies led refining oils ahead with a 1¼ gain to 23¼.

Mines were moderately better with buying interest in coppers. Quebec Chibougamau was up 74 at 31.29 on 48,000 shares. New Highridge added 13 to 79 on 140,000 shares. International Nickel and Noranda each improved ¼.

Uraniums traded lightly, showing a few narrow advances.

There was little action among golds.

Western oils were narrowly ahead. Gains went to about 15 cents at best.

Holding companies had Conwest and Placer a little better.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP)—A comparatively light run of good and choice slaughter cattle sold actively with steers showing gains of 25 cents per hundredweight at the Ontario stockyards today. Common and medium lines lost near-by row demand. Cows strong to 50 cents per hundredweight higher, bulls steady.

Bowling News

The Labor Day mixed doubles tournament at the Bowling Club on Monday was a decided success. Play was postponed for half an hour in the morning when an all-day rain threatened but by noon the skies cleared and perfect bowling weather resulted.

Despite the fact there were 46 rinks entered from the district clubs the Belleville bowlers carried off most of the prizes. Kingston, Brighton, Trenton, Stirling, Campbellford and Belleville rinks were represented. The 8 o'clock scores in exceptionally fine shape, the short rain making them very keen, but some excellent bowling was witnessed.

Gordon Watskin, provincial doubles champion, and his wife, Joan, were the winners of the tournament when they beat the second high winners, Austin Watkin and his mother; Mrs. George Watkin, in the final game. Closely following this pair were Mr. and Mrs. Orie Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Graham, Bruce Miller, who was the other half of the provincial doubles champions and his wife, Jean. All these winners were from the local club. Robert Stringer and his wife from Kingston were the next three-game high winners and again Belleville came in with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Elliott and Mr. Elliott and his wife also play in some tournaments for the Stirling club. The two-game high winner was Gordon Watkin and his mother, Mrs. George Watkin, while Skip Vandervoort and Miss Winnie Smith were the one-game high winners.

The president of the club, Orlo Smith, welcomed the bowlers at the start of play, while Percy Graham, tournament chairman, and Austin Watkin assisted in arranging the various draws. An old hand at the bowling game, George Watkin, was in his happy element in taking care of the winners.

Theatre Guild Prepares For Active Season

After a break for the summer months, the Belleville Theatre Guild opens its 1955-56 season of meetings tomorrow when the featured item on the program will be a round table discussion on the three Stratfords, in England, Ontario and Connecticut. It is expected that this will develop into a lively discussion on international theatre.

At the meeting, Guild president Ronan Cambridge will lay before the membership the proposed plans for the season's public presentations. While the coming year will not bring another festival like the one which provided the highlight of last season's activities, it promises to offer much in the way of first rate dramatic entertainment to the citizens of Belleville, upon whose continued support the Guild relies.

"Workshop" plays, short plays prescribed at meetings for the entertainment and training of Guild members, are getting off to an early start this year. At Wednesday's meeting Dolly Cain will be casting for "Rehearsal for Macbeth" which should prove amusing and instructive to all concerned. The play will be put on at the next meeting in two weeks' time.

All those who are interested in membership in the Guild are cordially welcome to this opening meeting.

Napanee Golfer Wins Trophy

TRENTON (Special) — Glen Wager a furniture maker of Napanee led a field of 99 golfers from the district yesterday to win the Vic Auger trophy symbolic of the Trenton men's golf championship.

The easy-swinging Wager who is a master of the irons stroked his way to a cool 71 in 18 holes. Likely winners fell by the wayside as the Napanee shooter set a blistering pace.

Uncertain skies threatened to dampen the players in the morning but by the time the first entries started on their second nine the sun broke through providing ideal temperatures for medal play. Wager gave a repeat of his performance of 1951 in winning the championship for the second time.

OSHAWA DEFEATS LOCALS

Trenton's hopes of producing a championship juvenile softball team this year were shattered by Oshawa at Oshawa on Saturday when the aggregation from the motor city made the best of the breaks defeating the local legion representatives 11-10 in a sudden death game for the Eastern Ontario championship.

Oshawa came to Trenton to win the first game 9-3 but rested under a powerful 12-4 trouncing by the Legion squad on home ground last Wednesday.

The hustful motor city juveniles got to Trenton hurlers for eight runs in the first five innings Saturday. The locals recuperated with a four-run rally but seemed to run out of gas just when the final push was needed. Jones, Cole and Wellman used their best offering to lay and stop Oshawa batting. Jones, arm decided Oshawa's first triumph, went the route in winning the clincher.

DOING SOMETHING ABOUT WEATHER

It is not true that "everyone talks about the weather but no one does anything about it."

Most people suffer in weather in this intermediate temperature zone, and few suffer in silence. During heat waves people take off excess clothing. During that recent human broiler called August they got off clothing to excess. Some of the expanses of epidermis visible during the recent heat wave could not have been exposed without their owners doing a great deal about the weather. A little more and their efforts would have been impossible.

In winter, which follows very hard on summer heat waves in Ontario, most people who survive until spring do so under a layer of wool, hides and fur that does our animal friends, domestic and wild, great influence. A mink that has been skinned would hardly agree that Mahatma has done nothing about the weather. Maidens skinned husband would likely have some pertinent comments, too, if visitors were allowed at the poor house.

Those "in-between" seasons produce their effects, too. Canadians are growing numbers are spending their time in Florida and California between November and April.

Purists may argue that Mark Twain's famous remark about the weather is being beggared by an argument about seasonal changes. We think not.

The weather is the weather, a la Gertrude Stein. If one cannot change the weather in his locale let him change his locale. That is exactly what humans have been doing since the first caveman stuffed a mastodon skin into the mouth of his cave to alter the strength of the draft.

Today's air conditioner is yesterday's mastodon skin—10,000 years and $450 later.

There is, however, a new approach to the weather that involves the production of rain storms where normally rain would not fall. The annual manhood of "rain making" aside from Indian tribal dances, consists of "seeding" storm clouds with iodide particles. The particles provide nuclei for condensation which are required to bring thirsty wheat fields, dry forests, low hydro reservoirs and fires. Abitibi Power and Paper Company Ltd. is the latest corporation to experiment with rain-making. Its dry iodide generators at Frederick Falls and Smooth Rock Falls will be used to coax heavy rain over an area draining into the rivers on which the company floats logs and develops power.

May success be with them. Creating rain storms, however, may become a ticklish problem. What happens if a wheat crop is ripening in one area and the rain clouds that the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests is counting on to douse a forest fire? What if Abitibi Power and Paper Co. Ltd. wants to use the same cloud to rain over its forests so that the company can generate power and make paper? And who does the farmer sue when the rain floods his fields and ruins his crop? To whom does the housewife complain when cloudbursts wash the starch from her husband's shirts?

Who owns the rain?

Science and industry are doing something about the weather and as soon as the first fool-proof "rain-making" technique is perfected everyone will be doing something about the weather; in court if nowhere else.

BECHI BET HIS LIFE

Gino Bechi, a well-known Italian baritone, is much better known these days than he ever was. Last Wednesday night he gave a 12-minute performance in a cage with five unchained lions at the Orfeo circus in Florence, Italy.

He declined encores.

Senor Bechi's stunt won a bet providing dinner for 10 friends.

Many inferences can be drawn including the truism about "music soothing the savage beast" which we shall avoid. Instead we shall point out that Bechi was appropriate to comment on the tenor of the tension. Again, had he been a bass there would have been room for remarks about his relaxed attitude in the lion's cage.

As it is we can only say that a 12-minute program is entirely too short as the lions, a captive audience, could hardly have been induced to go encore. No one did they not get their fill of music they also missed their just desserts when Bechi declined encores.

As for Bechi, he could very easily have become an entree with an exit. And that is not lyin'. At least it is a tale with a new twist.

SMALL WORLD, INDEED

Away with you dreamers! Give us the practical man every time.

He has arrived at last, injecting a note of hard common sense into a world of discussion about the dwindling size of the world, the vanishing of the frontiers and the possibility of discovering new ones out in space.

No star-gazing or moon-dreaming for this fellow. Instead he inserts an advertisement in the Toronto Saturday night: "Tahiti — Lot in South Seas, French Oceania. 60 ft. lagoon edge, by 360 ft. to main road. 15 miles to Papeete, capital of island. Tropical fruit of every variety. No snakes or poisonous insects. Double reef."

Ah, Tahiti. The Southern Cross. The blue Pacific. Those sepia maidens of beautiful form.

"Johnny, go down to Fred's and get two dozen minnows, while I check the outboard and mother packs the picnic basket. We blast off in fifteen minutes for a week-end at our summer cottage in Tahiti. You cannot take Jimmie. You know the last time he went he was rocket-sick all the way from San Francisco to the equator."

EARLY ARRIVAL

When he arrived at Heaven's gate
St. Peter shook his head.
"For you we'd longer planned to wait,"
To him he sadly said.

"There was a lot you could have done
While you were toiling there.

"You've come too soon, and that's too bad.
You are not needed here.
Had you lived on you might have had
A brilliant career.

Both fame and fortune you'd have won
Had you but taken care.

"Too many tragedies occur,
And when I question why,
I was a crazy driver, sir,'
Is often the reply."

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

Sept. 6, 1935

Mrs. Robert White of Corbyville when fishing in Moira Lake on Tuesday caught a "lunge" which weighed 30 pounds and measured 42 inches in length. The fish was officially weighed at the police station here last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gregory and two sons have come from Albany to reside in this city.

Miss Gloria G. Gardner of Ottawa spent the week-end here with Miss Dorothy Miss Dorothy Zufelt.

The Rev. Robert Hall, minister of John Street United Church and Mrs. Hall are spending a few days in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. O'Flynn left yesterday for Atlantic City holidays in Hamilton and London.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Stokes of this city were married on Saturday at Acouchiching, Temagami.

Mr. Roy Blakely, Harold, Grant and Clarence, have returned home after spending a vacation in Smiths Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. McBride, Charles Street, have returned home after spending a vacation at Lakelands, Prince Edward County.

30 YEARS AGO

Sept. 6, 1925

Mrs. Sager and Mrs. T. Price of Salem, Ameliasburg township, are spending a few days in town.

Mr. Alex. Morrice, Charlotte Street, is visiting friends in Toronto and will also spend some time with friends in Kingston, N.Y.

The members of the choir of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church were entertained at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Wallbridge at Wazassagon last evening. A corn roast and many other good things were much enjoyed. The new minister of the church, the Rev. R. G. Stewart and Mrs. Stewart were present.

Mr. Thomas Adams, Earl St., is building a dwelling house on Earl St. at an estimated cost of $1700.00.

Mr. Charles Tebworth, St. Charles Street, is remodelling the kitchen of his house at an estimated cost of $300.

40 YEARS AGO

Sept. 6, 1915

The old steamer Reindeer which plied for many years between Napanee and Picton, until she went ashore about a mile and a half down the river three years ago where she has rested since that time, has been sold and will be demolished.

Mr. Frank Jarman of Bancroft performed a creditable stunt when he swam the entire length of Trout Lake, a distance of one and a half miles. He was in the water one hour and twenty minutes.

Mrs. James Duckworth is spending a few days in Toronto.

Gymnasium classes at the Y. M. C. A. will commence on Monday next. The new physical director, Mr. F. S. Cuthbert, will be pleased to meet all who are interested in their physical welfare.

From our file copy at this time in 1895: The trolley cars were well patronized yesterday. People attending the market find them to be the most convenient. A buggy was hit yesterday by a car and the occupant, a married woman, was thrown from the buggy, but escaped injury.

50 YEARS AGO

Sept. 6, 1905

Work on the rebuilding of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church is progressing satisfactorily and it is expected that the reopening will take place Oct. 15th.

Mr. Thomas Harris has left here to reside in Rochester, N.Y.

Mr. Maurice J. Buckley of Toronto is visiting at his mother's her home on Dundas Street east.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Hambly have left for their home in Philadelphia, Pa., after visiting his parents, Lieut. Col. P. H. Hambly and Mrs. Hambly.

Mr. Campbell W. Graves of Edmonton, Alberta, son of Mr. Thomas Graves, Madoc, has been appointed Attorney General for the Province of Alberta.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schuster of Pittsburg, Pa., are visiting his mother at her home on Dundas Street east.

Motoring Miracles

(New York Times)

It is nothing short of amazing, when one stops to think of it — which hardly anyone ever does — that our magnificent network of roads is crowded by motorists — with millions of motorists who never need to nothing about motors. Most of us explore America in a state of serene ignorance about what is happening under the hood, or exactly what makes the wheels turn. Of the mysteries of what's more, in full consciousness of our ignorance — we pay a tribute to the manufacturers in Detroit but is no less astonishing.

With Cyril Connolly, the English essayist, we are speaking of subtravel said he didn't want to know what was going on beneath hood, more of us put our trust completely in this assembly line creation of twentieth-century engineering and sail blythely on. Blythely, that is, except when we find ourselves tooling along far between towns in the wide open West and the bulletins are flashing on radio. What if the monster at the other end of the accommodating steel can't be deply expire? It has been known to happen. What then? But away with such morbid speculation. Isn't the scenery beautiful here?

Such an attitude is understandable if not entirely excusable. We don't actually expect to go under the hood, what actually transpires in the innermost recesses is nothing short of miraculous. Even a bit terrifying in its complexity. Although it is a wizardly the world has got used to, it is no less wizardly for the familiarity. We are told, actually take place within the mysterious depths — and with a frequency that escapes the reasonable mind. The explosions are controlled explosions — and wholly safe. Rounded hunks of steel fly up and down in their chambers like elevators gone wild. Other phenomena (electrical and mechanical) of the most complicated description occur concomitantly. Obviously, so most American motorists have decided, this is all to much to think about and try to understand. The workings of the universe are by comparison, easier to digest. Then something happens to the motor we are helpless, most of us. What has gone wrong? We are often unfathomable, much less how to repair it. The wheels have stopped — breaking the pistons have stopped pistoning — in short, the thing won't go. Why it won't go just as much a mystery as why it did go. Say as well that the beast has developed arthritis, or paralysis or a pathological apathy. What it does not know under the hood avails nothing. The trouble lies within. The spirit has flown. The go is gone. How fool-hardy to have been so dependent on the iron innards of an unknown creature. Well, best be off thy foot, of course, to summon a miracle healer.

The miracle healer is of course the mechanic, whose sustenance in life is directly correlated to the number of cars he is motorist. And a good sustenance it is too — the mechanic can bear with the ire soul-trying aspect of his trade. He consists of the tirades of maddened readers do not use the words cri and vite and have no idea of what the words mean. And it took many years to persuade motorists that a pulled plug causes amnesia "aphasia."

The common kind of joint disability I call rheumatic develops insidiously. It creeps up on you. Apart from accidental injuries there is nothing inflammatory about the joint trouble, just a and lodine.

People Invest In Future

(Canadian Business)

Up to mid-year 1955 we would have said that the question "what's keeping the stock market up?" has been asked about one million times. One of the best answers we've heard was given at an investment man and ran something like this: "It's not earnings, and it's not dividends that are supporting the market," he said, "it's just that people are investing in the future and that looks pretty bright to most of them."

When you fit some of the pieces together, you can see how this situation comes close to the mark. It sums up not only the prevailing mood of the stock market but of public opinion generally. The Financial Post Survey of Industrials published recently from Ottawa that "a buoyant mood" characterizes business, has taken hold of government thinking.

There may well be more than generally confident outlook. Perhaps it reflects the belief of the unreasoning optimism behind this continuing market advance. But the fact remains we never invested a dollar in the stock market, that we have ever bought a share of anything. That milestone is fear — the kind that makes people sell in panic, and there, that the paralysis of this fear is removed.

There is the fact of President Eisenhower's heart that his Administration would not stand idly by should the U.S. economy begin to founder. It is difficult to say if this pledge is the belief of the majority of the country, whether something can be done — it's not just the case of waiting for Fate to overtake us.

We have the statement of Bank of Canada Governor, Graham Towers:

"Personally, I am confident that the great depression of 1929-1939 will never be repeated. Underemployment of productive facilities on such a scale is inconceivable today that society has come to understand and is determined to use the instruments of fiscal and monetary policy to promote economic stability and high employment. That milestone along the road of social progress has been passed."

We have Hon. Lester B. Pearson saying that "the present Canadian administration is not blind to the ills of life and history and politics, is the possibility which men and nations always possess though they by no means always use it—of acting and living in their environment, rather than merely reacting to it."

There is the language of confidence, it reflects the belief that we are living in more than a passive role to play in our own affairs. If these straws-in-the-wind represent even a partial victory over a two-decade old fear the repercussions will be world wide. It will mean that intelligent faith has replaced dark fatalism, while avoiding the equally dark historical determinism.

Whether stock market goes up or down people are right — the future is being made by confidence instead of fear.

Discussion Important

(Ottawa Journal)

The Journal has frequently, in recent years, regretted the decline of good discussion in this country. Conversation about talk in public life is almost every field: political, economic, social, cultural, religious in all matters. But specially is there little time and energy spent nowadays in private or public discussion of national affairs. The newspapers have fallen into two camps: either they accept the present administration and all its works without question or they deem it pointless to question. We will be the first to admit we know not but we fear the worst.

Parliament has been just now upon a little gem of a book put out by Oxford University Press containing speeches of Sir Oliver Franks made in a special series of broadcasts by the British Broadcasting Corporation. Sir Oliver was British Ambassador to Washington during the Labor Government regime, but here he is selected by the BBC during the Conservative regime to deliver this notable series of talks.

Sir Oliver has been a late official recognition of the value of discussion, of the value of the opposite point of view. But note, too, Sir Oliver's own acknowledgment that he is not saying anything new. He explains that the origin of his broadcasts was the "Daily Tide of World Affairs" was in his return from Washington and resumption of the duties of Provost of Oriel College, Oxford. But his opinions he said this.

"They clam no authority: they express no official view, but they are personal. The facts are there and their subject is important. I should like to contribute to the health of public urgency. If I do not have the good fortune to be right in everything I hope at least to convince you that the issues are real. I should like to feel that, if I do not succeed, suggest will not do, you will not be content until you have found better ones."

We confess that if we heard anyone talk like that just now in Canada we'd be inclined to follow him around like a lost hound. A man who says flatly he believes something is right, or claims that he must of necessity be right; a man, moreover, who knows that the important thing is to find out what is right.

But here, on this well fed and massive continent with so much of the world's blessings, we are content to live on a diet of our own knowledge or in a cynicism towards all opinions but our own which disdains to fight or even investigate and with motto, if it bothers to state it, is "I couldn't care less".

GO EASY ON ACCUSATIONS

Have you ever asked yourself the question, What do I really think about God? What do I believe about Him, but What do I think about Him? What is my estimate of Him? Do I have a right regard for Him or—secretly, perhaps—do I believe Him to be cold, unfeeling and imperious?

There are many who regard Him as such. The man in the parable to whom one talen was given declared that he had hidden it in the ground because he believed God was unjust. There are many who are sorrow and cry out in agonized tones, "Why did God let this happen to me?" "Why did God take my High has victimized them.

God's vindication of Himself to suffering Job was that He displayed his power and then, John tells us, asked Job if he thought a Being of that power and majesty could make the kind of mistakes by vindicating his ways before men.

Jesus lived His life on earth in quiet. But He does not. In every way—and supremely in Jesus Christ—He seeks to make plain to us that his dealings with men are the acts of love, justice, righteousness, and holy purpose.

Every day the Bible reads numbered! No a sparrow falls but God knows! Let us be careful about our accusations of divine indifference.

A Fool And His Arthritis

Mind, now, credulous ones, I do not say that chronic arthritis may not happen now and then, although no medical authority, so far as I am aware, sustains by sound pathology a diagnosis of "chronic arthritis" as a specific ailment.

I do say, and I think I can sustain this statement with sound pathology, that in most cases purporting to be "chronic arthritis," there is not now and there has not been any indication of inflammation of the joint tissues (except from accidental cause) and therefore the joint disability is not "arthr-itis" at all. In at least nine cases out of ten, joint disability of more than a year is duration is actually what I call rheumatic, or rheumatic, if you please, not rheumatism.

I'm sorry about the word, but I've learned by experience how difficult it is to persuade people to use a new word—or to correct wrong use of an old one. Probably ninety-nine out of a hundred readers do not use the words cri and vite and have no idea what the words mean. And it took many years to persuade people that pulling a plug causes amnesia "aphasia."

The common kind of joint disability I call rheumatic develops insidiously. It creeps up on you. Apart from accidental injuries there is nothing inflammatory about the joint trouble, just a and lodine.

Degeneration is thus defined in Sedman's Medical Dictionary:

A retrogressive pathological change in cells or tissues in consequence of which the functioning power is lost and the living substance becomes converted into an inert mass.

(Dr. Stedman meant to say "functioning power is impaired," I'm sure.)

The cause of the joint degeneration which I call rheumatis is nutritional deficiency through faulty assimilation early childhood up to and including bedtime snack tonight. That is to say, insufficient or faulty intake of calcium, sunshine vitamin D, vitamin B complex

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In a big business office which I visited recently, only the general manager has a private room. All the rest of the staff, and there were forty or seventy of them on the one floor, including assistant general managers and all the big shots in the business, occupy spaces of desk room in the wide open expanses of the general office.

Some of these senior men have larger desks than the junior run of the employees. But they're all the same kind, part of modified grey. Each desk has identical tidy baskets for correspondence. Some of the desks in the whole broad scene is one of quiet and orderly industry. Nobody seems to say anybody else's desk. What slight murmurs you hear are like the undertone you might detect in the reading room of the public library. Just the rustling and the subdued hum of matter of noiseless or electric typewriters. Floors are soft and carpeted with soundproofing tiles. The walls are greeny grey, and restful. The doors are likewise grey. I am told a million dollars was spent on the offices passed through this spacious office every day.

But it gives me the willies. Nothing in human nature justifies such surroundings. Nothing in the world of animal, as is often admitted, gradual development of soreness, lameness, pain, and disability through a period of months or years. In short, the trouble is physical degeneration of joint tissues.

For that matter, as a student of thought by no means an authority on pathology, I question the validity of the concept of chronic inflammation in any circumstance. In every such instance, the actual condition, I believe, is not inflammation at all, but degeneration. If I'm wrong about this, I'll be grateful to physician or pathologist who can or will set me right — and needless to say, I'll never reveal the identity of such mentor without his or her written consent.

Degeneration is thus defined in Sedman's Medical Dictionary:

A retrogressive pathological change in cells or tissues in consequence of which the functioning power is lost and the living substance becomes converted into an inert mass.

(Dr. Stedman meant to say "functioning power is impaired," I'm sure.)

The cause of the joint degeneration which I call rheumatis is nutritional deficiency through faulty assimilation early childhood up to and including bedtime snack tonight. That is to say, insufficient or faulty intake of calcium, sunshine vitamin D, vitamin B complex

Of course, we were not.

13-YEAR-OLD GIRL CHAMP WATER SKIER

Noel Gross, a 13-year-old schoolgirl of London, Ont., captured three water skiing titles at the Canadian National Exhibition contests in Toronto. She won the under-16 titles at jumping, slalom and tricks, repeating her record set at Gravenhurst where she won the Ontario titles for the same events.

1,300 Canadians Return to School In Germany

SOEST, Germany (Reuters) — The largest group of Canadian children abroad, 1,300 sons and daughters of members of the 1st Canadian Infantry Division, went back to school here today.

Instead of going back to temporary classrooms in army camps or borrowed accommodation in German schools, they moved into four newly completed schools which have taken more than a year to build.

The large windowed schools, built to German standards with Canadian modifications, have a total of 67 classrooms. They are staffed by 70 teachers.

A high school and a primary school are situated in Soest. The other two schools, both primary, are in neighboring Canadian communities.

As the 1st Brigade is being replaced by the 2nd this fall, teachers are cramming 10 months' lessons into an eight-month period so that children returning home will miss no studies.

Jack Clegg of Vancouver has been appointed principal of the two Soest schools, with Weldon Abernethy of Sault Ste. Marie as assistant principal of the high school there. The other three principals are Norman Castonguay of Sudbury, Lyle Drewry of Regina and Bob Stewart of Saskatoon.

CLYDE, Alta. (CP)—Toll of a highway crash rose to six Monday with the death in hospital of a teenaged girl. Five persons were killed instantly Sunday night in the collision of a heavily loaded truck and an automobile at Clyde Corner.

'Betty Berry Day' Sponsored By Legion Complete Success

DESERONTO (Staff)—This town converted itself into a collective showboat Saturday night to fete its favorite daughter, Betty Berry first performer to cross the Bay of Quinte from Picton to Deseronto.

The 23-year-old nurse, who took time from night duty at Ottawa General Hospital to put her town in the news two weeks ago, was the modest recipient of the highest handshakes ever extended here at the town hall in a special Betty Berry Day to present her with her laurels.

Handsome gifts, handshakes and hurried kisses rained upon her from local merchants and associations and municipal and parliamentary representatives.

Probably the handsomest leaves in the wreath were the cheques totalling $107 contributed by town merchants and Picton mayor H. J. McFarland. A wrist-watch, a silver tray from town council, a fur stole, were only a few of the gifts showered upon the plucky swimmer.

But probably the most significant one was among the smallest—an engraved try. It was presented anonymously to Betty on the platform where the town had gathered to hail her feat, simply as a token of gratitude for once saving a girl from drowning.

FROM GIRL GUIDE

It was from 18-year-old Pauli Akey, once a girl guide with Betty, a Scout eight years ago while on a guide's outing, Pauli had slipped into the bay at the town wharf dock and had been rescued from drowning by Betty.

The entire occasion Saturday was organized by the local branch of the Canadian Legion, sponsors of Betty's swim. For the event the organization established a notable list of dignitaries, a colorful parade and two bands.

Hundreds of spectators lined the sidewalks to watch the parade wind through the dusky streets of the town late in the evening. Led by the heroic bugle-call of Trumpeter Hastings and Prince Edward regimental trumpet band it wended its way from the local high school to the park on the town's main street.

FORMED ADVANCE GUARD

Members of the Canadian Legion formed the advance guard, followed by their ladies' auxiliary and the local girl guides unit. Preceding several colorful floats was the scarlet-jacketed brass band of the Picton IOOF.

Betty herself took the applause of the crowds from atop a convertible. Escorting her was a large motorcade containing among others Frank Follwell, MP, Roscoe Reid, MPP, Mayors Ivan Parliament and Thomas Scott of Picton and Deseronto and alderman Ezra McCabe of Belleville.

The procession paused briefly enroute for Ontario Provincial president of the Legion, Henry Harvey, to lay a wreath on the town cenotaph.

Afterwards, facing the huge crowd in the park, Betty spoke to them simply of how much her townsfolk helped her make the swim:

"You have no idea how your faith and confidence helped me. It was a good swim and I was proud to do it for my town," she added.

The presentations and the speechmaking took the best part of an hour to carry to the finish.

Legion provincial president Harvey, while congratulating Betty also had some kudos left over for the local Legion branch.

"We in the provinces are looking forward to our branches getting more and more in community work, and I do believe the Deseronto branch is giving us a great lead," he said.

ANOTHER OFFER MADE

A suggestion that she might swim from Deseronto to Picton was offered Betty by Mayor McFarland. A wrist-watch, a silver Betty's swim. For the event the organization established a notable list of dignitaries, a colorful parade and two bands.

GM Workers Can Legally Strike Sept. 13

OSHAWA (CP)—The 30,000 General Motors workers here can legally strike Sept. 13.

Ontario labor law provides that they could walk out one week after the conciliation board report on their contract dispute reaches Labor Minister Daley.

Mr. Daley said he received the report this forenoon.

He gave no indication of its contents but said copies will be sent to the company and to local 222 of the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL).

Meanwhile, the union announced that 98 per cent of its members here voted in favor of striking if but we are prepared to go all the way if our demands are not met by the union.

"All the conciliation board hocus pocus behind us, we are inclined to resume direct negotiations with the company as soon as possible and, with strike power in our hands, we now gain equality at the bargaining table."

Mr. Daley said he received the report of the conciliation board at 10 a. m. today. The board, with Judge J. C. Anderson, of Belleville as chairman, sat in Oshawa July 2 and Aug. 9.

TERMED UNREALISTIC

Another General Motors workers in St. Catharines, Scarborough, London and Windsor, covered by a separate contract, are to take a strike vote next Sunday. Windsor workers will vote next Monday as well as on Sunday.

About 100 points are in dispute at all the plants. The union seeks wage increases, improvements in pension provisions, a more liberal company-financed health plan and additional holidays.

The company has termed the union proposals "unrealistic."

ACQUIRES COMPANY

MONTREAL (CP) — David W. Wallace, president of Standard Brands Limited (Canada,) Thursday announced acquisition of Dr. Ballard's Animal Foods, Limited, manufacturer of foods with plants in Toronto, Calgary and Vancouver. The new acquisition will operate as a subsidiary of the parent company, with no change in management, Mr. Wallace said.

North Ontario Hydro Rates Will Be Cut

NORTH BAY (CP)—A substantial decrease in northern Ontario hydro rates was promised Monday night by vice-chairman W. K. Warrender of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission. He was addressing the Municipal Administration's fifth annual convention.

"I am pleased to say", he said "that power rates in Northern Ontario will be substantially reduced to bring them more into line with those in effect in other parts of the province."

"I do not wish to quote any figures at this time but I can assure you that the reduction has been approved."

Mr. Warrender said later in an interview the new rates should be announced within a month.

The Hydro system's northern Ontario region stretches north of a line from Mattawa to Georgian bay and from the Quebec to the Manitoba borders.

Ontario Hydro, he told the meeting now has a dependable peak of 6,000,000 horsepower, an increase of 137 per cent over 1945. However, by the time was approaching when Ontario would no longer be able to generate from water, all the power it needs.

Weddings

SINCLAIR—FOOTE

Before a fireplace banked with asters, phlox, delphinium and gladioli and gladioli at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Foote, of Roslin, Ontario, a pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday, August 27, at 2.30 p.m., when their daughter, Mary Ilsa Ruth, became the bride of Stuart Colin Sinclair, of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Sinclair. The Rev. J. A. MacDonald of Kingston, officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in her wedding gown of white nylon net and blue lace over taffeta fashioned with slotted bodice of strapless style, having a lace jacket with long tapering sleeves ending in lily-point over the wrists. Her shoulder-length veil of matching color was held by a ruffled band of matching net trimmed with sequins. She carried a bouquet of red roses tied with white satin ribbon.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Walter Bradshaw, of Roslin, as matron of honor, attired in a strapless gown of pale pink net over taffeta with matching jacket and headdress of net and flowers. She carried a nosegay of white mums, red rosebuds, tied with blue ribbon.

Mr. Hugh Sinclair, of Trenton, brother of the bridegroom, performed the duties of groomsman; while Mr. Walter Bradshaw of Roslin, and Mr. Donald Foote of Belleville, brother of the bride, were ushers.

The wedding reception was held at the bride's home, where Mrs. Foote, wearing dusky blue with white accessories, and corsage of red roses, received the 50 guests. Mrs. Sinclair assisted, gowned in navy blue, with matching accessories, and corsage of red carnations. The bride's table was centred by a three-tier pillared wedding cake.

For travelling to North Bay, the bride wore a navy taffeta dress with white hat and accessories and corsage of pink roses. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair will reside in Belleville.

Guests present from Toronto, Trenton, Kingston, and Belleville.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was honored by a miscellaneous shower given by the girls of Hotel Quinte, and a kitchen shower by the ladies of the 5th Line of Tyendinaga.

BUCKLEY—DERRY

St. Charles Borromeo—church, Read, Ontario, was beautifully adorned with pink and white gladioli blooms on Monday, August 15th, at 9.30 a.m., for the marriage of Constance June Derry, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Judson Derry, of Foxboro, to Edward Charles Buckley, of Read, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Buckley. The Rev. E. Brice-land officiated.

Mr. W. Hanley rendered "Ave Maria", as part of the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Judson Derry, the bride was charming in her bridal gown of white Chantilly lace and net over satin, fashioned with molded bodice in strapless style, and matching jacket with Peter Pan collar trimmed with seed pearls. The gracefully flowing skirt of net and satin was in ballerina length. Her shoulder-length veil was caught in a coronet studded with seed pearls, and she carried a white prayer book crested with red roses, white, satin streamers.

Mrs. Robert Hermes, of Foxboro, cousin of the bride, was her only attendant, attractively gowned in green taffeta fashioned in strapless style with matching bolero. She wore a green satin hat, and carried a nosegay of Gloria roses, white Shasta 'mums and mingled with mauve, daisy 'mums.

Mr. James Buckley, of Lonsdale, Ontario, attended his brother, while Mr. Bob Hermes, and Mr. John Buckley, acted as ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Buckley, where the bride's mother, Mrs. Derry, wearing a navy and white two-piece ensemble, received, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Buckley, who wore grey fashioned on princess lines.

For the wedding trip to Buffalo, and Detroit, Michigan, the bride travelled in a light blue suit, with white accessories, and corsage of pink feathered carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Buckley are residing at 222 Albert Street, Belleville.

Lifelong Moira Residents Observe Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Ketcheson

Lifelong residents of the Moira community, Mr. and Mrs. Blake Ketcheson on Sunday celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary when they were at home to a wide circle of friends and relatives.

The anniversary was held at the Ketcheson farm home where the couple began their married life just half a century ago. The farm is now operated by their son, Ross, with Mr. and Mrs. Ketcheson for the past ten years, having lived, in retirement at Moira village.

The anniversary was also something of a reunion for the principals of the wedding back in 1905. Wedding attendants, now Mr. and Mrs. William Shaw, and even the flower girl, now Mrs. Stanley Frost of Ivanhoe, were present at the anniversary.

Mr. Ketcheson is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ketcheson, who were early settlers in the Moira community, while Mrs. Ketcheson is the former Katie Hollinger, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Hollinger.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Ketcheson have taken a keen interest in the work of their church. Mr. Ketcheson served 10 years as Sunday school superintendent and was recording steward for the West Huntingdon circuit for 20 years. He is a former councillor of Huntingdon township council and served as justice of the peace for his municipality for 18 years.

Mrs. Ketcheson also served as Sunday school teacher; is past president of the W.A., and is a member of the W.M.S. and of the Women's Institute.

Mrs. Ketcheson has three sisters, all of whom attended the anniversary. They are Mrs. William Shaw, who acted as her bridesmaid, Mrs. George Foster of Moira and Mrs. Fred Campbell of Foxboro.

They have two children, their son, Ross, who now operates the family farm, and a daughter, Mrs. Olive Williams, a school teacher at Frankford. There are eleven grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

Women's Activities

SHANNONVILLE W.M.S.

The monthly meeting of the W.M.S. of the United church, Shannonville, was held in the church hall on Thursday with 12 members present. Mrs. Frank Dovsiaten, group leader, took charge the theme for the month being "The Call to Discipleship".

Mrs. Arthur Houston presided at the piano for all the hymns used. The group leader led in the worship service from the "Missionary Monthly" assisted by Mrs. Everett Stratton, Mrs. Orval Stratton and Mrs. Claude Clarke, who all read passages of Scripture.

Mrs. F. Doxtator gave an interesting reading "Sally of the Indian Missions". She also read a beautiful poem "The Man of Glory", which she found in her deceased sister's Bible.

The 1st chapter of the new study book "Home Missions" was presented by Mrs. W. Robertson.

Mrs. Wood thanked all who had taken part in the program and took charge of the business.

Mrs. Ketcheson served as Sunday school teacher; is past president of the W.A., and is a member of the W.M.S. and of the Women's Institute.

Regrets were expressed that one of the members, Mrs. Gammon, will soon be leaving to reside in Colborne.

Refreshments were served by the group in charge and a social time was enjoyed.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. William Ross on October 6th.

Women's Institute

SPRINGBROOK W.I.

Mrs. Fred McKeown, Springbrook, was hostess for the August meeting of Springbrook Women's Institute. The president, Mrs. Charles Gordanier opened the meeting.

Several coming events were discussed. Plans were made for the short course "Sandwiches for all Occasions", to be held the afternoon of September 26.

A report was given of the annual picnic held at Crowe Lake, at Mrs. W. J. Barlow's cottage early in August. Mrs. Campney reported the morning session of the June branch convention at Wellman's.

Mrs. L. S. McKeown, convener for health, took charge of the program. "A merry heart kills more microbes than medicine" was read by Mrs. Bert Spry. An article "Do You Usually Eat Breakfast" by Mrs. Cosbey and a poem; "Harangue of a Housewife" read by Mrs. Gordon Webb. Linda Mehlejohn sang "Alice Blue Gown" and Mrs. B. Bateman read "Take Time to Just Sit." Mrs. McCoy gave a poem "This is the Oyster."

The topic "Your emotions affect the way your body works", was ably handled by Mrs. Campney.

All members took part in "Current Events" and Mrs. C. Mehlejohn conducted an observation contest.

A social time with refreshments closed a pleasant afternoon.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

IT'S A SIGN YOU DON'T TRUST HIM

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I am 22, and very much in love with a young man of 24. He has told me that he loves me and we plan to become engaged.

However, he lives in another state, and while this does not keep us apart, it does make me feel completely left out that he is running around with other girls.

Is this a sign of true love, or childlike infatuation? — Judith C.

Dear Judith:

Suspicion is a sign neither of true love nor childish infatuation. It's a sign that you don't entirely trust this chap or his feeling for you.

That being the case, I advise you to proceed with caution in respect to getting engaged. If you're afraid, before you're engaged, that your young man may be running around with other girls, you're going to be still more afraid if he should become your husband.

With some love goes real trust. When one really loves, and feels confident of being really loved in return, the thought that the other person would two-time his beloved is unimaginable.

Again, it this chap is really true to you, and your apprehensions are made up out of whole cloth, then it's pure jealousy on your part, and I'd be sorry for the man who married you. You'd sure give him a hard time.

Better think all this over before you let the young man slip a ring on your finger, or one of you may be very sorry.

DON'T MAKE ANY PROMISES, EDNA

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I am a girl of 14, and going steady with a boy 17. We have been going steady for seven months.

About two weeks ago, he went into the service, and now he is always writing to me asking me to wait for him. Since I really like him very much, do you think I should wait for him, or go with other boys? — Edna B.

Dear Edna:

Aren't you pretty young to be going steady with any boy? In my opinion, you are.

And I certainly wouldn't think it very wise for you to make any promises to your boy friend about "waiting for him," because the chances are that a girl of 14 will meet a lot of boys she'll want to go with before this one gets out of service and is home again. Moreover, no matter how sincerely he may now believe that, when he does get home, he is going to want to find you waiting to join your friendship just where you left off, the chances, on his side, are also that he will have met other girls he likes just as much as he now likes you.

So if I were you, I'd just tell this boy that you're not ready, for a long way, to make any such promise as he asks, and that you think life would be pretty dull if you felt obligated to pass up all dates while he is gone. Tell him, too, that you certainly don't expect him to pass up making dates with other girls when he meets in other places. Say that you feel now is the time for both of you to have as many friends as you can; that you'll write him often and tell him all about what's going on at home, and what the boys and girls he knows are doing, and that you want to hear from him about the interesting places he goes and the people he meets.

You'll both be better off with that kind of understanding.

DIES IN COLLISION

BRANTFORD (CP) — One man was killed and four injured in a car-truck collision at an intersection in Burford township Thursday night. Harvey LeSage, 24, of Harley, died in hospital. Injured were: Victor Cicione, 17, of Harley; Joseph Spence, 41, of Tuborc; Lucian Jorrick, 29, Harley and Cuthbert Chaput, 47, Pembroke.

A Party or Picnic Parfait Pie

As Conducted by Mary Moore

Bill Tucker said "What will we do if it rains?" Pete answered "Listen, a picnic that my mother plans is never called off on account of rain."

Well, it did rain—via Hurricane Connie—it rained and blew and reversed the car on the highway when we drove to Stratford to see Julius Caesar. The picnic wasn't called off though. We simply shut the windows tightly and ate in the car while we watched lovely swans cavort on the banks of the Avon.

May I tell you a joke on myself speaking of picnics.

We had eight to a garden supper. Just as our first course was finished it started, to spot wellscattered drops of rain—but very large. The guests got slightly restless but I was telling some story I'm sure and didn't pause. Pete interrupted "You know, folks, if you mind the rain—and I do—you will just have to get up and come in the house with me to eat your dessert—for your hostess won't budge."

After they had all left I had a glorious chuckle to myself over it. He was so right and knows me so well.

A trick that I have been using to frustrate the flies and hornets when we eat out-of-doors is to serve the food in glass-covered dishes. If I do not have a glass lid for a certain dish I cover it with that transparent wrap. Thus everything may be seen but not molested by interlopers. Also as an extra frustration rule I put a plate with a little piece of meat twisted slice.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECHMAN

TO ANNOUNCE THE ENGAGEMENT?

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

When an engagement has been more or less "understood" for quite a while, is it correct to announce it? — Lily

Yes . . . it should be announced in some way, to confirm it officially.

TO SUBSTITUTE AS HOST

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

My husband died several years ago, and since then I have traveled quite a lot, and have rented our home here. Now I am living in our house again, and I would like to begin to give small, informal dinners. Would it be proper for me to ask my brother, when he is in town, or a cousin, or a life-long friend of my husband, to act as host, in all opposite me at table? — D.C.B.

Yes.

BRIDE PAYS FOR GROOM'S RING

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

Bill and I want very much to have a double-ring ceremony. Is it really true, as someone told me yesterday, that I am supposed to buy and pay for his wedding ring? — Bride-to-be

Yes, Ma'am . . . you buy and pay for the groom's wedding ring. And it's customary for the prospective bride and groom to go together so that the groom can choose the kind of ring he prefers.

TEA HOUR . . . COCKTAIL HOUR

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

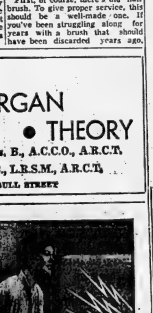
Are the hours usually named for an informal tea-party the same as for a cocktail party? My sister and I differ about this. — C. and S.

The tea hour is earlier than the cocktail hour. "Tea-time" usually begins at four o'clock or fourthirty. Cocktail time is generally not earlier than five, usually five or five-thirty or six, to seven. But these hours vary, depending on the plans to follow. Today very often a definite hour is mentioned in the invitation . . . We hope you can come in for cocktails next Thursday around 5 o'clock (or 't 0'clock').

NO OBLIGATION UNLESS GUEST NEEDED HELP

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

The other day I invited a friend over to my house to luncheon. We had arranged transportation. We I under obligation to go to meet her? (A) tells me I was, and "(B) says I wasn't. I am quite bewildered. — Reader



I'm not sure what you mean about an "obligation to go to meet her." Since you had so thoughtfully arranged transportation for your guest from her house to your house, I shouldn't think you would have been expected to go to bring her, unless of course she has need of your assistance.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMIESON

BRUSHES FOR BEAUTY

Did you ever stop to think of how many brushes you need to keep you beautiful? The total's surprising and each brush is essential for one good-looks job.

Brushes necessary to good grooming should be washed at least once a week and dried, if possible, in the fresh air.

First, of course, there's the hair brush. To give proper service, this should be a well-made one. If you've been struggling along for years with a brush that should have been discarded years ago, resolve to remedy the situation at once. A worn-out brush with limp or falling bristles is of little or no use. One of the best in the line is a spiral bristle-comb brush with crimped nylon bristles. Always use your brush with a twist of the wrist, starting at the scalp and following each strand right out to the end.

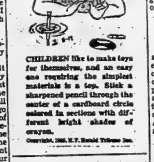
You need a good clothes brush, too. Clothes on which dust or lint appear reflect seriously upon one's grooming habits. It's a good idea to brush them off after each wearing, so they'll be ready to slip into at a moment's notice. If you notice a spot, try brushing it vigorously. Maybe you'll be saved a cleaning bill.

Brushes also have their place in your make-up kit. Not only will you want a good complexion brush to use in place of a washcloth but you can also buy a powder brush. This is a small round brush with an ivory handle and it's available in either soft white goat-hair or nylon. It's more sanitary than a puff because it's more easily washed and it also prevents a sticky application of powder. Blend your powder with one of these, then sit back and wait for the compliments you'll get on your complexion.

To complete your set of beauty brushes, a bath brush with a long handle that lets you reach hard-to-get-at areas is a "must." Select one with medium stiff bristles that do a good job but won't scratch. Be sure to work on your nails with a good hand brush. Use it, too, directly on the hands for removing grease-like dirt that comes from a different housecleaning job.

Once you've acquired a good set of brushes, don't shorten their length of service by abusing them. They need to be kept clean—they're to do a good job. Wash them at least once a week and, before giving them a sunny bath, remove any dirt or dust which may have accumulated with the aid of a handy little gadget called a brush comb. It looks like a tiny rake and, with it, you can rake right down between the tufts and remove loose hairs or lint. In cleaning brushes, always keep bristles down and, if possible, dry them in fresh air and sunlight.

You do us a favour when you discuss a loan with a Toronto-Dominion manager, because lending money is one of the major parts of our business.



There are many kinds of loans and many different types of security are acceptable. Any one of our managers will be pleased to discuss them with you. If he feels your undertaking has merit he will endeavour to find a way to help you.

So if you need financial assistance, go to the manager of the most convenient Toronto-Dominion branch. He won't expect you to know all the details of negotiating a loan . . . he is there to explain them to you and to give you all the help he can.

ROSLIN— The September meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary was held on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. W. Clapsaddle with 12 members present.

The president, Mrs. S. Sirk, presided. The Scripture reading was given by Hazel Wilson.

After a short business period, the meeting was turned over to the leader, Mrs. Clare, who was in charge of the program.

Readings were given by Mrs. F. Gray, Mrs. Clare and Mrs. W. Bates.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and a social time enjoyed.

BUSH FIRE RAGES

SAN DIMAS, Calif. (AP)—More than 15 structures, including 10 homes—one an $85,000 mansion—were destroyed and 100 other buildings were set ablaze by a brush fire and fans fire that invaded this community of 4,000 Thursday. Also lost was a small railroad station, a chicken ranch, 400 chickens, a girl scout cabin and several acres of orchards.

LEAVES $12,000 ESTATE

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Brazilian singer Carmen Miranda left an estate of only $13,000, plus an income of $4,000 a year, it was disclosed Friday when her husband, David A. 'Kingfish' Huey Long Probably Closest Approach to Dictator United States Has Ever Known

By CHARLES RICHARDSON

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—The "Kingfish" leaned back and watched the lights on the electric voting machine blink obediently.

The time: 30 years ago Sept. 8.

The scene: The state legislature of Louisiana.

The man: Senator Huey P. Long, political dictator of Louisiana and probably the closest approach to a dictator the United States has known.

The "Kingfish" wanted certain bills passed and had convened the legislature to do it. Long's bills were being passed at the rate of one a minute with the aid of the electric voting machine.

Hitler couldn't have done it any faster in the Reichstag.

"NO'S" NOT TOLERATED

When a legislator became confused and pushed the "no" button, the gaily-dressed senator sent one of his hard-eyed bodyguards down the aisle to guide the member's hand in "yes."

Satisfied with the speed and the overwhelming majority, the "Kingfish" strode out of the chamber into the lobby and toward the governor's office.

On his heels was his retinue of bodyguards.

From behind a pillar stepped a young doctor.

There was a burst of pistol shots. When it was over Long was staggering, holding his stomach, mortally wounded.

The doctor lay on the floor riddled with bullet holes.

Long died a few hours later. The death throes of his dictatorship took years. Even today Huey Long remains the dominant figure in Louisiana and the Long dynasty, carried on by two brothers and a son, is the most powerful single force in state politics.

Long is a martyred hero to some, a dead tyrant to others. He rapidly cemented his complete control of the state. Nothing was too small for him to decide, from the appointment of a state policeman to the floating of $1,000,000 highway projects.

Seizing control of the tax machinery of the state, Huey used it to bring his enemies into line by raising assessments. On his followers he lavished favors.

His hand-picked candidate, with the singularly appropriate name of O. K. Allen, succeeded him as governor when he went to the Senate in Washington, seeking to expand his power on a national scale.

Important state business was not transacted without the Kingfish giving the word whether he was in Washington or not. The afternoon before he was shot he sat in the governor's office receiving all callers, giving them the "okay" or this, a "no" on that, dispensing bouble for his enemies.

In the Senate he demanded confiscation of all inherited estates of more than $1,000,000 and spoke of plans, "when I am in the White House," to award $5,000 yearly to every family.

But Dr. Carl Weiss, a Baton Rouge eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, put an end to Kingfish's crusade with a single bullet from an "outlaw" 32-calibre pistol on that night of Sept. 8, 1935.

Little Benny's Notebook

We went to the new resterant on the Avenue for dinner, and ma said to pop, Really, William, I mean seriously, it's been 20 minutes since that waiter took our order, and here we are, still waiting.

That's a fact, we're doing our part, all right, pop said, and ma said, It's no joking matter, William, I never saw sutch a slow waiter.

Maybe he came from one of the slow, backward countries, I notified he has some kind of an accent, pop said, and ma said, Even if he comes now, better late than never, I hope.

And the waiter put our differnt things down and went away again, and ma said, William, you ordered duck and he's brought you chickin. Call him right back, there's no excuse for that, she said, and pop said, Oh, perhaps there is, he was probably raised on a poor farm where the only live stock was chickins. After all, none of us can overcome our heredity, he said.

For land sakes he hasn't even given me a napkin, ma siad, and pop said, He didn't give me one, either.

I haven't got one either, ma, I said, and pop said, There, you see, he didn't want to give one of us a napkin without giving us all one. That shows a sort of thoughtfulness on his part, he said.

You're just snobbishly going out of your way to justify his inefficiency, ma said, and when the waiter brought the check she said, William, if you give that man his full tip, you're nothing but a silly sotty.

Dont worry, my dear, he's even made a mistake in his addition and overcharged me, pop said. That's the last straw, I'll deduct the full amount of the overcharge from his tip, he said.

And he left exactly 73 cents by his plate, claiming the waiter made a mistake of 2 cents when he added in the tax.

HITS AT NIXON

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda Monday accused United States Vice-President Nixon of intolerance and demagoguery and called him "one of the American reactionaries" trying to revive the Cold War. The article in the official newspaper of the Russian Communist party was a belated reply to Nixon's address to the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Boston last Monday. Nixon said there are five roadblocks to world peace which only the Soviet leaders can remove.

U.S. Army Holds 2 Soldiers And Civilian Freed by Reds

BERLIN (AP) — The United States Army today held two soldiers and a mystery civilian incommunicado after their release from long imprisonment by the Russians.

Russia followed up the release of the trio Monday by freeing 30 prisoners from five West European countries.

The two American soldiers were identified as Pte. Wilfred Cumiah, 39, missing from an intelligence unit in Vienna since 1948, and Cpl. Murray Fields, 36, missing from the U. S. military police in Nuremberg since 1948.

The third man, identified himself as Frederick Charles Hopkins, a civilian from New York City. The army and state department said they had no information on him, and some U. S. authorities said they doubted he was an American at all.

The three were turned over to a U. S. army department official at the Soviet consulate in East Berlin.

The army indicated that both soldiers might be subject to court-martial for desertion.

Men, materials... and money

When a business lands an order or a contract, it is likely to go to a chartered bank to arrange some of the financing. It may need bank credit to meet payrolls, to buy materials or to cover other costs that arise before it is paid.

That's why businesses both large and small can take on many jobs they would be unable to handle if they had to depend entirely on their own financial resources . . . And why, every day and in every part of Canada, the chartered banks are lending money to producers, manufacturers, processors and other commercial customers.

Commercial loans are only one of many banking services available at a branch of a chartered bank. You will find it is a convenient banking service-centre where you can attend to all your banking needs.

Only a chartered bank offers a full range of banking services, including:

Delegates Urged To Withstand Pressure Groups

NORTH BAY, (CP)—Dr. M. G. Taylor, professor of political science at university of Toronto, Monday urged 400 delegates to the Ontario Municipal Association annual convention to withstand influence of pressure groups.

Speaking at the opening session of the three-day convention, Dr. Taylor said elected representatives on local authorities should resist propaganda of such groups which try to mould public opinion into their own interpretations of democracy.

Hon. William Nickle, newly-appointed Ontario planning and development minister, asked that copies of resolutions passed at the conference be forwarded to all members of the cabinet.

Roy Ashton, London, Ont., assessment commissioner and president of the association, opened the conference and an address of welcome was delivered by Mayor M. E. Dickerson, of North Bay. Municipal Affairs Minister Goodfellow of Ontario was to speak later in the day.

The delegates are to consider 90 resolutions on municipal administration ranging from one requesting assessment of industrial electrical motors to a demand for amendment of the British North America Act to allow general revision of municipal taxation.

Labor Dispute Ties Up Work On Project

MONTREAL (CP)—A labor dispute between the Jacques Cartier Excavation Company and the Transport Drivers Union (AFL-CTLC) Monday night threatened to tie up construction of the St. Lawrence seaway project, at nearby Lapraire.

It was reported the truckers have set up a 30-truck road block at Lapraire to prevent other trucks from carrying shale and slate from a Lapraire quarry to the project.

A company spokesman said Monday night attempts will be made today to "break through" the road block.

The truckers stopped work before the Labor Day weekend when the union and company failed to settle a dispute concerning the pension rate to be paid drivers for hauling shale and slate.

Indian Held On Murder Count

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Lloyd Nashkawa, 22, has been charged with murder after the body of Alex Styres, 54, of Caledonia was found in a shack at nearby Jordan.

The Owen Sound district Indian was found hiding in a clump of bushes Saturday seven hours after the body was found.

Police said Styres died of a deep knife wound found lying near him. Nashkawa, a native of Croker's master's degree.

Point, north of Owen Sound, had been living since June in this area. His home was a shack on the farm of H. B. Douglas, off the Jordan sideroad.

Police say Styres came to the area to pick peaches.

SALARIES RAISED

Lawyers Want Better Break For Immigrants

OTTAWA (CP)—Modification of immigration procedures to give a better break to those seeking entry to Canada and to others threatened with deportation is sought by the Canadian Bar Association.

Some 1,000 lawyers, judges and legal educationalists closed out the association Saturday by adopting a series of recommendations to this effect from an immigration sub-committee.

It recommended that an immigration appeal board be established to hear appeals from departmental deportation orders and from refusals of entry permits, with the minister of immigration no longer having the sole word on deportation orders.

STORM THREATENS PORT

VERA CRUZ, Mexico (AP)—A tropical storm with winds of gale force at the centre was reported advancing on this gulf coast port today. The weather bureau said the storm centre was about 30 miles off the coast before dawn and was moving slowly toward land at about three miles an hour.

Hurricane Flora Said Not Threat

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Flora today was making a sweeping curve which should keep her in the open Atlantic and away from the North American mainland.

"This storm is not a threat to any part of the United States coast," the Miami weather bureau reported this morning.

Flora formed far out in the Atlantic Saturday. Its winds, 90 miles an hour when discovered, increased to 100 miles an hour Sunday.

Heavy Entry List, Varied Program Makes Marmora Fair Success

MARMORA—Cloudy and rainy skies of the morning of Labor Day gave way at noon-time to a brilliant sunshine making the holding of a successful fair possible at Marmora.

It was estimated that the crowd exceeded that of 1954 and that it was roughly 4,000. The day was unmarked by any mishap and directors and all interested were able to class the fair one of the best in the society's history. As one man remarked, when asked in an interview on the entertainment platform what struck him most as a feature of the fair, "the better midway," so it was that folk peramulating it found the particular spots they desired to frequent the more accessible.

Three local ladies' organizations had well organized refreshment booths with goodly menus to cater to the appetites of the hungry. The Women's Institute added another year to the long number they have been of service in this respect. The Marmora Chapter I.O.D.E. made their appeal to patronage once more and the new booth which the Ladies' Auxiliary of Marmora Branch No. 237 completed most recently, was also to the fore in the catering business.

ATTRACTIVE MIDWAY

In the midway loomed a ferris wheel and the amusement company with concessions also had a merry-go-round and other rides to the glee of the rising generation. Outside the arena, and in other convenient vantage points for exhibits, agents of various companies had displays of farm machinery, while within the building, local agents for household utilities and indoor pleasure such as television, assembled their own individual attractive shows receiving patronage from a goodly percentage of the crowd.

Coming to the competitive classes embraced by the prize list, the absence of sheep and swine was noticed. Entries in recent years being so light in these classes, occasioned their withdrawal.

There was apparently a drop in the showing in the horse class this year, and of children's work it may be said to be just average.

Tommy Mason of Peterborough, once more was M.C. for the grandstand performance, assisted by past president Jack McEvoy, chairman of the entertainment committee.

The program with selection by Sentinel Pipe Band was under the direction of Piper Harold Spencer.

Sixteen boys under 12 years of age next engaged in a pie eating contest with winners being Norman McFarlane, Harry Ellis, Eddie McMurray, all of Marmora.

Jack Thynne, the Kansas Farmer, then introduced the three Noll Sisters of Walkerton, who played instrumental numbers on accordion, guitar and piano, and accompanied him as he sang numbers interspersed with recitations.

DANCING CONTEST

Covering a wide range of ages, eight contestants were then seen in the popular step dancing contest. Honors went to Mae Anderson, Bonarlaw; Mrs. Everett Vilneff, Marmora; Mrs. Charles Ellis, Marmora.

Another appearance by Jack Thynne preceded the ladies' nail driving contest. The hammer was wielded by eight competitors, the successful ones being Mrs. Florence Ray, Trenton; Mrs. Marion Gawley, Marmora; Mrs. A. Lingland, Madoc.

A new feature was then introduced in the children's singing contest. Thirteen juveniles readily responded to the invitation to compete, three of the youngest seeking to edge

Scientists from 40 Nations Meet at Brussels Thursday To Prepare to Invade Space

By SERGE NABOKOFF

BRUSSELS (Reuters) — More than 100 leading international scientists, members of the special committee for the International Geophysical Year, meet in Brussels next Thursday to make preparations for earth's first invasion of space.

Physicists, astronomers and meteorologists from 40 countries will assemble at the Palais des Academies here under the chairmanship of the 57-year-old British scientist, Prof. Sydney Chapman, president of the commission for the International Geophysical Year. They will discuss plans for that year to be held from July 1, 1957, to Dec. 31, 1958.

During the year—which is actually to last 18 months—the United States hopes to launch into space a man-made satellite which will circle the earth every 90 minutes at a height of 100 miles and, equipped with a variety of scientific instruments, will send back messages concerning conditions and phenomena which man has never before been able to investigate.

WEATHER SECRETS SOUGHT

The information to be data thus obtained, together with observations taken from thousands of weather stations which will scan the sky ceaselessly from all parts of the world, should in a few months be expected to produce the answers to many questions, among them: space travel, accurate weather forecasts and smooth radio transmissions.

The sun will be filmed from dawn to dusk and any activity spotted by one of the main concerns of geophysics, a term which covers 14 branches of science.

To study the night sky alone, 40 stations will be established in four main chains extending through Europe, Africa, the Far East, India and the Antarctic.

Prof. Marcel Nicolet, the Belgian secretary of the commission explained that the Brussels conference will have one main task:

"It will have to distribute geographically some 500 observation posts, or stations, to be set up throughout the world and ensure liaison between them."

AREAS ASSIGNED

Nicolet explained that the committee has divided the earth into three areas: The Arctic zone, which will be manned by Canada, the United States, the Soviet Union, Sweden, Norway and Denmark; the equatorial belt, watched by Britain, France, Belgium, India, Australia, New Zealand, the United States, the Philippines and Japan; and the Antarctic zone, which is divided by Britain, the United States, the Soviet Union, France, Japan, Australia, New Zealand, Argentina and Chile.

The earth also will be divided into three "slices," stations situated along three meridians: The Euro-Africa (10 degrees east), passing through West Europe, Tunisia, the Sahara, and the West African coast; Asia - Pacific (140 degrees east) running through Siberia, Japan, New Guinea and Australia; and the American (75 degrees west), passing through the United States.

ROCKET RESEARCH

Apart from plans to launch a space satellite, the United States will establish 100 stations in the three zones, including one on the South Pole and a meteorological centre in Antarctica.

The British Commonwealth's program includes Anglo - Australian plans to fire research rockets to an altitude of nearly 60 miles from Woomera, in Australia, and from Antarctica, and to send cosmic ray testing balloons up to a height of 50 miles over England.

The Soviet Union, whose representatives will attend the Brussels conference, also will man 100 stations with some 1,000 scientists and technicians. Three of the stations will be in Antarctica and one of these will be situated on the geomagnetic pole. The Russians also have promised to send a 12,000-ton icebreaker to the Antarctic.

Canadian Pilot Turns in Best Performance

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

FARNBOROUGH, England (CP) — The Canadian CF-100 jet interceptor, piloted by Jan Zurakowski of Toronto, turned in the best single performance at the Farnborough air show Monday.

The 40-year-old Polish-born pilot, credited with air victories during the RAF during the Second World War, put the twin-jet craft through a spin and a falling leaf. Both manoeuvres are seldom attempted in anything as large as the 17-tonner.

Reporters and technicians gasped as Zurakowski pulled out of the spin at the last possible second.

NEW VERSION

Monday's performance by the CF-100 was the first of Farnborough's for a military plane designed and produced outside British aircraft industry. It was also learned that A.V. Roe of Canada has evolved a new version of the craft with an operation level 6,000 to 8,000 feet higher than the Mark IV type at the show.

The new type is called the Mark IV-C, has wings each three feet longer and operates at more than 600 miles an hour at a ceiling of about 55,000 feet. The new type already is flying.

(In Toronto, Fred T. Smye, assistant general manager of A.V. Roe of Canada, confirmed that it is experimenting with a modified version of the CF-100, and several have been produced at Malton and test flown but they have not yet been shown outside the Toronto area.)

New Air Speed Record Is Set By Super Sabre

By YERN HAUGLAND

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The three-day national aircraft show—the United States aviation industry's annual report to the public—was capped Monday by announcement of the world's first official faster - than - sound speed record: 822.135 miles an hour.

A North American F-100C Super Sabre piloted by Air Force Col. Horace Hanes, 38, bettered the previous official speed record by almost 70 miles an hour in two flashes eight miles above southern California's Mojave desert Aug. 20.

The previous record of 755 miles an hour was set in 1953 by Air Force Col. J. F. Du Puresst in an earlier-model F-100A over California's Salton sea. Until the recent development of equipment for measuring high-altitude flights at supersonic speeds, speeds greater than that achieved by Everest could not be officially recorded.

U. S. RETALIATES

WASHINGTON (AP)—The state department Thursday ordered the Czechoslovakian legation to "cease all information activities" except for those carried on within the legation building. At the same time, it protested that Communist police have been molesting and intimidating Hungarians who call at the American legation in Budapest to receive American publications.

RCAF CORPORAL DREAMS OF GREEN PASTURES

"Corporal" Wilhelm DeGoatee, newest recruit at No. 4 RCAF Fighter Wing at Baden-Soellingen, Germany, stands guard at the main gate of the Wing along with Corporal David G. Gladys Is Sloshing Her Way Toward Swamped Mexico City Where 40,000 Homes Flooded

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Tropical storm Gladys, wayward and dangerous, turned away this morning from Texas and sloshed her rains toward Mexico City, where she already has caused the worst floods in the Mexican capital's recent history.

Mexico City already has had three days of rains, causing disastrous floods affecting some 40,000 families.

Gladys Monday slammed into the gulf coast about 150 miles south of Brownsville, with winds of about 70 miles an hour—just short of hurricane classification.

The weather bureau said the storm turned sharply south-southwest during the night after hitting the coast in mid-afternoon. It passed almost directly over Tampico, Mexico.

Half of Tampico was plunged into darkness by power failures. Wind damage in the city was heavy, and families fled low-lying areas flooded by the Panuco river.

To the north, storm warnings were still up today in the Brownsville-Port Isabel area in extreme south Texas. High tides occurred and huge waves pounded the beaches from Galveston southward.

At Mexico City, some four square miles of working-class districts were under water today. Some 2,000 persons were still stranded in the area after about 2,000 were rescued from rooftops. The death toll was uncertain.

U.S. Labor Day Traffic Toll Climbs Near to 1951 Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

American motorists ran up a near-record Labor Day weekend traffic toll, topping both advance estimates and last year's totals.

Delayed reports trickling in today showed that 414 persons were killed in traffic accidents between 6 p. m. local time Friday and Monday midnight, compared with the record high of 461 set in 1951.

Another 79 persons were drowned and 85 met violent death from miscellaneous causes for an overall total of 578.

This fell short of the record overall toll of 634, also set in 1951.

The traffic toll was ahead of the 400 estimate the National Safety Council had estimated would occur.

Safety council statistics show that for each traffic death 32 other persons are injured. Also, for every three persons killed a fourth person dies later of injuries.

Man Wanted On Murder Count Is Arrested

EDMONTON (CP)—One of the most intense manhunts in western Canada came to a limited end Monday with the arrest in a downtown rooming house of John Petluck, 35, wanted on a murder charge.

Petluck, sought since last Monday when five of his relatives, including his mother, were found slain on a farm near the rural community of Fenwood 90 miles northeast of Regina, gave up without a struggle.

RCMP and city police arrested the 35-year-old farmer as he was leaving the 107th street rooming house after the landlady had notified RCMP earlier in the day that one of her roomers was the wanted man.

An RCMP spokesman in Regina said the man carried more than $11,000 in cash. Police said about $10,000 in cash is missing from the homestead where five relatives of the arrested man were found slain Aug. 29-30.

ADMITTED IDENTITY

Police said the man readily admitted he was Petluck.

The search for Petluck was launched after the bodies of five persons were found at his brother's farm.

Shot three times each with a single-shot .22-calibre rifle were Michael Petluck, John's 69-year-old brother; John's 72-year-old widowed mother, Mary Petluck; Michael's wife, Angeline, 21; and their two young daughters, the oldest aged five.

PUBLISHER DIES

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—George F. Booth, editor and publisher of the Worcester Telegram and Evening Gazette, died Thursday at his summer home in Bass Rock, Gloucester. He was 84. He also was president of Worcester radio station WTAG. Booth served as director of The Associated Press from 1941 to 1950.

DULLES ON VACATION

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dulles Thursday flew to an island in Lake Ontario for two weeks of rest and play, Dulles left with Mrs. Dulles on a military air transport plane for Watertown, N.Y. From there he was to go by small amphibian aircraft to Duck island, a wooded outjutting of 1,000 acres in Lake Ontario.

Turkish Consulate Bombed After Cyprus Negotiations Reach Point of Breakdown

ATHENS (AP)—A stick of dynamite exploded early today in the yard of the Turkish consulate at Salonika. No one was injured but windows in the consulate and in nearby houses were broken.

The incident occurred as unrest increased in political quarters here because of a weekend statement by Turkey's Foreign Minister Fatin Rustu Zorlu in London, where Britain, Greece and Turkey are conferring on the future of the island of Cyprus.

Cyprus now is a British crown colony. Greece has demanded that the islanders be granted self-determination.

Zorlu said the Greek government must prevent terrorism on Cyprus "if they want peace in the east Mediterranean, and if they want continued friendship with Turkey and Britain." His said agitation against British rule "is the work of a handful of terrorists, a good many of whom come from Greece."

WANT EQUAL RIGHTS

Zorlu said Turkey will accept a British plan to give Cyprus more self-rule only if "equal or confederal rights" are given to the Turkish minority on the island.

There are about 400,000 persons of Greek descent living on Cyprus and about 100,000 persons of Turkish origin. The former want to unite the island with Greece.

Zorlu's statement appeared to rule out any compromise among the three powers on a future plan for the island, and the Greek and Turkish negotiations now are reported on the point of collapse.

The pro-government Athens newspaper Vima says Greece may have to reconsider her relations with Turkey and Britain as a result of their attitude on the Cyprus issue.

Greece, Turkey and Britain are all members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, but their relationship has been badly strained over the Cyprus question. Greece and Turkey also are linked with Yugoslavia in a Balkan alliance.

Britain has said she will keep Cyprus as long as she has a responsibility in defending the Middle East. Britain took control of the island from Turkey in 1878 and annexed it in 1914.

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—A thousand British troops early today sealed off a four-square-mile suburb of Nicosia and ransacked every house in the biggest anti-terrorist operation ever launched on this island colony.

The troops, with a token force of 120 policemen, moved into the Omorfo suburb in trucks which straddled the entire area. Then they began building search lines of two-man residents: "You are under curfew—stay indoors."

Soldiers searched almost every inch of each house for evidence of Cypriot terrorists who have staged a campaign of violence to support demands for uniting the strategic island with Greece.

Even garages and hen coops were ransacked, but 5½ hours' searching failed to turn up a single trace of arms, ammunition or wanted suspects.

Brig. John Gregson, officer commanding, said the launch of about 10 British soldiers in the curfew area also were searched—including the wives of government officials.

Meanwhile, in central Nicosia, anti-British leaflets were scattered by EOKA, an underground terrorist organization secretly backed on the island with Greece. The leaflets said there would be attacks in the last few days were only "a foretaste" of things to come.

Declares Milk Best Source Of Gamma Globulin

LAKE LOUISE, Alta. (CP) — A noted scientist told the National Dairy Council today that milk is one of the best sources of gamma globulin, an antibody against disease.

Speaking to the council's annual meeting, Dr. W.H. Peterson of the Institute of Minnesota, said that by drinking a quart of milk a day from vaccinated cows he had built up in himself in four days sufficient antibodies to resist certain diseases.

By injecting a cow with disease organisms such as diphtheria, salmonella and streptococci, he said the resulting milk produced antibodies against those diseases in the human body.

Two Brothers Arrested For Highjacking

MONTREAL (CP)—City police said Monday two brothers have been arrested in connection with the hijacking of $100,000 worth of copper and brass tubing from a Montreal trucking firm.

Detective Inspector Jean Tessa said Leo and Alphonse Blais, aged 35 and 29, of Montreal, will be arraigned today. Two officials of a Montreal scrap firm were arraigned Saturday on charges of receiving $30,000 of the stolen goods.

Three trucks loaded with tubing were stolen Thursday from an enclosed parking lot in nearby Cote St. Paul. The tubing was recovered in a freight car on a siding, and the trucks were found later on the waterfront.

Irving Unger, 32, and Werner Dalrop, 35, pleaded not guilty to the receiving charge and were ordered for preliminary hearing Thursday. They were released on $5,000 bail each.

Haggis Juniors Eliminated From Playdowns by Oshawa

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Errors of omission on two popups accounted for three Oshawa runs, the margin of victory, on Saturday as the Oshawa McCallum Transporters downed the Belleville Haggis Juniors 4-1 to eliminate them from farther OBA Junior playdowns. The game was played here at Exhibition Park before a small crowd.

The victors took a 2-0 lead in the initial frame, when a fly ball to right centre field fell between Hull and Batchelor. They made it 3-0 in the third, this time when Buskard and Kingston watched a popup fall between home plate and first. The runner scored later on a passed ball. Oshawa completed their scoring in the sixth while Belleville tallied their lone marker in the ninth inning.

The local aggregation outplayed the Transporters from the sixth frame on, getting four of the five safeties and loading the bases twice while St. Denis held the winners hitless.

FAILED TO COME THROUGH

Kelleher's boys failed to come through in the clutch however. They lost a great chance in the sixth inning to tie or win the game. Lee St. Denis started a rally with a pop single in front of the visitors' end. Chuck Kingston and Bob Hull also singling to fill the sacks with none out. Ted Batchelor then fouled a ball high and back of first base. The Oshawa first baseman went over and pulled it in but St. Denis tried to score from third after the catch and was nailed at the plate. Goyer popped to the catcher to end the threat.

Ken Fisher, a right-hand chucker, went all the way on the hill for Oshawa and surrendered five hits, all singles. He was untouchable in the early innings, allowing only one man to reach base on a walk until the fifth. Fisher threw third strikes by 11 while issuing six free passes.

Leo "Wiener" St. Denis hurled for the Haggis crew and turned in a good effort. He gave up nine hits but the two mental errors by his mates were the difference. He claimed eight on strikes while walking only one batter.

O'Reilly beat out a slow roller to third base with one down in the initial frame and Oldfield followed with a base hit to left. They got O'Reilly on a fielder's choice going to third with Litch safe on first. Terry Porter then lifted a ball to right centre and Hull appeared to have it but when it fell between Hull and Batchelor, both runners scored.

O'Reilly accounted for their third-frame marker. He was credited with a double when Kingston and Buskard allowed his popup to fall safely between first and home, stole third and came home on a passed ball. Their final marker was the only clean one, Rennick doubling down the left field line and riding home on Branch's two-bagger to left-centre. Only one Transporter reached base from then on, that by error, as St. Denis hurled excellent ball. Terry Porter, Oshawa centre fielder was ejected from the game in the sixth after an unkind remark to base umpire Lum Carson after he was out on an attempted steal of second.

Gord St. Louis claimed the first hit off Fisher in the fifth, a lined single to left field but he died on base.

LOSES CONTROL

Fisher lost his control in the ninth. With one out he walked Casey and Buskard before fanning St. Louis. Baker was walked in a pinch-hitting role and St. Denis drove in his team's only tally with a single off the pitcher's glove. Kingston went down on strikes to end the game.

Branch supplied the power for Oshawa with a triple and double, while O'Reilly and Porter each had a double and single. St. Denis poked a pair of one-baggers for Belleville with the others going to St. Louis, Hull and Kingston.

Lineups:

Oshawa: Steffen rf, O'Reilly 2b, Oifield ss, Litch c, Porter cf, Cole lf, Rennick 3b, Branch 1b, Fisher p, Chaszcenski cf, Wilson rf.

Belleville: Kingston 1b, Hull cf, Batchelor rf, Goyer ss, Casey 3b, Buskard c, St. Louis 2b, Stoliker lf, St. Denis p. Baker batted for Stoliker in ninth.

Umpires: Tim Williams (P) and Lum Carson (B). Time: 2.15.

Unionized Soccer Players Demand Increased Wages

SOUTHPORT, England (Reuters)—Britain's unionized soccer players and trainers Monday won overwhelming backing here for a campaign to get more pay.

Soccer games draw crowds of up to 125,000 in Britain. But the average wage of players is £2 a week—and the basic maximum wage is £15 a week.

The Association Football (Soccer) Players and Trainers Union won unanimous backing from the Trades Union Congress convention meeting here. The TUC delegates most of whom are crazy about soccer.

The resolution also called for greater freedom in working contracts. It was passed after former soccer star Jimmy Guthrie told the delegates that professional soccer players are "the last bonded men in Britain." "We bought and sold like cattle in "conditions akin to slavery, which besmirch the name of democracy."

JUST UNDER HALF

The soccer union represents just under half the nation's players and trainers—about 2,300 men.

Guthrie said a British player recently got a lump sum of £24,000 upon his sale to an Italian club, plus £100 a week salary and a luxury apartment.

"Is it strange that foreign football is flourishing, while British football fails behind?" he asked the 900 delegates.

The resolution also asked that soccer players be allowed to make or terminate contracts, and that they be cut in on the cash when they are sold to another club.

Game Turned Into a Farce At St. Thomas

ST. THOMAS (CP) — St. Thomas Elgins continued their assault on Oshawa Merchants' pitching Monday night as they pounded out 18 hits to trounce the Senior International Baseball League pennant winners 15-3 and take a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven finals.

Elgins won the opening game Saturday night in Oshawa 11-6 with a 16-hit attack.

Oshawa started the game Monday night with nine players on the field and one on the bench. After the first five innings the game turned into a comedy.

Merchant infielder took over the pitching and Elgin batters stepped up to the plate to bat from their opposite sides.

In fact the game turned into such a farce that the St. Thomas Baseball Association apologized to the fans—a record 3,342 persons watched the contest—for the conduct of the players of both teams.

South Hastings Baseball League

BASEBALL LEAGUE

Shannonville and Cannifton battled to a 3-3 deadlock last night in a South Hastings baseball league final playdown game at Cannifton. Seven games have been played in the four-of-seven series with each team winning two while three have ended in ties. The game will be replayed on Wednesday.

Shannonville took a 2-0 lead in the first inning last evening but Cannifton came back with one in the third and two in the fourth to go ahead. Shannonville scored one in the fifth and final frame.

Norm Stoliker hurled for Cannifton and did not allow a single hit in the abbreviated fixture. He had three strikeouts while passing four. His team's five errors were costly.

Jack Green toiled for Shannonville and was touched for three hits while whiffing three and walking the same number.

Jim MacDonald blasted a home run in the fourth for Cannifton.

Lineups:

Shannonville: Barberstock, L. Maracle, Reid, Sero, J. Green, G. Lewis, Stuart, Bennett, Horwood.

Cannifton: Harder, Marner, Cole, MacDonald, Sheffield, Petrie, Baker, Moore, N. Stoliker.

Umpires: Townsend (P) and Carson (B).

Bobcats Blank Peterborough Stoneys 5-0 in First Game

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Behind the four-hit pitching of big Vic Allan, the Belleville Bobcats blanked Peterborough Stoney's 5-0 at the CNRAA Park yesterday afternoon in the first game of their OASA Intermediate "A" semi-finals. The second game of the series is scheduled for Peterborough next Friday night at 8.00 p.m.

Allan, who threw a no-hitter but lost it in the Belleville and District league this summer, fired a beautiful game. He gave up two hits in the fifth and one each in the eighth and ninth, two of which were infield singles. He nipped seven on strikes, walked only one but hit three batters.

The Bobcats gave Allan one run to work on in the initial frame and it was enough. They added another in the third, a pair in the seventh and one in the eighth to win going away.

Terry Shaughnessy went the route on the hill for Stoney's, allowing eleven hits, all singles. He whiffed four, walked one, hit one and made three wild pitches. His mates bobbled three times behind him, all costly.

Shaughnessy had a fine lease of man for Belleville in the first when he was hit by a pitch. Gord Donovan then hit into a fielder's choice, nipping the lead runner at second, but three wild pitches scored Donovan.

An error to Pagett put Duesbury on again in the third and Donovan sacrificed him to second. After Lockyer fanned and Bone walked, Stan Creggan poled a single to centre for a 2-0 margin.

Errors played a major part in the winners next two tallies. Allan singled to left and took second when the outfielder bobbled the ball. The next two men went out but Evans pulled the first sacker off the bag on Lockyer's ground ball, putting runners on first and third. Doug Bone drove in both runners with a hard single to right.

Bobcats picked up four singles in the eighth, two of the infield variety. Wardhaugh started it and Temple, Woods and Duesbury followed suit with Woods driving in the marker.

Peterborough got only one run-ner as far as third base, Mooney getting hit by a pitch in the seventh and stealing the next two bases on passed balls. Allan left eight stranded on the base paths while Bobcats left nine.

Donovan and Lockyer were the only winners held off the hit sheet as Doug Bone, Ken Duesbury, Harry Wardhaugh and Bob Temple each had a brace of singles. The others went to Stan Creggan, Carl Woods and Allan.

Don Masterson, Terry Shaughnessy, P. Evans and S. Harris were the Peterborough hitters.

Line-ups—

Peterborough—Masterson c, Pagett 2b, Evans 3b, Bloom lf, Quigley ss, Gaskell 1b, Harris cf, Hewis rf, Maloney rf, Shaughnessy p.

Belleville—Duesbury 2b, Donovan cf, Lockyer ss, Bone 1b, Creggan lf, Wardhaugh 3b, Bowdy Doody c, Woods rf, Allan p.

Bantams Take Game Lead Over Oshawa

The Belleville bantams came up with three runs in the top of the seventh and final frame in Oshawa on Saturday to down Oshawa 7-3 in the first game of their OASA semi-finals. The return game will be played here at the CNRAA Park next Saturday at 3.00 p.m.

Ted Hook pitched the complete game for the Belleville Regents and gave up only two hits. Wildness accounted for the Oshawa runs as Hook walked 13 while fanning three.

Festers toiled for the losers and allowed seven hits. He threw thirty strikes by 16 of the local kids and walked eight.

Locke was best at the plate for Belleville with a trio of singles while Doug Moreen had two doubles. McGuire and J. Hook singles. Taygon doubled for Oshawa while Festers had a single.

Lineups:

Belleville: McGuire, J. Hook, Keller, Locke, Clapp, T. Hook, Lewis, Moreau, Langbeer.

Oshawa: Wilson, March, Taygon, Festers, Goldsmith, Cummins, G. Zedic, Trenb, D. Zedic, McDonnell.

AT THE CAPITOL — Oh, Susie! Jane Powell returns to "Sailors and a Girl" in a new kind of role. She stops the dance, and she does a strip tease, too. The Technicolor musical is showing today and Wednesday at the Capitol Theatre. On the same program is also by Technicolor "The Master of Ballantrae", starr Errol Flynn.

Oshawa Pee Wees Shade Booths In First Game

The Oshawa Pee Wees shaded the Booth Pee Wees of Belleville 5-4 at the CNRAA Park on Saturday to take a one-game lead in their OASA series. The second game is scheduled for Oshawa next Saturday.

Yahn pitched for the victors, allowing six hits, fanning seven and walking three. Pope was his receiver. Malloy and Turner were the Belleville battery, Malloy surrendering seven safeties, whiffing three and passing the same number.

The game was closely fought all the way, the local kids erring twice and Oshawa once.

Hentig and Yahn each poked a brace of singles for the winners. Kornylo doubled and Tilk and Pope singled.

Donovan came up with three singles for Booth's while Gaffney had a double and single. Muirhead had the other hit, a single.

Midgets Trounce Cobourg Twice Over Holiday

The Belleville midgets whipped Cobourg twice over the holiday to earn their way into the next round of the OBA midget playdowns. They scored a 6-1 victory in Cobourg on Saturday and walloped the Cobourg club 21-6 in the second game here Sunday.

In the Saturday game, Joe Ryan pitched for Belleville and turned in an excellent game. He allowed just three hits and fanned 17 batters while walking only one. Fred Maybee went the route for Cobourg, giving up 14 hits, all singles. He fanned nine.

Bill Foster and Mike Ryan led the victor's attack with four hits each while Jack Elliott and Joe Ryan each claimed two.

Wright and Gord Irwin also hit safely.

Sunday's game was never in doubt from the initial inning when Belleville took a 3-0 lead. They scored in every inning except the third while Cobourg netted most of their runs near the end of the game.

Jack Elliott hurled the route for Belleville, giving up six hits and fanning 13. He issued only two bases-on-balls. Cobourg employed two pitchers but were unable to stem the winner's power as they pounded 23 safeties.

Mike Ryan again paced the winner's attack with five hits and a walk in six tries. Bob Wannamaker contributed four hits while Jack O'Neil had three safeties. Abe Wright, Jack Elliott and Gord Irwin each poled two while Bill Foster and John Foster had singletons.

Kingston Whips Local Juveniles, Game Protested

Kingston whipped the Belleville Juveniles 16-5 in the Limestone City on Saturday to oust them from the OBA tarpdown. Belleville has filed a protest since Kingston did not produce OBA umpires for the game.

Kingston took a 3-0 lead in the first inning but sewe dup the decision with five in each of the third and fourth frames. Belleville utilized singletons in the second, fourth and seventh, while netting a pair in the sixth.

Babcock and Ball shared the pitching duties for the winners between them giving up eight hits, fanning 11 and walking seven. Ball had five wild pitches.

Huddleston, Bishop and Sinfield all toiled for Belleville, among them allowing 25 hits, whiffing nine and passing six.

The complete Kingston team took part in the power-attack with Pettitt punching five singles. Senior homered, doubled and singled while Cherry had a triple and two singles. Ted Wise also homered and singled.

Bill Graham and Ross Wamsley each singled twice for Belleville. Garry Little had a double with the single going to Moore and Bishop.

Lineups—

Belleville— Wamsley, Vaughan, Craig, Moore, Little, Barber, Skelly, Charlton, Sinfield, Huddleston, Bishop.

Kingston — Thurlby, Pettitt, Senior, Berry, Stevenson, Gilbody, Veal, Carey, Sanderson, Babcock, Ball.

Brockville Crews Take Two Firsts At Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two strong Canadian eights from the Brockville Rowing Club of Brockville, Ont., won the junior and intermediate eight - oared rowing events Sunday and the James H. Hughes Memorial Trophy in the 64th annual Middle States regatta.

The Brockville four-oared crew also won the junior four - oared shells with coxwain event.

Greg Murphy of the St. Catharines (Ont.) Rowing Club, won the junior single sculls.

It was the first time in a quarter century that a Canadian crew had won an eight-oared event on the Schuylkill. The Brockville rowers captured two races at the Royal Canadian Henley regatta in July; three races in Ottawa in championship regattas and one event in the Canadian National Exhibition regatta at Toronto, Aug. 27.

By its pair of eight-oared victories Brockville compiled a total of 55 points for the Hughes Trophy.

NO EVIDENCE

MOSCOW (AP)—Sen. George W. Malone (R., Nev.) said Monday he has found no evidence that the Soviet people are likely to raise against their government or that Russia is prepared for war. Consequently, Malone told reporters, the United States should cut such expenses as the Voice of America and military expenditures. He arrived here after an extensive swing around the Balkans.

Cleveland Indians Take Over Leading Spot In Torrid League Race

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

(By Sam Curry, Publisher, Tweed News)

When the author of this column suggested we do a stint of 'guessing', while he is enjoying the cooling breezes of Lake Ontario over Wellington way, we were tempted to decline the invitation feeling that the editor of a country weakly, who has been absent from the sports scene for more than two decades, could offer little of interest to those who follow the day-to-day reviews of modern-day sport by the old scribbler-man with his daily knocks and boosts. But as we recalled the halcyon days of the old Central Ontario Baseball League in Belleville when the 'Grand Trunks' and later 'The Nationals' were a mighty force on the diamond, it occurred to us that recollections of those good old days might strike a note of nostalgia in the minds of those who have long since hung up the spikes and are probably devoting their leisure time to entertaining their grandchildren.

As a youngster we worshipped 'The Trunks', starting in 1919, when they whipped the Hamilton Harvesters for the Ontario title. Dates, names, and incidents are hazy in a failing memory but from the time we were pitch-forked into a sports writing job when the former incumbent suddenly departed, we accompanied later teams on their jaunts throughout central Ontario. The venerable city editor of this journal, Claude Tice, will probably say to himself, 'You've wrong about that one son,' as the various series are recalled. A book could be written on the exploits of the great Belleville teams of the 'twenties'—clubs which had few equals in their day.

We defy anyone to name a battery in amateur ball today which could compare to that great pair, Jack Williams and "Frenzy" Mills. There was no better in their day, nor is, there now. It was not unusual for the box score to indicate 18 to 22 strike-outs in a game. They functioned like clock-work; 'the Indian' seldom disobeying the signals he was given by his battery-mate.

Where will you find pitchers in amateur ball today who could even carry the gloves of the great "Trenton Six" of Kingston? Reckmar of Napanee and 'Duke' Dainty of Oshawa; Williams of Belleville and 'Cannonball' Scott of the Lindsay Greybirds? They just don't exist!

Tommy Fox, and later Walter Gerow, led Belleville to many a victory in those days. Walter Gerow, a quiet easy-going fellow, had the temperament and coolness of ever-lasting ice-cubes on the dugout. A master strategist, he always appeared to sense the right move when the chips were down. His word was law and there were no arguments. The ball park was the rendezvous for every kid in knee-pants, and the grey-beards as well, come Wednesday afternoon. What a thrill it is to remember Alex Kay and his lieutenant, Lou LeBarr, strutting out from the 'bunny' quarters to call 'play ball'. In most cases the games were close and hard-fought affairs; they weren't won by big scores; the pitchers on every club were too good. Crowds of 4,000 in Belleville's old 'head-high' fair grounds diamond, and the new exhibition park, were not unusual.

Veteran fans will remember the Hillcrests, the Oslers, the Galt Terriers, the Walkerville 'Chicks'—great ball clubs all. Probably the best of them all were the mighty Hillcrests.

The Nationals came there at Thanksgiving Park in Toronto and Walter elected to send his stogey-smoking second-string pitcher, Ray Mallen, at 'Nip' Dwan's crew. The Hillies belted every pitch we threw the outfield fence (deep centre was not the game were ended 18-1. But it was a different story back in Belleville when Williams, in rare form, turned them back 7-5. Wasn't that the day that the late Lionel Conacher, Canada's most outstanding all-round athlete, took on three Belleville fans all at one time? In the third game at Peterborough the 'umps' finally called the game in the 4th inning following a steady drizzle with the Hillcrests leading, when Stan Hagerman, who was playing right field, scooped up a pint of water with his mitt in fielding a line drive. The following Saturday, Williams on one of his best days, mowed them down with regularity and Belleville came out on top.

Some great players graced a local uniform, starting in 1918 with Doug. Simonds, Morey Simonds, 'Cap' Smith, Joe Kelleher, 'Soup' Gayer, Allan Meagher, Harry Whalen, Walter Gerow, 'Frenz' Mills, and others whom we can't recall. Freddie Geyer, one of the best scatpaws of his day, took that team to the provincial championship. Players who appeared in Belleville regalia in subsequent years, during that period, included Harry Mills, 'Skeeter' Williams, 'Wicky' Rose, Vernon Weir, 'Babe' Casey, Jack Casey, Alec Scott, the late 'Dr. Harry Blakely, 'Hoot' Gibson, Alex Weir, 'Senny' Green, Jack Oulette, Bob Scott, 'Frenz' Brenkle, Hugh Keen, Harry Branscombe, and probably a dozen others whose names escape us.

Jack Williams, after headlining the sports pages for several years, went to Rochester Red Wings of the International League, was shunted to a lower bracket, eventually retired from baseball, and is now living at his old home in Verona. He had no peer when he was at the height of his fame.

'Tim' Sullivan's tonsorial parlors and George Lee's tailor shop were the two favorite rendezvous on Thursday mornings when the games were played all over again.

One of the memorable series was that with the Galt Terriers. The Nationals, playing before a sellout crowd in Galt, saw the Indians beat Wilbur Kress in a thrilling 5-3 victory. But Belleville hadn't reckoned with the submarine artist, Friendly Graham, who came back to beat them right at home. It was a sad day for Belleville. I was one of 4,000 fans at Dickson Park in Guelph saw Walter Gerow's boys humbled something like 7-3 after leading 1-0 going into the seventh.

There were other great series with Toronto Oslers, led by Joe Spring, the late "Buck" Buchanan, et al; the Walkerville 'Chicks' series, when contractor John Chick imported Detroit ball players, only to see them ousted at Guelph with 'Hoot' Gibson pitching great ball.

Belleville, in the 'twenties', was a good sporting city when hockey had a great following as well. Eddie Thomas mentioned some of the best teams and made a great contribution with some clubs. The rafters of the old Turnbull Street arena rang when Kingston Frontenacs, Queen's, Brockville, or Cornwall came to town. But all that is something for another day-if OHC invites us to help fill this space.

Boston Red Sox Only Club To Make Any Progress In Doubleheaders on Labor Day

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Big Three in the American League pennant race put you in mind of a bunch of old married guys. They've been knotted up so long they don't know how to cut loops on a spree even when they get the chance.

They had their chances in the Labor Day doubleheaders, but only four-in-place Boston whopped it up, sweeping Washington 10-3 and 7-2. Cleveland, New York and Chicago split in their twin bills with the second division.

After creeping into first place by taking three straight from the White Sox, Cleveland misfired and lost the first game to Kansas City 5-4 before Early Wynn turned what was carried 11 innings by Baltimore, then went down 6-5 in the opener. The Yanks won the night cap 3-2.

Chicago was repped by Detroit 7-2, then rebounded 3-0.

RIGHT WHERE STARTED

All that treadmill work left the Big Three right where they started: Cleveland leading the Yanks by a half game and the White Sox by 1½, but the supposedly persistent Red Sox now are right back in the picture, just 1½ behind Chicago.

By contrast, Brooklyn reduced its magic number to three as the Dodgers swept Philadelphia 11-4 and 8-2. Any combination of Brooklyn victories and Milwaukee defeats totalling three returns the National League pennant to Flatbush for the first triumph gave the Dodgers 80 victories—and a 13-game lead.

The Indians were all even with the As after six innings, tied up 4-all following Al Smith's two-run homer. But Art Ditmar held them in check the rest of the way while reliefer Don Mossi gave up singles to Hoyt Simpson and Hector Lopo lofted a sacrifice fly to score the tie-breaker.

SCORE SHINES

In the nightcap, southpaw Herb Score struck out 11 (222 for the year)—and had a two-hitter for eight innings. In the ninth, Lopez homered after Score had clipped shutout, but the Tribe rookie notched his 15th victory with room to spare. Doby and Rosen connected back-to-back homers during the 11-hit Cleveland romp.

The Orioles eluded the Yanks with a run that scored on an interference call against Gil McDougald. Jim Wilson went all the way for his 14th victory. Two days after Baltimore runs scored when umpire Hank Soar ruled outfielder Hank Bauer had trapped, not caught, a low liner in the ninth. And the Orioles got three in the first on a single and five walks.

Tommy Byrne, who started the first game and left in the opening frame, came back to win the night cap in 1-3 relief innings. Baltimore made five boots while outhitting the Yanks 11 to 7.

Chicago was dead in the first inning of the opener. The Tigers smacked across four runs as starter Virgil Trucks failed to last the inning. Ray Narleski homered and doubled for three runs while Billy Hoeft won his 12th. Bob Keegan, who lasted 5 2-3 innings to get the decision, and Billy Pierce combined for the shutout in the afterpiece. Chicago had just four from rookie Frank Lary, but made the best of a walk and his batsmen.

BREEZE FOR BOSOX

The Bostons breezed in with Jimmy Piersall driving in two with a single and making three brilliant catches in the outfield as Tom Brewer won his 15th in the first game. Jackie Jensen's two-run homer wrapped up the second game in the sixth inning. It was George Suscun's eighth victory.

Don Newcombe won No. 20 for the Brooks in the opener, hammering his seventh home run with two on for a National League record for pitchers. Del Ennis clipped Curt Simmons with a three-run seven, for a three-run homer in the ninth.

Carl Erskine gained his 100th major league victory on the fifth try in the second game as the Brooks chased Robin Roberts, who won his 22nd just three nights before. It was Robin's 11th defeat.

Milwaukee moved closer to the end of the rope by splitting with Chicago. The Cubs won the first 2-0 on Sa Cruz's three-hitter. The Braves won the second 1-0 with an unearned run and a three-hit job by Ray Crone.

New York's Giants, the 1954 champs, officially fell from the race in a split with Pittsburgh, losing 8-6 in 10 innings before winning 6-5. St. Louis knocked Cincinnati into a first place tie with the Cubs in a single game, winning 3-2 on Rip Repulski's two-out single in the 10th.

Montreal Royals Clinch Pennant On Last Day

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It will be the champion Montreal Royals against fourth-place Rochester, with runner-up Toronto meeting the third-place Havana Sugar Kings in the International League playoffs.

The Royals clinched the flag by knocking over Rochester twice in a Labor Day doubleheader, 6-0 and 4-2. For the new champs, this makes the 12th time in 16 years that they have made the playoffs. Their last pennant-winning season was 1952.

The Maple Leafs—who lost a chance to tie because of a rained-out game—played it to the hilt, taking a pair of tight games from Buffalo, 4-3 and 3-2. But the effort was in vain as Montreal finished with a 95-58 mark, unchangeably style, winning its last nine games.

The last-place Richmond Virginians swept a twi-night twin bill from Cubans. After a 6-1 victory in the opener, Richmond put on a show in the eighth inning of the nightcap—their last time at bat this season. Pitching 4-1, they slammed over eight runs for a 9-4 triumph.

HASTY EXIT

Syracuse and Columbus made a hasty exit from the scene, completing their single encounter, won by the Chiefs 5-2, in one hour and 25 minutes.

There wasn't much opportunity for Montreal's rookie manager, Greg Mulleavy, to put on a display of his managerial skill on the final day of the campaign. He just gave the ball to Tom LaSorda and Bert Lehman who went the route, backed by the highest-hitting team in the league.

Bobby Wilson, Charley Neal, Clyde Parrish and Gino Cimoli batted in with important hits as they have been doing all season. Another big guy, Rocky Nelson, collected three more hits, finishing as league leader in batting with .342 average, 37 runs batted in 102, and runs 117.

Nelson appeared in all the Royals' games and hit .537 slugging average also was tops.

Lehman batted his third shutout in the opener and Lehman, whose six shutouts are high, scored his fifth victory—three more than any other twirler in the loop.

Johnny Heidt and Mike Fornieles tuned up for Toronto's forthcoming series with the Cubans by combining on the route in the first game and Fornieles pitching seven before giving way to Ray Shore in the second.

Sarnia Imperials Winging Along Atop Ontario Union

SARNIA (CP)—Sarnia Imperials took over first-place in the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union Monday with 27-11 victory over Toronto Balmy Beach.

It was the record win for the Imperials over the holiday week-end. Saturday they made it 18-6 over the Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

The Imps came up with a potent ground attack. They led 11-6 at the end of the first quarter, 18-6 at the half and 20-6 going into the final 15 minutes.

Quarter Gino Cappelletti from the University of Minnesota called the signals for the first three quarters and then gave way to Ross Dowsewell. Cappelletti completed eight of 19 passes while Ross Bass were good on only six of 25. Sarnia made 19 first downs and Beaches 12.

SCORED EARLY

Beaches opened the scoring early in the first-quarter when fullback Johnny Bell scored from two yards out with Bass converting after a Sarnia kick was blocked and recovered by Toronto on the Sarnia 13. Cappelletti put the Imperials into the lead in the quarter with touchdown passes to Eric (Red) Graham and Eric McKeever. Dutch Davey converted the second one.

In the second quarter Cappelletti kicked a single point and Dineen scored a touchdown on a plunge, with Cappelletti converting to complete the first-half scoring.

In the third quarter the Imperials' two touchdowns were made by halfback Corky Duchene on a pass and plunge. Both were converted by Cappelletti.

In the fourth quarter Jim Burt and Dutch Davey kicked singles for the Imps and Dowsewell scored an unconverted touchdown on a quarterback sneak before end Sigvey Singleton took a pass and ran 35 yards for Toronto's other touchdown. Bass converted.

On Saturday Cappelletti was the Imps' big gun, firing passes for Sarnia's three touchdowns. Two of them went to Graham, the first a 30-yard effort and the second a 12-yarder.

IN THREE PLAYS

Imperials made it 18-0 early in the fourth when Cappelletti passed to Bruce Day in the Kitchener end zone for the Dutchmen's three-yard line. Imperials' drive started on the Kitchener 42 and they went over for their touchdown in three plays.

Quarter Bob Celeri of Dutchmen injured his left arm after intercepting a pass on the Kitchener five. He left the game but returned to spark the Dutchmen. Starting on his own 27 he tossed screen passes to Billy Graham and Cookie Gilchrist who covered to the Sarnia 27 and on the next play tossed the 35-yarder to Andy Gilmour who went the rest of the way for the club's lone touchdown.

Big Four Happenings Over Labor Day Holiday Leave Experts Puzzled

All Teams Win Home Games With Argos and Alouettes Losing Prestige by Defeats

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

What a difference 48 hours make.

For a few hours Saturday Toronto Argonauts looked as though they had one hand reaching for the Grey Cup. The hand was severely rapped across the knuckles Monday.

Argonauts, showing amazing power in the air and on the ground, trampled Hamilton Tiger-Cats 31-6 before 18,361 Varsity Stadium fans in the first game of the Big Four Football Union doubleheader. The Toronto turned around Monday and walloped Argonauts 37-12.

Then there was the case of Montreal Alouettes. They finished off second place Hough Riders 34-22 Saturday with one of their familiar last-quarter drives. Monday night, however, they were slapped 13-13 by the Rough Riders despite a late-game comeback.

The Labor Day weekend happenings left the experts puzzled. STUNNING WIN

Nobody spared the adjectives after Argonauts, rebuilt in a major reshuffling at the end of the 1954 season, pulled off their stunning win. The fabulous salaries paid for the star American imports appeared to be paying off right there. But Argonauts couldn't do a thing against the Hamilton pass defence and strong ground offensive Monday.

Argo quarterback Tom Dublinski set a Big Four pass-completion record at Toronto as he made good on 16 of 28 throws.

Dublinski's 16.5 yard-average for each throw exceeded the 16.2 record Montreal's Sam Etcheverry set last year against Hamilton when he fired 36 times for a gain of 536 yards.

Argo touchdowns were scored by Al Pfeifer, Whitner White, J.C. Caroline, Dublinski and Royal Copeland. White converted all the touchdowns and Chuck Holmes kicked a single.

LONE MAJOR

Etcheverry sparked an Alouette attack in the game in Montreal when he broke a 22-22 tie with two touchdown passes with less than four minutes left in the game.

Pat Abbruzzi scored two Alouette majors. Emil Radik and Hal Patterson rounded out the touchdown scoring. Bill Bewley converted the four majors and kicked three field goals.

Bobby Simpson went over for three major scores for Ottawa. Bones Taylor got the other one on a pass from quarterback Don Bailey. Tom Tracy converted two of the touchdowns.

Tracy was led to the upset win Monday by quarterback Carl Caricus, University of Miami star playing his first season in Canada. Caricus took over the quarter duties from former All-Star Nobby Wirkowski, who received poor protection Saturday.

THE GROUND

All six touchdowns scored by Hamilton came on the ground. Bucky McElroy scored twice and for three of them, Carrigus, Ralph Tooky and Waggoner picked up the others. Glen Leach converted all six. Cam Fraser kicked the extra point on the third quarter.

Toronto touchdowns were scored by White and Pfeifer while White converted both.

At Ottawa Monday, Rough Riders built up a 14-5 lead in the first half and increased it to 19-5 early in the third quarter before the Ale turned on the power to score two converted majors and pull to within a single point of tying it up.

Ottawa touchdowns were counted by Simpson, Don Pinhey and Tracy, who converted one and kicked a field goal.

Petterson scored two Montreal majors and Joey Zuk going over for the third. Etcheverry converted two and Bewley one.

59-Year-Old Bachelor In Water 28 Hours

TORONTO (CP)—A 59-year-old bachelor was pulled out of Lake Ontario today after an amazing 28-hour attempt to swim from Niagara-on-the-Lake to Toronto.

Fernley Wheatcroft, a Toronto itinerant plant worker, became the 80th consecutive person to be defeated by the treacherous 32-mile stretch of water. But Wheatcroft—the lake's only conqueror—accomplished the feat last September.

He entered the water at the mouth of the Niagara river at 8:15 p. m. EDT Sunday night and was finally taken out, exhausted but fit, at 12:15 a. m. today.

He had gained only one mile in the first five hours. More than an hour before he came out he had been swimming strongly against rising waves.

TURNED BACK

Wheatcroft's attempt was beset by difficulty. He set out Saturday night but his pilot's daughter, who was in the boat, became violently ill and they turned back.

When he plunged in Sunday night he swam furiously for several yards and hit his head on an empty oil drum. He recovered quickly, jumped on to a nearby dock and waved to the crowd before going in again.

Wheatcroft beat the gun on a scheduled Canadian National Exhibition marathon swim across the lake which was to have started at Niagara-on-the-Lake Monday night but was postponed for 24 hours.

On his arrival here, Wheatcroft's head was swathed in towels and he was whisked away to a hideaway in a west Toronto motel.

Wheatcroft, who lives and trains at the YMCA here, says he spends 13 hours and 35 minutes swimming the English channel in 1928 —less than half the time he spent battling Lake Ontario.

When Wheatcroft started out he was accompanied by only a 16-foot motorboat. His pilot had three flashlights with which they lighted his way through the murky darkness of the early morning.

His original guide boat ran out of gas twice during the night.

Sammy Snead Makes Berth On Ryder Cup Team

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP)— Sammy Snead let the "other fellows make the mistakes" and today he had his berth on the U.S. Ryder Cup golf team plus $4,000 he hadn't counted on.

Snead finished in a tie with Jack Burke, Marty Furgol or Chandler Harper in the golf tournament and or had placed second or third, Snead was in danger.

FOR 5TH TIME

The victory gave Snead 70 big points for the fifth straight time, he makes the team which plays Great Britain.

Harper, who plays out of Portsmouth, Va., had a lot at stake but he failed to come through. He needed a victory to get past Snead. Burke and Marty Furgol on the Ryder Cup team. But his 285 wasn't good enough.

Burke tied for fifth with Gene Littler of Palm Springs, California with 286. Littler who plays out of Lemont, Ill., managed a tie with Tommy Bell, Mattaneck, Penn., and Bill Markham, Royal Oak, Mich., with 283.

Snead added seven strokes up on runners-up Mike Souchak, Groton, N.C., Ted Kroll, Hewlett, L.I., St. Andrews, Ill., who had 278.

Weather Permitting, Canada's Most Ballyhooed Lake Swim May Start Some Time Tonight

By GOEBGE HANCOCKES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (CP) — Weather permitting, the $25,000 Lake Ontario swim, Canada's most ballyhooed marathon, starts tonight.

As nearly 40 swimmers made preparations today for the grind or lolled on park grass in the little town at the mouth of the Niagara river, officials of the Canadian National Exhibition, sponsor of the swim, and the weather bureau checked forecasts to determine whether the 32-mile trek from here to Toronto should go.

The word was forced a 24 - hour postponement of the 32-mile grind Monday night, a few hours before swimmers were to make a mass jump into the lake and strike out for Rama and a piece of the prize money.

The swim was put back because of a forecast of 25- to 30-mile-an-hour winds forecast for the area this morning. The postponement was unpopular with the entrants, mainly because they had been keyed up, drilled and mulled at the time.

BECAUSE OF WIND

The sun shone brightly and a breeze barely stirred the leaves as Jack Harrington, chairman of CNE sports committee, said:

"The decision is based on the weather officers' predictions that winds would develop of a velocity that would be hazardous to the swimmers and accompanying craft."

There were mutterings of discontent from the swimmers, who had gathered on a lawn outside their motel at the CNE headquarters here to hear the news. The swimmers went for practice swims within range of the shore lights. Since dawn a few hundred thousands of curious sightseers remained on the streets in the hope one of the competitors made a bid to conquer the lake before the race starts.

Officials said they could not predict when the swim would be attempt but those who did would forfeit chances of winning prize money. They would also forfeit their $150 entry fee.

As the excitement and hubbub caused by the postponement subsided, police were withdrawn from the streets of this town of 2,000 where they had been posted to prevent any skirmishes occurring between frayed tempers. There were several minor incidents involving swim personnel near the waterfront but quick action by police prevented any serious trouble.

The predicted winds started to develop early today. Waves started running to four and five feet in height.

CNE rules for the swim provide for 24-hour postponements, if necessary, until Thursday. If the lake is not calm then, the swim will be moved to a 10-mile triangular course on the CNE waterfront Friday.

The official decision on whether the marathon will be run or not will be made at 7 p. m. EDT. If the weather is good, the swimmers will line up and go with the starter's gun at midnight.

The word, however, was that some of the swimmers will start tonight whether or not the official go-ahead is given.

"If I even one goes," an observer said, "there will be more than a dozen chasing him or her within an hour."

BRENDA AGREES

Brenda Fisher of England, one of the few women in the event said given a good chance to complete the swim, agreed with the decision.

"I have had experience with this sort of thing before," Brenda said. "Believe me, if any swimmer got caught in a 25-mile-an-hour wind he wouldn't reach Toronto in a year."

Mrs. Rosita Tanner, a 43-year-old grandmother from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., said she's in that way. She said:

"After all that buildup now it's postponed. We were out on the lake in the afternoon and it was as calm as glass. I don't see why the CNE should get us up to fever pitch for a swim and then not hold it."

U.S. Track Stars Dominate Provincial Meet at CNE

By KEN ROMAIN

TORONTO (CP) — American track stars, led by ace miler Wes Santee, swept through the Canadian events at the Canadian Interprovincial track and field championships with comparative ease Monday in a rousing windup to the two-day meet.

More than 200 Canadian athletes took part in the competition, held under the Canadian Olympic Training Plan with a 17-year-old high jumper from Brandon, Man., leading the way.

Diane Hartmen of Moncton was timed in 10.9 seconds in the women's open 100-yard dash and Santee's time later had equalled the native mark of 11 seconds in the men's open century.

Santee, who has been flirting with the four-minute mile for the 4.4 seconds faster than the 4.11 HEATS HIS MARK

After the second quarter Santee moved into the lead and stayed there. He was timed at 4:08.6 and ripped off a fast 58.6 coming home to finish ahead of Bob Mitchell of Toronto.

Santee holds the U. S. record of 4:06.8 set two years before entering the U. S. Marine Corps.

Arvin Kiser, Notre Dame University of Pittsburgh, holder of the world record for the 440, also ran the open race in his own style as he won with a time of 1:53.4. Sowell, who set a record of 1:48.6 earlier this year, was never pressed after Harry Jerome of Terry Fox Memorial Athletic Club dropped out after the first lap.

Jerome stripped 1.6 seconds off the Canadian open mark of 54.8 for the 440-yard hurdles at the Keith Holmes of Montreal last year.

WON THE 100

Unbeaten Elmer Coleman of Detroit Police Athletic Club, with a 6-6 time, nipped Northern Ontario's versity's Jim Golliday to take the 100-yard dash. Golliday, a 17-year-old from the world 9.3 mark—with two others, also posted a 9.3 Saturday.

Golliday and Coleman met again in the 220 and Golliday again caught the Detroit policeman as he clocked 21.5. Golliday's and Coleman's times in the 100 sprint distance equalled the Canadian mark shared by four others.

Jack Parrington of Toronto, who also had a 6-6 time Saturday in the 100-yard closed event, returned Monday to grab the 220 closed in 22 seconds finishing ahead of Dalfax's Jim Warner.

Peterborough will meet athletics Saturday, settled for 15 feet one-half inch in the pole vault. He missed out on three attempts at equalling the Canadian mark of 15 feet 2 inches.

Ontario edged out Nova Scotia in the mile relay closed with a 3:30 time and the Ontario women's team copped the 440 closed relay in 48.7.

Trailermen Win Fourth Straight To Enter Finals

FERGUS, Ont. (CP) —Peterborough Timbermen gained a berth in the Mann Cup lacrosse finals Saturday as they defeated Fergus Thistles 24-9 to sweep the best-of-seven eastern Canadian finals 4-0.

Peterborough will meet either Victoria Shamrocks or Nanaimo Timbermen in the first game of the Canadian finals Sept. 12 in the west.

Timbermen had no trouble with Fergus in the final game as they built up a 5-1 lead in the first period and increased it to 17-3 in the second.

Jim Hildebrand and Becoch Thorpe each scored five goals to pace the winners. Rock Bailey and Bob Allen led the search. Bob Curtis Lou Nickel and Bev Graves scored a pair.

Five of the Thistles' goals were scored by Lloyd Smith. Don Gear, Barry St. Garbeau and J. J. Hill scored the other Fergus goals.

Wants Beer Sold In Groceterias To Lessen Abuse

WINNIPEG (CP) — A recommendation that no further beer parlor licences be issued in Manitoba was made by Dr. Paul L'Heureux in a minority view to the Bracken liquor inquiry commission report made public Saturday.

He said beer parlors are antisocial in their segregation of the sexes; they do not promote temperance but encourage drinking because they age set up exclusively for drinking; they do not educate, nor have they any family or club atmosphere; they do not promote the high social, cultural and moral Standard necessary in the foundation of an adequate public conscience.

"They have been condemned by practically everyone except those who reap the huge profits from the enormous quantities of beer which are constantly consumed in such places by persons who in large measure cannot reasonably afford this expenditure," Dr. L'Heureux said.

He said many of them were places where beer sales were pushed as fast as possible to the exclusion of every other consideration and even to a disregard of elementary hygiene and sanitation.

LONE OPPONENT

Dr. L'Heureux was alone on the commission in condemning the beer parlors, and he was the only member of the five-member commission to support the sale of liquor in grocery stores, which he described as "an important part of a long-term educational program to change the drinking habits of our people."

Perhaps his most revolutionary proposal was that beer should contain less alcohol, should be declared a non-alcoholic beverage and sold at a reduced price.

"This would provide a strong incentive for new drinkers to change their habits to the new beverage which presumably would lead to less abuse," he said.

Little Benny's Notebook

I was taking a Saturday walk with pop, eating an ice cream cone and asking him different questions, and I said, Hay pop?

Yes, go on, pop said, and I said, Did you ever blow soap bubbles?

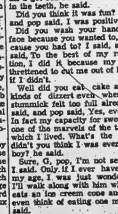
Why yes, many years ago, of course I did, pop said. I blew them till I got red in the face and soap in the teeth, he said.

Did you think it was fun? I said, and pop said, I was positive of it.

Did you wash your hands and face because you wanted to, or because you had to? I said, and pop said, To the best of my recollection, I did it because my father threatened to cut me out of his will if I didn't.

Why did you eat cake and all kinds of dizzert even when your stummick fell too full already? I said, and pop said, Yes, even that. In fact my capacity for sweets was one of the marvels of the times in which I lived. What's the matter, didn't you think I was ever a real boy? he said.

Sure, G, pop, I'm not serprized, I said. Only if I ever have a boy when I get my age, I was just wondering if I'll walk along with him while he eats an ice cream cone and never even think of eating one myself, I said.



Yes gods, pop said, and I said, Do you think I ever will, pop?

Yes, pop said, and I said, Aw G, why do you, pop? and he said, Because I thought I never would myself, and here I am, caught in the act.

Well anyways, maybe I'll be diffrent, I said, and pop said, You never know your luck.

Which you dont.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Wednesday, Sept. 7, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) —

A day for caution. Watch out for unscrupulous salespeople, anyone who misrepresents. Direct your efforts toward regular routine, family matters, completion of necessary assignments.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) —

Today will be what you make it. Draw the line between the essential and the needless. Maintain self-control, particularly in trying circumstances. Good results will accrue.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) —

Wise opportunities. Remember that he who masters himself can soon master others. Prudence and attention to detail important. A pleasant disposition will help you over many irritating obstacles.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) —

This could be a tricky day unless you maintain a vigilant attitude. Preparedness, a prime requisite always, is especially helpful now. Friends, relatives, business associates have your interests at heart.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) —

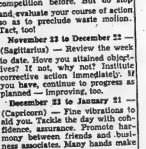
An in-between sort of day. Move forward with ever-increasing pressure to avoid a mediocre performance. You have talent and ability for great things, but hard work plays its part in their development.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Your good sense of direction and desire for a higher status could help considerably today. Entertain noved thoughts worthy of consideration.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Project yourself into day's schedule with enthusiasm. Determined effort can help you to achieve goals and still permit time for well deserved relaxation, welfare pleasures with true friends.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Some unfavorable influences. Don't let this stymie you—ever. You have met, and passed, competition before. But do stop and evaluate your course of action so as to preclude waste motion. Tact, too!

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Review the week to date. Have you attained objectives? If not, why not? Institute corrective action immediately. If you have, continue to progress so — improving, too.



December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Be simple, mature, solid you. Tackle the day with confidence, assurance. Promote harmony between friends and business associates. Many hands make the job easier.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Don't attempt too many things at one time. Divided energies are less potent. Emphasize your strong points for best results. Important news likely. Be ready for opportunity.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — The easy way is not always the best way. One must work for lasting gains. Substantial and permanent success is achieved when you produce consistently and give attention to details.

You born today belong to Virgo, which emphasizes both practicality and artistry. You can do well in a position dealing directly with people, and you can be an efficient, devoted homebody. Yet if you stay at one task, or one place for a long spell, you tend to become too critical. It is well for all of us to have some outside interests, to keep broadening the intellect, although we still must stand firm on principles and good habits. Seek cheerful, wholesome companions, like you yourself are. Curb the appetite sensibly.

TOPS FLOOD RELIEF

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Red Cross announced Sunday it had received $10,000,000 and it's over the top in its appeal for flood relief donations. The organization launched its disaster relief campaign just two weeks ago after hurricane Diane's torrential rains poured flood wreckage over six northeastern states.

THOUSANDS OF PEACHES LEFT TO ROT

Ontario peaches are being thrown in garbage dumps as unusual weather conditions have caused the late varieties to mature at the same time as the early. At St. Catharines, in this one dump alone, an estimated 15,000 baskets were left to rot. And since they were discarded while still firm, children raided the heap instead of raiding farmers' orchards.—Central Press Canadian.

Edmonton Eskimos Stretch Win Streak to Four Games

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Edmonton Eskimos stretched their 1955 unbeaten streak to four games in league play as they took over sole possession of first place after four weekend games in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Eskimos played only one game, defeating Saskatchewan Roughriders 19-13 in Edmonton Saturday night to boost their point total to eight.

Roughriders, who went into the week-end tied at six points with the defending Grey Cup champions, also dropped a 26-23 decision to British Columbia Lions Monday.

Lions, who defeated Winnipeg Blue Bombers 12-7 Monday, now are in a tie with Roughriders. Blue Bombers bowed 12-6 to Calgary Stampeders Monday night, their fifth loss in as many starts. The win was Calgary's second.

Field goals played an important part in the Edmonton win. Bob Dean, former University of Maryland tackle, booted four without a miss to give Eskimos victory in their toughest battle this year. His effort equalled a league record.

Both the Monday night games produced come-from-behind efforts by the winners.

Although halfback Ken Carpenter scored three touchdowns for the Saskatchewan club, Lions came through with two touchdowns in the fourth quarter and added a single for their slim margin with seconds to go.

In Calgary Stampeders also scored two touchdowns in the final 15 minutes. Blue Bombers led 6-0 at the end of the first quarter and 9-0 at the half.

The three - quarter drive was highlighted by the work of quarterback Don Klosterman and end Willie Roberts. Klosterman caught a long pass from Klosterman on the first play of the quarter and ran 35 yards for a touchdown. Klosterman, a former Toronto Argonaut, added the other touchdown on a quarterback sneak.

Brantford Girl Wins Two Events At CNE Meet

TORONTO (CP) — Brantford's Pat Murnin, 16-year-old swimming sensation, added the Canadian National Exhibition 50c took the junior girls 100 yards free style in the time of 1:04.9 and the junior girls 100 yards backstroke in 1:12.

Pat Murnin of Brantford was second in the latter event.

Other out-of-town winners in the events included Larry Ross, Woodstock, in the junior boys 100 yards backstroke who beat out J. Dufour of Welland in 1:16.8. Bruce Hall of Brantford was third. Dufour was second in the junior boys free style to R. Davis of Hamilton. George Park of Hamilton won the senior men 100 free style. In senior women events May Munro of Aylmer took the 100 yard free style and placed second behind Phillis Clarke in the senior men breast stroke at the same distance. Brantford YMCA-YWCA was second to London Y in the junior boys 400-yard relay. Brantford team also placed second in the junior girls 100 yards relay.

Veteran Lineman Leaves Argos For Detroit Lions

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — Veteran lineman Jim Mitchell, who played with the Canadian Big Four Football Union for one season, returned to Detroit Lions Monday and agreed to fulfill the second half of his two-year contract.

Detroit coach Buddy Parker announced Mitchell signed with Toronto Argonauts even though he had a year to go on his Detroit contract.

Toronto hired him as an assistant coach to Bill Swiacki. When Martin's duties as a coach diminished he was kept on as a player with the Argos. He suffered a rib injury in an exhibition game four weeks ago. It was then he decided to return to the Lions.

The 31-year-old veteran plays both offensive guard and linebacker, and is expected to handle Detroit's kickoff chores.

Antonelli Back In Good Graces Of Durocher

NEW YORK (AP)—Johnny Antonelli, New York Giants, was back in good standing today after apologizing to Leo Durocher for his outburst against the manager during a game with the Phillies on Philadelphia Saturday night.

The penitent southpaw, suspended indefinitely and sent home for "insubordination," arrived in New York from Cleveland before Monday's doubleheader with Pittsburgh, and held a 20-minute conference with Durocher.

Afterwards, Durocher announced he expects to have Antonelli in uniform and ready to pitch.

"Everything is straightened out," Leo said. "Antonelli told me he's sorry he popped off. He said he realizes he said things he shouldn't have said and wanted the entire episode forgotten. I'm forgiven as far as I'm concerned. I think Johnny realized now that a team can have only one manager."

"We'd love to, Alice, but I guess we can't. A friend popped in at the last minute and we don't have any idea how long he'll stay."

PERILOUS PERCH

A painter climbs desperately to a dangling scaffold 50 feet above the street outside the Bell Telephone building in Montreal. He and another painter were lowering the scaffold when a safety lock gave way. They held on and finally climbed to safety through a fifth-floor window. A passing photographer, Andy Green, snapped this dramatic photo. (CP Photo).

PLANES COLLIDE

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Two Bolivian planes, a freighter and an airliner, collided Monday 9,000 feet over the industrial city of Cochabamba. Three members of the crew of the freighter were killed when their plane crashed. The airliner with eight passengers aboard landed at its destination on one engine.

CLOUDBURST HITS VILLAGE

TAGLIACOZZO, Italy (AP) — A 45-minute cloudburst set off a flood which devastated the hamlet of San Sebastiano and drowned four women Monday. Ten persons are reported missing. Accounts from the hamlet said 50 houses collapsed, 130 were damaged and 60 persons were made homeless.

PEACE TREATY IN AUTO INDUSTRY

The CIO-United Auto Workers union and Chrysler Corporation reach agreement in Detroit on a new three-year contract, ending a short-lived strike of 139,000 employees. Emile Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the UAW, and Robert C. Condon, Chrysler director of industrial relations, are shown as the contract was formally signed.—Central Press Canadian.

Primatial See In Ottawa Area Wins Approval

By DAVE OANCIA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP) — Establishment of the fixed primatial see "in the vicinity of Ottawa" was approved Monday night by the general synod of the Anglican Church of Canada.

Both houses of the synod approved recommendations made by the House of Bishops following a discussion of almost two hours in joint session.

The resolution calls for establishment of a special commission on the primacy to study the upper-house recommendations; and to consult with diocesan and provincial authorities to implement the plan. The commission will be asked to report to the executive council and to the next meeting of the general synod for action.

The proposed plan provides for creation of a new diocese, major reorganization of some of the existing dioceses and erection of a new ecclesiastical province "in the developing northland." "In addition to the new diocese, the new province would include present dioceses of the Arctic, Moosonee, Keewatin, and Yukon, over which the primate would preside as metropolitan."

HEAVY BURDEN

In introducing the upper-house plan, Rt. Rev. W. L. Wright, archbishop of Algoma, speaking for the upper house, said the last 20 years have proved the work of the primate was of such importance and magnitude that "it ought not be added to that already undertaken by the bishop of a large diocese."

In approving the recommendation, the synod also agreed to make available necessary funds to implement the plan and to provide the present primate any assistance, "episcopal and otherwise, which in his opinion may be necessary while he is archbishop of Rupert's Land."

Chancellor H. C. Farthing of Calgary, opposed immediate action on the recommendations.

"The scheme is not definite enough to enable synod to give definite approval," he said. "We should be told more about the plan."

"We may be easily outnumbered by fellow Christians and Canadians from another province," he said. "In Ottawa and Hull there are 136,000 Roman Catholics and only 8,000 Anglicans. In Cornwall, Anglicans are outnumbered five to one by Roman Catholics and in Pembroke by more than five to one.

"The condition could arise where the Anglican primate would take second place to a Roman Catholic bishop."

He said he felt Kingston would have been a much better choice for the see.

Rt. Rev. E. S. Reed, bishop of Ottawa, said the fact Anglicans are outnumbered in Ottawa "made no difference whatever."

"What really matters is that our Father-in-God should be in a place where those who bear heavy responsibility from all parts of Canada go.

"There is no place where the pulse of the nation can be more readily felt. The primate also has the added advantage of being close to Church House. I feel this plan will settle this question which for years has been facing the church."

Driver of Car Killed as Bus, Auto Collide

OSHAWA (AP) — An overnight long-distance coach and a car collided early today 15 miles east of here and plunged together into a deep ditch, killing the car driver and injuring 19 passengers in the bus.

Police said Robert Pierce, 22, of Newtonville, close to the scene of the accident, died when his car was crushed under the front end of the Toronto-Montreal bus.

They said six of the 21 bus passengers were detained in hospital at Port Hope with undetermined injuries and four others were given treatment. Passengers able to continue the journey were transferred to another bus.

CNE Officials Cancel Cross-Lake Marathon Swim

30-Mile Race on Course Near Grounds Substituted

Hospital Apathy In Emergencies Is Criticized

Canadian Press Staff Writer
NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (CP) — After several postponements, the marathon swim across choppy Lake Ontario was called off today for safety reasons.

It will be replaced by a 30-mile swim over a triangular course in front of the exhibition grounds at Toronto, probably Friday. The $25,000 in prize money will be offered for the substitute swim.

When Harry Price, chairman of the CNE sports committee, announced the cancellation to the 34 swimmers and their managers, assembled on the lawn of the motel which has served as a swim headquarters here, most of the swimmers expressed relief and went to bed.

A few, however, said they still were determined to swim the lake in duplication of Marilyn Bell's feat of last year and would like to start at once.

WAVES AND WIND

Unfavorable conditions of winds and waves which forced the give up the idea of the mass swim over a marked 32-mile course across the lake. Police at the mouth of the Niagara river ran right to 19 feet and 20-foot waves and swimmers who had planned to escort the swimmers said the coursing would be hazardous for both swimmers and water craft.

Seventeen of the 36 contestants appointed the committee after an hour-long meeting this morning. The committee met for 30 minutes and then its chairman, Pat Roach, issued the statement to reporters:

"We have suggested to the CNE that swimmers may start at 2 p. m. if that is not acceptable to the CNE, we suggest a 4 p. m. start.

"If we can't start then, we recommend that the race be taken back to Toronto and the CNE waterfront.

SWIMMERS WANT $100

"We have also recommended that swimmers be reimbursed $100 for their trip.

"We have turned over our case to Roach, who is appointed spokesman to CNE officials.

"One other recommendation. Should the race go, and no swimmer finishes in the race, we have recommended that the CNE divide the prize money according to the swimmers' position when taken out of the water."

Lou Miller of Montreal, coach for Marilyn Bell, said: "I'm glad it's cancelled.

"I hope the CNE makes a good decision on this. Don't mistake us, we want to go. But we do not want to be endangering the lives of any in the swim or the accompanying craft. WARNING GIVEN

"Right now the waves on Lake Ontario are right to 10 feet. The small craft warning still is up. We don't want to plunge in recklessly and cause a tragedy later on."

DIES WHILE SWIMMING

WYEMOUTH, Eng. (Reuters)—Brig. Nigel Dugdale, 47, chief of public relations at the war office, died Tuesday while swimming in the sea here. It is thought he struck his head while diving or he had a heart attack. Dugdale won international fame for the assistance he gave to war correspondents during the Second World War.

GM CONCILIATION BOARD SUGGESTS CODE CHANGES

No Recommendations On Points at Issue

TORONTO (CP)—A conciliation board, irked by the recent action of a Canadian labor official, has suggested a stiffer legislative code for companies and unions to cooperate with conciliation boards.

The board said in handing down a report Tuesday on investigations into a dispute between General Motors of Canada and United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) that lack of cooperation is a problem in legislation outlawing strikes and imposing compulsory arbitration.

The board, headed by Judge J. C. Anderson of Belleville, made no recommendation on 104 points at issue in the contract dispute.

However, it criticized the action of George Burt, Canadian UAW director, in twice handing his team of negotiators out of conciliation board hearings. Mr. Burt said the procedure was useless and that General Motors would settle with the union only after it faced a strike deadline.

SUGGESTS PENALTIES

The majority report said the board is not recommending compulsory arbitration but suggested the Ontario Labor Relations Act be amended to provide stiff fines for companies and decertification for unions who refuse to co-operate with future boards.

FOUND NO FIRE

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—An exfireman who said he wanted to see if the fire department was on the job was arrested Tuesday and charged with turning in a false alarm. Detective McNeilly, in charge on hand to greet some of his old buddies from squad company No. 1, he directed them to his house, firemen said, but they found no fire.

10-YEARS IN STABLE

BRUSSELS (Reuters) — A 35-year-old man, shut in a stable for 10 years by his parents, has been discovered at nearby Ninove, police reported today. The man, Micael Heyberens, had a beard nearly a foot long and was almost unable to talk. Police said his mother admitted keeping him locked up because he had trouble walking.

Revamped Prayer Book Given Approval by Anglican Synod

By DAVID OANCIA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—A revamped prayer book containing more changes than any version published since 1552 was given unanimous general approval Tuesday night by the general synod of the Anglican Church of Canada.

The motion authorized "occasional use" of the new version under the direction of bishops for "purposes of information and study."

The draft was referred back to the committee on revision for further corrections and revisions where necessary. In 1958, the book comes before the general synod for final approval.

Both clergy and laity were asked to forward suggestions to the revision committee.

Another motion passed said the synod "will support "conversations with the United and other churches to promote better understanding and more friendly relations to prepare the way for the establishment of union."

Earlier, Canada's immigration and unemployment relief policies came under fire from one delegate while the synod was considering the report of the Council for Social Science.

The revised prayer book, however, was the major topic, both in and out of sessions at the 10-day conference.

The draft, released in early August, was the culmination of 25 years of work by 30 bishops, 25 lesser clergy and five laymen.

Among new features are inclusion of prayers for the dead; what is sometimes called the 11th commandment—"Love one another"—and a change of philosophy discarding the idea that sickness is a visitation of God to punish sinners.

Those advocating the changes said the version now in general use emphasizes wrath too much and love too little.

Most Rev. Dr. E. Sexton of Victoria, Archbishop of British Columbia, said the prayers for the departed "now are authorized but not obligatory for any priest."

He added that this is not at variance with Christian truth and anglican principles.

U.S. Pressing for New Look At Problem of Arms Control

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States is pressing for a new look at the whole problem of international arms control in the light of scientific developments which have made previous plans obsolete.

This was disclosed Tuesday by Harold E. Stassen, President Eisenhower's disarmament adviser, who declared that all U. S. positions on the key question of control put forward prior to the July Big Four "summit" talks are subject to change.

Stassen stated the new American view before the United Nations sub-committee on disarmament, which gathered here today.

Britain Forced To Try to Trim Defence Costs

LONDON (AP)—Britain's economic troubles have forced the Eden government to try to find ways of trimming some defence costs and to consider cutting down on military service by draftees.

Officials close to the cabinet emphasized, however, that whatever solution Eden and his ministers may come up with there will be no wholesale slash in defence expenditures or significant reductions in Britain's worldwide military commitments.

There has been considerable talk in Britain that the "Geneva spirit" has ended the cold war and peace is assured for at least 10 years. Therefore, the argument goes, the nation can strengthen its shaky financial position by cutting defence outlays.

The Labor party and some mass circulation newspapers have set up a clamor for an immediate reduction of the two-year national military service to meet the need for manpower and skilled labor in the nation's export industries.

Toronto Industrialist Will Maintain Leacock's Old Home as Memorial

TORONTO (CP) — Victor C. Wansbrough, 54, Toronto industrialist who recently bought the Stephen Leacock estate on Lake Couchiching, near Orillia, said today it will remain "a continuing memorial to the life and work of its original owner."

In a statement, Mr. Wansbrough said:

"My first purpose will be to restore it to its former condition and to endeavor to maintain it in memory of a man who lived most of his life there, did most of his best writing there and made it both a home and a historic site."

The estate had been advertised for more than a year by Stephen Leacock Jr., son of the late Canadian humorist.

Executive director of the Canadian Metal Mining Association, Mr. Wansbrough was a friend of the famous Canadian writer and had often visited him at the estate.

He said that "with the estate have been acquired three" Dr. Leacock's libraries and a quantity of manuscripts." It would take time to discover what they contain.

Favorite Meld Wins St. Leger, British Classic

DONCASTER, England (Reuters)—Meld, the favorite, today won the St. Leger, Britain's oldest turf classic. Nucleus was second.

Beau Prince was third.

Meld was owned by Lady Zia Wernher, who heads the list of winning owners here. Trainer was Cecil Boyd-Rochfort whose success brings his winnings as a trainer to more than £1,000,000 in 32 years.

Meld also triumphed this season in the 2,000 guineas and the Oaks stakes, both British turf classics. She also took the Coronation stakes at Royal Ascot this summer.

Starting prices were: Meld, 11-10; Nucleus, 9-1; Beau Prince, 4-1.

Meld won over the one mile, six furlongs and 132 yards by three-quarters of a length. Three lengths separated second and third.

Race-loving Queen Elizabeth watched from the stands—she broke a vacation in Scotland to catch an overnight train here—but did not have a horse running in her own colors.

WILBERT COFFIN BACK IN DEATH ROW AFTER BREAK

Taken to Bordeaux Prison in Montreal

QUEBEC (CP)—Convicted murderer Wilbert Coffin is back in death row after a successful break for freedom.

The 44-year-old Gaspe prospector, scheduled to be hanged in 18 days, escaped from the Quebec jail Monday after locking up five guards at the point of a gun covered from a bar of soap, and forcing another convicted murderer to his cell.

Coffin was persuaded by his lawyer, Raymond Daoust, to give himself up after less than 90 minutes of freedom. He was locked in the cell and later driven under police escort to Montreal's Bordeaux jail for safe-keeping.

He was sentenced to death at Percy Gue, last year for the slaying of Richard Lindsey, 17, one of three American bear hunters whose mutilated bodies were found in the Gaspe bush in 1953. The other remains were those of Lindsey's father, Eugene, 47, and Albert Claar, 17, all of Hollidaysburg, Pa.

FEIGNED ILLNESS

The prisoner made his escape by feigning a severe ache. A guard went to the jail pharmacy for some medicine. As the guard left, who forced into the cell by Coffin and his cellmate, Leo Mantha, at gunpoint. Another prison employee already had been locked in Coffin's cell.

Coffin forced three other guards into the cell and locked them in. He was sentenced to be hanged for the murder of a youth from Maine, Richard Lindsey, in his rival for the affections of a young girl. A shotgun and rifle were in the guards with strips of bedding.

After stealing a ring of keys from the guards, Coffin made his get-away.

Deputy attorney-general Charles Claxton called the escape "a smooth piece of work. He said Coffin did not offer to release Abel whom he described as "terror - stricken" during the jail break.

GUARDS UNARMED

Jail guards do not carry guns when they come in close contact with prisoners to avoid being disarmed by a desperate man, Claxton said.

Coffin walked through the park that borders the jail in uppertown Quebec before hailing a taxi. He told the taxi driver he was in a hurry, que, to take him to the Quebec bridge, seven miles west of the prison.

Churchill Says He Wanted West To Take Berlin

HASTINGS, England (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill said today that the western allies would probably have taken Berlin in 1945 if the Americans had not made such appeals and tried to sustain the left wing of their army under Montgomery.

"I think I shall not be wrong in saying that if our American friends had listened to the appeals which I made and which the war cabinet endeavored to sustain the left-wing of the great army that moved into Germany it is probable that we should have taken Berlin," he declared in a speech at a rally.

He made the statement after telling cit British Field Marshal Viscount Bernard Montgomery's preparations for the invasion of Europe.

Paternity Tests More Accurate With New Kind of Blood Types

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Paternity tests can be made much more accurate through discovery of entirely new kind of blood types, two Michigan scientists report.

They find that blood has a "protein type," in addition to the usual A, B, AB, or O type of blood, and that the type is governed by the kind of red cells inherited.

The scientists have found three types of particular problems, never before detected, which float in the serum, or liquid part, of the blood. They believe that persons had type A red cells you are also an A type

But if your parents' protein types differed, you inherited a different protein type from each of them, and —although all three of you are A-type blood—

The inheritance of the protein type seems to follow exactly the same laws of Gregor Mendel, the inheritance of red-cell types, said Dr. Norma Ford Walker, geneticist, and Dr. Oliver Smithies, biochemist, of the University of Toronto.

Paternity tests are based on analyzing the red-cell blood types of a mother, child and alleged father to see whether the child could be their offspring.

Anti-Greek Riots Sweep Turkey's Two Major Cities

Mobs Protest Greek Stand On Cyprus; Parley Fails

By ALLAN JACKS

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Violent anti-Greek riots have swept over Istanbul and Izmir, Turkey's largest cities, causing millions of dollars worth of property damage.

The government imposed martial law on both cities Tuesday night after a four-hour wave of destruction and yet uncounted casualties. It was able to lift the state of siege today, however.

A communique issued in Ankara, the capital, said Istanbul and all of Turkey were "objects of a Communist plot and incitement."

It was the first outburst here arising from the dispute over the future of the strategic island of Cyprus. The British crown colony in the Mediterranean which once belonged to Turkey, Greece demands that the islanders be allowed to vote for union with Greece. Turkey opposes it violently and Turkey. The Turkish government has declared that if England gives up Cyprus it should be returned to Turkey.

NO AGREEMENT

Turkish Foreign Minister Fatin Rustu Zorlu announced in London today that British crown colony talks on Cyprus as a prelude to discussions at a conference against further rioting in the colony itself.

LONDON (AP) — Foreign Minister Fatin Rustu Zorlu of Turkey today said British-Greek-Turkish talks here on the future of the Mediterranean island of Cyprus have ended without agreement.

The Turkish statesman told reporters that the foreign ministers of the three countries arranged to meet tonight only to approve the terms of a final communique. The three-power talks opened nine days ago.

Zorlu has arranged to fly back to Turkey tomorrow with his delegation.

He said there will be further discussions through diplomatic channels, but meanwhile there has been "formal agreement to disagree."

This morning's session had revived amid reports of mounting Turkish-Greek tension over Greece's demand that the 500,000 inhabitants of the British island colony be allowed to choose Greek rule, and on the heels of rioting in the main Turkish city of Istanbul.

Today's session was the first following the dispatch of a contingent of 630 British commandos from Malta to Cyprus as a precaution against further rioting in the colony itself.

Ambassadors Visit A-Plant Near Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — Ten ambassadors drove 66 miles southwest of Moscow Tuesday in an unprecedented visit to the Soviet Union's first atomic energy station.

Included in the group were envoys of Britain, the United States, Sweden, Burma, Mexico, Argentina, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Albania and North Viet Nam.

Correspondents and photographers were expected to make the trip later.

The atomic energy station is housed in a huge yellow stucco building with one high smokestack rising from it. Fields of cabbages and of fields and woods about a half mile from the village of Obninsk.

The Russians say the two-storey structure is the world's first power plant developed to peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Diplomats who visited it Tuesday said it was not near any big industrial plants and there was no indication whether its claimed output of 5,000 kilowatts was actually being used.

One ambassador said the atom pile, covered by a big shield was about six or seven feet in diameter and was not particularly impressive.

Officially he was accompanied by a big shield which was about six or seven feet in diameter and was not particularly impressive.

Peterborough Man New Physical Director of 'Y'

Jim Hefferman, of Peterborough, has been named the new physical director of the Belleville Y.M.C.A., announced Mr. Harry Fuke, chairman of the personnel committee of the 'Y'.

Jim comes to us with a good background of YMCA training, particularly in the field of swimming and water-safety", continued Mr. Fuke, "and together with our general secretary, Jill Diamantides, an expert in this field, the association should be in a position to render services to our community, that will be unique in the long history of the association", concluded Mr. Fuke.

The new physical director has been a member of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. Leaders Camp for six years, joining that association when he was nine. He has taught swim and swim classes, and also coached successfully boys swimming teams. He is a good gymnast himself and an expert swimmer. He has participated in a number of Canadian amateur swimming championships, having in his credit two Ontario Y.M.C.A. swimming championships.

Jim is a graduate of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School, and a student body member of the Collegiate Student Council, the athletic association and a member of the senior basketball and rugby teams.

During the last two summers, Jim Hefferman taught swimming and water safety at the Rotary memorial outdoor swimming pool in Lindsay, Ont., where he has been highly commended for his enviable record as a swimming instructor. He assumed his new duties with the Belleville Y.M.C.A. on September 10th.

Plans Complete For World Fair At Shannonville

Preparations now are almost complete for the big opening of Shannonville's World Fair this Saturday.

Although the Fair begins Friday, as in years past most of the activity is being held over to Saturday, when all the fun of the fair will be displayed.

Some $1,500 is being placed on the board as prize money for this year's exhibits and companion events. Trotting and running races again will be exciting features of the village's big show, while all the usual exhibition classes are being retained.

Proud mothers of the district again will have a field day at the Fair's baby show Saturday afternoon.

A big school parade will herald the official opening of the event on Saturday. Pupils from all township schools will participate in the procession to the Fair grounds.

Plenty of rip-roaring fun is assured when the minor contests of strength and skill get underway in log-sawing and nail-driving competitions. Both men and women will have a chance to exhibit their talents in these fields while a catch-the-greasy-pig contest also is scheduled to add to the fun.

The big event will close Saturday night with a variety show and dance at the grounds.

Civilian Jet Plane Pays Station Visit

The first civilian jet plane to visit RCAF Station, Trenton, stopped for fuel Tuesday afternoon on a flight from Windsor to Montreal.

The four-passenger "Paria", designed and manufactured by the McFane Saulnier Company, whisked into Trenton, 45 minutes after leaving Windsor. It was an unscheduled stop and came after Trenton tower had received a request for permission to land for fuel.

Serge Saulnier, director of the company, which manufactures the plane and a passenger restaurant, said the plane has a cruising speed of 410 miles per hour and a range of 900 miles. It burns kerosene.

Pilot Allan Raines said the plane could do 700 miles per hour in a dive.

Other passengers yesterday were Remy Raymond, French flight engineer, and Sandor Kvassay, of the export division of Beech Aircraft.

Mr. Saulnier said that the jet had been in the United States since June for inspection and evaluation by United States air force and commercial interests. He said that his company, agents for the plane in the United States, commanded the craft under letter licence from the parent French company if "enthusiasm in the United States and Canada warranted it.

The 1,000 commercial jet passenger aircraft in Canada was en route to Montreal for inspection by showing to industrialists and RCAF officials. It was scheduled to perform for RCAF officials at the Central Experimental and Proving Centre at Rockcliffe on Thursday and was due to return to Trenton for flight evaluation on Monday, the start of the next week.

The four men in the plane, dressed in light summer suits, chatted with RCAF personnel while operations officers arranged the 30-minute stop for fuel. In visit to Trenton was the second "first" in jets for the air base which also welcomed its first Canberra medium bomber Tuesday.

First Canberra Jet Bomber Seen at Station

The first Canberra jet bomber to visit RCAF Station, Trenton arrived at the big air base Tuesday afternoon to an informal but enthusiastic reception from officers and mechanics.

The sleek bomber, product of the English Electric Co. flown by Flight Lieutenant Peebles of the RAF's 139 Jamaica Squadron, was of the same type as the Canberra that recently flew a record trip from London to New York in less than 15 hours.

F/O Barry Neal Tennant, of Kalgoorlie, West Australia, a member of the Royal Australian Air Force in loan to the RAF, was navigator.

Flight personnel and an accompanying senior staff officer were in Trenton for a briefing on the RCAF's jet show scheduled for the CNE on Friday and Saturday of this week. The Canberra was slated to return to Montreal later Tuesday to relay information to crews of the eight-plane squadron arriving in Toronto today for rehearsals for the jet show.

Flight-Lieutenant Peebles, of Nottingham, England, stated that the Canberra squadron had recently visited Jamaica, British Guiana, Trinidad, Barbados, New York City, Bermuda and Montreal. The eight Canberras will be based at Trenton only for the remainder of the week. Part of them will take part in the CNE show with four others in reserve.

Personnel at Trenton gave the sleek, low-slung medium bomber a thorough inspection. Administration keynoted the reception of senior officers and mechanics alike.

Open Verdict Returned By Coroner's Jury

An open verdict was returned Tuesday evening by a coroner's jury at the adjourned inquest looking into the death of Wilfred Gordon Bartley, 31, who suffered fatal injuries in a construction accident at Belleville General Hospital.

The jury found that Mr. Bartley came to his death at Belleville General Hospital on August 21st as result of injuries received when struck by falling bricks.

Bartley had been employed by Taylor Engineering and was working as "hoist-man" building a hoist with bricks to be used in chimney construction.

Mr. Cole, representative of the Ontario Safety Association, told the jury that the required safety regulations had been carried out but not to his opinion the chain being used to hoist the material must have accidentally become dislodged from its hook with result that it pulled free allowing the load to drop.

The inquest was held before Coroner Dr. T. Smith with 10 witnesses being questioned by Crown Attorney Richard D. Arnott.

Seventy Aircraft Will Take Part In CNE Show

The arrival of eight Canberra jet bombers at RCAF Station Trenton Tuesday will bring to 70 the number of aircraft marshalled for the CNE jet show Friday and Saturday of this week.

Of the aircraft, 50 will be jets including Sabre CF-100's, Vampires, T-33's and Canberras.

The heavy schedule of flying for rehearsal for the show was slated to commence Wednesday although several aircraft were already stationed over the district Tuesday night.

Based at Trenton for the remainder of the week will be 10 Sabres from the Air Defence Command operational Training Unit at Chatham, N.B.; 10 CF-100's from St. Hubert, P.Q., and 20 Harlands; 10 Vampires from the Auxiliary Squadron, Toronto; 10 T-33's from the Central Flying School at Trenton; and eight Canberra medium bombers from the RAF bomber command.

A Beechcraft executive plane from Crumlin, at London, Ont., will also take part in the show in a trio aerobatic demonstration.

Backing up the jets are more than 100 aircraft, comprising of 100 ground crewmen. C-119 Flying Boxcar and North Star transport planes from the RCAF's Air Transport Command will also be in the show.

F/Lt. Haverstock, flying a Sabre from No. 1 Operational Training Flight from Montreal, will do solo aerobatics at the CNE. F/O C. Hesjedahl, of Regina, Sask., will do solo aerobatics in a CF-100. F/O Hesjedahl flew in Operation Prairie Pacific last year and has appeared in air shows over most of Canada's major cities. F/O 'Shorty' McFarland, of St. John, N.B., will be navigator in the CF-100.

All planes taking part in the CNE show, with the exception of a Chipmunk observation plane, which is to be based in Toronto, will be based at Trenton.

Hottest August In Twenty Years Records Show

It's possibly all ancient history now but just in case someone has forgotten those scorching days of a few weeks ago, the month of August was the hottest in the past 20 years.

Up at the city pump house records show the high temperature for the month was 92°degrees and as everyone knows the thermometer stayed close to that figure for days on end. The mercury never did get lower than 47 degrees and the mean reading for the month was 72.6.

The mean temperature for August during the past 40 years has been 68 degrees. The closest to last month's mean reading was in 1947 when the mean temperature was 72.5 degrees. A year ago the mean temperature was 66.1 degrees with a high of 84 and a low of 45 degrees.

In fact last August was both hot and wet. At least the month's total rainfall was away above average. Precipitation last month was 4.34 inches as compared with 3.69 a year ago. The average rainfall for August is but 2.65 inches.

Kiwanians Told Of Varied Work By City Firemen

When hot busy quelling fires in business houses and dwellings, Belleville's firemen are finding the enthusiasm of the city's youth for sport.

In summer they handle bantam and pee-wee softball leagues in the city, while in the winter, the big ball park behind the firehall is converted into a skating rink.

The promotion of sport among the younger set is only one of several phases of the community work of the city's firefighters. Working quietly, they also take an active interest in underprivileged children, they are frequent blood donors, while of late their wholesale contribution to the Santa Claus parade, which now has become a city-wide spending event, also is providing a fund of fun for the city's small fry.

These aspects of service, and many others besides, were eloquently dulged in Tuesday by the department, yesterday were explained to Kiwanis club here when Fire Chief Gerald Vance was the speaker of the weekly meeting of the club.

Professionally, the department is proud of the record it has established in the city's fire fighting history, under Chief Vance, the department's 27 men have attained a peak of service where none of them has had to don their rubber helmets to anybody.

Chief Vance said probably there is no department in the municipality which serves the citizens in as many ways. From dousing fires to rescuing children trapped in walls or in burning buildings, to rallying and battling for a life at the scene of accidents, the department can be called upon to meet almost any emergency where property or life is at stake.

Now in its 39th year as a permanent service, the department's work has kept pace with the city's expansion.

Last year, Chief Vance pointed out, the firefighters answered 548 calls. This compares with 84 calls in 1916, the year of its permanent establishment.

Too, the city department also serves Thurlow township, with township while contracts for its service also are held by Sidneyand Tyendinaga and Hungerford township.

This widening of the department's activities has saved for these townships thousands of dollars, the fire chief stated, while the revenue derived from such operations by the city represents nearly one-third of a mill.

It also is good public relations for the department, something, which the chief pointed out, "is forgotten in some places and I do not think it should be.

"I think helping your neighbor is one of the greatest things in the world," he added.

Chief Vance was introduced by Ralph Graham and thanked by Bud Punchard.

Kinsmen Club Starts Season

Members of the Belleville Kinsmen club held their first meeting of the new season Tuesday evening at the Shrine Club.

Installation of the new slate of officers was the main item on the agenda and saw Deputy Governor Ray Hall of Campbellford, and Past Deputy Governor Andy Anderson of Tweed, acting as installing officer.

New Kinsmen president is Bill Fraser, with Jack Boyce, Art Bridge, Dave Brophy, Cecil Brown, Kenneth Cappell, Murray Hunter and Howie Walsh as the incoming executive.

Silver Tea Set Marks Wedding Anniversary

Last evening approximately 60 neighbors and friends assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wright, Trent Road, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Robson, who were celebrating their silver wedding anniversary.

The guests were welcomed by the hostess, Mrs. Wright.

The evening was spent in cards, with the winners, Mrs. R. Bonser, Mrs. F. Denyes, C. Ling, and W. Wright, receiving prizes.

Among those present who spoke briefly, congratulating Mr. and Mrs. Robson on arriving at their 25th wedding milestone, were the Reverend Keith Daniel, Mr. Ken Bird, Mr. Roscoe Robson, and Mr. Fred Wilson.

Readings were also given by Mrs. Wright, and Mrs. Hayton, the former wishing the bride and bridegroom of 25 years ago, much happiness, the years ahead and a safe arriving at their golden milestone; and the latter comprising a story of a "White Wedding" as related by a fellow guest.

The address was read by Mrs. Wright, and the presentation of a silver tea set to the honored guests, was made, on behalf of relatives and friends, by Mrs. S. Loucks.

Bounteous and delicious refreshments were served rounding out a most enjoyable occasion.

Electric Spark Ignites Gas, Wrecks House

WELLAND (CP) — When Mrs. Romeo Baronette pulled out a kitchen drawer, the gas that had inadvertently filled the house down around her.

A spark from the plug ignited accumulated gas between the inner and outer walls of her bungalow and blew two walls off the foundation. Fire was touched off, singed her hair and caused minor burns to her hand and face. Mrs. Baronette's husband and her seven-year-old son, in other rooms, were not injured. A leaky pipe was blamed by firemen for the explosion.

Jordan Groups Raid Israel

TEL AVIV (Reuters)—An Israeli army spokesman charged today that guerrillas from Jordan blew up two Israeli water works Tuesday night. The flaring on the Jordan-Israel border, followed an easing of tensions during the last three days along the Egyptian-Israel border that resulted from a cease-fire brought about by Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada, chief United Nations truce supervisor.

Two Miners Killed

CARDIFF, Wales (AP)—Bodies of two coal miners, missing after an explosion in the Ely Merthyrmawr colliery Tuesday, were found this morning, crushed by a fall of rock.

Fourteen were known to have been injured and nine officials believe all the men have been accounted for.

Leonard Silmser, 30, was charged with attempting to pass off a $1 bill as $2 to the blind operator of a Steel Company of Canada canteen.

Argentine Minority Parties to Get Seats

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A bill to give Argentina's minority parties at least one-third of the seats in its lower house was sent to the Senate Tuesday by President Juan D. Peron. Quick approval was expected.

Peron said the measure was drafted "in good satisfaction to the claims of certain groups of public opinion who oppose the ruling party and to give proportionate wider representation in Congress."

The Peronista party founded by Peron, now holds all but 12 of the seats in the 155-member House of Deputies and all 30 Senate seats.

Traffic Movement, Off-Street Parking Discussed by Council

TRENTON — (Special)—Councillor James MacDonald believes he has the answer to improving traffic movement and off-street parking in the downtown section of Trenton.

At the first of the month meeting of council in the municipal building last night Mr. MacDonald proposed that council approve the acquisition of the B. W. Powers and Sons Ltd. properties and the Riverside Dairy land on the east side of Front street. In a 1,200 word description of his ideas on the subject councillor MacDonald stressed the need for downtown parking facilities as a possible means of beating shopping centre interests to the punch. Mr. MacDonald observed: "All councillors are aware of the investigation being conducted for outside parties with a view of establishing shopping centres or new business districts.

"This movement has already occurred in Oshawa, Peterborough, and even Cobourg. When such a movement is caused by traffic congestion, lack of adequate parking facilities and so called obsolescence of downtown areas. It is unsatisfactory. When the movement carries with it, capital and merchandise, it becomes destructive with possible irreparable loss. It can have a far reaching effect on the economy and stability of our whole downtown business area."

The property Mr. MacDonald talked about consists of the B. W. Powers and Sons Ltd., coal yard with a frontage on Front Street of 264 feet and a depth of 150 feet, the Riverside Dairy property next to it with 66 feet frontage and more than 100 feet depth and the former Yourex property now covered by the B. W. Powers company immediately to the north with a frontage of 72 feet and a depth of 80 feet.

WOULD COST $160,000

A piece of property belonging to the town adjoining the Yourex land on the north 16 feet wide and approximately 80 feet deep is included to give the town an off-set for parking starting at Elgin Street and running north to the south boundary of the Abbott factory owned by the Yourex family.

Councillor MacDonald contends that revenue from parking meters would retire the debt incurred by acquisition of the river front area.

He figures the project would cost the town $160,000. "I have discussed the matter with the owner (O. G. "Buster" Alyea) he pointed out, and all the Powers property can be obtained. The coal area is priced at $60,000 and the former Yourex blacksmith shop and land is priced at $9,000. Mr. Alyea has given me a letter confirming this and giving the town first refusal for six months."

S. O. Graham, principal of Riverside Dairy, offers to sell his buildings and land for $27,000.

Mr. MacDonald outlined two ways the project could be financed.

(1) By assessing the property owners in the area a special levy according to the benefits estimated, on the same plan as local improvements. The Municipal Board must approve the levies and affected owners are given the right to appeal.

(2) By use of the funds from parking meter collections. If this is adopted the net revenue from all parking meters is set up in a sinking fund for the discharge of the debt and the maintenance and creation of further parking facilities.

REVENUE ESTIMATED

Mr. MacDonald noted that the anticipated annual collections from meters in the proposed parking area had been estimated at $9,000 and the figure was a conservative one. He suggested adding half of this amount to the present meter revenue and there would be more than enough to pay the cost of the project and leave a balance for further parking development.

"I'm all for it," declared councillor Joe Gould as Mr. MacDonald indicated he had presented his proposal. Councillor Claude Graham likewise expressed accord with the idea indicating added parking space downtown would stop shopping centre interests from building. Councillor Gould decided to be less optimistic. "I don't think you'll stop outside expansion," he added.

Mayor Ross Burtt called for a committee to study the proposal and report. Councillor Gerald Wewer declined appointment to the committee explaining: "I'm not going to enter business discussions with some of the parties involved." Councillor Robert Smithrim reluctant to serve on the committee observed: "I'm not refusing to act but as far as dealing with some of the parties involved I haven't had much luck in the past." The committee consists of Councillors MacDonald, Smithrim and Gould.

WANTS WIDTH INCREASED

Councillor Wewer figures that Champlain Heights destined to develop into the town's most beautiful housing tract may become a tenement row if width of building lots is not increased from 50 feet to 60 feet. He feels that Central Mortgage should approve the increase in size since there is as little as eight feet distance between most of the homes already erected in the sub-division adjoining the Trenton Country Club property to the north of the new high school. He thinks that in the long run the town will face deterioration of values. Mr. Weaver maintains that storey and a half or two storey houses look all right on the smaller frontage but one storey homes would be out of an increased frontage. Mr. Wewer estimated that 25 per cent of the proposed larger lots would sell for 20 per cent higher but that buyers would not hesitate to pay the difference. Mr. Wewer requested a letter be sent to Central Mortgage asking for approval to decrease the frontage.

Councillor Smithrim objected to Mr. Weaver's proposal. Changing the size now involves a lot of red tape and will set back the progress, he explained. He pointed out that another survey is required and the result will be a sub-division within a sub-division. Councillor A. J. McNair recalled viewing a sub-division in Winnipeg where the houses were four feet apart and looked tidy, "The trouble is with Trenton we've covered too much land with spreading houses," he commented.

Roslin

ROSLIN — Mr. and Mrs. Ted Gooch and children of Sacramento, California, have returned home after visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Fargey, and other relatives, here.

Of local interest was the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Russel Eaton, of Marmora, on Tuesday, August 30th.

Mr. and Mrs. Russel Reid also Mr. and Mrs. Harold Meeks are taking a motor trip around Lake Ontario this week and will attend the CNE on their return trip.

Mrs. Freeman Howes returned home with her daughter, Mrs. Dan McAllister and Mr. McAllister to Nova Scotia, for a short visit.

In last week's correspondence a line appeared which said: Mr. and Mrs. Jewell were buying the Rutherford home. It should have read: were renting from Mr. C. Leslie.

TAKES LEGAL ACTION

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actor Broderick Crawford's wife has sued him for separate maintenance, charging that his conduct in recent years has made their domestic life incompatible. They were married 8 years ago. Crawford, 49, won an Academy Award in 1949 for the lead role in "All the King's Men." Mrs. Crawford, 38, was once a singer on the New York stage.

Obituary

EDMUND M. POST

(Marmora)

The funeral of Edmund M. Post was held from his late residence on Monday afternoon to St. Andrew's United church, Marmora, being largely attended. The Rev. K. J. Crawford, B.A., B.D., pastor, officiated. George Aunger was organist and Ken Snider as soloist, rendered "Beyond the Sunset." The hymns were "Rock of Ages" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus." The comforting discourse was based on the 46th Psalm.

The large profusion of floral emblems testified to the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

Interment took place in Zion cemetery, North Marmora.

The bearers were, John Bell, Arthur Tompkins, Charles McCann, James Gordenier, Arnold Walker and John Davidson.

THE RIGHT ANSWER

Lt.-Gen. Howard Graham, the former Trenton lawyer who is the new chief of the general staff of the Canadian Army, is to be congratulated.

On his first test in his new post, he came off with flying colors.

He assumed his new duties Thursday of last week. The same day he held a press conference. He was asked about his views on conscription.

"That's really a fast ball," he said.

"Would you like to take a swing at it?" the persisent reporter countered.

"Not until my eye gets a little better trained," answered Gen. Graham.

Now it is merely obvious that, no soldier rises to the position of chief of the general staff without having formed an opinion about the advisability of conscription. Gen. Graham needs no additional training to get his eye on that ball. It's right up the centre of the plate and he could flail it out of the park with his eyes shut.

So what Gen. Graham really meant was that he refused to play in that league. He was no right. It is no business of the chief of the general staff to air his private opinions on questions of policy, a decision about which is the responsibility of the Minister of National Defence, the Cabinet and the House of Commons.

If Gen. Graham feels that his opinion on this matter must be suppressed, then it is the Minister of National Defence to whom he will outline his views, not to a reporter at a press conference.

In his regard to that reporter, Gen. Graham has shown that, in one of the most important aspects of his new post, he is already thoroughly trained and has his eye on the ball.

EXPORTING CULTURE

Albert Laroche of Ottawa is disappointed that "Saturday Night", Toronto periodical, should be "opposed to such a fundamental development in the promotion of culture as the subsidizing of cultural missions to other countries".

Since we do not suppose that even such a warm advocate of culture as Mr. Laroche obviously is would argue that it is Canada's sacred mission to lead a world-wide renaissance, we can only conclude that Mr. Laroche thinks the export of Canadian culture fundamental to the promotion of culture in this country.

If that's the case, it's a strange thing, the first product which had to be sold abroad before it could be successfully produced at home.

We suspect that culture is like any other product, you can only successfully export it when you have a surplus. There is so much talk about Canadian culture these days that one might almost think we were ready to go into the export business, were it not for the suspicion that being cultured is a condition something like being modest, if you say you are, you ain't.

STILL A BIG WORLD

It's still a wide, wide world.

According to the Christian Science Monitor, 20,000 people are starving in Haiti in the Caribbean, and another 40,000 are suffering from malnutrition.

Cause of the famine was a hurricane, not Connie or Diane of the past few weeks, but Hazel, the rough, tough gal who spread death and damage in the Toronto district last fall.

Even before the hurricane, the government of Haiti had decreed a "belt-tightening" program because the economy of the country was teetering.

Since Hazel's visit the government has been trying to repair irrigation works, build emergency barracks for the homeless and send in food and medicines. The achievements have been far short of the need.

"There are places in the mountains," one spokesman is quoted as saying, "that have been able to reach with food ever since the hurricane hit the island."

That is really living in a backwoods area!

ILLEGAL TIPPING

At Montreal police arrested a 55-year-old man and charged him with giving information on horse races. The accused admitted the offence and paid $25 and costs. His lawyer explained that his client made his living by giving tips. If the tips proved good, the tipster himself received a tip, cash instead of information, from the successful bettor.

All this is, apparently, highly illegal. Nobody can give information on the races, unless, of course, he writes for the daily newspapers.

Strange world.

EASILY SATISFIED

"Few members of the public seem to be satisfied with only the simplest funeral," declares Mr. Ernest Robb, president of the National Association of Funeral Directors. Mr. Robb underestimates the deep attachment for simplicity which is shared by a host of Canadians, any one of who would be quite satisfied with much less than a simple funeral; people who are, indeed, enjoying life with no funeral at all.

HORSE AND BUGGY DAYS

The horse and buggy days have flown,
To join the past forevermore.
Banished is what they were known:
A hitching post at every store.
No town policeman dressed in blue
His daily round with tickets made.
The horse would stand the whole day through,
If long as that the shopper stayed.
There was no parking problem then.
No, walking distance to annoy,
I can recall when gentlemen
Tossed many a bridle to a boy,
"Here. Mind the horse a while," they'd say,
A task every youngster yearned,
For many a nickle in that way
By serving patiently was earned.
Now streets with motor cars are lined.
The clamp of horse is heard no more.
And it is difficult to find
The space to park at any store.
No helpful lad the nickel pays.
Into a meter now is tossed.
But with the passing of those days
Both charm and peace of mind were lost.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

Sept. 7, 1935

Miss Neta Bush, Dundas St. east, has entered the Belleville General Hospital as a nurse-in-training.

Mr. Cecil Hopkins of Anderson, Indiana, an old Belleville boy, renewed acquaintances in this city this week. He was accompanied by his wife and son. He learned the jewellery business in this city.

Mr. Charles T. Dolan has returned home after spending his vacation at Old Orchard Beach, Maine.

Mr. Sydmer Bird and Mr. Warren Bird of Carnilton, and Mr. Harold Bird of this city are in Toronto to take in the big exhibition.

Miss Fay Scott has returned from a motoring trip and vacation of two months camping at Crown River.

The regular weekly meeting of the directors of the Belleville Exhibition Commission was resumed on Thursday after the summer holidays. President, J. B. Boyce, presided and the following directors were present: W. J. Springer, H. E. Fairfield, W. H. Morton, H. W. Ackerman, Leo. B. Bigel, Ald. P. Bermstein, E. V. Ilsey and secretary-manager, J. Owen Herity.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Deacon and Mr. and Mrs. John Deacon spent several days last week at the Seigniory Club, Quebec.

Mr. J. Wallington, former principal of the Bowmanville High School and since 1929 Public School Inspector for the City of Brantford, has been appointed Superintendent of the Ontario School for the Deaf here and will assume his duties on Oct. 1. He succeeds Mr. H. B. Fetterly. Mr. Morrison is one of Brantford's most known educationists in the province. He is a graduate of the United College, the Masonic Order, the Rotary Club and takes a keen interest in the Y.M.C.A.

Mohawk Church Special Service. The annual Harvest Festival in connection with Christ Church, Mohawk Indian Village was held recently and was certainly favored by the Rev. Rural Dean Stout of Gananoque; his services in Gananoque being taken by the Rev. Hector Thompson, rector of the Mohawk Church. The Rev. A. Greene of this city assisted in the service. In the celebration of the Holy Communion the vessels used were those which were presented many years ago by Queen Victoria, Parish by Her Majesty Queen Victoria. The vessels are a handmade of silver and the Chalice is larger and heavier than the Chalice of most churches of the Anglican Church.

30 YEARS AGO

Sept. 7, 1905

Dr. G. O. Dupras and Mrs. Dupras left today by motorcar for Toronto where they will spend several days.

Messrs. Walter Harden and Harry Potts are in Toronto to visit the big exhibition.

Miss Catherine Fox, B. A., of Toronto is the guest of Miss M. Mitchelson, Octavia Street.

Mr. Wilfrid Craig and Miss Nellie Craig are visiting the exhibition in Toronto.

Mr. Arthur Quincey went to Toronto today.

Mrs. Mary Hurst and Miss Muriel Hurst are spending a few days in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Campion, John Street, are visiting friends in Smiths Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Bell, Coleman Street, are spending Labor Day with friends in Lindsay.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Doyle were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Patrick at the cottage at Moira Lake.

40 YEARS AGO

Sept. 7, 1915

The Belleville Fair was opened yesterday by His Worship Mayor Paul Peterson. There are many exhibits and the fair promises to be a great success.

An interesting game of baseball was played at the fair yesterday afternoon between Oshawa and the Ontarios of this city. The visitors won, the score being 5 to 2. It was a treat to the fans to witness such an excellent game. The following composed the teams: Ontarios,—Simmons, Morrison, Gerow, Maddell, Hagerman, Dyer, Kelleher, Clerk and Wilson; Oshawa, — Barriage, Tharans, Wilson, Quaig, Foltz, Hall, Canning, Gay and Wigg. The umpire was Thomas and the bake umpire was Robert Colling. They handled the game well.

Mr. Lawrence Boyle and Jack O'Connor have left on a trip to Cleveland and Chicago.

50 YEARS AGO

Sept. 7, 1905

Mr. Joseph Wilson of Toronto son of Mr. Jacob Wilson of this city, is visiting his old home in town. He is an old Belleville boy and has made international fame as a swimmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherin of Niagara Falls, Ontario, are visiting the latter's brother, Mr. Horace Yeomans, West Bridge Street.

Miss Sarah Templeton of the D. & D. teaching staff, entertained at Mrs. Lesslie's cottage, James' Street yesterday afternoon. She was assisted by her nieces, Miss Templeton and Miss Brickman, both of Vancouver, B.C.

Mr. Harry Carre of the Molson's Bank, Winnipeg, Manitoba, is home on a visit to his parents, Mr. Henry Carre, C. E., and Mrs. Carre, Albert Street.

A Task for Free Minds

(By Baldous Dhingra, based on a lecture to a conference of German educators at Calegas)

To encourage the mutual appreciation of Eastern and Western cultural values, Unesco is convening a meeting of experts in May 1956. They will consider methods of improving textbooks and other teaching materials in Western countries with a view to promoting a greater understanding of Asian cultures. Substantial reports on this subject have already been received from Austria, Belgium, Greece, Sweden and Western Germany, while 21 Unesco member states have agreed to carry out a study on the question.

At a later date, perhaps in 1957, it is hoped to convene another meeting to study the treatment of Western cultures in the textbooks of Asian countries.

In his excellent book "Ambassador", Mr. Chester Bowles, former American Ambassador to India, records the following conversation with his son who, returning from his Asian experiences, is about to join an eastern school:

"I'll make a bet", says Mr. Bowles, "that the world history taught you when you were in Egypt and Mesopotamia, moves on to Greece and Rome and overlakes you through Rome and finally ends with Prance and England".

"But that is the right way", argues his son, "that leaves out three-fourths of the world".

"Unfortunately", remarks Mr. Bowles, "it was the best".

What Mr. Bowles says about the United States is equally true for the countries of Europe. This view is simply borne out by the various reports Unesco has received. Western textbooks are still bounded in the north by the European spirit or in the words of a German report, by "occidental ideas". Any doctrine or obstacles to an impartial and objective picture of non-Western peoples should be eliminated", continues the report. "In judging people by such standards which we apply to our own and constantly find that our own institutions or our cultural achievements are superior to those of other peoples". And the report concludes that the ideal would be an historical picture broadly "from the world as a whole".

To achieve this objective of giving children a balanced picture of the world "as a whole", a campaign has been started which aims at improving the teaching of Eastern cultures in Western schools. The success of this campaign will depend to a large extent upon the active collaboration of Asian and European teachers. This, at present, is sadly lacking.

Yet, already, good geography teachers can do much to help children understand distant countries. They need can show differences in mentality between the various people live - and show the similarities too. It should be clear that the same method could also be applied in helping children to understand the history and culture of Asia and comparisons of other peoples.

Many teachers will argue that the child's mind is already sufficiently stuffed with matter. To present to it more facts, especially would mean endless labor. Changing the situation, enlarging the syllabus, increasing the number of pages in textbooks. All this, they say would only tire the child. This is fair criticism if the history of other countries and continents are considered as a series of isolated facts, and are not viewed in a general perspective. But the problem is insoluble if we think of additional facts as only adding together of more and more separate facts.

It is possible, however, to present the peoples of other lands in a fascinating way, which, instead of taxing the child, will help him to learn more about his own country and the world in general. We should show him that his own community is a world in miniature, and yet but an infinitesimal part of the world, in so doing we must always consider the fundamental traits of culture: the character and characteristics of other peoples, for it is essential to find out where the differences lie, before arriving at understanding.

This is where the difficulty arises, for, people tend to "think that an unbridgeable gulf separates East and West. Our thinking has been based on comparisons, so we create for ourselves artificial contrasts which we conceive as eternally fixed and static. We distinguish youth and age, heat and cold, light and darkness, although we know that they are not absolute opposites at all, but artificially fixed concepts that gradually shade off into each other. The only way of coming to terms with an opposing point of view is to look for a unifying principle, by learning to regard contrasts as deductions from an ideal middle point. We remember that the differences unity there can be no opposites. One can only measure two things by reference to a third point which is the unity behind them.

If we consider the differences Cologne and Munich as opposites, we may end by regarding them as two entirely different sorts of beings, who can never see eye to eye. Or we may be tempted to say as Germans - which is the higher unity in this case - and contrast them with the Indians, the similarity between the Germans will suddenly disappear and the real differences very small. Again the difference between Germans and Americans, which seems great from one point of view, diminishes when one considers them both as human beings.

It is true that there are important differences between cultures, especially between "Eastern" and "Western" cultures. But men are more than the sum of their differences. Gandhi used to say: "I want the cultures of all lands to be blown about my house as freely as possible. But I refuse to be swept off my feet".

How can a synthesis be effected in an intellectual universalism. By considering the world from all spectives, breaks through all frontiers of the mind. "Only when this point is reached, the terms East and West will become irrelevant. This then is a task for men who act simply as truth-seekers, who love truth for truth's sake, regardless of where these truths were first pronounced, regardless of name or label.

The real synthesis should be found in man, in whom intellect and experience, knowledge and understanding, being involved in a fruitful somewhere and at all times.

Kipling Verse In Wrong Spot

(By A. R. Ford in London Free Press)

There are few newspapers which have not at some time or other had embarrassing errors in regard to weddings. Our own women's department had a worrying time of it a year ago when a report of a London wedding was carried a day before it actually occurred.

We have been reading the autobiography of the late William Allen White, the noted editor of the Emporia Gazette of Kansas. There was a stylish wedding in Emporia. The account of the wedding ended, "This marriage unites two of the oldest and most important families in Kansas, the Crawfords and the Kellys." A Kipling quatrain, which belonged to another story, by some mad mischance followed:

This is the sorrowful story
Told as the twilight falls
And the monkeys walk together
Holding their foolish tails.

(It took Mr. White a long time to live this one down).

Mammoth Pie At Fall Fair

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

With the fall fair season underway and pie-eating contests among the many interesting events, a report of a huge pie is timely.

At the Monroe County Fair, near Rochester, N.Y., a pie 12 feet, 4 inches in diameter was baked and served.

The pie was part apple and part peach and cherry, providing 2,500 servings.

Baked in a huge grill over 36 gas burners and under 20 infra-red lamps, it had 150 pounds of flour, 110 pounds shortening, four pounds salt, 25 quarts of water, 700 pounds of fruit filling and 320 feet of pastry strips or the top in addition to the shell.

So rapid has been the development and use of motor vehicles that here and everywhere traffic facilities lag years behind the procession.

A Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

I Hear This Story Every Day

Exasperated.
Sarcastic.
Unsympathetic.
Undignified.
Name-calling.
Faultfinding.
I'm all of these, and then some, they tell me.

Why don't I feed people a little syrup, butter, or soft soap with my medicine, as do the eminent clinicians who manage to take time out from business to write pieces for the papers?

I have no answer. Maybe it is because I'm such a stinker under the hard shell.

In extenuation, I'd like to leave this statement in-by-gol, when and they come for me at sunrise:

For many years I have tried to keep my spirits and my professional pride high, despite the efforts of the A.M.A. under the rule of Josiah Pooh-Bah, to destroy both. Until recently, having grub-doctored for himself whatever he wanted, occasionally to relieve a "pressure" that would support a dozen families in comfort, I found one consolation. That at any rate I would not help pay that pension, for I had let my membership in the A.M.A. lapse the year before, in the only way a member or fellow can "resign." Refusing to pay my annual dues. I had paid my dues for about forty years. Such nausea finally stopped me.

From the end of the Eighteenth era to date the most spectacular achievement of the A.M.A. seems to be that their organization is no longer selling cigarets — a sideline which made a lot of folding money while the Pooh-Bah was in the saddle.

But the doctors needn't worry about the loss of the cigaret money. The introduction and sale of the new "miracle" wonder drugs, under the auspices and through the agency of the medical and the organization's official journal, is an inexhaustible source of wealth.

"Sick and tired" is a common expression which one seldom takes literally, but I mean it literally when I say I am sick and tired of reports like the following, which come by the dozen:

"I've had arthritis for twenty years. In April I started on the new drug Metiforcine, which indeed worked wonders as it made me feel like a new born person and I can't express how happy I was to be rid of the stiffness and inflammation in my knee and elbow joints, which were mostly affected. Then it seems something happened. After taking six pills a day and then two a day, under doctor's direction, for nearly ten weeks, I suddenly had a relapse and all the stiffness, aches and pains returned worse than ever. Why . . ."

Answer: I am sorry for those who have this experience with the new wonder drugs. There's nothing I can do about it but suggest that you have a happy ending of the joy side it or when they choose to undergo treatment with stiffness.

Remember, children, none of the new miracle medicines is given even a mon temporary relief to sufferers from chronic disease, to the best of my knowledge. And don't think I haven't been watching and hoping for evidence of such curative value ever since the merchandising of medicine began playing will-o'-the-wisp.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

KEEP DOWN THE SPEED

Breaking in a new car is a tedious job. In the days when the dealer gives you, it says to go slowly the first 500 miles and not too fast the second 500 miles Then you take the new buggy out on the highway and step on the gas and you are just going along with the traffic, which means that you are going faster than the book allows.

How true to life and its varied problems! Many of us are hurrying ourselves not because we are evil, malicious people-although we all have plenty of evil in us. But we are running into ulcers and high blood pressure and getting involved in automobile smash-ups and flopping around with nervous breakdowns because we are trying to live at a speed which is indicated or contraindicated in our own particular case.

Each of us has a mental and individual peculiarities. Let me think them. Don't ruin the human mechanism with unwise driving.

How inspiring to see one in a while who independent of others, who lives his life regardless of what others may be doing! Blessed are the truly emancipated—they don't avoid stomach ulcers, apoplexy, knee action and the quality of hell both here and hereafter.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

For the past several months, my wife has taken a pencil and made a discreet little scribble of her first initial inside the cover of every paperback she reads.

This helps her solve the problem that must be a-building over the world readers of thrillers. For surely there can be nothing more infuriating than to get home from work, all relaxed with a paperback and a tankard of beer, and, after a few pages, make the horrifying discovery that you have read the damn thing before, twice.

Possibly the biggest and busiest circulating library in the world is the paperback circuit. You are rattling bunch of half a dozen or a dozen paperbacks from your hours, seeing and visit a friend; and pick up in his apartment the same number of volumes to take home. Paperbacks are the go all over the country. They pile up on shelves. They are stacked in closets. Finally they get into boxes or cartons and are given away to the cleaning woman or the visiting person or sent to the handiest hospital. But mostly they pass from hand to hand in transit—relatives and friends.

And as sure as fate, you sooner or later get back the ones you did rid of the year before last. Then she has only been marking hers for light or her sanity. Which is why already got back half a dozen from people she didn't even know knew the person to whom she passed them in the first place.

Not being a paperback reader, this state of affairs in my life about three years apart and finding myself in the middle of it. It appears to me that there are not any new paperbacks. I admit to see a couple stacks of them in all the drug stores, book shops, groceries and tobacco-journal shops, and certainly I have seen people buying them, or at least fumbling through them with the air of a fresh couple of old ones, I suppose, before buying that part of the paperback circuit with which I am in contact ever bought a new one. The only place you can find ones is among the old ones some-body else has read.

And the best thing to do is take a pencil and write a little hieroglyphic inside the cover, and send it on its way, knowing that it is bound to return. So you'll recognize it.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE POWER OF PATIENCE

We live in an age that is not any good for us because that it is an age of too much speed, and not enough patience and prayer. Each of us modeling his own status. No other will do for us. Every one thought, every effort, every act determines. It takes patience to live out a life. Patience has a power all its own.

People in a hurry are only half themselves so far as accomplishment is concerned. Most things that are achieved when a man hides his time with patience. There is time for everything that is worth while and worth waiting for. Too much speed defeats the true purpose.

The poet Longfellow had a line in his famous poem on Life. He wrote: "Learn to labor and to wait." And the Bible admonishes us to possess ourselves in patience. I do not believe that all things come to those who merely wait. There would then be no one left to do the work of the world. By being patient, however, and now, continually seeking to surpass our best efforts, we keep climbing.

Patience saves us all of waste and tear to this body of ours. It keeps the nerves spry and under control. It aids every physical organ to operate so that there is no waste of effort. With patience a man's body can endure hardships and disappointments. We can afford to wait. Speed is all too often a killer.

All through history you will note that the great ones took time to work out whatever they put their hands to. Lincoln was slow. Edison, do not work short spaces of time. It often took him years to create the choice pieces.

Long read the story of a singer who had spent many years under a great teacher in Paris. The student got very restless and wanted to quit. The teacher urged him on and on, and at last the student was about to stop, the teacher turned to him and said, "You may go now, but you are the greatest singer in the world!"

Woman Placed On Trial For Manslaughter

STRATFORD (CP)—Mrs. Madeline Smith, 46, of Listowel was placed on trial on a manslaughter charge Tuesday in the rolling pin death of her husband after a grand jury brought in a true bill following nearly five hours of deliberation.

Mrs. Smith is charged in the death of her husband William Featherstone Smith, 44, who was found dead in bed in his Listowel home Sunday afternoon, May 29. He had allegedly been struck on the head with a rolling pin, which was produced in court Tuesday.

The hearing opened before Mr. Justice O. Stewart, presiding over Supreme Court session here and continues today.

Provincial pathologist Dr. Walter J. Armstrong of Kitchener said Smith's death was attributed to a five-inch wide blood cloth under the scalp, the clot resulting from a broken artery when his head was struck, evidently by some blunt, smooth instrument.

He said it was normal in such cases for death to occur from four to 24 hours after a wound was inflicted and that people who suffered such injury "usually were found dead in bed" several hours after being struck.

Crown attorney W. E. Goodwin, outlining his case before the jury, said Smith had been struck during a" family argument after Mrs. Smith alleged she had been struck and her glasses broken.

PICTON

Flesh and Main Artery Torn In Driver's Leg

PICTON — Gary Stewart, 19, lay for around forty minutes in a weed-filled ditch on Highway 33 near the village of Wellington Saturday morning before he was discovered by a passing motorist.

Barely alive, the young man had the flesh and a main artery torn from part of the leg when his motorcycle went into the ditch. As the machine fell on him a screw on the top of the machine ripped his leg. He suffered severe loss of blood.

Today, his condition is much improved and there are greater hopes that his leg can be saved.

An employee of Bloomfield Post Office, Stewart was en route to Toronto and Niagara Falls for a holiday trip. He had purchased the new machine two weeks ago on his birthday. As he passed the Holmes' home, near Cleave's garage, a dog closed towards the machine. He attempted to avoid it, but was not able to do so and struck and killed the animal. As he was thrown into the ditch at the side of the driveway, he was dragged a distance and the machine fell on him.

Stunned, he lay in the ditch, unable to get up on the road. His signals to passing motorists were not noted. Loss of blood made him weak. As Gary Bowerman of Wellington was passing, he thought he saw a child's hand on the roadside. He turned back and discovered Stewart, who was unconscious.

Many offers of blood donations of a rather rare type were made following an appeal.

Stewart was accompanied on the trip by Fred Kellar who was riding ahead and did not see the accident. Later Kellar returned but found no trace of him before Bowerman had found the accident victim.

TRANSPORT PLANE JUMPS INTO AIR

A U.S. air force Hercules transport literally "jumps" into the air in Philadelphia in a demonstration at the National Aircraft Show. The YC-130 is the first plane of its type to complete a transcontinental flight and is able to fly higher and faster than any other operating military transport. The YC-130 requires slightly less than 800 feet to take off or land.—Central Press Canadian.

Brighter Outlook For Agriculture Is Predicted

NORTH BAY (CP)—Despite reduction in agricultural land through expansion of heavy industry, a brighter outlook for Ontario agriculture was forecast Tuesday by Dr. H. L. Patterson of the Ontario department of agriculture.

Dr. Patterson was addressing the Ontario Municipal Association's annual convention here.

Development of industry rather than expansion of cities was the primary cause of the shift in use of agricultural land, he said. Between 1941 and 1951 6.7 per cent of Ontario's agricultural land had disappeared so far as agriculture was concerned.

In a few years Canada would be the source of all North America's food over, he said, and this with its parallel developments was casting up Ontario farm land.

FARM SURPLUSES VANISH

Farm surpluses were being reduced to the vanishing point. Ontario agriculture was at a point where any increase to meet requirements in one line of produce means a drop in another.

Last year's beef surplus, he said, was only five per cent above consumption against 25 per cent not long ago.'

The last few years had shown a large increase in demand for milk and dairy produce, owing to an increased birth rate. Every year of the increase was 1946 and those children now were beginning to affect meat consumption as well.

Before the war Toronto obtained its milk supply from within a 40-mile radius. Its supplies now flow from as far as North Simcoe Walkerton and Bruce county.

There was greater demand in other products, such as fresh fruit and vegetables.

LANDMARKS BURN

WASAGA BEACH, Ont. (CP)—Two beach landmarks in the Georgian bay resort area, the 10-room Arcadian Lodge and a bakery store, were destroyed by fire Tuesday. Cause of the blaze was not determined. Damage was estimated at more than $25,000.

Canadian Jet Attracts Interest At Air Show

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

FARNBOROUGH, Eng. (CP)—The CF-100, Canadian all-weather jet for fighter squadrons, Tuesday attracted much interest at the Farnborough air show as hundreds of aviation engineers, technicians and senior air officers crowded round the plane to ask questions.

Gen. Alfred Gruenher, supreme Allied commander in Europe, also examined the Canadian plane which was given the place of honor at the show with one on each side of the Farnborough entrance. It is the first plane from outside Britain to be displayed at this big shop window of Britain's air industry.

The RCAF has ordered production of the CF-100 cut to 18 a month. Production of the plane by A. V. Roe of Malton, Ont., had originally been 25 a month.

MONTHS AGO

(Fred T. Smye, vice-president and general manager of Avro Aircraft Ltd., has said the stretching out of the CF-100 program started five months ago and that gradual staff reduction continued until mid-summer. He added that there have been no layoffs since midsummer and said none is expected. Smye said the company is behind schedule production of a newer model of the CF-100 begins.)

It is no secret that Avro is trying to sell the 17-ton fighter to Allied countries.

This raises a tricky problem for Avro officials in that many CF-100 details are classified as secret. Before any information has to be given out for sales purposes —but only to senior air officers of Allied countries.

ECONOMY PLANNING

WASHINGTON (AP) — Highly placed administration sources said Tuesday the defence department is trying to cut $1,000,000,000 out of its current spending program, in line with a government-wide drive to achieve a balanced budget this year.

Officials Feel Textile Industry Is Improving

OTTAWA (CP)—There is a feeling among trade officials here that the condition of the Canadian textile industry is improving, but it might be difficult to find an industry spokesman who will agree.

Officials, commenting on a 23-per-cent jump in the output of textile manufacturers in June as compared with June, 1954, said there has been considerable recovery in the industry since last year. Added to higher production were longer working hours each week and increased employment.

But, they said, the industry generally feels it has made these gains through heavier advertising and highly competitive selling, both against imported goods and within the Canadian industry itself.

The result was that production of Canadian textiles in all three main divisions, cotton, wool and synthetics had increased, but profits had been "flattened almost to nothing in many cases, on grounds it is better to keep a mill running even at a small loss than to let it close altogether.

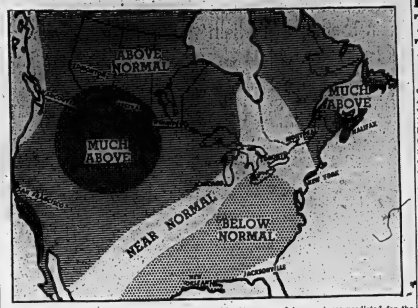
A breakdown of statistics index figure, based on 1949 equalling 100, shows employment in the primary textile industry at 85 last June, up from 79.1 in June, 1954. A bureau official said that represented about 63,000 persons at work in the industry in June.

Employment in the industry reached a low of 78.8 last September, but apparently has been easing upward ever since.

Considered more indicative of employment conditions were the hours worked. With orders down and some factories closing for lack of business a year ago, average hours each week in the industry were 39.8 in June, 1954. They are likely by some fifty per cent to 41.8 hours last June.

But imports from Japan, the United States, India and other countries competing for Canadian sales were still maintaining a high level. As a result the Canadian manufacturers generally felt their position had not materially improved since they still shared no more of the home market than before.

Town, Village Section of OMA Favors Toll Roads



NORTH BAY (CP) — A brief favoring toll roads in Ontario was presented Tuesday to the town and village section of the Ontario Municipal Association.

Mayor R. W. Goebel of Hespeler said in presenting the brief that toll roads would be self-supporting and relieve the provincial government of the expenditure of large sums of super-highways.

Mayor Goebel also urged a more even distribution of road costs between municipal, county and provincial levels.

Mayor Albert Essex of Merrition, was elected chairman of the town and village section of the OMA. He succeed Mayor C. E. Kemp of Dundas.

TEMPERATURE OUTLOOK

Most of Canada will enjoy normal or above-normal temperature for the next 30 days according to this map prepared on the basis of the United States Weather Bureau long-range forecast. The Pacific coastal area, eastern Ontario and western Quebec are expected to have near-normal weather, with above-normal temperatures predicted for the West and eastern Quebec. Hot weather and much-above-normal temperatures are expected in the Maritime Provinces and the southern sections of the Prairies. (CP Photo, map courtesy of Toronto Star).

Big Forest Fire Races Toward California Town

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—One of the worst forest fires in Pacific coast history roared down today on Yreka, a little northern California logging town, and mammoth waves of flame raced across tens of thousands of acres of parched timber and brush land elsewhere in California and neighboring Oregon.

A three-day-old fire exploded out of control and thundered through 21 miles of dense timberland to within four miles of Yreka. By midnight 100,000 acres were ablaze.

Firefighters frankly said they had no chance of checking the fire's onslaught. However, forest supervisors said Yreka, a logging and farm centre of 3,500 residents some 20 miles south of the Oregon border, appeared in no immediate danger.

Smoke obscured the skies and dead cinders rained down on Yreka. Townsfolk hauled out hoses to douse their roofs should burning cinders begin cascading from the fire.

HOT AND WINDY

Firefighters said the only things that would help would be a change in weather conditions or the fire's run out of fuel. Today's forecast was for another day of hot, windy weather.

An estimated 8,000 men are battling fires in the two states. In Oregon, there are more than 210 separate fires.

One of the few notes of cheer came from Sequoia national forest in east-central California where firefighters reported they had checked a 15,000-acre blaze which had threatened the famed Grant grove of giant sequoia trees. One of the trees, the Gen. Grant, is believed to be the oldest in the world.

Bulldog Wins Best-in-Show Award at CNE

TORONTO (CP) — Another bulldog Tuesday won the best-in-dog award at the third international all-breed dog show held this year at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Saturday night, the winner was an English bulldog, but Tuesday's winner was a French bulldog, the American and Canadian champion, Bouquet Nouvelle, winner of the open dog class, owned by Mr. and Mrs. M. West of Detroit.

Best Canadian-bred dog was Miss Paloma's Dream Boy, the black cocker spaniel entered by John Florence of Ottawa, winner of the best-in-show award at the first show here.

Group winners included:

Hounds — Dachshund, Steinheim's Candida, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bodemer, Stratford.

Toy—Pekinese, Ch. Puff's Halo of Wagza, owned by Mrs. Bertha Howlett, Brantford.

Demand for Steel Making It Tough For Industry

NEW YORK (AP)—The American steel industry, already top-heavy with demand, is running into a seasonal fall upsurge promising to be the strongest in the post-war period, says Iron Age, the national trade weekly.

The summer provided no lull in demand for steel and the present increase will make the situation tougher for all concerned, it says, reporting as follows:

Mills have been forced to slash fourth-quarter allotments in an effort to beat down order carryovers. Despite this, they are resigned to heavy order backlogs when they begin 1956.

No minor steel-consuming industry has shown any sign of a significant let-down in demand. Instead, pressure for delivery continues and there is a clamor to place advance orders.

Kiwanis Plans Third Annual Travel Series

The Kiwanis Club has announced the presentation of its "Third Annual" World Travel and Adventure Series, starting on Oct. 14th. The local service club will bring to the city famous world travellers and lecturers with their films. This series will give audiences an opportunity to visit six continents.

"Nicol Smith" starts the series with his film on Colombia, then; Stan Midgley's "Adventure in the Northwest", followed by "Exotic Ceylon", with Robt. Mallett; "Trieste and the Dalmatian Coast", with Karl Robinson; "Cairo to Baghdad" with Thayer Soule and the final travelogue, Curtis Nagel's "Beautiful Blue Danube".

A feature this year is the new zoom picture, the latest in projector equipment.

British P.M. At Controls Of Vulcan Bomber

FARNBOROUGH, Eng. (Reuters)—A four-jet Vulcan bomber flashed over England Tuesday, a distinguished co-pilot at the controls—British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden.

And according to the pilot, Ronald Falk, Eden did a smart job of flying during the 15-minute flight from Farnborough to Blackbush aerodrome, near Eden's official country home, Chequers, in Buckinghamshire.

Falk said later that he took the plane off the ground, but that Eden took over the controls in the air.

"Obviously he has had some flying experience, because he handled the Vulcan quite nicely," Falk remarked.

Eden, who had donned a blue flying suit and parachute harness, also did most of the navigating, he added.

Eden thus became the first British premier to fly in a Vulcan—one of Britain's latest-model giant atom bombers—as earlier in the day he had become the first to fly in a helicopter. Eden arrived in a helicopter at the annual air show here.

PRESENTS CUP

CALGARY (CP)—The strength of the "silken cords which unite the component units of the Commonwealth of Nations" was cited Tuesday night by Sir Seymour Howard, as the Lord Mayor of London presented a golden loving cup to Calgary. The cup commemorates Alberta's golden jubilee. A similar cup is to be presented to the city of Edmonton Thursday.

KILLED BY CAR

BRAMPTON (CP) — Mrs. Annie Frances Lyons, 63, was killed Tuesday night when struck by a car after she got off a bus and ran across the highway. Driver of the car was John Hedge, 44, of nearby Georgetown, police said.

Fashions in Wool Main Theme Of Festival

By MURIEL PENN

LONDON (Reuters)—Fashion in wool is the theme of a series of mannequin parades being held in connection with the International Wool Fashion festival.

Leading designers of 11 countries are taking part in the festival and, for the first time in an event of this kind, each country is represented by one of its leading models.

The festival constitutes the most complete picture of European fashion seen at a single show in London since the war.

Countries represented are France, Britain, Denmark, Holland, Ireland, Italy, Norway, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and West Germany. Each is showing five dresses, suits or ensembles designed by one or more of its top dressmakers.

At the first of the series of parades held Tuesday a murmur of admiration greeted a dramatic model in unrelieved black by Christian Dior of Paris, which shows at once his new "A" line and the strong Oriental influence which characterizes the new Paris collections.

It was a black fascicloth afternoon dress with a high side-split caftan tunic, narrowing from the shoulder line to the knees and hanging loose over a close-fitting sheath skirt. With it was worn a floor - length Mongolian cap in black Persian lamb.

Jean Patou produced a breath-taking black afternoon dress with draped high-waisted effect and wide upstanding white mink shoulder wrap. A close-fitting black wool jersey hood attached to the dress and worn under a flat white mink hat smacked of medieval days.

Britain was represented by the Queen's dressmaker, Norman Hartnell, and four of the younger members of Incorporated Society of London fashion designers—Michael, Ronald Paterson, John Cavanagh and Michael Hsernard.

Nearly 180 Friends Attend Fortieth Wedding Anniversary

STIRLING—The new home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Tucker, Old Marmora Road, Stirling, was decorated with lovely baskets of mixed gladioli and bowls and vases of ruby and white asters on the occasion of their 40th wedding anniversary on Thursday.

Approximately 180 relatives and friends called in the afternoon or evening to extend congratulations and best wishes on this happy occasion.

A granddaughter, Miss Donna Tucker, Stirling, and her aunt, Mrs. Cecil Frost, Frankford, R.R. 1, received the afternoon guests.

In the evening, another granddaughter, Miss Shirley Chisholm, Belleville R.R. 5, with Mrs. Edgar Morrow and Mrs. Harry Philip of town, welcomed the guests, who came from many parts of Rawdon, Sidney and Murray townships, as well as all nearby points in Belleville, Burlington, Belleville and Trenton.

SPECIAL GUESTS

The special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Metcalfe, Bowmanville, who were celebrating their 35th wedding anniversary and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bush of Stirling, R.R. 4, celebrating their 30th wedding anniversary all on September 1st.

The wedding 40 years ago was held at the home of the bride's parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. George Frost, of the 5th concession of Sidney. The officiating minister was the late Rev. R. J. Byers, rector of Trinity Church of England, in Frankford. The bride was the former Essie Frost and the bridegroom, Claude Tucker, is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Manford Tucker, 4th concession Rawdon.

The bride's sister, Miss Leah Frost was bridesmaid and her fiance, Mr. A. E. Caskey, R.R. 1, Frankford, was groomsman.

RETURNED TO STIRLING

Following their marriage they resided on the Tucker homestead, 4th concession, and at a later date they moved to Bowmanville for a short time. About 30 years ago they returned to Stirling and purchased the Cooney property in the village where their son Roy now resides.

Mr. and Mrs. Tucker are members of St. Paul's United church, Stirling. Mrs. Tucker is a member of St. Paul's W.A., and is also a member of River Valley Women's Institute.

The dining table was covered with an ivory, damask cloth with silver tea services and candelabra. The tiered wedding cake, decorated in ruby and white, was used as a centrepiece surrounded by ruby rosebuds and bowls of ruby and white asters.

POURING TEA

In the afternoon, Mrs. Mollie Green and Mrs. Charles Conley, Mrs. Walter Elliott, all of Stirling, and Mrs. Reg. Metcalfe, Bowmanville, did the honors of pouring tea. Those who served were, the Misses Donna Carlisle, Barbara Green, Rose Ann Vandervoort and Ruth Mumby.

Those who poured in the evening were, Mrs. Roscoe Wright, Mrs. Carleton Wright, Mrs. Bert Bedford, Mrs. Roy Bush, Mrs. A. E. Caskey, Frankford and Mrs. Gordon Frost, Belleville.

Those who served were, Mrs. Ronald Graham, Shannonville; Mrs. James Hessel, Trenton; Mrs. Arnold Case, Concenon; Mrs. Ernest Pope, Belleville; Miss Jean Frost, R.R. 2, Belleville; Mrs. James Wright, Trenton; Mrs. Douglas Frost, Burlington, Ont.; the Misses Mary Hollis and Marguerite Lake who are neighbors, the two daughters (Marion), Mrs. Harold Stiles, Bonarlaw and (Rita) Mrs. Omar Chisholm, Belleville, R.R. 5, two daughters-in-law, Mrs. Don Tucker and Mrs. Roy Tucker of the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Tucker have four children and ten grandchildren, five grandsons and five granddaughters.

Mr. Tucker has one sister (Bertha) Mrs. William McGonigal of Sundre, Alberta.

Mrs. Tucker has three brothers, Carman Frost and Harold Frost of Sidney township and Cecil Frost of Murray township, and one sister, Mrs. A. E. Caskey, of Murray township.

At the party were, Janet and Judy Phillips, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Phillips, Belleville and great nieces of Mr. and Mrs. Tucker.

The bride of 1915 received her guests in a gown of turquoise blue crepe with inserts of lace and a rose corsage. She and her husband occupied central chairs in the living room flanked by floral decorations.

NUMEROUS GIFTS

They were the recipients of a large array of congratulatory cards, also numerous gifts of novelty dishes, cups and saucers, satin cushions in ruby shade. From their immediate neighbors they received a tri-light floor lamp and an electric tea-kettle. From their children, grandchildren, the Frost brothers and sister and several close friends, a chest of silver in daffodil pattern. From the Tucker cousins and close relatives, an electric table lamp. From the euchre club, a lazy susan in ruby shade.

During the evening, several flash pictures were taken as a memento of the happy occasion.

Stirling and Rawdon friends extend best wishes and wish Mr. and Mrs. Tucker a long and happy matrimonial voyage as they journey on through life.

Bright Musical Opens Season On Broadway

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York theatrical season on Broadway opened Tuesday night at the Plymouth theatre with an unusual and pleasing musical revue, "Catch a Star."

Contrary to its title, this show has no star. The authors and composers are well known, but not sensationally so. Sammy Fain and Phil Charig have high reputations as composers along Tin Pan Alley, but are not box office names. But they did a terrific job to make "Catch a Star" a hit show.

As for performers, David Burns has a name because of his performance as the peddler in the musical "Oklahoma!" but Pat Carroll, Elaine Dunn, Jack Wakefield and a dozen more excellent players of song and satire almost completely unknown to the average Broadway audience made "Catch a Star" a 20-star show.

They kid current Broadway hits in as outrageous manner, hurl barbs at the Pulitzer prize-winning "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" and at Tallulah Bankhead with little regard for the majesty of the play or the actress.

Sunday School Picnics

WALLBRIDGE S.S.

WALLBRIDGE. — Wallbridge annual Sunday school picnic held in the Tweed Park, was a decided success. About 75 adults and children enjoyed the day.

After the first swim, refreshments were ready, consisting of hot dogs, sandwiches, pickles, ice cream and orange drink.

The tables were cleared and the program consisted of races as follows:

Kindergarten, Mrs. Mac Sine's class—Paul Sine, Charles Sine, (twins); beginners' class, Mrs. Morley Phillips' class—Linda Fisher, Wayne Shorey; primary class, Mrs. Hudson Ketcheson's class—girls—Patsy Shorey, Shirley Wannamaker; boys—Peter McNaught, Billie Donaldson; Intermediate class—girls—Mrs. Albert Fisher's class—Louise Woods, Annabel McNaught; Intermediate boys' class—Mr. Arthur Carleton's class—Alex McNaught, Gerry Sine; Senior girls, Mrs. Wm Sine's class—Marion Woods.

A teachers' race was then held which caused a lot of excitement. Mrs. Laurence Ketcheson appointed Mr. Hudson Ketcheson to run for her and Mrs. Jim Sine appointed Mr. Alvin Donaldson for her rup as they felt it too hot to run so the men donned skirts and the race began as follows—Mr. Alvin Donaldson, Mr. Hudson Ketcheson, leaving all the rest of lady teachers behind.

After the races swimming was then enjoyed after which all were treated to ice cream.

NAMES OF CHILDREN ON FORMAL WEDDING INVITATIONS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

In regard to the addressing of envelopes for wedding invitations, I find there is one question which bothers me very much—and, from what I hear, it apparently bothers many other people too. It is this: When you are inviting a young son and two young daughters, as well as the parents, how do you address the outer and the inner envelopes? — Reader

When young children are to be invited to the wedding, you address the outer envelope to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wells Hall (with address) and then on the inside envelope write the names of the children beneath the names of their parents. Like this:

Mr. and Mrs. Hall
Anne, Ellen, and Kenneth

Note 1: Do not use the words "and family" . . . either on the outer or the inner envelope.

Note 2: On the outer envelope write only the names of the parents . . . not the names of the children.

SORRY . . . CHILDREN NOT INVITED

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am to be married next month, and I wish to start writing my invitations. I would like the people to know that I do not wish to have children at the reception. How do I go about doing this? Is there something I can write on the invitations to let them know? — R.G.K.

If you are sending formal wedding invitations and addressing them to Mr. and Mrs. only, not writing the names of the children on the inner envelope, the parents should know that they should not bring the children to the wedding or reception. But if you have any idea that they might bring the children, you can write at the bottom of the invitations, "We are sorry that we cannot include the children in the invitation." If you are writing notes of invitation, you can include this message in the notes themselves.

TELEPHONE BEFORE YOU CALL

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Near where we live there is a wide-apart group of houses (not a so-called "development"), and two of our friends, former neighbors of ours in the city, have told us of friends of theirs who are now living in this group. My husband and I would very much like to call on them something soon, to welcome them to this pleasant community. We had thought of going on a Saturday afternoon. For this kind of call do you think that we should telephone first, or simply go and if they are not at home leave our cards or perhaps a note?—S.G.H.

Please do telephone these newcomers to your community before you go to make your welcoming call on them, to ask them if it will be convenient if you come at the hour you have in mind. I assure you they will be grateful to you. In these busy days, unannounced calls, "drop in" calls, are not usually welcomed by a hostess or host . . . particularly when they are newcomers, who thus

AUTUMN COTTONS

By TESS WINSTON

Cotton in a little heavier weight and in rich dark colors, emerges as a wonderful idea for late summer and fall fashions, clothes merchandise to wear, yet show very strongly the new trends. One such is one-piece dress, a good choice for a busy day in town. It is in bedtick and brown stripes, a monopopular color combination just now. The away-from-the-neck collar is young, cool and flattering, and it is finished with a wide velveteen bow. The slim silhouette has pockets dashed in at side seams. A black leather belt has a gleaming brass harness buckle.

One-Bowl Unbaked Confections

By Mary Moore

Seldom do I recommend products that are made by only one company for reasons that are obvious. I work for newspapers and their readers —not for manufacturers.

But I am getting so much satisfaction from using my stainless steel cooking equipment that I want to pass on the glad tidings.

I am referring in particular to my set of three stainless steel bowls. There they hang on their rack on the wall, ever ready for me to reach up for the size of bowl that just suits my purpose at the moment. Nesting mixing bowls, refrigerator storage bowls—and even baking dishes. On picnic and other out-of-door informal occasions they pinch hit as serving dishes. They are fade-irresistible and because of their smooth, grooveless sides are so easy to wash and hang up again immediately after they are used that the kitchen clutter is reduced to a minimum.

For instance in the following recipe, that is more of a confection than a cookie, one stainless steel bowl may be used for melting the chocolate and the subsequent mixing of the remaining ingredients.

ONE-BOWL UNBAKED DROPS

In a stainless steel mixing bowl melt 4 squares unsweetened chocolate with 4 teaspoons butter over very low heat. (If your bowl is not made of metal stand it over boiling water for this melting or use the top of your large double boiler for the whole operation—melting and mixing.) Remove from heat and add 1 cup icing sugar and after mixing that in drop in two unbeaten eggs and beat quickly and well. Add 20 cut-up marshmallows and 1 cup chopped walnuts. Mix well. Drop from teaspoon on wax paper. Make these the day before they are to be used and store in cool place overnight — not necessarily in the refrigerator—so they will be firm and neat to handle.

Another unbaked confection that is a toothsome morsel to add to your tea plate of or to your husband's or your carried lunch box is

CHOCOLATE ROLL

Over very low heat in unless steel bowl melt together 4 squares unsweetened chocolate and 2 tablespoons butter. Remove bowl place from heat and stir well melting over hot water for the or use top of double boiler for this heat and melting.) Add 2 cups icing let cool. Add eggs, 1 cup sugar, 2 unbeaten, 1 cup chopped walnuts, 24 quarter-inch marshmallows, 1 cup cut-up candied cherries and 1 cup crushed graham wafer crumbs. Mix well and, on a medium-sized long roll on finely rolls. Roll the log in additional crushed graham wafer to roll in finely chopped nuts or cocoa or cocoanut if you wish. Wrap in wax paper to chill in refrigerator. Slice as wanted.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMIESON

PERFECTING THE BUST CONTOUR

The fashion forecast for fall are back in style again. They're not the tight-fitting pullovers that made news when Lana Turner put them on, but looser styles of heavier weaves. Slit and all, they show up the contour so, if your bosom doesn't measure up, be not something about it.

An old beauty trick for toning the chest, and one which still favored by many a star and screen celebrity, is to roll every bath with splashing of water over the bosom. This is a circulation stimulant and for the skin muscles.

Swimming is one of the best exercises for developing a shapely bosom.

However, there is an exercise which is even more of a circulation stimulant and does much more for the supporting muscles. It is a modification of the old push-ups.

Lie flat downward on the floor with feet together and best so that they are together in the air. Then bent, keep them. With forearms and hands, like the feet at sides, fingers about in line with the shoulders. Now, keeping your trunk absolutely straight (there is no sag of the abdomen, slowly push away from the floor with the hands until the arms are straight; then, just as slowly, lower to the floor. Relax and repeat—very slowly—four times. When you reach the point at which your arms are straight in this exercise, your entire body should be in a beautiful bend to your knee joints, with feet still in the air.

Swimming is also a perfect exercise for developing a shapely bosom.

In acquiring a lovelier bust contour, your bra is most important, of course. When you buy one, take your time and get your money's worth. And don't skimp in purchasing this most necessary garment. Go to a good store and have a trained saleswoman fit you. She will even help you to adjust the straps to the proper length so that the extra lift is exactly what it should be. The elastic band should never be so snug that they cut into the flesh.

If you resort to the use of padding or satin or latex aids to bust contour, do so with proper regard for proportion. Too much of a false front will make you an object of ridicule—not of beauty!

USE GLYCERINE

BRISTOL, England (Reuters)—New techniques in artificial insemination of cattle will make possible a new generation of offspring every year, the British Association for the Advancement of Science was told here Monday by Dr. John Hammond of the ministry of agriculture's advisory service. He said that glycerine now is being used as a diluter to increase the fertility of male animals.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOU HAVEN'T GIVEN UP . . .

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I am a 35-year-old widow who has become involved in a situation that is rapidly making a nervous wreck of me.

My husband died about three years ago and, like all widows, I have been very despondent at times. Only the grace of God and the fact that I have three wonderful children who need me has given me reason to see why I should go on living.

Only a few months ago, I met a man who was married but two years older than myself and who quickly became very much interested in him, and he in me. He is a married man, but has been separated from his wife for some time, and that is the fact which has destroyed my hope of happiness and thrown me into such a nervous state.

The reason is this. I did not know that this man was married until six months after we had met and had been going out together. Then, all of a sudden, he told me one day, I told him that if this was the case, I would not see him any more, and I have kept to that decision. But just not seeing him doesn't keep me from thinking about him every hour of every day. I have got so that I can't eat or sleep, and the worst of it is that I have become very irritable with my children, which certainly isn't right.

Can you tell me what I should do? If I keep on this way, I am sure I will have a nervous breakdown, and then what will become of me and my children? — Mrs. W.

Dear Mrs. W.:

I think that there are two major reasons why you have got into such a serious nervous condition.

The first is that, like many other people, you have allowed yourself to go right on playing with a situation after making up your mind to leave it alone. You could hardly expect not to become nervously exhausted when you are constantly tearing your emotional energy to tatters by continual dwelling on something you have supposedly put behind you.

The basic trouble is, of course, that you have not really put it behind you. You had the courage of your convictions, and the strength of mind, to tell this married man you wouldn't see him any more, but you haven't been strong enough, or strong enough, to deny yourself the satisfaction of going to him in your thoughts. As a result of this division within yourself, you are being emotionally pulled in two directions at once-away from this man, in one way, and toward him in another.

The fact that you had the character to take the stand you did when you discovered he was married shows that you want to do right. But then you defeated a large part of your purpose by permitting yourself to do, in other ways, what you surely know is wrong.

It is wrong to indulge yourself in such wistful daydreams about this man that you are ruining your health. It is wrong to make your children victims of your bad physical condition and distracted state of mind. I don't need to tell you these things, for you already know them yourself. But to have some one else state them to you may emphasize them so that you will take steps to set them right.

And the second major reason for your nervously upset state grows out of the first one. That is, that in allowing yourself to act...and think as you are doing, you have shut yourself off from filling your life with things that, as time went on, would gradually get you back to normal by crowding out your abnormal brooding.

So here is what I think you should do. I think you should go to your doctor, tell him the whole story and ask his help in getting you back to better physical health. To talk the problem over with him will, also, I feel sure, start you on the road to better emotional health, since talking about that tears down emotional health faster than to go about such in a mire of solitary misery.

Then, begin looking about you for activities you can share with your friends, and with people who can become new friends. Force yourself to get busy outside your home, no matter how little you want it at first, to do so.

Finally, don't expect miracles to happen all at once. This program won't cure you overnight. But it will eventually, if you give it a real chance.

New Age in Metals in Quebec Spearheaded by Iron, Copper

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Quebec is entering on a new age of metals, an age already beckoned by new discoveries, new mining fields and towns, the expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars and the start of a flow of millions in return.

The new age is spearheaded by iron and copper but accompanied by discoveries or indications of many other minerals.

It is spearheaded, too, by roads and railways which are starting to open up what has been Canada's most inaccessible and least-known wilderness—the vast areas of New Quebec formerly known as Ungava.

A number of almost simultaneous developments put the new era under way.

A mighty iron range, partly in New Quebec and partly in Newfoundland's Labrador, was discovered and, to tap it, Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines Ltd. and the M. Hanna Company of Cleveland, through Iron Ore Company of Canada and other subsidiaries, spent more than $250,000,000.

They built a railway, completed in 1954, from Seven Islands on the north shore of the mouth of the St. Lawrence river to Knob Lake, 360 miles northward, and at Knob lake established the town of Schefferville with a present population of 2,500.

This immense development taps only the southern end of the known iron range which extends a further 430 miles northward to Hudson Strait, and other companies are active in its development.

In the meantime, 125 miles northeast of Seven Islands, what is believed to be the world's largest and richest known body of ilmenite, containing titanium, was discovered at Allard lake, 37 miles south from Havre St. Pierre on the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

JOINT DEVELOPMENT

Kennecott Copper Corporation and New Jersey Zinc Company undertook joint development. A 27-mile railway was built from Allard lake to Havre St. Pierre, and Quebec Iron and Titanium Corporation built a smelter to handle the ore at Sorel, mid-way between Trois-Rivieres and Montreal.

The smelter, handling about 300,000 tons of ore a year, now turns out iron and steel ingots and slag containing 70 per cent titanium oxide.

This titanium product now is used largely for paint pigments, but if an economical way to make titanium metal is established—it is said that demand for the metal would be almost unlimited.

While iron and titanium were developing north of the St. Lawrence, copper took the spotlight on the south side. A 67,000,000-ton deposit was established in Needle mountain in the Gaspe peninsula's interior. Gaspe Copper Mines Ltd., subsidiary of Noranda Mines Ltd., spent some $40,000,000 to develop it, built the town of Murdochville, and went into production last April.

CHIBOUGAMAU MINES

Meanwhile, off towards the other side of Quebec, the mining area of Chibougamau, really a northeast extension of Quebec's western mining fields, was established.

In 1949 Quebec's department of mines completed a 150-mile highway connecting the then isolated Chibougamau with St. Felicien to the east. Since then two copper-gold properties have gone into production, a gold-copper property is scheduled to go into production this fall, several companies have advanced progress and about 100 companies are interested in one way or another.

Canadian National Railways now is building a 138-mile railway into Chibougamau from Beattyville to the southwest and extending it another 123 miles to St. Felicien in the east, thus tying Chibougamau into Canada's railway transportation at two points.

In Laverlochere township of northwestern Quebec lithium has been discovered and Quebec Lithium Mines has built a plant and had a contract with Lithium Corporation of America. Other companies also have programs.

Lithium is a very light metal and is used in H-bomb production, but has many other possibilities.

ACTIVITY AT OKA

In the Oka district, near Montreal, Kennecott Copper Corporation and Molybdenum Corporation of America have announced plans for development of a columbium-tantalum ore deposit.

In the Eastern Townships of southern Quebec, sometimes known as the cradle of copper mining in Canada, mining of copper, silver, zinc and gold has been resumed.

These are some of the developments on a Quebec mining map which shows possible mineral resources almost everywhere if the geologist and prospector can uncover them in paying quantities.

A word of caution: such widespread developments include not only mineral enterprises and the legitimate risk which accompanies most mining ventures, but generally are also attended by get-rich-quick promotions. For the investor or the old adage applies: "Investigate before you invest."

Quebec's metal history in some form is as old as herself. In a modern sense, however, the province's first metal ore to be sold to have started with the opening of the Rouyn-Noranda and adjacent areas of western Quebec—with production of copper, gold, zinc, lead, silver and other minerals.

REMARKABLE GROWTH

A glance at figures over 50 years, even though unadjusted for price changes, indicates the quickening pace. In 1904 mineral production was $3,023,566; 1914 $11,792,782; 1924 $18,852,986; 1934 $31,310,752; 1944 $80,196,739; 1954 $273,530,000.

The 1954 figures include only the start of iron ore production and no copper production from Gaspe and Chibougamau, and it is predicted that production will increase by 50 per cent in the next five years and top $400,000,000 by 1960.

For much of this century Quebec's metals played only a minor role, and industrial minerals, mainly asbestos, and building materials, such as cement, accounted for the bulk of production.

In 1954 metals provided less than two per cent of the total but by 1954 they were approaching the 50 per cent mark, with 1954's production divided as follows by percentages:

Metals 45.81 per cent, including copper 17.46, gold 13.54, zinc 8.13, silver 1.54, lead .82, others 3.25; industrial minerals 34.45 per cent, including asbestos 28.97, others 5.68; and building materials 19.74, including cement 6.97, building stones 4.36, clay products 2.95, others 5.44.

Totals were: metals $126,212,507; industrial minerals $94,919,614; building materials $54,417,879.

Total Canadian mineral production in 1954 was $1,454,000,000, including oil.

1910 FIGURES

In 1910 production of industrial minerals, mainly asbestos, was only $2,861,833 and building materials $4,302,781—big even then in comparison with $126,987,000 in 1954.

The various companies of the asbestos industry, occupying a 50-mile triangle in the eastern Townships of southern Quebec, are embarked on a $75,000,000 expansion program which includes a new mines, the relocation of old towns and the draining of a lake.

A word on Quebec's mineral production aluminum is not included because the ore, bauxite, is imported, but Aluminum Company of Canada Ltd. produces 300,000 tons of aluminum yearly in four smelters at Arvida, Ile Maligne, Shawinigan and Beauharnois.

Quebec, covering 594,534 square miles, is Canada's largest province. Nine-tenths of it is covered by the Canadian shield of pre-Cambrian rock and its most northern third of the shield, which is provincially the Canadian Ungava, is one house.

The shield portion of the province, or 83 per cent of all Quebec, is called the Laurentian plateau. The other geological areas are the St. Lawrence lowlands, covering two per cent of the province along the St. Lawrence from east of Montreal to Quebec, and the Appalachian region, occupying 15 per cent of the province and covering most of the area south of the St. Lawrence, including the Gaspe peninsula.

"This is the mine plant of Campbell Chibougamau Mining Co. Ltd. which has spent $10,000,000 developing a mine in Quebec's Chibougamau region where vast deposits of copper and gold and other metals have been found. Campbell Chibougamau is the biggest company in the area where about 150 mining companies have interests."
(CP Photo)

A map of Quebec mineral wealth shows possible mineral resources almost everywhere in the province. This map shows some of the high spots. A mighty iron range, lying partly in what now is known as New Quebec and partly in Newfoundland's Labrador, runs northward from Schefferville, Que., almost to the shores of Ungava Bay. Just inland from the shore-to-be the world's largest ilmenite deposit, source of titanium oxide for white pigments and titanium metal for uses yet unpaid. Asbestos is found in the Asbestos Thetford Mines area of the province's Eastern Townships. Quebec's oldest metal-mining region is in the Rouyn-Noranda area, a northwest extension of the western mining fields, was opened in 1949 and is producing gold and copper. Another new area is near Murdochville in Gaspe peninsula where a 67,000,000-ton copper deposit has been uncovered.

Russians Will Visit Large Dairy Farm

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The 12 Soviet farm experts are to visit a large local dairy farm today but perhaps their thoughts may be elsewhere; at a meeting between Russia's farm boss and Canada's top diplomat.

External Affairs Minister Pearson has invited delegation leader Vladimir Matskevich to lunch today and external affairs officials said the events of the delegation's 4,000-mile Canadian tour will undoubtedly be reviewed. The feelings of the Russians have been ruffled by anti-Red demonstrations in three cities.

They also had to cancel a two-day trip to a fourth, Toronto, because of fear of further demonstrations and because city officials had issued no official invitation to them.

Mr. Pearson, returning to his office Tuesday after a two-week tour of western Canada, planned the lunch first as a means of discussing his forthcoming Soviet trip with Russian Ambassador Dmitri Chuvahin.

DED COMPANY

But he later decided to ring in Mr. Matskevich and S. J. Cragg, assistant deputy minister of agriculture, who was in charge of the farm experts tour. Also at the luncheon will be John Watkins, Canada's ambassador to the Soviet, who is here to advise Mr. Pearson on his Iron Curtain trip Sept. 30.

The Russians are in Ottawa as a wind-up to a scheduled 16-day tour. Originally they were to spend only the last three days in Ottawa but this was stretched into five when Toronto was by - passed. And federal officials appear to have a little difficulty finding enough activities to keep the Russians busy.

Tuesday the Soviet men started out on a leisurely tour of the government's 1,100-acre Central Experimental Farm under the guidance of Dr. C. H. Goulden, farm director.

Mr. Matskevich seemed a little ed. Before the morning was he informed Dr. Goulden he had an appointment and left. He did not return. The delegates later were split up into smaller groups to study the farm's specialty fields: livestock, cereals, corn, machinery and other activities.

The commercial dairy farm the Russians are to see today is large and efficient but probably is not much different from similar farms in other areas of Canada and the United States.

STEP UP CAMPAIGN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia and its European satellites are reported stepping up a co-ordinated campaign to persuade refugees now living in the west to return to their Communist homelands. Diplomatic officials estimated Sunday that several hundred persons have responded to the plees.

You owe it to yourself to try Kellogg's All-Bran and milk as an aid to health and regularity. All-Bran corrects the cause of irregularity due to insufficient bulk. (Chemical or drug-type laxatives are intended only for overnight relief of a temporary stoppage.)

All-Bran and milk is a wholesome, good-tasting dish—a safe, natural way to improve "intestinal tone"—so essential to comfortable elimination. All-Bran, made from the outer layers of wheat, contains natural food bulk. It is also an excellent source of niacin (necessary for normal body functioning.)

There is only one All-Bran, Kellogg's. Famous for nearly 40 years as the original natural laxative cereal. It is milled for maximum effectiveness. We'll prove to you that All-Bran with milk will give gentle relief from constipation within 10 days or double your money back. Kellogg's, London, Ontario.

Marine Captain Had No Trouble With Question

NEW YORK (AP)—A crew-cut U.S. marine captain with a shy grin Tuesday night won $32,000 on a television quiz show by trotting out his encyclopaedic knowledge of food and cooking.

Tall, handsome Capt. Richard McCutchen of Worthington, Ohio, knocked off a complicated three part question about fancy desserts —what they're made of and where they originated.

Thus he qualified for a try next week at $64,000, top prize on the CBS TV show "The $64,000 Question." If he chooses, he can take his $32,000 and quit. If he tries and misses, he loses all but a consolation prize of an expensive automobile.

No contestant on the show has yet tried for $64,000. Two have won $32,000 and stopped there.

NO TROUBLE

McCutchen apparently had no trouble with the $32,000 question. He was asked about these five desserts—bombe, zabaglione, stycook, dummery and pfeffernuss.

Out came the answers: Bombe originated in France, is an ice cream dish; Zabaglione, Italy, a sauce made of egg yolks, sugar, and wine; Glycook, a fried cake forerunner of the doughnut, Dutch-American; Dummery, originally from Wales, a custard-like dessert with fruit juice; pfeffernuss, German, a traditional Christmas cookie, made from flour and various spices.

An earlier contestant, Mrs. Myrtle Power of Buford, Ga., won $8,000 by answering questions on baseball. The grey - haired, bespectacled, mother said she had been watching the game since 1895.

For $8,000, Mrs. Power correctly named the last four years St. Louis Cardinals won the national league pennant—1942, 1943, 1944, and 1946.

Immediate Help Needed to Aid Unemployed

NORTH BAY (CP)—Immediate government assistance to care for employable unemployed persons in Ontario municipalities will be sought by the Ontario Municipal Association, its convention decided Tuesday.

Several medium-sized municipalities discussed the burden placed on their councils by blocks of unskilled labor left behind when large hydro or other construction jobs were completed.

A resolution prepared asked that the governments assume full responsibility for the maintenance of such employable unemployeds, that there be a public works program, that the unemployment insurance act be broadened to embrace more occupations and that the municipalities be relieved of the administration and distribution of direct aid to employable unemployeds.

Seaway Project Will Reduce Shipment Costs

EDMONTON (CP)—Hon. Lionel Chevrier, president of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, Tuesday told a Canadian Club audience the St. Lawrence seaway project will reduce grain shipment costs.

The advent of the St. Lawrence seaway will reduce shipment costs through the elimination of transfer of cargo and reduction in rates for the span now covered by rail or shallow draft canals," the former transport minister said.

Mr. Chevrier said lake carriers now carry grain on two routes, both requiring trans-shipment.

Vessels from the Lakehead ship grain either to Georgian bay ports from which it is moved by rail to lower St. Lawrence or Maritime ports, or to Sarnia, Ont., Lake Erie, and Lake Ontario ports from where it is carried by smaller canal vessels via 14-foot canals to St. Lawrence ports.

"The seaway will not completely obviate the need for transshipment," he said. Absence of navigation in the winter would necessitate rail shipments but the seaway's increased capacity would divert the spring and fall movement now carried by rail.

Vessels carrying Labrador iron ore from the lower St. Lawrence to Great Lakes ports would be able to carry grain on their return trips.

"This reduction in rates will be substantial, especially in view of the fact that the Labrador iron ore carriers will provide a large volume of bulk capacity on their return trip to the loading and transfer docks on the lower St. Lawrence," he said.

"Whether these savings will be translated into increased profit per bushel for the farmer or lower prices on export markets is still an undecided factor.

"Whatever way the question is settled, the outcome will be beneficial to the grower as he will receive more profit per bushel or sell more bushels at a stated profit."

The statements were included in the text of a speech issued to the press before delivery.

Frantic American Loop Race Spins Into Stretch Run, Top Managers Wary

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By "Spectator-Player"

Dick Payne, the erudite editor of this newspaper, guest-columned on one particular occasion, August 24, while Mr. Carver was "vacationing". Now Mr. Payne is a very fine fellow, a fine editorial writer, and an excellent desk man. He has a lovely wife and daughter, too. They tell me he plays a right fairly fair game of chess. After reading Mr. Payne's column we must of necessity toss the gauntlet and challenge him to non-fiery columnar combat. It may be "... there are signs that team sports are not so hardy. If the present trend continues, they are going to be coddled to death in a couple of generations.

Come, come, Richard, we are going to answer you piece-meal. And my life insurance is paid up. If you read the sports pages of the past few years, you would note that hockey, lacrosse, football, and baseball have proven more rugged than ever before in history. We cannot imagine athletes like "Rocket" Richard and the rest of the National League Thumpers, Leo Durocher and his major league "fire brigade," Lou Groza, Doak Walker, or the big Canadian Rugby Union stalwarts Ian Sinclair-Walker, or the big "coddling" that will result in expiry in two generations.

Payne may have some grounds for his coddling remark as to athletic boxing. Simply because of the names there are so distinctly few "name" fighters left with the exception of Marciano. But as poor as they are as compared to earlier greats, the present crop of beak-busters is far from the coddling type, nor is it instituting an involuntary movement to skid the sport into this category.

Baseball, while not the body-impact style of sport, has reached a peak of effectiveness high in the history of the game. If Mr. Payne thinks that terrific stretch run of the National League, the heroic effort of the Nationals to catch the flying Dodgers is a symbol of future coddle-death, then Marilyn Monroe is a Notre Dame Cathedral gargoyle.

Hockey is the sports heritage of the Canadian youngster. Most of them, figuratively speaking, are born with a hockey-stick in their hands. Mr. Payne remarks later in his column, "Players are getting fewer." If he could see, as we have seen, hundreds of times, some 500 stick-and-puck-armed moppets clamoring for entrance to Memorial Arena on winter morning-ings, he might have a different opinion. The same applies to other sports, such as softball and basketball by figures published by recreation director "Red" Doran are ample evidence there will be no lack of players in the future.

Mr. Payne deplores the passing of the corner lot and vacant lots. He says "the streets are the very place where team sports derive their strength." As brilliant as the old timers in all phases of sport are claimed to have been, there were fewer of them than the number of topnotch athletes of today. And it would have been a sad thing for Canada if top-flight teams relied on the "streets for their strength." It would have been a sadder thing if such outstanding sports organizations as the O.B.A., OHA, OSAA, OARA, OFU and other notable aggregations which organize and foster minor athletes, had not come into being.

"As for "street strength", go anywhere in Belleville in summer and you will find kids playing ball wherever they can on the nights they are not playing in organized leagues. Or on one half practices with his BMHA Squirt Canadiens on a homemade rink prior to Saturday games. Yes, Mr. Payne —kids do play that way — and they love it.

He adds, "More and more youngsters are turning to individual sports, to tennis and sailing." Not does not, perhaps, occur to the writer that these are preferred sports. Because I do not like horseradish does not mean I have to eat it. As far as youngsters turning to sailing and tennis — what happened to the Hastings Ski Club? Or the Quinte Tennis League, has not, I believe, a waiting list of juvenile or other minor players. If Mr. Payne's "street strength" belief is true, had they not better start building city runs and tennis courts on vacant lots?

Payne goes on " . . . the only spectator worth a hoot is the man or woman who would sooner be doing something else — playing the game than watching it . . . the man who has played the game is not so ready to boo and so reluctant to say that first proposal applies to patrons of one sport only —wrestling. You should watch a pachyderm hassle some night.

The life and blood of sport are its rinkside referees, bleacher umpires, armchair quarterbacks. It does not matter at all if they have played the game or not, they still think they know what's what. Long may they live.

And we further disagree with Mr. Payne in his statement "Rules . . . ought to be altered to make the game more interesting to play, not more interesting to watch."

We agree in part, a small one, that some changes could be made in present day rules. But prithee, Richard, what is wrong with the modern set-up? Thousands attend pro-hockey and pro-football games, regardless of what the rules are. And they would keep on attending them no matter what changes. We cannot see topflight pro teams blowing their tops because of a rule to make the game more interesting to play. Sport is interesting enough as is — and a helluva long way from being "coddled to death."

All Believe Road Will Be Rough 'Through Lane' But Think Their Team Can Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Warp, but confident. That's the way four guys named Lopez, Stengel, Marion and Higgins called their shots as the frantic American League race spun into the stretch run today.

Manager Al Lopez, whose Cleveland Indians open their final eastern loop tonight at Baltimore, figured "it'll be rough, but I feel sure we'll still be in first place when we get back home."

He said his Tribe would win a second straight flag away back last spring. He still thought so on July 2 when they were eight games out. Now, with a half-game lead, he's more confident than ever.

Casey Stengel, knocked off a run of five straight pennants by Lopez in '54, is a little more cautious, but he's not giving ground. With his New York Yankees in second place due to meet Chicago and Cleveland this weekend, Ol' Case allows as how "this here race has got down to a day-by-day proposition and I got my pitching lined up pretty good. But if I have to use one of my starters in relief I'll have to go another way."

LEAST SAID

Possibly the least exuberant of the four contending managers is Harry Walker of the Washington Senators. He says he'll be happy if his pitchers get straight. Yet Marty, too, was still in the pitching act as he moved to Washington for two games.

"At least we've had a day off," said Marty, "and we'll get a couple bounce good after a little rest."

The Yanks are sure to have plenty of bounce on this trip. After Washington, they hit the Yanks for two Friday night games, then play a Sunday doubleheader at Boston. Then it's back to doubleheaders in two days at Baltimore.

Mike (Pinky) Higgins of Boston's Red Sox pulled everything neatly in focus. "Anything can happen," said he. "Our bullpen got straightened out against Washington and we're in a good spot."

The Red Sox straightened out against Washington, too. By sweeping the Labor Day twinbill behind Frank Sullivan from the staff, the Boston ran their latest winning spurt to five games and got back into the pennant picture, pulling to within three games of the top.

World Series Will Start On September 28

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1955 world series will start Wednesday, Sept. 28, in the American League city, unless a playoff is needed to settle the junior circuit's four-team race.

At a meeting of representatives of the contending teams in the offices of baseball commissioner Ford Frick, plans for the series were decided as well as dates and ticket prices.

Five American League clubs and Brooklyn and Milwaukee from the National League were represented at the meeting. Since at least four clubs are still in the running for the American League flag, the start of the world series could not definitely be set.

If a playoff is required the series will start Thursday, Sept. 29. Playoff arrangements will be made by the American League at a meeting to be held in Chicago next Tuesday, Sept. 13.

TOSS COIN

Present rules provide for a one-game playoff, if two clubs are tied at the season's end Sept. 25. A coin will be tossed to fix the site of the playoff if two clubs tie.

If more than two clubs are tied the coin-tossing would determine pairings as well. Games one and two of the world series will be held in the American League champions' park, three, four and five in Ebbets Field, assuming Brooklyn wins in the National League, 6 and 7, if necessary, in the American League city.

World series tickets will cost the same as last year; box seats $10, reserved seats $7, standing room in the grandstand $4, and bleachers $2.

Roberts, Gromek 'Gopher' Ball Leaders in Loops

NEW YORK (AP) — Philadelphia's Robin Roberts and Steve Gromek of Detroit Tigers, the gopher ball leaders of the major leagues in 1954, are up to their old grooving habits again this season. Roberts, who allowed 35 home runs a year ago, already has been belted for 35 round-trippers to top the National League. Gromek has given up the most home runs in the American League, 30, after being tagged for 26 during the 1954 campaign.

Warren Hacker of the Chicago Cubs is giving Roberts stiff competition in the gopher department, having grooved 34 home run servos.

It must be noted, however, that Roberts has pitched 276 innings, the most of any pitcher in the majors. On the other hand, Hacker has worked 203 innings, an equivalent of eight fewer nine-inning games.

Slicing ever bother you? Then study today's picture. It may have the answer you want.

If you slice the chances are almost 100 to 1 that you are coming at the ball from the "outside-in," across the line of flight.

Concentrate on developing an "inside-out" swing. This will give you a ball with a slight hook and plenty of roll after it lands.

To make sure of getting this right-hand action, you must make sure you take the clubhead away from the ball along, or even slightly inside, the line of flight, for a number of ft. The importance of this is that a golfer tends to swing his club back to the ball on the same groove, he took in his backswing.

Then, when you start your downswing, start your hands straight down slowly, without uncocking your wrists, and concentrate on keeping the right elbow in close to your body. Your hip and shoulder turn will carry the clubhead out and around in the prescribed arc.

Finally, when your hands get down to about hip level you release all of the energy stored up in your cocked wrists and bring the clubhead into the ball from "inside-out" with maximum power. You can see all this in today's picture.

Wilmer Fields Puts Merchants Back in Fight

OSHAWA (CP) — Oshawa Merchants' playing-manager Roy Lefevre came up with a pitcher who was able to subdue the booming bats of St. Thomas Elgins Tuesday night.

Wilmer Fields went all the way as Merchants won a 5-4 thriller to give them their first victory in the best - of - seven Senior International Baseball League finals. St. Thomas leads the series 2-1.

After Elgins had posted 15 and 16 hits in the first and second games of the series, Lefevre decided to go along with Fields, who, although normally an outfielder, had pitched a few games during the season.

Going into the end of the eighth inning it didn't look as though Merchants were going to win the game. They were down 4-1 and a three-run rally tied the count and the winning run scored in the ninth.

OPENED SCORING

Elgins opened the scoring in the fourth with a run and added another single counter in the sixth before Oshawa scored a run in the seventh. Elgins added a 41 single in eighth with a pair of runs.

Merchants put together a two-walks, a double and two singles for their three runs in the eighth for Cec Hall scored the winner in the final inning with one out when third baseman Ted O'Connor singled and Bill Jones drove into rightfield sending Hall home from second.

Merchants got to Elgins seven hits and spanked the three-run rally with a double, The clean-up batter Bowie Merchants first run of the game with a sacrifice fly. It was his first game of the season.

Gene Florczyk started on the mound for St. Thomas and held the Merchants to two singles—both by catcher Rollie Leveille—during the first five innings.

The series moves to St. Thomas for the fifth game Friday night and back to Oshawa Thursday night.

Moore's Manager Wants Big Bell For Title Fight

NORTH ADAMS, Mass. (AP)—Manager Charley Johnston said Tuesday he is going to demand a bell that can be heard all over Yankee Stadium, on Sept. 29 when Rocky Marciano defends his heavyweight crown against light heavyweight champion Archie Moore.

Johnston, manager of Moore, said also he was going to ask commissioner Ford Frick of baseball to have the bell tried out the night before the fight.

"I don't know if Marciano is deaf," said Johnston in a discussion of the heavyweight championship's fighting tactics, "but he has a tendency to hit after the bell and has done it in many of his fights.

"He always claims he does not hear the bell. Well, in this fight, I don't want any doubt. I want a big loud bell, one I can hear even if they have to get the gong off a fire engine."

TO REPRESENT CANADA

INDIAN HEAD, Sask. (CP)—James Robertson, Canadian commissioner for the National Baseball Congress, announced Tuesday that the winners of the Canadian Legion baseball playoffs will be the champions of the Canadian National Baseball Congress. Commissioner Robison said that the Canadian champions will represent Canada in world series of semi-professional baseball starting Sept. 23 in Milwaukee.

Toronto Leafs Meet Havana In First Round of Playdowns

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Toronto Maple Leafs, claiming they were "cheated" out of the pennant, hooked up with Montreal Rochester and Havana today in the opening round of the International League playoffs.

Toronto owner Jack Kent Cooke blasted the rhubarb on the eve of the Governor's Cup series. He and other officials charged the Rochester Red Wings with deliberately using second-string pitchers in their scheduled doubleheader with Montreal Labor Day as a result, the Royals swept the twinbill and the pennant—by a half game over the Leafs.

Cooke charged the Red Wings already assured of a playoff berth had pitched relievers in starting roles against the Royals so as to save up their front line staff for the playoffs.

"If they (the Wings) had tried to win even one game the outcome might have been different and our fans wouldn't have been cheated," Cooke said. "More than 21,000 came out to root us home and there's no escaping it, they did their job and cheated."

AT MONTREAL

The Red Wings meet the Royals at Montreal today in one of the two best-of-seven semi-finals. Rochester has named Duke Markell (13-13) to face Pete Wojey (12-6). Markell's last appearance was last Thursday.

Toronto opens at home against the Cuban Sugar Kings, with either Hershel Martin (18-9) or Jerry Lehrer (14-10) to oppose Hisana's Pat Scantlebury (13-10).

The Leafs protested the Rochester pitching choices to league president Frank Shaughnessy, but while both Cooke and Shaughnessy agreed the Red Wings should have thrown their best at Montreal, both admitted there wasn't much they could do about it.

Shaughnessy rebuked Rochester manager Dixie Walker, but added "it is up to the manager to decide on his pitcher."

Toronto also swept its Labor Day twinbill, but couldn't make up the half-game deficit which grew out of a cancellation.

FOR THREE GAMES

Toronto plays host to Havana for the first three games today, Thursday and Friday. Saturday has been set aside for travel to Havana, where the remainder of the series will be played, starting Sunday afternoon at Montreal today and Thursday with Friday an open date. The teams will resume their battle Saturday and Sunday at Rochester. A fifth game, if necessary, will be played at Rochester Monday and if the series still is not decided the series will move back to Montreal on dates to be announced later.

The league announced a $30,000 playoff pool, equalling the largest cash distribution in the loop's history. The Royals split $10,000 as the pennant winners. The playoff winners also divide $10,000, with the runnerup sharing $5,000. The two clubs eliminated in the semi-finals will split $2,500 each.

Shaughnessy confirmed comments attributed to him by George Beahon, sports writer for the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle, who quoted Shaughnessy as saying that in his opinion Walker's use of second-line pitching talent "hurt baseball." Walker used Bob Kelly in the first game and Ed Ludwig in the second.

"He should have used first-line pitchers because the pennant was at stake," said Shaughnessy.

COOKE COMMENT

"Shag sympathized with us, but pointed out there is nothing he could do," Cooke said. "I can see that . . . the president can't step in and overrule the manager of not starting his pitchers in accord with the selection of a man named Shaughnessy and another man named Cooke."

The Leaf owner said also that "this whole episode shows the weakness of the Shaughnessy playoffs."

"The contract of every player and official contains the principle that Week will go his utmost to win each and every game. That there should be no holding back for playoffs. After all, the second championship is the big thing; the playoffs are merely a bauble, an appendage to prolong the interest."

Peterborough Trailermen Head West on Saturday Hoping To Win Fifth Lacrosse Title

By CEC PERDUE
Canadian Press Correspondent

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—Peterborough Trailermen, a smooth-working band of seasoned veterans and husky youth, head west Saturday hoping to win their fifth Canadian senior lacrosse crown.

Trailermen again meet Victoria Shamrocks in the best-of-five final, the first game scheduled for Monday. Peterborough defeated Shamrocks 6-1 in games in the cup finals last September in Peterborough.

Because the team carries a light roster, most of the players have worked steadily this season and are reported in top shape.

Trailermen gained a berth in the Canadian final by eliminating the Catharines Athletics in the Ontario Lacrosse Association semi - final and Fergus Thistles in the final. They won four straight games in both series.

LOST ONLY FIVE

They lost only five of 24 regular association games and ended the season 10 points up on second-place Fergus.

The club has in Lloyd (Moon) Wootton one of the best goalies in Canada. He was a member of five victorious Minto Cup teams. He was in the high-scoring lineup four times with Peterborough and once with Orillia Terriers.

Best score in the Trailermen's lineup this season was Bobby Allan, 24, a homebrew centre, with 67 goals and 41 assists. Another hometown youth, Bob Curtis, was third with 75 points.

PERSONNEL NOTES

Because of summer vacations and some injuries, Trailermen often had only six regulars and several juveniles on certain home games. The team is experienced and fast but a little light compared to most senior clubs.

The defence lineup includes lanky Harry Wipper, with five years; Lou Nickle, with trailermen for his third year; Bev Grover, serving his first full season with the club; and Carl Brioux, a former local junior. Husky defenceman Tony Damico of Fergus Thistles will join the team for the trip to Victoria.

Veteran Bob Thorpe, former playing coach, will be on the wing in one forward line with Hilderbrand on left wing and Curly Allan at centre. The other line has Allan at centre, Curtis and young Rock Bentley on the wings.

Watson, Flanagan Meet Vons In Team Bout

Walter Gerow, manager of the Belleville Memorial Arena, has announced a top notch card for the weekly wrestling match here this Friday night at 8.45 p.m.

The main bout will be a two-falls-of-three tag team bout with Whipper Billy Watson and Pat Flanagan of Toronto tangling with the German team of Karl Von Schober and Fritz Von Erich. The Watson-Flanagan combination has always been a popular one here and nothing would please the fans more than to see them subdue the hated Vons.

Two other bouts will precede the main attraction. In the semi-windup, Bob Leitler, a new comer who made his debut here last week, will test his speed and science against Doc Gallagher, a villain of the first water. The opener sees Sandy Scott, a Hamilton hero, go against the king size Firpo "The Polish" Zbysko.

Pastel Painting Given Sugarfoot For Achievements

CALGARY (CP)—Former football star Sugarfoot Anderson received a pastel painting of himself from Prime Minister St. Laurent Tuesday in commemoration of his sports achievements.

The big Negro with the huge hands, formerly an end with Calgary Stampeders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, was all but speechless before, a crowd of 3,000 as Calgary paid tribute to his sportsmanship. He was among a number of other Calgarians noted in the world of sport who received scrolls from the prime minister. The old "Sugar" went the paintling.

Anderson received an ovation from the crowd as he said halting thanks for the gift. To the people of Calgary he said:

"You've been wonderful to me. God bless you all."

Hunt for Tuna Off Nova Scotia Coast Starts

WEDGEPORT, N. S. (CP)—With the first hint of dawn the sturdy Cape Island tuna boats moved out into the Atlantic today for the start of the 12th International tuna tournament.

Seven teams representing 13 countries are taking part in the three-day hunt for the lightning-fast bluefin that come to the waters off Nova Scotia each fall.

The teams are from Mexico, Argentina, Chile, the British Commonwealth, Cuba, United States and Venezuela.

Mexico won the tournament the last two years.

France dropped out this year due to difficulty in making the trip to Nova Scotia, while Chile, forced to pass up the 1954 tournament, is back this year.

Highlighted as one of the top individual sports meetings of the year, the international tuna meet this year may be doomed to go down as the worst in history unless the fish start biting. Tuesday, the final practice day, saw the veteran anglers from all parts of the globe fail to even get a nibble.

Deacon Quakers Oust Cobourg

Deacon Quakers, Belleville representative in the OBA pee wee playdowns, whipped Cobourg 13-1 on Saturday to take their two-of-three series in two straight games. They defeated Cobourg 13-10 in the first game last Wednesday.

Deacon's won on Saturday behind the neat two-hit hurling of Bill Hutchison after Dale Archer had won the first game, allowing 10 safeties. Hutchford walked three.

Cobourg used six pitchers in an attempt to stop the Belleville lads who plated six runs in the first frame and added in every inning. Fifteen walks and eight errors aided the winners greatly while they collected eight hits. The winners bobbled twice.

Graydon Scott and Larry Mavety collected the only extra-base hits of the fixture, each hammering a two-bagger. In last Wednesday's battle, Ted Hook and Larry Mavety led the attack with triples.

HOMER WINS GAME

WOODSTOCK (CP)—Bob Reid's three-run homer in the 12th inning gave Windsor St. Annes a 6-3 victory over Woodstock in the third and deciding game of the junior O ASA playoffs here Tuesday night.

Seabrookes Eliminate Point Anne With Hard Fought 4-2 Victory

By GARRY ALEXANDER

A ninth-laning rally fell short in Peterborough Tuesday night as the Point Anne Centennials bowed out of OASA intermediate "A" playdowns, dropping a hard-fought 4-2 decision to Peterborough Seabrooke Motors.

A two-run homer in the third inning put Peterborough in the lead to stay. The Centennials got one back in the fourth but the winners sent two more home in the sixth. Point Anne closed the scoring in the ninth and had two more on base with only one out but a pair of short flies closed the door.

Both teams came up with some excellent fielding plays and received fine pitching from Pat Maracle and Jim Driscoll, both going the route. The game was errorless and Gilmour gave exciting at third base for Point Anne.

Driscoll, who went into the game of the series, allowed seven hits while fanning two, walking three and hitting one batter. He scattered the hits well, not giving up two in a row, losing until the ninth, and most of them coming with two out.

The veteran Maracle was touched for six safeties, three for extra bases. Seabrooke's got two hits in each of the frames which they scored in. Maracle nipped eight on strikes and had his curve and drop working well all the way, while passing only two.

Each team collected single hits in the first two frames but were unable to score until the third. Two were out when Jim McGrath beat out an infield single and "Speed" Curry promptly lifted a Maracle slant high over the right field fence, giving his team a 2-0 margin.

HULL HOMERS

Bobby Hull got one back for the Ox-Polnters in the fourth when, also with two out, he lined a terrific drive over the deep left field screen. Driscoll was in control from then until the ninth although a walk to Mallory and Goyer's drag bunt single down the third base line put a gulp in to the eighth.

Peterborough went in front 4-1 in the sixth. Curry again was the hero, dropping a triple to right centre with Mallory and Hull both missing the ball by inches near the fence. The Centennials' infield came in to cut off the run at the plate but "Red" Sullivan blooped a double to short centre for one run. Spencer followed with a sacrifice and Scrivez's infield out made it 4-1.

Maracle retired the last nine men he faced in order, while his mates tried desperately to get him some more runs in the ninth.

John Green, Maracle's battery mate, lined a single to left to open the do-or-die frame and Phil Bennett drew a base-on-balls. Jake Walls popped-up while attempting to bunt, but was called out, when Sullivan dropped the ball on the infield fly rule. The runners advanced on the play and Maracle drove in Green with a single through the box, Bennett holding at third base. Jack Elliott then popped to the shortstop and Pat Gilmour filed to left field for the game-ending out.

LEADS ATTACK

"Speed" Curry, who paced the winner's attack all through the series, again led the way with his home run and triple, the key hits of the game. Jim McGrath had a pair of infield singles, Sullivan a double and Bob Wyatt a single.

Bobby Hull was best for the loser's, hammering a homer and single. The other singles went to Pat Gilmour, Gerry Goyer, John Jensen, Jake Wade and Pat Maracle.

Errors:

Point Anne: Elliott lf, Gilmour 3b, Mallory rf, Goyer 2b, Hull cf, Green c, Bennett 1b, Wade ss, Maracle p.

Peterborough: Thompson ss, McGrath rf, Curry 2b, Sullivan 1b, Spencer lf, Scrivez c, Wyatt lf, Jensen cf, Driscoll p.

Umpires: D. Little (P) and G. March (B), both of Oshawa. Time: 1.17.

Shoulder Out, Big Tackle Lost to Ticats

HAMILTON (CP)—Ed Clemens, 230-pound tackle from Dayton University, will be lost to the Tiger-Cats for at least two weeks, and possibly a month, because of a dislocated shoulder suffered in the Hamilton-Toronto Big Four game here Monday.

Clemens, who received the injury when he tackled Bucky Curtis on a pass play, probably will be placed on the disabled list so that Hamilton can keep him without listing his name with the 10 imports who will be declared Friday.

DISMISSES APPLICATION

TORONTO (CP) — Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of Ontario Tuesday dismissed an application by Detroit Football Club to have its suit against Toronto Argonauts moved up on the court lists. The Detroit club, suing Argos over the signing of Tom Dublinski, has asked the chief justice to hear its case as soon as possible.

Leafs Place Four Players On All-Star Squad

MONTREAL (CP)—Rocky Nelson, Montreal Royals' power-hitting first baseman, was the only player chosen unanimously to the International League's all. - star team, released Tuesday.

Nelson led a three-man contingent from the pennant-winning Royals. Toronto Maple Leafs placed four members on the squad while Buffalo Bisons, Columbus Jets, Havana Sugar Kings and Rochester Red Wings each placed one man. The 1111 - man team included two pitchers and a manager.

Here is the result of the voting, announced by the loop's Baseball Writers' Association on the basis of choices by 36 writers.

First base, Rocky Nelson, Montreal; second base, Spook Jacobs, Columbus; third base, Steve Demeter, Buffalo; shortstop, Hector Rodriguez, Toronto; outfielders, Archie Wilson, Toronto; Gino Cimoli, Montreal, and Jack Brandt, Rochester; catcher, Lew Burdette, Toronto; righthanded pitcher, Jack Crimian, Toronto; lefthanded pitcher, Ken Lehman, Montreal; manager, Reggie Otero, Havana.

Beside getting the fourth appearance on the all-star squad, Nelson led the league in batting, with .364; home runs, 37, and runs batted in, 128. Last week he became the first athlete ever to be designated the league's "most valuable player" for the second time.

WILL TRY SWIM

WINDSOR (CP)—Ray Muench, Windsor's 24 - year - old backstroke swimming star, said Tuesday night he will try to swim Lake Erie Sept. 15, or on the first clear day after that date. He plans to enter the water near Toledo, O., and swim the 36 miles across the lake to Leamington.

Last month he swam 18 miles from Pelee Islands to Kingsville, Ont., in just under 22 hours.

GETS EHL FRANCHISE

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia Tuesday was granted a franchise in the Eastern Hockey League for the 1955-56 season.

Philadelphia will join Clinton, N. Y.; Johnstown, Pa.; Washington, D. C.; Baltimore and New Haven in the EHL.

WILL MISS ACTION

OTTAWA (CP)—Dick Barwegan, outstanding Rough Rider linebacker, will miss Saturday's Big Four football action when the Ottawa team travels to Hamilton to take on the Tiger-Cats, club physician Andy Davies said Tuesday night.

Barwegan had his knee wrenched in the second quarter of Monday's game here with Montreal.

Johnny Metras Three Deep In Backfielders

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Johnny Metras, coach of the University of Western Ontario football squad, appears to have a backfield problem. But it's a situation that any other football coach wouldn't mind having.

It's a case of what to do with all the material on hand. The Mustangs at present are at least three deep in every spot in the backfield and there is a wide-open battle for practically every spot.

Most firmly entrenched are fullback Ralph Simmons of Toronto the top ground gainer in the senior intercollegiate last fall, John Gervio of Highland Park, Mich., first-string quarterback last year, and Bill Britton, sophomore halfback from London.

With little prospect of any freshmen making the squad, it appears that veterans will man every spot in the 1955 Mustang backfield.

Bill Gray, a sophomore from London and Dave Langhorne another second - year player from Peterborough back Gervio at the quarterback slot.

Veterans in the backfield include Byron Young, Peterborough, used mainly on defence last year, Newcomers from last year's Colt team include Adam Teifer of Kirkland Lake.

Bewley Lost To Alouettes For Two Weeks

MONTREAL (CP)—Bill Bewley, Canadian halfback with Montreal Alouettes, will be lost to the Big Four club for at least two weeks and possibly the remainder of the season, it was learned Tuesday night.

Bewley, 24 - year - old Hamilton school teacher and former University of Toronto backfield star, was admitted to hospital Monday night for therapeutic treatments on a knee injured in a Monday game against Ottawa.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

The guy who seldom makes the grade commits a common error. He sees the play he should have made, But never quite in time.

The argument was over this deal:

NORTH
♠ 9 8
♥ 10 6 5 3 2
♦ K 7 3
♣ K 7 3
WEST	EAST
♠ Q J 10 3	♠ 8 7 4 2
♥ Q J 8	♥ - - -
♦ Q 9 5	♦ 10 6 4 2
♣ Q 9	♣ 10 6 5 4 2
SOUTH
♠ A K 6
♥ A K 9 7 4
♦ A J 8
♣ A J

South holated himself into a small slam contract of six hearts. If he thought he was good enough to stretch, he should have been good enough to make the kind of play it needed.

Opening lead from west was the queen of spades. With what dummy laid down there did not seem to be a worry of any kind. Trumps are expected to split two and one in opponent hands.

If so, the only hope would be in diamonds. Even this may be saved if a finesse toward the south hand is successful. But if it lost the contract of six was still in the bag. So it looked.

Therefore, when the first trick was taken with the spade king, the king of trump was laid down. The outlook changed when east played on this trick and showed he had no trump at all.

This meant that west had a sure trump trick and a lost diamond finesse would kill the contract. Then, to prevent the ruff, declarer shrugged off his defeat as if it was a foregone conclusion.

No need was there to take a beating. An end play here should be obvious to a player who deliberately goes over his head to reach a slam. This he could insure after stripping the spade suit.

First he takes another trump trick and another top spade. Then he ruffs the third south spade and gives up the trump trick. This "kitchen" west in the grip of an end play.

Return diamond or club is right into the alley or ace and jack. Or return of spade lets dummy ruff and south aluff a diamond. Such a play could not lose if it tried.

An end play you know, is a pain to the foe.

Carmen Basilio Favored to Win Over Gil Turner

SYRACUSE, N. Y (AP)—Welterweight king Carmen Basilio takes his middleweight-title aspirations into the ring tonight in a 10-round bout with fast-punching Gil Turner, 10th ranked fighter in the heavier weight class.

Basilio was a 12-to-5 local favorite to launch successfully his campaign for the crown worn by middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson. Turner, however, hoped to turn the tables and put himself in line for a shot at Basilio's title.

Basilio sees himself as a knockout victor over the Philadelphia Negro and feels a triumph over Turner will qualify him for a title match with Olson.

Turner vows to whip Basilio, then demand another crack at Carmen—his time with the 147-pound championship at stake.

Turner, who campaigns alternately as a welterweight and middleweight, plans to enter the ring weighing 151 pounds. Basilio expected to weight in at 154.

The in-again, out-again Turner is climbing the comeback trail from an upset loss to Al Andrews last year. Basilio previously took all 10 rounds in a bout with Andrews.

Little Benny's Notebook

Pop was smoking and thinking in his private chair, and ma said, William, I've been thinking of that fancy vest it got from your birthday.

Well I think of it, too, pop said, and ma said, Well if you do, there are no visible signs of the fact. I have worried it exactly twice since I gave it to you, she said.

That's right, pop said, I remember both times very vividly, because I felt like a walking Christmas tree on each occasion, pop said, and ma said, Now William, fancy vests are not proper to be in very popular and fashionable.

Well I think they are, pop said, and ma said, Oh well; William, after all, nobody should wear evening clothes in the morning if it doesn't express their own personality. In fact F. Willis Hinkle brought out that very point in his column yesterday, she said.

Good for him, Hinkle twinkle little star, pop said, and ma said, You probably just haven't got a fancy vest personality.

I dont certainly haven't, and by golies it's not an unpleasant thought, and I'll be happily reminded of it every time I see that tricky vest hanging in my closet, pop said, and ma said, As that's right, William, you'll be glad to know that the reminders will occur thick and fast. I'm about to start a little rag rug to go in front of your chair to protect the carpet under your feet, and that fancy vest will make a perfect centerpeece for it, she said.

My dear, it may be a man's vest, but it's a woman's world, pop said.

Being the end of the subject.

Engineer Urges Abolition Of Penny Meter

NORTH BAY (CP)—Abolition of the penny parking meter was urged Tuesday by John R. Walker, Toronto city traffic engineer, who addressed the annual convention of the Ontario Municipal Association.

He suggested that parking meter rates be increased to "realistic" level in congested areas so that motorists might be educated towards paying charges on municipally-owned off-street parking lots.

Mr. Walker advocated a series of stages in the regulation of parking which would eventually see large stretches of curb space free from parking, allowing full use of streets for traffic.

The abolition of angle parking, which causes congestion from cars backing out of spaces, was the first stage. In the second stage, all overnight parking would be prohibited. This would maintain pressure on all interests to provide off-street parking space.

Curb parking would then be prohibited during rush hour arteries during rush hours. Parking limit duration would be reduced to ensure maximum turn-over of vehicles.

To maintain property and tax values in fix business section, a municipality must correct "the blighting effects of congestion and traffic congestion," Mr. Walker said.

REMOVES NAIL

TOULON, France (AP) — A French surgeon worked for three hours to remove a three-inch-nail from the head of Evelyne Fiche, 20, who was injured in an explosion in a fireworks store. The nail probably entered through the left eye socket without injuring the eye and lodged between the brain and the bone. She had complained of constant headaches.

Solidified Public Opinion Most Potent Force of Moderation

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—No law-making body ever has been able to legislate good taste. Efforts to protect the public morals lead quickly to censorship. Co-operative, solidified public opinion is the most potent force of moderation and decency.

Such generalities are apparent in the recent report of the United States Senate juvenile delinquency sub-committee, which finds that while it cannot prove television crime programs cause juvenile delinquency, it believes there is a "calculated risk" in children constantly viewing such programs.

The report also stresses its approval of the many excellent children's programs which the networks and others are fostering these days. Most of the bad apples it finds, in the barrel are films, some old re-runs and other package programs by outfits which sling together cheap, shows aimed at a maximum profit.

EASIEST TO DO

A "cheap" show does not necessarily mean a low-budget show. A "cheap" show is one on which writers, actors, producers spend as little creative effort as possible. Themes of violence most naturally lend themselves to slight creative effort. The shows are usually the good always triumphs in the end—but in the process they express the philosophy that any means justifies the end. Knifing, shooting, killing are the necessarily gets the villain.

It might be noted that people are dying more realistically on TV films these days; the bodies twitch and jerk. And often the villain gives you the impression of being not such a bad chap; just misunderstood. You don't have to be a psychiatrist to agree with the latter body of psychiatric opinion that be-

NETWORKS COULD HELP

Flatly rejecting any idea of government censorship, it proposes: (1) Stricter control by the Federal Communications Commission with power to levy fines for violations of "certain minimal standards." (2) Formation of local citizens' "listening councils" which would report "offensive materials to responsible broadcasters promptly." (3) "Collective responsibility" of station managers for TV programs. (4) Extension of the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters code to include movies produced for TV. (5) Establishment of a periodical commission to study and report the situation.

One cannot see what else the sub-committee could recommend. Yet think how quickly the big networks could settle the whole problem by co-operative action. If they unanimously tossed the bad apples out of the barrel, sponsors would have to go elsewhere for programs which could only be better programs.

Former Wife of Famous Sinatra Has Entered Acting Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Another Sinatra has entered the acting business. This time it's Nancy, former wife of famous Frank.

Nancy, who is pretty and petite, with dark brown-reddish hair, is playing the role of a war-time Red Cross worker in the Pacific war in Paramount's "The Proud and Profane." It's her first film at acting and she's having herself a ball.

"No lines today," she reported. "But I had some yesterday. And the day before. No, I haven't seen the rushes. Nobody asks me to see them."

But producer William Perlberg reported that she is doing excellently.

REAL COMER

"She got in a real corner," said Perlberg in a long-time friend. "She has a way of throwing away lines that is sensational."

Nancy was happy to hear such praise.

"I've never done any acting before," she said. "I never even wanted to be an actress when I was a girl. As soon as I got out of school I went to work in a drug office. I never did any other kind of work. I got married and started having children. There wasn't time for anything else.

"Now my kids are growing up—Nancy is 9, Frankie is 11, and Christina 7. I feel I needed something to keep me busy."

WAIT AND SEE

"As to the future, I'll have to wait and see how the picture turns out. At any rate, I won't be able to do much; raising three children is a career in itself."

She hinted that there may be more Sinatras in show business. But not soon.

"Nancy has been talking about being a singer or an actress," she said. "She seems to have talent, and so does Frankie. But we've all agreed that they will finish their education first. And that means college. I've had offers for them to be in various pictures, but I've turned them all down."

What does Frank Sr. think of her acting career?

"I don't know," Nancy remarked. "But I couldn't have gone on location if he hadn't given here to take care of the children."

SPORT IN BRIEF

RECALL PLAYERS

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Redlegs Tuesday recalled 10 players from the minors, thus removing them from the list of major league draft eligibles.

Catcher Ed Bailey, hitting .295, and third baseman-left fielder Ray Jablonski, hitting .277, were recalled from San Diego of the Pacific Coast League and are to report at end of their league season. Pitcher Jim Pearce with an 11-5 record was recalled from Buffalo of the American Association with instructions to report whenever Omaha is eliminated from the league playoffs.

The other seven will not report until next spring.

Earlier in the day, the Redlegs announced that they bought the contract of outfielder Bob Hazle from Statesville. Hazle batted .315 and led the league in home runs with 29 and total bases with 306. He is to report here tonight.

DENIES PROTEST

CINCINNATI (AP) — Warren C. Giles, president of the National League, Tuesday turned down the protest of manager Birdie Tebbetts of a ball game played with Milwaukee April 29. The Braves won the game 5-2. Giles said he could not consider the protest because it involved an umpire's decision.

SIGNS CONTRACTS

BOSTON (AP) — Veteran forwards Fleming Mackell and Doug McCaffrey Tuesday returned signed contracts to the Boston Bruins, bringing to 13 the number of players in the fold for the 1955-56 National Hockey League season. The Bruins open their pre-season training drills next Monday at Hershey, Pa.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look, in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars,

For Thursday, Sept. 8, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Fine influences for private and business affairs sound investments, difficult work, industrial trades and new matters it well understood. Don't strive for things beyond your reach.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Very constructive influences for essential interests and activities. Laborious work, handling machinery, tools, mining favored along with artistic matters.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — The influences are not wholly propitious for fresh and brilliant ideas, inventions, or new undertakings of an unusual nature, but day, on the whole, is encouraging for advancing your interests, bringing earned gains.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Beneficial influences for worthwhile work, social service, private matters, too. But do be mindful of obligations and maintain a steady pace without strain. Be happy!

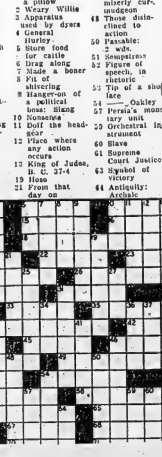
July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — This should be a fruitful, good day for a sensible you. Don't neglect essentials, neither should you overdo or work too many hours as you often do. Take things calmly, in stride; you can produce fine results.

August 23 to September 23 — (Virgo)—Similar to Gemini now. You can reap excellent returns from a steady, not-too-anxious pace if you allocate tasks sensibly and without anxiety. Have some good fun, too.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra)—Tip-top influences from your Venus and other planets for a productive, happy, interesting and challenging period. Many new and intriguing matters may come up for perusal and participation. But think!

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio)—Sound, practical activities, home and family matters are all favored in your horoscope now. This day's outcome can be much to your liking.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Please read and heed advice to Gemini and Virgo today. Your rays are similar for the most part. Much is up to you, what your day calls for, and how you manage things generally. Faith!



December 23 to January 21 — (Capricorn)—Saturn, the Sun and Venus are among the planets in auspicious positions. Look cheerfully ahead as you strive to achieve. Even the most difficult tasks can be handled with your courageous efforts.

January 22 to February 20 — (Aquarius)—Don't give too much emphasis to unusual activities or changes. Plans without sound reasons. The day is generally promising, will yield results for the right kind of effort.

February 21 to March 20 — (Pisces)—Your private affairs and home interests should bring contentment—perhaps some unusual benefits. Many fresh advantages and leads of value indicated and favored. Be happy!

You born today have sturdy, delightful qualities, many talents and a general capability that can bring you great success. You combine practical intuition, keen imagination and a talent for sensing public demands, knowing how to treat and manage groups of people, children and the ill. You are unfailing in attention and devotion to family, friends; are fair, a just employer, a conscientious, steady employee. Be more considerate to your own health and habits. Avoid foolish worry; associate with congenial, intelligent companions; don't be irritated at others' shortcomings, and always seek God's guidance. Birthdate of: King Richard (the "Lion hearted") of England; Lodovico Ariosto, Italian poet.

Massachusetts Polio Cases Still Mounting

BOSTON (AP) — More than 100 Massachusetts public schools, some scheduled to begin classes this morning, remained closed today because of the polio epidemic.

Counting new cases reported Tuesday, the New England polio total for this state rose to 1,196, compared with 677 in the corresponding period last year. There have been 88 deaths.

Little Benny's Notebook

Ma was playing solitaire to herself and pop was smoking in back of the sports page, and I said, Hay pop, you ought to of herd the fellows that was playing ball today how grate their fathers are.

I hope your votes made itself heard amung the din and clamor, pop said, and I said, Sure, pop.

That's a good boy, pop said, and I said, Pusla Simkins claimed his father bilt a whole bookcase just out at bare boards and nales, and Clarnce Hayes claimed his father fixed their radio after the radio man came and told them they needed a new one.

Boy, you were surely at a disadvantage, ma said. The only time your poor father fits a nale is when he accidently misses his thumm, and I'll never forget the greeful expression on the repair man's face when he saw the result of your father's battle with the radio set.

Aw, that's not the greatest think in life, I said. Anybody with a tool chest can do that kind of stuff. I soon shut them up and made them all jellies. I told them how pop can make a perfect big smoke ring and then blow a perfect little one right through it. And it's no accident either, because he can do it every time unless the air is too windy, and then he's too smart to even try, I said.

Oh for land sakes, ma said, and pop said, By gollies I always knew I was brilliant but I never knew you did. I know why, thanks to my brilliant observant son.

And we shook hands to congradulate each other.

CARDIFF, Wales (Reuters)—The 300,000 citizens of Cardiff have been asked to stop taking baths in order to save water in the drought-stricken city. The chairman of the city's water committee, alderman E. T. Jones, said Tuesday that unless there is a reduction of at least 20 per cent in the city's water consumption in 10 days piped water will be cut off and householders will have to line up to get supplies from a water cart.

DENIED ENTRY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representative Robert Poage (Dem. Tex.), returning Tuesday from a trip to Europe, reported he had been denied admission to the Soviet Union. He said he thought an outspoken speech he made in Helsinki, Finland, on Russian-American relations was the reason he didn't get a Soviet visa.

BRITAIN DESIGNS SHIPS EQUIPPED WITH GUIDED MISSILE PLATFORMS

This is how an artist sees one of the British royal navy's new guided missile ships now being designed by admiralty experts. The ships will be about 10,000 tons and take the place of the present cruisers. The ships will fire missiles that will be guided to their targets by ship control.—Central Press Canadian.

68 Men Escape As Globemaster Spills on Runway

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—Sixty-eight men miraculously escaped death Tuesday in the white-hot pyre of a four-engined C-124 Globemaster after it crashed on takeoff during a dust storm, killing one man.

The huge air force transport went almost the full length of the runway at Kirtland air force base on the last leg of a "restricted mission" to March air force base, Calif. It cleared the ground, but then hit again and skidded several hundred feet before pancaking on a shoulder of the runway.

Earlier in the day, a C-119 Flying Boxcar on the same field at Kirtland crashed soon after leaving a Louisiana air force base. Four men were killed in the crash and two injured.

WILL INVESTIGATE

Cause of Tuesday's crash was unknown. An air force board will investigate.

"The aircraft rose a few feet in the air, dragged a wingtip and crashed," an eyewitness said. "Visibility was restricted by dust at the time of the crash. The plane burst into flames upon impact." One fireman, in the sprayed chemical foam on the plane, said: "It was a miracle anyone got out of there."

Officials at the base said the alert crew had all hatches open within one minute after the plane crashed. Intense heat prevented rescue crews from reaching the long victim.

The heat, which turned the aluminum fuselage of the plane to molten metal, was so intense that it took firemen more than two hours to recover the body of the dead airman.

Police Cruiser Loses Race To Stop Train

TORONTO (CP) — A police cruiser Tuesday night tried to race a train in a level crossing. The cruiser lost.

The train plowed into a stalled transport truck at the crossing. Driver Harry Ward was out of the cab and escaped injury.

An off-duty policeman spotted the truck and called the station to have the train stopped. A radio call was relayed to the cruiser and an unsuccessful 65-mile-an-hour chase followed.

Nobody aboard the Toronto-London passenger train was injured.

BUMPED BY DOG, DIES

BLYTH, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. W. N. Watson, of Blyth who was knocked down when bumped by a large dog while walking near her home last month, died in Victoria Hospital, London. Mrs. Watson was taken to hospital and an emergency operation performed. Complications followed and death resulted from a cerebral hemorrhage.

Municipalities' Loss of Power Is Deplored

NORTH BAY (CP)—The mayor of Canada's largest city said Tuesday night the loss of power on the part of municipalities is "evidence of the decadence of the democratic idea."

In a short time, municipalities are degraded to the point of being solely local administrations completely controlled and wholly supported by the state, they will have lost their reason for being," Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal said. "And, after the municipalities, it will be the destiny of the provinces to submit to a similar fate."

Mayor Drapeau received the position of the municipality in the present system of government at the closing banquet of the Ontario Municipal Association's congress here.

His remarks were contained in the text of a speech released to the press ahead of delivery.

JOINT ACTIVITY

Terming the situation "acute," Mayor Drapeau said it "demands joint activity, a planned effort, in order to bring municipal institutions of resources and powers commensurate with their increasing responsibilities."

Throughout history, the municipality had been the level at which government had its first trial and at which the citizen "underwent his initiation in the experiment of government."

The survival of the municipal level of government "demands a basic change in existing conditions". In the form of increased services and more freedom of action.

MORE GREENLEASE MONEY

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A $20 bill from the $600,000 ransom money in the Bobby Greenlease kidnap-murder has been found in Florida. Charles E. Weeks, special agent in charge of the Miami FBI office, Tuesday night said the bill was discovered at the Jacksonville branch of the federal reserve bank. Several other bills from the missing ransom money have been found recently in the midwestern states.

Science Shrinks Piles Without Surgery
Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids
Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and relieve pain. Thousands have been relieved—without resort to surgery.
In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.
Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.
And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in many cases doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months.
In fact, results were so thorough that doctors were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among those sufferers were a host of cases of long-standing conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.
All this, without the use of narcotic, anesthetic or astringent of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance discovered by Dr. Chester-ey of a famous scientific institute. It's now available in a 14 ounce size for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.
This new healing substance is sold as Preparation H. ointment and Preparation H. suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special Hemorrhoidal Applicator. If it is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Tired But Happy Prime Minister At Edmonton

EDMONTON (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent started a new round of Alberta birthday celebrations here today after taking part in golden-jubilee functions in Calgary that left him tired but cheerful.

The prime minister switched from a 19-gallon hat to a homburg during his move from Calgary to Edmonton Tuesday night but the celebrations promised to be just as strenuous if not so western in flavor.

The fireworks started even before he arrived when lightning knocked out the runway lights at the municipal airport about an hour before he was scheduled to come in by plane.

Airport officials lined the runway with flares, however, and the RCAF C-5 transport carrying the prime minister and his party landed without mishap in a light rain.

Mr. St. Laurent said he was tired but in good cheer. He went immediately to his hotel in a motorcade.

AT LEGISLATURE

The first function scheduled today was at the legislative buildings, where the prime minister was to be driven in a landau that carried Sir Wilfrid Laurier when he officiated at the founding of Alberta on Sept. 1, 1905.

The prime minister was on the go in Calgary Tuesday from the moment he flew in from Regina wearing a white 10-gallon hat. The only planned functions that he skipped were a sod-turning for a $4,000,000 building and a barbecue party south of the city.

On hand to greet Mr. St. Laurent were Lieutenant Governor J. J. Bowler, Premier Manning, Mayor Don Mackay of Calgary and Mayor William Hawrelak of Edmonton.

Despite his strenuous day, the prime minister apparently refused to let his broken ankle encumber him. As he stepped into the rain in Edmonton to greet a welcoming committee of some 30 persons, he was smiling as he strode along with the aid of a light cane.

FIRE HITS PLANT

HAMILTON (CP) — Fire originating in an electric motor Tuesday night roared through a freight elevator shaft at the National Tile Company works in nearby East Flamboro township, causing damage estimated at $10,000 and crippling the firm's production line.

CLAIM FORCES CUT

LONDON (AP)—Poland and Albania, following the present trend in Communist-controlled countries, announced Sunday they will cut their armed forces 47,000 and 9,000 respectively. They did not disclose total strength.

Barrie Gunman Demands Drugs

BARRIE (CP)—A gunman whom police believe may be a drug addict w' a narcotics pedlar robbed a doctor's office here of $300 early today after he had been told no drugs were kept in the office.

Police said the man walked into the Simcoe medical group offices and pointed a small automatic at the night receptionist, Mrs. E. Dick. Then he held a cloth over her mouth and demanded all the heroin in the office, they said.

When he was told there were no drugs he demanded money. Police said the gunman struck Mrs. Dick across the left forearm with a ruler to force her to get the money from a drawer.

More Dangerous To Run Into Tree Than Moving Car

DETROIT (AP)—Your chances of surviving an auto accident are somewhat better in a head-on collision with another moving vehicle than if you crash, at the same speed, into a tree or bridge abutment. And your chance of escaping injury is much better if you are not thrown out of the car by the impact.

Traffic safety specialists here for a two-day Ford-sponsored national safety forum and crash demonstration say these things have been established by scientific research. They explain that two colliding cars would "mesh" each other, each absorbing and dissipating some of the impact energy.

They add that the passenger gets protection from the car body if he remains within the vehicle.

Charge Montreal Father Choked Infant Daughter

MONTREAL (CP)—A 22-year-old father was arraigned in sessions court Tuesday on a charge of murder arising from the death of his three-month-old daughter in a Montreal hospital last Friday night.

Aldory Robert of nearby Longueuil pleaded not guilty and was taken to jail to await preliminary hearing Sept. 14.

Earlier, a coroner's jury held Robert criminally responsible for the death of the child, Ginette.

Robert testified he had placed a hand over the child's face because "it was crying too much."

Dr. Rosario Fontaine, medico-legal expert, said there were marks of strangulation on the baby's neck and bruises on the face.

REVAMPED

"What we are doing here is sanctioning what has been going on for years," he said.

Opposition was voiced by a lay delegate, Maj.-Gen. T. V. Anderson of Toronto, who termed prayers for the dead a "distinct change in our doctrine." He questioned the right of the general synod to "change doctrine at the present time."

IMMIGRATION POLICY

During consideration of the social-science report, Col. T. A. Kidd of Kingston described Canada's immigration policy as "anti-Protestant, anti-British and pro-Roman Catholic." He urged an assistance policy to induce more Britons to emigrate to Canada.

The synod adopted a resolution requesting the federal government to provide more adequate planning and financial assistance for immigrants and called for admittal of a greater number of immigrants from the West Indies.

On unemployment, the synod adopted a resolution which said: "Synod expresses the opinion that the federal authority must find ways and means of assisting the whole residual group of unemployed employables not thus far assisted by unemployment insurance."

The synod will also ask the federal government to establish a commission to "assess ways and means of providing health care for all Canadians."

GM CONCILIATION

A minority report, filed by union nominee Drummond Wren, opposed the p r o p o s e d legislation. Mr. Wren said arbitration or compulsory presentation of argument "contradicts the basic principle that our economy and industrial relations are based on free enterprise."

Shortly after the report was released, General Motors announced the company and union will open negotiations here Thursday covering GM plants in Oshawa, St. Catharines, London and Windsor. The UAW represents 17,000 workers in these plants.

In Windsor, Mr. Burt said the report served only to verify the UAW stand that conciliation boards could not resolve the issue. He said judge Anderson should have considered the UAW's contention that conciliation in Ontario should be returned to professional conciliation officers instead of making "unwarranted slurs on the union."

REPORT CRITICISM

The report, signed by judge Anderson and company appointee C. P. McTague, said:

"The action of the UW under Mr. Burt's leadership may do much to force legislation that would make compulsory arbitration the final basis of settlement in industrial disputes when, as in the case of this dispute, a serious and long-drawn out strike would harm a large segment of the country's economy."

Main points at issue are the guaranteed annual wage, pay increases, improvements in pension provisions, a more liberal company-financed health plan and additional holidays. Ninety-eight per cent of the 10,000 Oshawa employees voted last week in favor of a strike which could be called legally after Sept. 13.

The report recommended that if a company refused to make full submissions to the board the union should be free to strike. Such a company also should be liable to be declared guilty of an unfair labor practice and substantially fined.

When a union refused to co-operate, the conciliation board should remain constituted for 30 days, thereby delaying the union's right to strike for that length of time. A union which still refused to comply then should be denied labor department services and be liable for an action to take away its bargaining rights.

Adenauer Leaves For Conference With Red Leaders

Seeks Peace, German Unity, Return of War Prisoners

By BRACK CURRY

BONN (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer took off today for Moscow and his momentous first conference with leaders of the Soviet Union.

In an airport statement the 79-year-old West German chief said he was leaving "with the best intentions of doing everything possible to further world peace and to establish the unity of Germany and to reach agreement for the return of our prisoners of war."

Two Constellations of Lufthansa Airlines carried Adenauer and 49 members of his delegation on the non-stop flight from Bonn to the Soviet capital. Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano headed one party, the chancellor the other. The rest of the 116 delegation members had gone earlier by train.

The planes had American pilots, German co-pilots and Russian navigators, radio men and interpreters.

After welcoming ceremonies, Adenauer and his staff planned to go to their headquarters in the Soviet-style embassy in the Moscow suburbs before Friday's opening session with Premier Bulganin and Foreign Minister Molotov.

SEEN AS PREVIEW

Adenauer entered the Soviet-supported conference well prepared to withstand any Russian efforts to wean West Germany away from its key spot in the Western alliance.

No agreement on the issue of German reunification is expected. The meeting is regarded in the West as a preview of Soviet plans for the conference of the Big Four foreign ministers next month in Geneva.

Adenauer planned to try to determine the Soviet Union's readiness to accept an East-West settlement in Europe which would include unification of Germany, already set out as the top political goal at the foreign ministers' meeting.

At Adenauer's insistence the Russians agreed to broaden the agenda to include discussion of German unity and release of German war prisoners held in Soviet labor camps. Moscow originally wanted the meeting to discuss only the establishment of diplomatic, trade and cultural relations with West Germany.

FACES STERN TEST

The Soviet press made it plain before Adenauer's departure that the strong-willed old diplomat faces one of the sternest tests of his career. Moscow radio broadcasts condemned his foreign policy and lashed out against West German rearmament in the Atlantic alliance.

There has been strong speculation that the Russians might offer to pull out of East Germany and unify the country if Adenauer would agree to a neutral role outside the Atlantic pact.

NATO Council Studies Strife Over Cyprus

Greek-Turk Quarrel Endangers Alliances

PARIS (AP) — The dynamite-packed relations between Greece and Turkey came before the forum of the North Atlantic Council today.

Lord Ismay, NATO secretary-general, summoned the permanent representatives of the alliance's 15 powers to a closed meeting here to discuss the recent violence in the Turkish cities of Istanbul and Izmir.

Izmir is the headquarters of NATO's southern theater command. Greece complained to the council that the rioters had pillaged the homes of Greek officers serving there with NATO. The officers' families were rushed home by plane.

NATO observers are deeply concerned over the relations between their two members on Russia's southwest flank. The bitterness of the Balkan defence chain was laid to Greece and Turkey with Yugoslavia.

The NATO meeting followed the breakdown in London of the British-Greek-Turkish conference on the chief issue behind the disorder —the future of the British colony of Cyprus.

WANT PLEBISCITE

Greece has been pushing a vigorous campaign for a self-determination plebiscite on Cyprus, an island off the south coast of Turkey which Britain uses as her Middle East defence headquarters. Greece is proud of the 300,000 Cypriots are of Greek descent. Greece is certain they would plump overwhelmingly for "enosis"—union with Greece.

The people of the Cypriots are Turkish, and Turkey demands that Cyprus either stay under Britain or be returned to her.

The breakdown of the conference promises another bitter split in the NATO ranks before the forthcoming meeting of the United Nations, convening in New York Sept. 20. Greece appears certain to renew her demand there for Cypriot self determination.

The ascertain shelved the Greek demand last year without voting on it. In the preceding debate, however, the Soviet bloc and Asian and African countries sided with the Greeks, while the United States backed Britain and Turkey's contention that Cyprus was not an international question.

Big Three Ask UN Approval Of Plan to Stop Gaza War

By A. J. GOLDBERG

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Western big three have sought approval by the United Nations Security Council for a tightening of border restrictions to prevent new Israeli - Egyptian fighting along the Gaza strip.

The United States, Britain and France asked council president T. F. Tsiang of China to call the 11-power group together today to bolster the peace efforts of Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, the Canadian truce chief for the UN.

Burns, who admitted he has won few cease-fire promises from both sides, has suggested setting up a physical barrier inside a neutral zone six-tenths of a mile wide in which neither party could erect defences or deploy patrols. Burns urged placing barbed wire along the frontier last November, but Egypt declined to co-operate.

The three powers drew up a six-point resolution after Burns sent in a report on the latest violence, which began with Israeli seizure of an Egyptian post about three miles east of Gaza Aug. 28.

The three-power resolution calls on both sides "forthwith" to take all steps necessary to restore order in the Gaza area.

It endorses Burns' recommendation that "the armed forces of both parties should be clearly and effectively separated by measures" such as those he proposed.

In Jerusalem, an Israeli foreign ministry spokesman said his government would support Burns' plan for a border barrier.

A spokesman in Cairo said the Egyptian government has sent documents to the Security Council outlining Egypt's position on the official reaction to the Burns proposal from the Egyptian government, which last year wouldn't help with the barbed-wire fence on the ground that such a barrier might be construed as a permanent boundary.

Fear Longshoremen's Strike May Cover All East Coast

NEW YORK (AP)—The feud between longshoremen and the New York-New Jersey waterfront commission, which climaxed Wednesday in a shutdown of the port of New York, threatened to spread the shipping tieup to east coast ports from Baltimore to Canada.

After some 25,000 members of the International Longshoremen's Association Union had left their job, ILA president William A. Bradley said:

"This is spreading very rapidly. I'll be surprised if by Monday we don't have the whole coast tied up."

The walkout already has affected the entire area of the vast port of New York, including piers at Weehawken and Hoboken in New Jersey.

Saying Wednesday night that a private talk meeting would be held today, Bradley added: "I do not intend to call other ports before the situation at all. The men are out of work a week and we will have to come in with something concrete."

Bradley has said he would like to be able to guarantee his men that a fact-finding board would be set up by Governor Averell Harriman of New York and Governor Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey. The waterfront crime and subversion commission since its inception two years ago, charges it with "corruption, racketeering and interference with its avowed functions."

Bradley said Wednesday that Canadian longshoremen in Quebec, Montreal, Halifax and Saint John's, New Brunswick, today and would probably join in the work stoppage.

The walkout was called in sympathy stoppage a strike, but has not officially been declared by the ILA.

However, the waterfront clearing commission and the New York Shipping Association, which represents 170 shipping and stevedoring firms here, have called it a strike.

The association, whose members stand to lose $1,000,000 daily, obtained a state Supreme Court decree Wednesday directing the longshoremen to return to work. The order is returnable in court Friday.

The walkout has already begun a $10,000,000 damage suit against the union. The union has had no dispute with the employers, and the walkout violates the current work agreement.

Five Persons Hurt in Crash Near Oshawa

OSHAWA (CP) — Five persons were injured, one severely, in a two-car collision on Highway 401 near here early today.

Mrs. William Sacks, 46 of Oshawa was taken to Toronto General Hospital with head injuries. Four others were treated at nearby Ajax and a sixth person escaped uninjured.

Police said a car driven by Daniel Stone, 19, of Pickering, and with passengers May Smith, 17, and Murray Linton, 18, of Whitby, collided with the Sacks car. Miss Smith and Linton suffered cuts and bruises and Stone was uninjured.

In the Sacks car, both William Sacks and Clara Kahn, 42, of Oshawa were slightly injured.

Newsprint Burns

OTTAWA (CP)—A "20-ton cargo of newsprint was burned Wednesday when a truck and trailer unit with passengers May Smith, 17, and Murray Linton, 18, of Whitby, collided with the Sacks car. Miss Dawson Falls Inferno

Gasoline ignited the cargo and the inferno could be seen until just before dawn today. Total loss was estimated at $20,000.

Former Inmate Of Slave Camp Beauty Queen

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — A 17-year-old Polish immigrant who had suffered the hardships of a Siberian slave labor camp walked off with top honors in the Miss Western Ontario beauty contest Wednesday night.

Miss Western Ontario of 1955 is Irena Wolanski, a student nurse at Windsor's Grace Hospital.

She was a stunning pink bathing suit and the banner of Miss Ridgetown and Miss Windsor, Miss Whitby, five judges and 20,000 spectators. The beauty contest was the highlight of the Windsor, Essex and Kent fire fighters field day and agricultural fair.

Runnerup was Gwen Stevenson, 18, of Guelph, who entered the contest with the title of Miss Elmira.

A total of 23 girls entered the contest from towns and cities all over western Ontario. They came from as far away as Kitchener and Galt.

The girls, in evening gowns, then returned to the stage where they were judged on poise, personality and appearance.

Look for Crack In Soviet Wall Of Silence

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) The United Nations disarmament sub-committee looked forward today to a crack in the Soviet wall of silence on Western disarmament plans.

The group moved into its afternoon meeting with indications that Russian chief delegate Andrei Vishinsky will tell Moscow's reaction to President Eisenhower's plan for banning the surprise blueprints and air inspections.

France's Jules Moch took up most of the meeting Wednesday with a discussion of the French plan for world disarmament control through a close check on military budgets. French Foreign Minister Edgar Faure first advanced the plan at the Geneva "summit" conference.

Under it an army of trained accountants would scan military budgets and study proposed schedules for reducing disarmament. Part of the saving in defence funds would help under-developed countries.

Council Worries About Butter, Dairy Students

Three Proposals Made But One Is Vetoed

LAKE LOUISE, Alta. (CP)—The National Dairy Council wound up its three-day convention here Wednesday with delegates still worried about too much butter and too few dairy students.

Delegates felt that the 50,000,000-pound yearly surplus emphasized the need for action if butter is to compete with substitutes, principally margarine.

The surplus brought three main proposals: a government subsidy to reduce butter prices; that quality and color be improved and made uniform across the country; and that butter be mixed with margarine to slash the surplus. The last proposal was vetoed.

T. H. Thornton, head of dairying at the University of Alberta, startled delegates with a report that only 30 students majored in dairying in Canadian and American colleges last year. He implied higher wages and job security are needed to attract students.

UNIFORM COLOR

Council president said a government subsidy would have to be implemented without reducing the prices to the producers.

E. H. Jonstonee of Red Deer, Alta., proposed new discussions of butter manufacturers, said there was agreement that butter should be uniform in color.

The proposal that butter be mixed with margarine was turned down after considerable discussion.

One delegate charged that British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Quebec—by not specifically prohibiting the mixing of butter and margarine—are causing a threat to the dairy industry.

Dr. Thornton, an observer at the meeting, said he did not believe short-term courses would attract students. He suggested that the dairy industry help testify by offering scholarships and guaranteeing employment.

Tea and Coffee Men Will Hold Conference

OTTAWA (CP)—More than 150 delegates, including those from Canada, the United States, Great Britain, India and Ceylon are expected at Montebello, Que., Oct. 2-4.

They will discuss trends in marketing and consumption of tea and coffee. Announcement of the planned international gathering was made today by Albert Nixon, Montreal, president of the Tea and Coffee Association of Canada.

ILFRACOMBE, England (CP)— North Devon hospital officials plan to abolish hot - water bottles for "cold" patients this winter in favor of "hot" ones.

They hope to play the sons of United States serviceemen stationed at nearby Bushy Park.

Set By Arsonist, Manitoba Forest Fire Kills Three

Two Youths Are Trapped Aiding Pal With Broken Leg

WINNIPEG (CP)—Fire sweeping thousands of acres of a southeast-ern Manitoba forest reserve has killed three bushworkers who couldn't get their truck started when they attempted flight.

RCMP described the 10,000-acre blaze as the work of an arsonist.

The bodies of John Nykorak, 18, his 17-year-old brother, Tarus, and Mike Trembla, 20, all of Trembla, Man., were found Wednesday in the Sandilands forest reserve.

Two of the youths died when they returned to aid their companion, helpless in the path of the flames with his broken leg in a cast.

The story of their deaths Monday was told by Michael Nykorak, 15, a cousin of the Nykorak brothers.

WENT FOR HELP

The four, all employees of a small lumber company, were forced to evacuate their bush camp in the reserve, midway between Winnipeg and the Ontario border. When the stands of jack pine, spruce, larch and tamarack were set afire.

When they couldn't get out by truck, John, unable to walk because his leg remained in a cast, while the others set out on foot to find a car.

Blazes, trees and dense smoke cut off their return in the car and they were forced to go on by foot with Michael Nykorak going back to Trembla, 30 miles away. Michael Inski reached John but all three were overcome by the smoke before they could drive out.

RCMP said the fire was started with three matches in a crownwood meadow on the west side of the reserve. It spread into the timber stands under high winds.

Communist Spy Ring Cracked In West Germany

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP)— The cracking of a Communist spy ring in the West German foreign ministry was disclosed today by Federal Prosecutor Konrad Adenauer took off Moscow.

The federal prosecutor's office here confirmed the arrests of "several officials" suspected of working for Soviet and East German intelligence services.

The prosecutor's office here said all the arrests were made in the passport, defense and foreign trade ministry in Bonn. No further details were given.

Gerda Olsson Takes to Lake For Long Swim

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (CP)—Gerda Olsson, 19, of Simcoe, Ont., today plunged into Lake Ontario in an attempt to swim the 32 miles to Toronto.

The comely brunette pushed out into the Niagara River mouth, swimming at about 30 to 35 strokes a minute, and counting on the current to help carry her swiftly to the open lake.

Observers said she appeared in excellent condition and that coach said she was "never better."

She was accompanied by the Cygnie Lee, a power cruiser with Reg Smith of Niagara-on-the-Lake as skipper.

Another woman swimmer also may challenge the lake today.

Brenda Fisher, 27, of Grimsby, England, who came to Canada with the expressed intention of swimming the lake, set no time for her start. Her friend, Mark Shaw, said this forenoon it would not be "for at least six hours."

CONDITIONS GOOD

Miss Olsson's boat handling, Larry Adams of Dundas Canal and Lake, said after a check of water conditions near the mouth of the Niagara river:

"Lake conditions are fine and she is as good as ever and will swim them at this time of year."

Her coach, Ward Wright of Simcoe, added:

"We have 24 hours of good weather ahead of us."

Both Miss Olsson and Miss Fisher are members of the Canadian National Exhibition's professional swimming team and the CNE cancelled Wednesday for reasons of safety.

Brave Cardinal Who Defied Nazis Dies in Holland

AMERSFOORT, The Netherlands (AP)—Johannes Cardinal de Jong, Roman Catholic primate who spoke out against the Nazis during the occupation of the Netherlands, died early today. He would have been 70 on Saturday.

The cardinal retired as archbishop of Utrecht in April, 1951, because of his age. He made 25 new deads brought to seven the vacancies in the College of Cardinals, which Pope Pius XII has brought to its full strength of 70 members in 1953.

Archbishop Alfredo Ottaviani Canal de Jong circulated several pastoral letters condemning Communism and especially persecution of Jews and the deportation of Dutch labor.

Shot by Police Montreal Man's Condition Poor

MONTREAL (CP)—Hospital authorities described the condition as "serious" the condition of a 33-year-old Montreal man who was shot down in a lane Wednesday night by an off-duty police constable.

In hospital with bullet wounds in his leg and abdomen is Henri Paquette.

Police said off-duty constable Jean-Marie Aube, noticed Paquette loitering in a lane and when Aube tried to question him, Paquette cursed him, knocked him down with his fists, and started running.

Aube, according to police, fired two warning shots in the air, and when Aube failed to halt Paquette the constable aimed for the leg. His fourth shot lodged in the suspect's abdomen.

Reds' Chief Says Demonstrators Were Hooligans

OTTAWA (CP)—V. V. Maskevich, head of the Soviet agricultural delegation visiting Canada, has described demonstrations against the group by anti-Communists as "directions stirred up" and not have the support of the Canadian people.

Mr. Maskevich's statement was contained in the current issue of the Soviet Weekly Times, published by the press office of the Russian embassy here.

He said the demonstrations which occurred in Montreal, Winnipeg and London, Ont., were "created by small groups of hooligans according to patterns of the country where they now live."

World Without Men Is Possible But Not Probable Say Scientists

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Consider a world without men, where women are father and mother of children.

This is theoretically possible—but most unlikely—based on experiments with a frog world where females produce young without males produce all the young there.

This was disclosed in a study of frogs and conceivably maniless world of human beings was described to the American Institute of Biological Sciences by Dr. Emil Witschi and Dr. W. Clang of the State University of Iowa.

They experimented with a common type of frog, often used in pregnancy tests. They treated male embryo frogs with a female sex hormone. The males all became females and developed ovaries but were still genetically males.

When the eggs from these sex-reversed frogs are fertilized by sperm from their brothers, or other males, the young are all males. The young tadpoles are of male constitution.

But any desired percentage of them can be induced to become "females" by adding a tiny amount of the female sex hormone to the water in which they live. One week of hormone treatment produces the change of apparent sex, for a lifetime.

Then if human embryos could be treated hormonally as were the frogs, only girls would be produced. Some of them might also be induced to have some male characteristics, to constitute the male share of fertilization, but they would not be capable of children. Genetically, they would still be females. No true males would be necessary.

Life's necessities have increased to four—food, clothing, shelter, and endurance.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Continuing cool weather is forecast for Ontario today and Friday. A weak disturbance west of Lake Superior is moving rapidly southeastward. Cloud will spread ahead of the disturbance into southern Ontario tonight. A few showers are forecast for central regions beginning this evening. With the passage of the disturbance, sunny skies will prevail across most of the province Friday.

Male Leopard Has Back Broken Fighting Lions

CHICAGO (AP)—An oldish black male leopard, outclassed by younger his mate, lit into five young male lions Wednesday and was killed quickly in the uneven match.

A vicious swipe from the paw of one of the 300-pound lions broke the back of the 175-pound leopard, Lincoln Park zoo officials said. Others mauled him savagely.

The battle occurred at Brookfield zoo when an attendant mistakenly put the lions into a cage already occupied by the two leopards.

Snowball was 12 years old, equivalent in 60 years in a human. His mate, remained on her ledge during the fight and was unhurt.

Manufactured Cruelty Prepares Soldiers for Prisoner of War Life

WASHINGTON (AP) — Manufactured cruelty is being dosed out to American fighting men to harden them against treatment they may receive if captured by an unscrupulous enemy.

Defence department sources said Wednesday the training courses are being conducted in all branches of the service to prepare them for the grim life of prisoners of war.

Rough and realistic, the courses teach the men to evade capture in the first place and then how to resist brain-washing techniques like those used by the Communists in the Korean war.

Newsweek magazine published a stark description Wednesday of one of the courses conducted at an Air Force base outside Reno, Nev., where it said hunger, pain and fear are used to drive the training.

Newsweek said the story had been cleared by the defence department but the air force declined to comment on it pending a report from Col. Burton E. McKenzie, commander of the base.

One air force spokesman said that if the account is accurate it is quite possible that some changes will be made at Stead.

The Newsweek article speaks of the trainees being served uncooked spinach and raw spaghetti, of being given frightening but harmless electric shocks, of being forced to spend hours in a dark hole, up to their shoulders in water, or in a "sweat box" where a man sits neither stand, sit or lie down.

"To learn to resist, interrogators try almost anything to make men angry," Newsweek says.

"Men are threatened, a captive's personality, race, national origin, and religion are routine starters. . . . When a trainee's wallet yields a picture of an ex-wife or girl friend, the interrogator looks take a vicious verbal beating.

"A major who let that happen to him, only an instructor, stripped at a lieutenant whose membership card in Alcoholics Anonymous made him open to ridicule about his weakness for alcohol, were hammered until they talked just to end their humiliation.

"The magazine account called "ordeal in the desert," said the training is taken under the supervision of medical men and psychologists, and "some 29,000 men have safely withstood the 17-day course."

4-CAR COLLISION CAUSES $1,000 IN DAMAGES

A four-car rear-end collision near Marysville late Wednesday afternoon caused a total of about $1,000 damage to cars from three provinces and one American state.

Cars driven by Raymond Gray, Halifax; Vernon Callihan of Ohio, and John E. McNulty of Lake-view, Ontario, were stopped on the highway when a car driven by Gaston Paquette of Terre-bonne, Quebec, plowed into the lineup. Paquette's auto was se-verely damaged about the front end, while damage to the other three cars ranged from $25 to $350 each.

Well Drilling Can Become Most Expensive

Drilling for water can be a tricky and expensive process and as with drilling for oil there is no guarantee against a dry hole.

Even a recognized "witchyr" whose forged cherry branch is supposed to do a diiger on the spot, being passed over an underground water vein, is not always as successful as he would like to be.

An instance of this uncertainty is currently seen in the west Belle-ville area where at the Reid Dairy property well drillers have been working for the past two weeks or so. The hole is now down 230 feet with still little water in evi-dence.

Before drilling was started the location for the well was properly "witched" by three different men. One said water would be reached in 30 feet. Another agreed on the location for the well but would not predict at what depth water would be reached, while a third said water would be 230 feet down.

"We are right about there now," Mr. Fred Reid said, "but we have not reached much water yet.

"I guess we might as well con-tinue drilling."

The need for cold water to op-erate the milking machine equipment was the deciding factor in having the well drilled. City water from the mains was said to be too warm during the hot summer months for their purpose.

3 New Members Admitted Into Association

The importance of value an-alysis in the profitable operation of industrial firms large and small, was the topic of discussion at the first monthly dinner meet-ing of the Purchasing Agents' As-sociation of Eastern Ontario held Wednesday night at the Com-modores building.

Approximately 35 members, representing an area from Brock-ton to Smiths Falls, attended the meeting, which saw three new members admitted into the As-sociation. President of the Asso-ciation is Earl Stewart of Ontario with Herb Burley, Belleville, as secretary-treasurer.

Classification talks were given by J. L. Jobey, of Williams and Williams Fastener Division, and by Aluminium Laboratories, Kingston. Both men talked on their own associations with their firms and gave a brief history of their companies.

Members entered enthusiastic-ally into the discussion on value analysis in purchasing which was termed as a team effort requiring the constant co-operation and in-terplay of ideas and information among all sections of the com-pany.

New members admitted to the Association included H. Kern of Bataws; V. Bigwood of Central Bridge, Toronto, and J. Jobey, Williams and Williams Eastern Ltd., Toronto.

Two of the Association's nine monthly meetings per year are held in Belleville, two in Brock-ville and five in Kingston.

27th Technical Squadron Starts Fall Training

Tuesday evening, September 6th, marked the opening of the fall training season for the 37th Technical Squadron Royal Cana-dian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers. Twenty officers and other ranks under 2 i/c Captain D. Watkins were on parade. The evening was spent in organizing the winter syllabus.

During the coming fall and winter, courses will be continued in motor mechanics and telecom-munications. These courses will be conducted in all phases and sufficient qualified instructors are on strength to accommodate sizeable classes in each of these trades. These instructors, along with a well equipped work shop, offer trainees a wonderful oppor-tunity to learn a trade in their spare time.

All persons interested in such a course are well advised to in-vestigate immediately. Call the Orderly Room tonight at WO 2-4234 and full details will be mailed to you without obligat-ion — or come down any Tues-day or Thursday evening from 7:45 to 10:00 p.m. and see for yourself. Personnel are also re-quired for clerical and stores duties.

27th Technical Squadron is located at 105 Pinnacle Street, just across the C.P.R. tracks.

Obituary

THOMAS ALBERT ALEXANDER

The funeral of Thomas Albert Alexander was held Wednesday, Sept. 7th, from the chapel of the Belleville Burial Company Funer-al Home. Rev. Ray Rowley con-ducted the service.

Bearers were D. J. Mattis, John Chumley, Donald Alexander, Wil-liam Freeman, Arthur Taylor, and James D. Alexander. Members of the White Cane Club of Belleville, of which the deceased was a past president, acted as honorary bearers.

Interment took place in Belle-ville cemetery.

JOHN C. RIX

Toronto - Belleville

TORONTO (CP)—John C. Rix, president of La Luz Mines Ltd. and director of many other mines, died in hospital Wednesday.

Born in Belleville, he was edu-cated in the United States and worked with mining companies there before returning to Canada in 1928 to join Ventures Ltd.

Mr. Rix was treasurer and di-rector of Opemisko Copper Mines (Quebec) Ltd., a director of Sher-litt Gordon Mines Ltd., Michiph-coten Iron Mines Ltd. and the American Nepheline Co. at Lake-field and Ventures Ltd.

He is survived by his widow, three daughters and two sons.

Produce In Lighter Supply, Prices Unchanged

Business continued at slow pace on the local market this morning. Produce was in lighter supply than the beginning of the week; prices, however, were un-changed.

Cucumbers continued in fairly good supply with slicers bringing 25 cents for six; gherkins were $1-$1.50 while dills were 75-90 cents. Corn continued at 35-40 cents a dozen. Cabbage was 10-15 cents a head with red cabbage 20-25 cents. Carrots were plentiful in good supply Hubbard ranging up to 20 cents per pound and bunch 10-20 cents. Potatoes were 50 cents a basket and man-grows 100-120 cents. Onions were 15 cents a quart box.

Pears were a heavy feature in fruit with Bartletts selling from 75 cents a basket and Flemish Beauties also bringing 75 cents. Magnols plums were 50 cents a basket while peppermint brought 75 cents a basket. Apples were in lighter supply with Duchess sell-ing at 50 cents a bag and St. Lawrences at 65 cents. Melons were plentiful and cheap anywhere from 10 cents up.

Eggs were at 45 cents a dozen for Grade A large.

Touch of Frost Felt in Areas About City

With the mercury dropping to a chilly 32 degrees, pumpkin and cucumber vines were damaged in low lying areas north of the city received their first touch of frost last night.

One market vendor from Fox-boro said that at exactly before six o'clock this morning low lying ground was white with frost. The thermometer read 32 degrees.

At the city pump house on Front Road, however, the low for the night was 37 degrees or five degrees above freezing. Farmers along the bay shore said they no-ticed no frost, intimating that the temperature down at the bay had undoubtedly kept the frost away.

Farmers agreed that ground frost can normally be expected about this time of year although that of last night was possibly a bit more severe than is custom-ary at this date.

Oppose Proposal Coastal Trade Be Restricted

REGINA (CP) — Three western farm organizations have filed strong submissions with Monday on proposals that Canada's coasting trade be restricted to ships of Ca-nadian construction and registry.

The Saskatchewan wheat pool, Saskatchewan Farmers' Union and Alberta Federation of Agriculture each submitted briefs to the royal commission on the coasting trade, which held a one-day hearing here.

Mr. Justice W. F. Spence, chair-man of the commission, said the pool brief, presented by assistant secretary Arthur Stevens, was of particular value.

The wheat pool opposed propos-als of shipping firms on the grounds that it cannot be demon-strated what effect the St. Law-rence seaway will have on Cana-dian shipping until the seaway has been in operation for some time.

Quinte Players Will Present 'The Fourposter'

Currently in rehearsal to close the city's summer theatre season is the Quinte Players' production of Jan de Hartog's "The Four-poster."

A provocative engaging comedy "The Fourposter" is one of the most popular modern plays to come off Broadway after a record run. Since its first production in New York and its progression across the country on tour and on to the screen, the play has starred a husband-and-wife team, the original players being Rex Harrison and Lili Palmer.

Quinté Players also have come up with a husband-and-wife team for their production. Starring will be Jim and Wilma Alexander of Trenton. Both well-known in theatre work in this district, the Alexanders have much stage ex-perience to their credit.

The play unfolds the life of a married couple through their wed-ding day, just before the turn of the century, into the 1920's.

Directing the play again will be Elaine Jardine, who has a long list of credits to her credit during the entire season this year. Assisting her in the direction is Doris Chipps.

Marathoners May 'Boycott' Waterfront Swim

TORONTO (CP) — Marathon swimmers entered in the Canadian National Exhibition's Lake Ontario swim threatened today to "boy-cott" the scheduled waterfront swim.

Several swimmers, disappointed over the CNE's cancellation Wed-nesday of its cross-lake swim, said they will try to organize a mass boycott of the 32-mile marathon.

Bob Oliivier, 21, of Pender Har-bour, B. C., spokesman for the group, said:

"We'll enter the water all right, but we'll quit after 100 yards. This will make us eligible for the $75 consolation prize, at the same time it will turn the swim into a fiasco."

Meanwhile, there were hints from the CNE that it will give up the idea of a Lake Ontario swim in future years.

Synod to Give Further Study To Proposal

EDMONTON (CP)—The synod of the Anglican Church of Canada will give further consideration to a pro-posal for legal but restricted use of narcotics by doctors.

Stewart McMorran, Vancouver city prosecutor, placed the pro-posal before the synod Wednesday night.

Mr. McMorran said the church "must take a major and prominent step forward in this matter."

On church council, Rev. T. Dwight Powell, president of the Alberta conference of the United Church of Canada, said 10 years is a rel-atively short time for talks on the subject.

Talks went on 35 years preced-ing union of the factions which now make up the United Church. Mr. Powell said. That union took place in 1925. He felt that no one should be discouraged because nothing definite has come so far from talks of union which began in 1905 between the United Church and the Anglican Church.

Mercy Planes Racing Against Torrential Rains

HYDERABAD, Pakistan (Reuter-s)—Relief planes have been rushed around the world today in a race against torrential rains which threaten more floods in areas where flood victims in northern India and Pakistan.

The planes, laden with medicine, bedding and other supplies, are from the United States, Canada, Italy, Switzerland and Luxem-bourg. They are being used to try to block major epidemics of cholera and malaria.

It is the biggest such airlift in the history of the Indian sub-con-tinent.

Other planes today were sched-uled to drop parcels and brief aid supplies to hundreds of ma-rooned Pakistani in hard-hit Sind province, between here and Kar-achi.

Across the 1,500 miles of the di-saster area in both countries, res-cue crews are paddling boats and rafts through the hundreds of per-sons who climbed up to escape swirling waters.

Southern Belle, Honolulu Girl Lead for Title

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—A tall beauty from the tropics and a southern belle with a silver voice hold early leads in the scramble for the Miss America 1956 crown.

Miss Hawaii — 22-year-old hula dancer Barbara Mame Visira of Honolulu—took top honors in the first preliminary bathing suit com-petition Wednesday night. Miss Alabama, Patricia Lord Rudder-ton, won out over 15 other love-lies in the talent competition with a rendition of an aria from Verdi's Opera "La Forza del Destino."

Another portion of the Miss America stories took part in-the evening - gown competition, but three results are kept secret to build suspense.

Among the gown contenders was Miss Canada, Dalyce Gail Smith from the far northern Yukon Ter-ritory. Tonight she will give a lec-ture on the Yukon in the talent competition.

By Saturday night 10 semi-final-ists will have been selected, and then the field narrows down to five.

Two Loaded Gravel Trucks In Collision

MARMORA (Special) — Two trucks loaded with gravel were involved in a rear-end collision on Highway No. 7 five miles west of Marmora Thursday morning at 8 a.m.

No one was injured.

The accident took place in a heavy fog, the density of which was increased by a bog fire on the farm of George Jacks adjac-ent to the highway.

The trucks were drawing gravel from the plant of the Building Products Co. at Havelock to Kaladar. The first truck, owned and driven by Reginald McCon-nell of Omemee, stopped on the highway in front of Irvine Fog. It was rammed from behind by a truck driven by his brother, Borden McConnell, and driven by Free-man Fee, also of Omemee.

The collision smashed the rear wheels of the first truck and bent the frame.

Fee escaped unscathed as the cab of his truck was demolished by the collision and the weight of gravel that spilled forward from the load onto the cab roof.

Investigating the accident were O.P.P. Constables Archie Lough and George Louth of Campbell-ford; Chief Charles Lockwood of Marmora and Chief Robert Hall of Havelock.

While investigating this acci-dent the officers recognized a late model sedan travelling west as being a stolen car.

After chasing the car at speeds up to 95 miles per hour O.P.P. Constable Louth and Chief Lock-wood arrested Albert Potter of Campbellford on Sidney Street, ad-mitted having stolen the car. He is being held pending the laying of charges.

All-Canadian Ice Revue Is Cancelled

KITCHENER (CP) — Barbara Ann Scott's all-Canadian ice revue which was to have its national premier in Kitchener early next month has been cancelled, Jack Decker, assistant manager of Kitchener Memorial Auditorium said today. The contract was to have been signed today.

The cancellation indicated the show had fallen through, Mr. Decker said. At least four major ice shows cities would not buy it, he added.

In Toronto, Tommy King, Bar-bara Ann's fiancee and publicity manager, said the show has not fallen through and plans are still being made to get it on the road.

King said Kitchener, which was to have signed a contract today, was asked to postpone signing until more rinks could be lined up.

He emphasized that plans were on to have her own show and to put it on in Canada.

Captain Asks Air Evacuation For 19 Stranded

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Capt. Knut Hansen of the Norwegian ship Jopeter, trapped in drifting ice east Greenland pack ice, early this morning asked for air evacuation of 19 passengers on board his dis-abled ship.

Helicopters from the United States Air Force Base here and the Danish navy have been ready for several days, and Nakken's re-quest is expected to start action at once.

Nakken's radio message stressed that his ship was in no immediate danger.

Apparently he decided to have the passengers taken ashore as he predicted it might take days or weeks before the Jopeter would be able to land them in Greenland or elsewhere.

The Norwegian motorship Totten was within sight of the Jopeter at dawn today and was trying to force its way through the pack ice which is being pressed together by a strong northerly wind. Earlier, how-ever, the Jopeter is drifting slowly south with the ice masses.

Churchill's Nephew And His Wife Charged

LONDON (Reuters)—John Spen-cer Churchill, 30, a nephew of Sir Winston Churchill and brother-in-law of Prime Minister Eden, and his wife were charged in court to-day with "drunk and disorderly" conduct in London Wednesday night.

After a two-minute appearance Mr. and Mrs. Churchill, who pleaded not guilty, were released on $119 bail each. Their case will be heard on October 20.

Magistrate Says Policeman Can't Last Six Months

CHATHAM (CP) — The Ontario community of Tilbury was de-scribed in court here Wednesday as a town where a conscientious policeman can't last six months.

Magistrate Ivan Craig said in dismissing a charge arising out of disorders in Tilbury July 27:

"Any policeman who does his duty can't stay in Tilbury six months. He can't do it. He's whipped.

"Certain elements in Tilbury are anti-social and anti-law. Young chaps in the town are defiant. They lie and cheat and do anything to get out of following the law."

HEAR MANY LIES

He warned:

"I'll really go to town. There are too many young chaps who figure the law is something to be kicked around but the law is going to be enforced and there are going to be fines."

The dismissed charge was against Harry Penfold, 33. Three other charges which followed a dis-turbance quarter by Penfold's ar-rest on a charge of obstructing an officer also have been dismissed.

During the trial, evidence from crown and defence witnesses, dif-fered so widely defence counsel Harold O'Brien said:

"I've heard a lot of lies today."

Where defence witnesses denied the testimony of Ralph Chisholm, who was chief of police while time of the disorders took place, Craig signed, the magistrate remarked:

"That's the town for you."

DESCRIBES ARREST

John Murray, former town con-stable who also resigned, testified he was ordered by Chisholm to break up a group of about 20 youths standing around a cafe.

He said when he told Penfold to move, Penfold hit him on the shoulder. He quoted Penfold as saying, "No cop in Tilbury will move me."

Murray said he then grabbed him and told him he was under arrest.

"I was sure I couldn't handle him. He was too strong for me. So I used my billy on him."

The arrest of Penfold brought more than 20 persons to the town jail. They milled about there, broke one window and left the air out of police car tires until Mayor Wil-liam Lowry and Police Chief Ar-

BACKGROUND OF FRICTION

When defence counsel suggested Murray, who had been with the force only four months, had ex-perienced difficulty making friends with townspeople and had been "pushing your way around ever since you arrived in Tilbury," magistrate Craig interjected:

"I wouldn't say he was pushing his way around. Penfold's been pushing this way round the town for 20 years, I know Tilbury."

Summing up the case the mag-istrate recalled a background of friction in the town. He cited one instance in which a day officer was locked in a garage during the day while the night officer was beaten and left unconscious in a gutter.

Craftsman John W. Dafoe, age 18, can be seen at the right, assembling the stricker case of a 25 PDR Gun, assisted by Craftsman Ronald J. Clackett of Peterborough, both of Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers School at Barrieifield. It has been only a part of the intensive apprentice training he has received for the past two years leading to his graduation as a Gun Mechanic and a trained soldier, early this month. He has now been posted to 13 Coy RCEME, Calgary, Alberta.

Born and raised in Belleville, he attended the King George Public School and the Belleville Collegiate and Vocational School. His family reside at 27 St. Clare Street.

Enlisting in August, 1953, as a Canadian Army apprentice, he was enrolled at the RCEME School, Barrieifield. For the past two years he has worked to master the academic and military training and has now graduated early this month as a trained soldier and a Group 1 Gun Mechanic.

Captain John Ross Dies Suddenly

Captain John Ross, 70, died sud-denly at his home, 15 Bleecker Ave., Trenton, Wednesday morning.

Born in Belleville, he was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ross. He was a member of the Bel-leville Fire Department for 25 years before moving to Trenton.

He was a member of Trinity United Church, Belleville, and of the Masonic Lodge.

Surviving are his wife, the for-mer Miss Ethel Bowerman, Belle-ville; one son, Thomas, Trenton; one daughter, Mrs. Ralph (Mar-garet) Hall, Belleville; one sister, Mrs. Ernest Hall, Belleville; one brother, Thomas, Belleville; four grandchildren.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market posted a mild advance in first-hour trading today with most sections of the list nosing ahead. Activity was at about the same pace as Wednesday with 1,290,000 shares traded up to 11 a. m., against 1,252,000 Wednesday.

Selective buying in steels, papers, utilities and constructions gave industrials best support. Price movements were mostly small but a few issues were at new highs. Canada Wire and Cable B chalked up the top advance, five points to 83.

Base metals were irregularly higher on a few thin gains. Gulch was active among uraniums, adding 16 to 81.78 on 52,000 shares.

Husky and Merrill Pete were up about 12 cents in a lightly improved western oils group. Braz. gained 7 cents against declines of golds, adding 25 to a new high of $4.

Belleville Man To Face Charge In Combines Case

TIMMINS (CP) — Indictments under the Combines Investigation Act are being preferred against eight Porcupine area coal dealers and a Belleville fuel supplier, it was learned today. They will be presented to the grand jury at the fall assizes at Cochrane Monday.

Dealers named in the indictments are John W. Fegg, Ltd., Timmins; Consumers' Co-Operative Society, Timmins; Theodore Byck, operating under the name of Frank Byck and Son, Timmins; George Silliva, doing business under the name of Mirkovich Coal Yard, Schumacher; Albert J. R. Chalifoux, coal dealer, Timmins; Simon J. Mainville of Chaput's Woodyard, Timmins; Wesley Dundas of Dundas Bros., coal dealers, Timmins; and C. E. Holland of Superior Fuels, Timmins.

The supplier named is W. J. Taylor of W. J. Taylor and Son, Belleville.

The indictments read that those charged and others unlawfully conspired to prevent or lessen undue competition in the coal trade in Timmins and district.

COMMISSION INVESTIGATED

If true bills are returned in all or any of the cases the dealers and supplier will stand trial later.

A report by the combines investigation commission said that on two occasions when coal dealers found price competition in the sale of coal could not be controlled to their satisfaction they prevailed upon suppliers to discontinue supplies to dealers who were not maintaining prices.

Tobacco Crop Loss by Frost Nearly 50 P.C.

WOODSTOCK (CP) — Unofficial estimates placed the tobacco crop loss in this area as high as 50 per cent after a heavy frost in the district Wednesday night. About one third of south western Ontario's tobacco region is in Oxford county.

G. H. Crosier, manager of Delhi office of Imperial Leaf Tobacco Company said this morning his company's men were on the road trying to ascertain the damage which he said was "understood to be serious."

Many growers spent the night tending smudge pots as the temperature dropped into the low thirties, but this morning their fields were black with frostbitten leaves and the crop was at its peak when the frost hit and that only about half had been harvested.

Appeal for Funds

Extensive Aid Given Blind By C.N.I.B. During Past Year

The Belleville branch of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind will hold its annual appeal for funds on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 16 and 17.

No objective is ever set for a campaign for the blind. Branches rely on the generosity of the people in the communities they serve for financial support of their programs.

The local appeal is being made by mail to householders in the city. A tag day will be held Friday and Saturday, Sept. 16 and 17 in the business district. School children in all city schools will visit the homes in their area on Saturday, Sept. 17.

Other centres in Hastings County will be holding their annual campaigns this month on dates most convenient to themselves.

Fourteen new cases were registered last year with the CNIB from Hastings County. Total registration on March 31st, was 132. During the preceding year social services included 124 visits to blind persons by the CNIB personnel; instruction of 14 newly-blinded persons in adjustments to housekeeping, typing, embossed typing and handicrafts.

Nineteen blind persons in the county used the library service of embossed and talking books; 16 talking book machines were on loan from the board; nine radios were on loan and 18 persons received free radio repairs.

Fifteen persons used the CNIB's sales rooms to purchase materials at cost for manufacture and private sale of such articles as purses and aprons.

Six people were placed in jobs in shops and canteens by the placement officer and 37 used concessions obtained by the CNIB such as newsstands and hospital magazine stands.

Twenty-two persons used passes on the Rawson Bus Line and 15 were assisted with emergency issues of cash, fuel and clothing. Five persons were receiving stenciling and typing grants for care in the new CNIB residence in Kingston.

Christmas gifts were forwarded to 125 persons by the county society and 28 persons received eyecare, examinations, glasses, treatment and artificial eyes.

Five blind children from the county will be attending the Institute's special school for the blind at Brantford during the coming year.

Executive officers of the Hastings County advisory board of the CNIB for the coming year are: T. J. Fleury of Belleville, chairman; J. L. Lambert, secretary, and N. J. Fuke, campaign treasurer.

Throne Speech

TORONTO (CP)—Following is the text of the throne speech, read today by Lieutenant-Governor Breithaupt at the opening of Ontario's 25th legislature:

"Mr. Speaker and members of the legislative assembly:

"You are here today to commence your duties as members of the 26th Parliament of the Province of Ontario. I am happy to extend my greetings to each of you on this occasion.

"At the time of the dissolution of the 24th parliament three select committees were dealing with the very important subject matters of certificates of title for motor vehicles, smoke control and air pollution, and toll roads. It is very desirable that these committees should be reconstituted and should continue with the work which was carried on by the committees in the previous legislature. The work of these committees will give opportunity for the regular session of the legislature to deal with important matters arising out of their deliberations. Motions will be presented to you dealing with these matters.

"I express the wish that you will be guided by Divine Providence in your deliberations and decisions in regard to matters which will come before you in this special session and in sessions to be held in the 26th Parliament of Ontario which will deal with matters of great importance to our province."

May Be Unable To Decide Who Fired First Shot

JERUSALEM (AP) — Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada, United Nations truce chief in Palestine, declared today that the mixed armistice commission may not be able to establish responsibility for firing the first shot in the recent Israeli-Egyptian border flare-up.

He said that in the complicated process of telegraphic communication this point had been omitted from his report as released by the United Nations Wednesday.

Gen. Burns said he wanted to correct the impression that his report attributed responsibility to one party or the other.

The commission censured both Egypt and Israel for Aug. 22 border clashes in which Egyptian sources said three of their soldiers were killed and eight wounded.

Two Killed As Transport Plane Crashes

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—A DC-3 transport plane believed to be carrying 25 passengers crashed today at Lockheed air terminal, the Civil Aeronautics Authority reported. Police say at least two persons were killed.

The transport belonged to Currey Air Transport, a non - scheduled line.

The two-engine plane crashed in a landing attempt. The fuselage was mangled and the nose was broken off, but there was no fire.

DOG'S LIFE

Authorities say the average dog's life expectancy today is 11 to 12 years compared to seven or eight 20 years ago.

Left Accident

OSHAWA (CP)—Horace Vallancourt, 47, of Thetford Mines, Que., today was fined $100 and costs in court for leaving the scene of an accident.

When his car was in collision Aug. 27 with a car driven by Douglas McKenzie of Toronto in Whitby, Vallancourt drove on and was stopped later by Whitby police, police said. Some $1,600 damage was done to both cars.

Consul General In New York Is Appointed

OTTAWA (CP)—Appointment of H. G. Norman, 65, Canadian ambassador to Venezuela, as Canadian consul general in New York was announced today by the external affairs department.

The department also announced the appointment of J. A. Chapdelaine, 41, an assistant undersecretary in the department, as Canadian consulate to Sweden and Finland.

Mr. Norman succeeds Hon. Ray Lawson, whose retirement as consul general in New York was reported Wednesday. The change will be effective in December.

Mr. Chapdelaine succeeds W. D. Matthews as Canadian minister to Sweden and Finland and is expected to assume his new post at the end of the year. Mr. Matthews' appointment as an assistant undersecretary was announced June 1.

VOICE FROM THE PAST

The August edition of "Caravan of India," published by the Information Service of India, contains an article by S. B. S. Prasad on caste which could easily have been written two of the western world's most pressing problems.

It explains how the caste system, of which "untouchability" was an offshoot, came into being.

"In the ancient days," says Mr. Prasad, "when the Indo-Aryans were evolving a new pattern of civilization and social structure in a land containing a wide variety of peoples, they built up a 'multiple community state.' Each community or group in this state was free, subject to certain limitations, to follow its avocation and live its own life in accordance with its own genius. The system was originally conceived as a flexible and expanding one, with no rigid barriers existing between one group and another. The groups were based on vocational, each specializing in a particular trade or craft. The functions of all the groups were interrelated and, taken as a whole, served the interests of the community as a community. It was believed that if each group functioned according to plan, society as a whole would function harmoniously."

Here is an old idea, from an Oriental land, which has a strangely modernized, twentieth-century sound. For is this not a description of Mussolini's Fascist state? Indeed, if we did not immediately recognize the kinship, Mr. Prasad has pointed out for us by his use of the phrase "corporate community." Mussolini is dead and Fascism, if not dead, is happily sick, one may hope, to death. But the corporate state, like the Phoenix, threatens to rise from the ashes. It has a disturbing habit of appearing under new auspices, in new trappings, in many parts of the world, particularly in those countries where economic distress causes discontent but religious beliefs discourage support of that other claimant to knowledge of the road to Utopia, socialism.

Well, what happened in India's corporate state, in ancient days?

"In the course of time," says Mr. Prasad, "intermingling between the communities increased. The barriers separating the groups became rigid and the classes originally conceived as functional groups were petrified into four main castes."

It was this caste system which gave rise to the doctrine of untouchability, the horrible system under which, in Mr. Prasad's words, a "religious sanction" was given to segregation.

Segregation is a modern, Occidental problem, too.

Now India is solving it and the method may well contain a hint for the solution of the problem in the United States. In India public opinion was mobilized against untouchability by "the collective conscience of the Indian intelligentsia." In other words, the solution came not as the results of the protests of the underprivileged, but because the privileged revolted against the system.

THE ART IN WART REMOVAL

Where do warts go when they are bought?

This interesting question is the newest poser to medical science. Perhaps the science of medicine scoffs at anything as ethereal as the disappearance of purchased warts and the problem should be debated in philosophical terms in discussion on the art of healing.

A childhood remedy for warts long in vogue in this part of Canada has now come to the forefront of world attention through the publication of a book by British doctors. Dr. D. G. Aitken, writing in The Practitioner, notes the disappearance of children's warts after he has bought them for a few pennies. He starts with letting warts steal away quietly by a process all of their own, Dr. Aitken now wants to know why they disappear.

Dr. David Williams, in the same issue of the same magazine, suggests that the same treatment banishes the skin department of London's big King's College Hospital. He also said he knew a physician who cleared up warts with "a few passes of the hand" and another physician. Indeed, the X-ray machine worked as well on warts when it was not switched on as it did when all the radiations were turned on. It was like magic.

This is all very curious. Are warts merely excrescences on the skin reflecting a lumpy state of mind? Is child psychology so effective that suggestion coupled with several grants is sufficient to banish warts? Is it child cure with a wart with gentle prodding from a doctor can the same child, alert to the money-making potentialities of warts, realise a crop when the conditions aren't right? What happens if a warty child, convinced that great warts grow from little warts, decides not to accept seven cents until his warts grow maturer and more plentiful harvest? Can medical practitioners afford to disseminate information to children about the market value of warts?

After all, there are more children than there are doctors and a harassed medical practitioner, buying warts at seven cents each, could, conceivably, become impoverished in short order if warts became the rage.

It is not altogether fair of the doctors to reveal that an extinguished X-ray machine works as effectively as one with all its X-rays functioning. Less evidence than the disappearance of warts has been the basis for several important medical theories in the past and it would certainly shake public confidence if the idea became current that an X-ray machine was a good turned off as on.

We wonder, too, if doctors might not fire of buying warts after the first thousand gross or so leaving surviving warty children to their own devices without the scientific treatment and sympathetic understanding which characterizes modern medical practice?

NO COUNSELOR

Then some one asks for my advice
And always say: "I think it nice that you believe my judgment good
To give you counsel it I could,
But with this problem troubling
you
I don't know what you ought to do.

For years I've added to my cares
By blundering with my own affairs
I've lacked the wisdom and the sight
Correctly to know wrong from right.
To solve a problem that was tough
I never have been smart enough.

"I'm very proud to think that you
Would ask me what you ought to do.
That you've a problem there's no doubt,
But you will have to work it out.
To some one wiser you must go.
The answer, frankly, I don't know."

Uganda, Zoo on Loose

(By Philip Harshman, in a despatch to the Louisville Courier-Journal from Kichwamba, Uganda, Africa)

I must disagree with the great Winston Churchill. He said Uganda is a fairy tale. But Uganda is very real. It is Stanley's Africa. And Livingstone's Africa. And it is fabled Africa in a nutshell.

Uganda, to coin a few cliches, is the dark continent. It is nature's paint box spilled over.

As if the flowers and trees didn't look enough, the natives wrap themselves in the most brilliant yellows, reds and blues imaginable. You have the white man's civilization is coming to Uganda. And it is magnified in some very strange ways.

I have seen a village dandy dressed in tattered khaki shorts and a gaudy red and blue necktie. But that is something missing — his shirt. And there was the bicycle riding young man who wore striped shorts, no shirt, and a black dinner jacket.

* * *

The Kichwamba hotel, setting for a novel entitled "Welcome to Paradise", sits on a high, bluff overlooking a green plain. At certain times of the year it is something of a grandstand seat for a two act zoo pageant.

I walked out the hotel door and found what to me was a strange animal track. I asked the hotel manager what it was.

"Lion", she said. "Rather large one, wasn't he?"

"You mean lions come roaming right up to the hotel?"

"Of course", she said blandly. "They aren't afraid of you."

"Then", I said, "I'm not what I was worrying about."

Then there was the elephant. It was frightening, to say the least, if I had never known elephants could appear so large.

I turned a sharp bend in the rutted road and there he was. A large bull with magnificent tusks.

I braked the tiny car to a quick stop. He stood in the middle of the road, staring at me. His big ears waved back and forth. His trunk crept rising and falling. He was about 100 feet away.

Old-timers had warned me to sit very still in the event of such an encounter. Sure. Sure. I was sitting in fact. My cameras were on the seat beside me. But I was attempting to point a camera in his direction.

Minutes passed, and his only movement was a movement of trunk and ears. Half an hour elapsed, and we were still staring each other down.

Then he tired of the game. He raised his trunk and trumpeted, wheeled and lumbered off into the bush.

I spent the remainder of the afternoon looking for an elephant to photograph.

Uniforms For Spies

(Tracks Magazine.)

One of those small tropic republics which does not require military apparel hired an American tailor to restyle its uniforms. Among the ensembles suggested by the republic's chief of staff to the tailor was one with a green jacket, blue trousers, red boots and a canary yellow visored cap.

The tailor blinked. "I take it this uniform is for the personal guard of the president?" he asked.

"Oh, not at all, senor", the chief of staff explained. "This one is for the secret service."

Publishers Need 3 Wives

In a recent editorial, W. E. Stotch, publisher of the Milford (N.H.) Cabinet, offered the idea of the wives as the answer to the problems of weekly newspapers.

"Wife No. 1," he wrote, "could be called the Eager Editor. She can type a hundred words a minute, talk on two telephones at once, write a column of advice to the lovelorn, describe a wedding breakfast or compose a book review.

"She knows the middle initial of the Rotary Club directors, and which Bobolinks are Past Noble Grands.

"She can soothe a subscriber whose paper has been lost in the mail, calm the young woman whose name was misspelled, and when the Woman's Club news is left out she can make the club secretary agree that it was all for the best.

"Her idea of an exciting evening is to cover the PTA meeting, the opening of a summer theatre and an 11:30 p.m. general alarm fire, and if she catches its ready to set in type by eight o'clock the following morning.

Wife No. 2 is the Darkroom Drudge. No hours for her, nor does she want any. But she her camera are always on hand when the Legion officers are installed, when the fire department receives a cat, and if she catches pneumonia while out photographing the hurricane, it is all part of the game. Her eyes may be bloodshot, her fingers stained brown, but she has those glossy prints ready on time. In a pinch she can feed the press, run a linotype, drum up an extra list, type advertising and sell a couple of subscriptions on the way to the office.

"Wife No. 3 is the Happy Homebody. She may not know an electrotype from a rotary press, but she knows a steak when she sees it, turbed when her husband says he needs support at six o'clock and forgets to come home until half past eight.

"When he comes in from a day at the office she has the children tucked into bed, his favorite radio program turned on, a hot meal ready to be put on the table.

"She knows when to be shushed out the door shouting something about having forgotten all about some special meeting he has to attend. She tries to guess what time he will be back, so she can have a plate of cold roast beef and a cup of hot coffee ready.

"She has learned to tell while he is shaving, from the tone of voice, 'He isn't here just now, but I'll give him the message,' and she knows when to answer: 'Yes, dear,' when he tells her about the wonderful time he has had making his life difficult.

"Wife No. 4, the secret of getting out a weekly paper as simple as that. If a publisher picks his three wives well there is no reason at all why he should not be a success."

Letter to the Editor

U Nu Does Not Act Like Religious Man

Editor,
Belleville Intelligencer.

Your recent editorial reference (July 29) to Letter-Review's comments on U Nu, Prime Minister of Burma, suggests that, like ourselves, you are more than a little intrigued by the career of this amiable if somewhat erratic Asiatic politician.

Unfortunately, however, Prime Minister U Nu's public utterances during his recent visit to the U.S. reveal his devotion to religion has contributed little to his understanding of Christianity or his abrupt manifestation of pique when kept waiting for a few minutes when he called upon the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture in Washington, Mrs. Sarah T. Hughes described as the conduct of a devout and religious man.

TV Politics Ineffective

(Fort Erie Letter-Review)

A survey of television political broadcasts during recent election campaign in the United States reveals that not more than 15 per cent of the voting population had turned on to be an acceptable substitute for the printed word, or for personal platform experiences, when it comes to political campaigns.

Big Country To Be Lost In

(Montreal Gazette)

The wreckage of a missing aircraft has been found 65 miles west of Chatham, New Brunswick. The R.C.A.F. search plane sighted it and the Air Force ground crew which went in to investigate weren't looking for it. They were looking for a missing hunter.

The one they found had been missing, with seven aboard, since 1945.

The search for the hunter will help them, bring them home. Sometimes this involves weeks of search by ground parties, whose crewmen are themselves risking their lives in inhospitable country. Sometimes it involves a single aircraft and its passengers.

Once, we often hear, the searchers find an appalling record of how many Children have died in the search in the Rockies a few years ago, the wreckage of an American C-54 Clipper, with the skeletons off 11 men aboard. Neither Ameriwhich the lost hunter is described as can nor Canadian authorities make such a loss — until they worked their way through the wartime ferrying to Pacific bases.

The B-29 had disappeared 10 years before.

Knowing these possibilities, searching Air Force crews have confidence, the Canadian Department of Transport sets down stringent rules for the operation of aircraft in territory. The aircraft must be suitable, the pilot experienced, the weather over the territory; the plane must carry food and survival equipment for all aboard.

Too often, these rules are complied with, but the tragedies they are evaded. It is most difficult to enforce them.

Newsman Sees Much Humor In Daily Routine of Hospital

By GEORGE H. CARVER

You meet all kinds of personalities in a hospital.

Strangely enough in an institution traditionally quiet, serious, and housing a humour cause there are undercurrents of humor.

Kingston General Hospital, which claims the third highest rating for oldest training schools for nurses in Canada, is no different.

Printance, there is Isobel, a maid, who manages the corridor floor of our particular floor with a broom-mop every day. Isobel is a kindhearted soul who abhors cruelty. She is kindness itself even to a broom. They say she has not worn one out in 20 years.

The other day the hospital equivalent of John L. Lewis and her coterie of cleaners were discussing the day's work. It appeared the walls of the corridor were to be washed. Isobel not only is kind but detests arguments. In this case she refused to take either side. So she washed the ceiling.

LOVES SQUARE DANCING

Then there is Pearl, a nurses' aide. She is a girl for whom square dancing is an oyster. She loves it. Pari attends at least four barn dances a week and is café-eyed the remaining three days.

Barn dances are popular around Kingston. There's "William's Barn, Joe's Barn," and some other barns which, I'm sure are the "Buffler Cafe", "Turkey in the Straw", and other barleybeard ballads. There is a ball movement among some prize herds which may result in a strike. "Tis said the bosses resent the invasion of their domains while they are out chewing the short green to make the long green for dosy-doeing owners.

To keep in trend with the modern, or rather, rejuvenated craze, a fellow patient kindly informs us that new barns are being built with a built-in orchestra platform and a milk-bar-water-trough combination in the basement.

Another farmer - musician - night club - entrepreneur is trying his own band to cut overhead. Connie the Calf cuddles a clarinet; Toro, a bull, tickles the trap; the Plymouth Rock pecks the piano; Bozo the Boar bangs the bull viola while Freda the Filly fillips the fiddle. Carry, a Cochin-China, cackles the calls.

Pearl says it will be the last thing in modern barn architecture. There will be a floor show on opening night with "Rollo the Rock-'n'-Roll Rooster and his Quivering Spurs", "Sybil, the Shorthorn Silo Soprano," a cut-up from the corn belt, the "Black 'n' Whites," a Holstein quartet of brilliant bovine balladeers who will soon appear on a roast-is-roast cook-up, and "Jersey Jessie", a striptease beefer queen, star of barn, stable and mooing pastures, whose hoofstrings have the younger bull(ets) doing the dum-dum.

One feature about the barn, Pearl says, is it will provide room for at least one horse, a cow and two loads of hay, pressed.

SPORTS FAN

Miss Anne Davis, assistant superintendent of nurses here, who gathers a brood of over 60 nursing aspirants annually, is a delightful lady. Tall, well-educated, poised, she makes her daily visits a looked-for pleasure. She conversed for some length with the convalescent the other day on the history of K.G.H. It was very interesting. Top secret, or is it? is the fact Miss Davis is an ardent sports fan, hockey preferred, then football and baseball. She doesn't get any thrills from a rollicking, ripsroaring, muscle-bulging game of chess.

Before leaving the room Miss Davis asked our opinion on an important matter. The question: "Which team will win the American League pennant?"

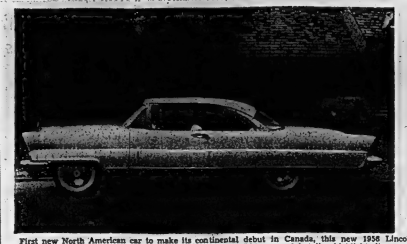
The answer? "The team lives near water and does best get its mail at Washington, Detroit, Kansas City or Baltimore."

Then there is Horace, the male orderly who worked in another hospital. Horace is an ebullient bloke, inclined to be gullible, but a good and faithful servant born within sound of Bow Bells.

See 'e, "Orace, see I, Henglan's no place for the likes of you. Why don'cha try Canada, y' bloody fool. They says the dollars grows on happle trees, they do. So I comes to Canada an' wot happens? I find myself a bloomin' 'ospital horderly. It ain't arf bad, either, guvnor. But they ain't no dollars on the blarsted happle trees 'aroun' 'ere. All there has is happles. Some blokit told me to try a happle bloodin' happle cart. Nah, that sounded a bit of alright, so I looked one up. Happles, ruthin' but bloodin' happles. Wot's a man'in' to think me leg was bein' pulled."

Not being versed in the mysteries of dietetics, I told Horace what was bein' meant by "bland foods." I saw them noted on a diet sheet.

BLAND FOODS



"Why that's heasy, guvnor," he chuckled. "Blimey, you a newspaper bloke and don't know what 'bland foods" is? Youghta be ashimed of yourself, you do. It's them bland flakes, bland muffins, bland toasties, bland meal and bland mashes wot they feed 'orses when they're sick. When yer gits 'ome why dontcha buy a pack of two. They tells me you gits a David Crockett headpiece with 'em."

So, in this final outburst, and at the "vacation illness" draws to a close, we express our sincere appreciation to Dr. Lawrence Hayes in particular, Dr. Kelly, Miss Davis and nurses, Fleur Harten, Hope Hurley, Shirley Batting, M. Oake; and others of a highly trained and efficient staff.

During our career as a newspaper man we have heard many complaints regarding hospitals and treatment. After our experience here and in Belleville, we are more and more convinced that by far the greatest amount of fault lies with the people who enter hospitals as patients.

GIVEN NEW POSTS

LETHBRIDGE (CP) — Maj. Douglas Church, formerly in charge of Salvation Army work at Parry Sound, arrives in Lethbridge next weekend to assume charge of the Salvation Army here, it was announced Wednesday. Capt. S. Nahimey, in Lethbridge until recently, has left for Ontario to take charge of young people's work in an area extending from Sault Ste. Marie to Orillia and north.

First new North American car to make its continental debut in Canada, this new 1958 Lincoln Premiere coupe was unveiled by Ed Sullivan at the CNE. Lithe, graceful styling highlights its overall length of 18½ feet—more than 7 inches longer and 2½ inches lower than the 1955 Lincoln. Its 285 h.p. V-8 engine with 9 to 1 compression is the most powerful and durable Lincoln engine ever built and its torque rating (driving thrust) is the highest of any North American car. By blending Lincoln's familiar tail lights with unique jet-pod bumper guards (which double as exhaust outlets) the new Lincoln achieves a low, wide and ground-hugging look.

Woman Freed By Supreme Court Jury

STRATFORD (CP)—Mrs. Madelaine Myrtle Smith, 40, of Listowel, charged with manslaughter following the death of her husband May 29, was discharged Wednesday by a Supreme Court of Ontario jury.

Mr. Justice Charles D. Stewart told the jury "in the purely legal aspect of the case, there is no evidence that Mr. Smith's death was caused by an unlawful act or by gross negligence."

Mr. Smith was found dead in his bed May 29. An autopsy revealed he had received blow on head.

Pathologist Dr. Walter James Armstrong of Kitchener testified during two-day trial that a rolling pin produced in evidence as property of Mrs. Smith could have caused lacerations that led to death.

Indian Charged With Murder

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Lloyd Nashkawa, 22-year-old Owen Sound district Indian charged with murder, appeared briefly in court Wednesday and was remanded to Sept. 14.

Nashkawa appeared unconcerned as magistrate George Street of Welland read the charge.

Crown Unable To Prove Intent Against Girl

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Abduction charges against a 23-year-old babysitter were dropped Wednesday when crown attorney Lloyd Goodwin said he was unable to prove intent.

The charges were laid Sunday against Joyce Matthews of Fort Erie after she took two small children from a Niagara home and left them with her mother in Fort Erie so she could go out with a friend.

The parents left home at 1 p.m. to find their children gone. Mrs. Matthews returned shortly after 5 a. m.

"You're just lucky you aren't ending it in jail," magistrate George Street of Welland said.

WILL GIVE ESTATE

OSHAWA (CP)—Col. R. S. McLaughlin, 84 today, who has made millions in the automobile industry, said Wednesday he intends to leave his Ont. estate, Parkwood, to Oshawa General Hospital upon the death of himself and his wife. Col. McLaughlin, speaking at cornerstone ceremonies of a new $2,500,000 hospital wing, said also he will leave sufficient funds to convert the house to whatever use the hospital wishes when it takes over.

Weddings

DENTON—LUMMISS

A wedding of much local interest took place at St. Paul's Anglican church, Marmora, on Saturday, September 3, at 3.30 p.m., when Dorothy Anne Lummiss, Reg.N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lummiss, of Marmora, was united in marriage to Dennis Denton of Guelph, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Denton of London, England. Canon J. M. Brownlie, rector of the church, was the officiating clergyman.

The church was tastefully decorated with baskets of pink and white gladioli and the home of the bride with multi-colored gladioli.

Traditional wedding music was played by the organist, Mrs. Roy Frost.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was dressed in a chacoal grey suit and wore a lime green feather hat with matching blouses and gloves, black shoes and bag and corsage of Briarcliff roses.

Miss Shirley Lummiss, sister of the bride, as her bridesmaid, wore a light green gabardine suit with yellow blouse, yellow velvet hat and shoes and gloves of British tan. Her corsage was of Gloria roses.

The groomsman was Mr. Kenneth Marshall of Fergus, Ontario, and Messrs. William Deering of Marmora, and Fred Stewart of Deloro, were ushers.

The reception was held on the rectory lawn, the wedding repast being served by St. Paul's Ladies' Guild to immediate relatives numbering forty.

The bride's mother received in a navy dress trimmed with lace with rose accessories and corsage of Bettertime roses. She was assisted by Mrs. Marshall of Fergus, sister of the bridegroom, who wore a grey suit with black accessories and corsage of Bettertime roses.

The bridal pair later left on their wedding trip to New York City and through the States. On their return they will take up residence at Guelph.

Out-of-town guests were present from Fergus, Belleville, Niagara Falls, N.Y., Bancroft and Madoc.

SWOOP LINE

Reminiscent of the 1920s is this style called the "swoop". It has a free line with flattering motion introduced by panels and pleats. Designed for a day-to-day wear the scoop-sheathed neck is of British wool. From the low hipline black taffeta springs in two swooping panels. The model wears a huge, beaver hat. (CP Photo).

Women's Activities

CENTRE - VICTORIA - SEDNERSVILLE W.M.S.

Following the holiday season, the W.M.S. convened at the home of Mrs. Sidney Fox for its September meeting with Mrs. Don Spencer in charge.

The theme of the program throughout was "A Door of Understanding." Several members helped with the opening worship service which closed with singing "In Christ there is no East or West."

During the business period, the minutes were read and approved, calls made and cards sent reported, a bill of $2.25 for the new study packet was voted to be paid and a letter read regarding an executive meeting for the Presbyterial on September 8, at Wellington.

Mrs. Spencer extended a cordial welcome to Mr. and Mrs. van Walsem and children.

Mrs. Melvin Fulper, 3rd vice-president took charge of the program which was a study on "Human Relations and Our Attitude to Nationality Groups". Interesting facts were brought out and it was felt that race discrimination truly is an offence against God. The majority of Canada's immigrants come from Great Britain, Holland, Germany and Italy.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by the committee in charge and a social time enjoyed.

Mrs. Stafford moved a vote of thanks to the afternoon hostess and to the lunch committee.

The October meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Melvin Fulper.

HOLLOWAY ST. W.M.S.

The Woman's Missionary Society met in the Holloway Street United church parlors on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Coulter, the president, presided and extended a cordial welcome to all.

Mrs. Mitchell with her group, had charge of the worship service, and Mrs. Coulter gave a resume of the Dominion of Canada, showing the mission schools.

Mrs. Insley favored with a hymn, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," which was preceded by a paper on the life of the writer.

Tea was served.

Tabernacle W.A. Hears Talk On Radio Experiences

The Woman's Association of Tabernacle United church held its first meeting of the fall season. The president, Mrs. R. L. Johnston, presided.

The program was presented by Mrs. G. Winter's group with Mrs. Rofe taking the devotional. Two pleasing duets were rendered by Barbara Touchie and Diane Burley accompanied by Sheila Touchie.

Mrs. F. Lent introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Haig, who broadcasts from the local radio station as Harriet Stevens. She told of her many interesting experiences in her work. The speaker was thanked by Mrs. Nunn.

A social half hour followed.

Rebekah Lodge Opens Season With Card Party

Return to fall activities was heralded on Tuesday night by the Quinte sisters of Rebekah lodge No. 138 with a friendly night of cards after regular lodge duties were disposed with.

Sisters Lena Belnap and Lena MacMillan were in charge of cards and winners were, ladies, Mrs. Tugnette, Mrs. Jensen; men, Mrs. Blooms and Mr. Ashley.

Convener for the evening was Sister Nan Cathcart who provided the players with tasty refreshments after the game.

Women's Institute

PARKDALE W.I.

Mrs. C. Keeble was hostess for the August meeting of the Parkdale W.I. The president opened the meeting in the usual manner There were 13 present.

A report of the annual picnic was given.

The motto, "Tact is the ability to make your brain work, before your tongue wags", was given by Mrs. W. Bronson. A short sing-song followed.

Several coming events were discussed. Plans were made for the short course, "Sandwiches for all Occasions," to be held in September.

Two short films were presented, the first entitled "Mother of Rivers", was filmed in British Columbia. The second was "It's Fun to Sing," starring the Lester Bell singers during a practice session in the studio. These films were much enjoyed.

A social time with refreshments closed a pleasant evening.

Separated for 17 Years by War, Red Restrictions, Are Re-united

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — A husband and wife, separated for 17 years by the Second World War and Russian restrictions, have started on their second honeymoon here.

Mr. and Mrs. Bronius Badikonis, both natives of Russian-dominated Lithuania who emigrated to Canada before the war, met at Windsor airport this week for the first time since 1938 when Mrs. Badikonis returned to Lithuania for what she thought was to be a short visit.

Although she planned to stay for only a year, she found herself caught there first by the war and then by the Iron Curtain. Last week, after eight years of applications through the Canadian government, the Russian state department cleared her exit papers.

"I'm so very happy to come back to my husband," the small, 45-year-old woman said through an interpreter. "I have waited a long time for this."

DAUGHTER IN RUSSIA

Mr. Badikonis came to Canada from Lithuania in 1928, leaving his childhood sweetheart behind him. He worked for seven years to get enough money to bring her out, and they were married in 1935 when she finally came to Canada.

Then, three years later, Mrs. Badikonis left on her fateful trip to her native land.

A few months months after she arrived in Lithuania, she gave birth to her only child, Bernice. Now 17, the couple's daughter has remained in Russia and is studying under a state scholarship to be a nurse specialist.

During the Second World War, Mrs. Badikonis was recruited as a munitions factory worker. After the war, she made application to return to Canada and her husband.

The Russians, who by that time had taken over the country, just shrugged their shoulders when she said "I wanted to come back," she told reporters through her interpreter.

They told me, when the time comes we'll let you go.'

They wouldn't tell me anything else, and they just kept telling me to wait."

LIVED WITH PARENTS

She said she enjoyed her life in Lithuania except, of course, I was so many miles away from my husband.

The food was plentiful, we women could buy fashionable clothes and I did just as I pleased. It was not hard to live comfortably."

She lived with her daughter and parents in one of the large postwar apartment houses which she said the Russians have put up.

She said she worked at a dress factory off and on for something to do." In spite of the restrictions clamped around the country by the Iron Curtain, the couple said they had no trouble exchanging letters at any time.

Last week, the Russian emigration officials paid her a surprise visit, and told her she could leave Russia. She said she thought they finally relented because her husband had become a Canadian citizen.

I was so happy that I could return my husband at last," she said. Even though I could not bring my daughter with me, I was told she could come to Canada later if she wants to."

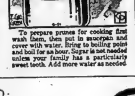
The day after Mrs. Badikonis arrived here, she was welcomed by a large party of her husband's friends. Then the couple left on their second honeymoon.

Canadian R.C. Plans Series Of Meetings

A series of regional meetings is planned for early fall, it was announced at Ontario Division headquarters in Toronto today, when Red Cross branches will come together at various points throughout the province and exchange ideas for their mutual benefit. They will hear speakers who will touch on the international, national, provincial and local Red Cross work. The first of these meetings is scheduled for North Bay, September 28th and the second at Brockville on October 5th. All meeting are under the auspices of the Ontario Division Branch Liaison committee of which Mr. J. H. Passmore of Toronto is chairman. This conference of Eastern Ontario Red Cross branches and Ottawa Valley branches under the joint vice-chairmanship of Mrs. D. Ross-Ross of Cornwall and Mrs. J. F. Neville of Ottawa, will bring together 73 Red Cross branches from that area. This meeting will be held in the Manitoona Hotel, Brockville.

Speakers will include, Mr. Marshal Stearns, president of Toronto branch Red Cross and Colonel H. A. Graham, president of Ontario Division.

Other regional meetings planned for this fall are—one for the Lakehead brnaches (Mrs. J. A. Kennedy, Fort William, regional chairman) and probably one which will combine Western Ontario branches (Mrs. H. L. Savage, Windsor, regional chairman); Central Ontario branches (Mrs. A. C. McKenzie, Beaverton, chairman) and mid-Western Ontario branches.



Trenton Hospital Honors Interne

Last Friday evening, Mr. T. A. Patterson of Stirling, who has been an interne at Trenton Memorial Hospital during the summer months, was pleasantly surprised with a farewell presentation of a sphygmomanometer and a purse of money, by the doctors and nursing staff of the hospital.

The presentation was made by Dr. W. A. L. McDonald and Mrs. Sirtle of the operating room staff.

Mr. Patterson expressed his appreciation to all his co-workers for their assistance in valuable experience in preparation for his final year at the Faculty of Medicine, University of Toronto.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

THERE ARE MANY REASONS FOR SAYING "NO," NANCY

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

My boy friend and I have been going together for over a year, and we eventually hope to be married. He is 20, and I am 19.

Now he has asked me to have an affair with him. He says that there would be no harm in it; that most boys and girls have affairs before they are married.

I don't know what to do. I love Bill, and am afraid of losing him if I don't do as he wants. But at the same time I am wondering if he is really right when he says there is no harm in it.—Nancy

Dear Nancy:

You are only one of many girls and your age who find themselves confronted with a problem of this kind, as I am sure you know. I'm very glad you had the good sense to ask someone's advice, for, unfortunately, all too many girls write their letters only after they have yielded to their boy friends' persuasion and found themselves in serious trouble, or else feel guilty, mad panic stricken, and fearful of the future.

It is easy to understand, of course, how two young people who are deeply attached to each other can be strongly tempted to let go of all inhibitions and give their emotions the right of way. It's even easy for most people, young or otherwise, to argue themselves into believing that, if they love each other, it is only right that their love should take precedence over all other considerations.

The only trouble is that, while all this may be a beautiful theory, it almost invariably takes a disastrous fall when it meets practical facts head-on.

Let's look, for a minute, at those hard practical facts, and let's admit, right in the beginning before someone throws it up to us, that there are cases where none of them applied but where everything came out all right. But such cases are the rare exception. Far more often than not, one or the other of the practical facts takes over to break the heart, and sometimes well nigh ruin the life, of the young person who has let the voice of her emotions outshout the voice of reason.

The first of the facts that make an unqualified No the only wise answer to the question of whether or not to have a pre-marital affair is this: In the vast majority of such affairs, either the young man or the young woman—and it's almost always young man—sooner or later wearies of the relationship, and then someone is apt to be badly hurt and disillusioned. That "someone," in about ninety instances out of a hundred, is the girl. For an affair of this sort, as a rule, has more significance for her than it has for the boy, who frequently has no thought of eventual marriage, while the girl believes that eventual marriage is the excuse for the affair and will condone it.

I am quite sure, Nancy, that, since you and Bill are planning to be married at some future time, you are firmly convinced that this could never happen to you. Bill loves you too much, you are certain, for him to have his feelings toward you changed by an affair. And maybe he does. But, whatever your convictions, you'll be wise to remember that many and many a girl who has been just as sure as you are that her young man would never change toward her has been cruelly hurt to find that, once having yielded to the young man she expected would be her husband, he presently found her no longer as desireable as she was before. How many times have I heard the same bitter cry from girls who have had this experience! "He says," they write, "that because I was willing to have an affair with him outside marriage, it has made him feel that he couldn't trust me!"

And a second of the practical reasons for saying "No" to the suggestion of an affair is even more obvious. There is the danger — the very grave danger — of pregnancy. And if you think that, to enjoy in advance the beautiful intimacies of married life would outweigh the terror that would grip you, and the dreadful problems that would rise up to confront you, if you did become pregnant, you would have a fearful awakening.

Then, one more reason: The girl with a "past," even a dead and buried one, is all too likely to find herself a ghost rising to haunt her at one way or another at some critical moment in later life.

There are still other reasons, Nancy, for refusing to fall in with the young man's ideas, but these three should be enough. Moreover, I suspect that, even though you may not have given yourself the concrete reasons for refusing that I have outlined for you, you know already what is wise and what is unwise along these lines. I think that what you really want is for me to back up the decision that is right and maybe more than half formed in your own mind.

Isn't this so?

Tomatoes—Inexpensive And Unexpendable

By Mary Moore

Early in July John stopped at our house to pick up some music for his children's choir which I had selected for him in Novello's in London. You didn't know that I was a choir-music-selector did you? I'm anything but—I just take long chances. Praise be and luckily I chanced on three or four selections out of about thirty that John had wanted for years. He says that on the Sunday morning before Christmas when his choir is to sing, just as he raises his baton he'll turn around and give me a big wink.

As he left I suggested that after his summer examinations were over he come to our house and have a steak dinner. Many weeks later he telephoned to say he had only one more exam. to write (for his B.A.) and asked if my invitation was still good.

It certainly was but I was low on vegetables and had no time to shop so I used the reliable old tomato, and since then have been serving them every imaginable way. That night we had

BRIDLED CRUMBED TOMATO

Wash large, firm tomatoes, cut slice and core from top and bottom leaves crosswise. Do not peel. Sprinkle with salt and then cover with 1-4 inch layer of buttered, salted and peppered fine cracker crumbs. Sprinkle with paprika and bake with top burner turned on until they are barely fork tender. You may have to turn off top burner if they are browning too quickly. They require about 15 to 20 minutes at 375 deg. Fahr.

BEEF CREOLE

This recipe serves this to her family of six who love it and she says it is a good economical main course while tomatoes are fresh and big.

Sear 1 lb. hamburger in frying pan with no fat until it is dark cold. Remove it from pan, discard any fat and replace it with 1 tablespoon bacon fat. In this lightly brown 1-2 cup chopped celery, 1 chopped large onion, and about 2 or 3 tablespoons chopped green pepper. Return seared meat to pan and add 1 teaspoon salt and some pepper. Have ready and peeled 6 large tomatoes. Chop them coarsely and add them with 3-4 teaspoon chili powder. Cook until tomatoes are "soupy" mix 1 1-2 tablespoons flour into a smooth paste with 1-4 cup water and stir into the meat mixture until thick. Tomatoes differ—if your mix seems too thin add more flour; if too thick add more water. Ladle this into nests of fluffy boiled rice.

TOMATO MARMALADE

This recipe came from Dulce. She doubles it for her family of six.

Peel and drain chopped tomatoes and measure 2 cups well-packed and solid. Add to 2 cups pared, cored chopped apple (you may use "windfalls"). Put meat through the meat grinder 1 lemon and add that. Cook 15 minutes, then add 2 cups sugar and cook until of consistency of marmalade—about 30 minutes—then add 4 tablespoons chopped preserved or candied ginger. (Dulce says once she used ginger root but only a very little instead of the candied ginger—and did so very "gingerly" tasting it frequently.) Cook 10 minutes longer then pour into sterile jars and seal. Dulce says that the tomatoes lose their identity and that if you can tell this is a cheap tomato base she'll eat her ginger root straight!

It is a delicious economical family marmalade.

A HYGIENIC AID TO GOOD GROOMING

Powder, applied with a fluffy cotton ball instead of a worn puff, lasts longer, gives a smoother effect.

It isn't always the cosmetics you use but the way you apply them that is responsible for the final effect of your make-up. Rouge and powder, for instance. Slapped on the face with soiled puffs, they can't possibly do anything or you. In fact, your make-up is likely to look muddy, no matter how carefully you have selected their shades. Smart girls use cotton balls instead of tired looking puffs and pads to do a good job.

Convenient and ready - made, these balls are formed of fine silte long - haired virgin cotton that won't ravel and they are absolutely sterile—which is important if you would keep your skin in good condition. So, for the sake of your skin as well as efficiency in "putting on your face", why not perfect a new powdering technique—one that will guarantee smoothness and stay-on qualities?

First start with a sparkling clean skin surface. Then dip a cotton ball into the powder until it is coated generously. Now press it gently onto the face. (There's no place in your powdering routine for fluffing, patting or rubbing.)

Work from the throat, up one side of the face, across the forehead and to the other side, leaving the nose and chin until last. Coat the cotton ball generously for each powder press-on.

Wait a second or two for the powder to "set". Then, take a fresh cotton ball and with quick, downward strokes, remove the excess. (Downward strokes flatten the tiny hairs on the skin and give a smoother, longer-lasting job.)

Finish off by saturating a cotton ball with cologne. Press the cotton ball until it is almost dry, then pat the powdered face to further "set" the powder. This helps to remove any possible pasty look.

If you use dry rouge, apply it over the powder with a clean ball —and apply it delicately. Heavy make-up is definitely out this season. Instead, skin emerges fresh and radiant from a light veil of powder; comes alive with a skilful blush of rouge. Paste or liquid rouges should be applied before powdering. These, of course, you will apply with your finger up, but the hygienic cotton balls are excellent for smoothing them on evenly.

The well groomed girl will also find cotton balls invaluable for removing make-up, removing nail polish, for applying skin tonics and lotions and for oiling a dry scalp.

QUESTIONS ABOUT RECTORY WEDDING

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We would like to ask a few questions concerning our wedding which is to take place in the rectory of our church.

(1) Our parents will be present, but we do not want to have any attendants. Would this be possible?

(2) With the silk suit I am planning to wear, should I wear a hat?

(3) For this type of wedding should the groom give a fee to the minister? If so, about how much?

—M.M.

(1) It's best, of course, for you to have an attendant and for the groom to have a best man . . . these two to be the witnesses. However, if you still prefer not to have any attendants, you may ask the clergyman if some members of his household will act as witnesses.

(2) Yes . . . you should wear a hat or some appropriate head-covering for this religious ceremony.

(3) Yes, the groom should have the minister's fee enclosed in an envelope to be handed to him before the bride and groom depart. The amount of the fee depends on the circumstances of the groom. for this simple occasion, from five to ten dollars would be about right.

West Huntingdon

WEST HUNTINGON—The Labor Day holiday was duly observed here; the farmers who really are entitled to a Labor Day holiday had to continue on with their usual tasks. Corn picking is in progress also the sowing of fall wheat.

The United church congregation had a record successful anniversary service on Sunday. Mr. Robert Peoples, pastor of the North Trenton United church, was the visiting minister and he brought two outstanding messages.

The choir under the leadership of Mrs. William Grant, rendered two anthems. Miss Lois Cooke and Miss Marilyn Pitchett contributed a duet at the morning service. The male quartet of St. Paul's United church, Stirling, was present at the evening service and gave two excellent numbers that were much appreciated. Those in the quartet were Mr. Jack Dunn, Mr. Orin Richardson, Bryce Philp and Harry Brown.

The Rev. C. H. Chapman assisted with the evening service. There were 90 present at the church both morning and evening services.

Cottage prayer meeting was held at Sarah and Arthur Wilson's home on Thursday evening. Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson each gave a message.

The opening of the school bells on Tuesday morning served two purposes, for that day the first school day season was finished and it was also the call to seven young pupils to start their educational career. Those starting were, Marlene Farrell, Steven Dunn, Jimmy Haggarty, Jack Donnan, Allan Cooke, Gary Thompson and Deirdre Donnan, daughter of Dorcelin of Madoc, is the new principal.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sills on the birth of a nine pound boy, on Monday, September 5th at Belleville General Hospital.

Mr. Allan Wallace and Mr. Melbourne Moorcroft left on Tuesday for Edmonton, Alberta, where they expect to spend the next couple of months.

Mr. Alvin Carr attended the CNE at Toronto this week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Grant, Heath and Peter, enjoyed a holiday with friends at Toronto and Lake Simcoe. They also attended the exhibition at Toronto.

Killed at Pickering

PICKERING (CP) — William Bradley, 60, was killed today when buried 30 feet by a car on Highway 2, two miles west of here.

Police said he was walking across the highway when struck by a car driven by Jack Spencer, 36, of Whitby.

RICE HARVEST

Indian harvesters use a canoe to reap wild rice in shallow lakes and marshes in eastern Manitoba. The Indians call September the Moon of Wild Rice. Pickers are paid 25 cents a pound by dealers. The rice is sold on the Chicago market at approximately $110 a bushel. Indians in the canoe glide through towering rice stalks. The one in the bow guides the canoe while the other kneels amidships and bends the slender stems over the side of the canoe with a long picking stick. With a second stick held in the other hand he gently taps off the rice heads into the bottom of the craft.—(CP from National Film Board.)

'Give Our Blood' Cypriots Pledge In Protest Rally

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters) — More than 20,000 Greek Cypriots roared "We shall give our blood" at a rally near here today protesting against the suspension Wednesday night of London talks on the future of this British - owned Mediterranean island.

The crowds gathered at dawn to hear a defiant sermon by Greek Orthodox Archbishop Markarios, leader of a long campaign to put Cyprus under the Greek flag.

The pledge to continue the campaign came as relations between Greece and Turkey slumped to their lowest point since the two joined in the Atlantic pact.

Turkish tanks and troops with fixed bayonets patrolled the streets of three Turkish cities after anti-Greek rioting Tuesday which injured 57 persons and set 54 buildings — including 19 Greek churches —in flames. The riot crowds shouted, "Cyprus is Turkish."

In Athens, Greek government sources confirmed that Greece has threatened to pull out of local force out of amphibious Atlantic pact manoeuvres scheduled to begin in two weeks.

TROOPS ALERTED

Earlier the Greek general staff informed the Turkish and Yugoslav general staffs that Greece will not join in three-power military talks scheduled for Ankara later this month. The three have signed a mutual aid treaty.

All British troops and police on Cyprus were on double alert this morning. More than 600 Royal Marine commandos are being rushed from Malta to help in a search for terrorists and arms caches.

Moira

MOIRA — Mr. and Mrs. Don Osbourne and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Osbourne and Bobby, of Toronto, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kellar.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hilbert on the birth of a baby girl.

School opened this morning at Moira with Mrs. Graham as teacher for Sr. room, and Mrs. Clive Elliott for the Jr. room. There were four new beginners, namely: Gary Thompson, Deane Mefenny, Alva Forsythe and Roger Regunberg.

Mr. Francis Thompson and Mr. Donald Kinsella left a week ago on a trip to western provinces and expect to help with the harvest.

On Sunday a large number of friends and relatives attended the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Ketcheson held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Ketcheson, it being the latter's residence.

Mr. and Mrs. John Holden left on Tuesday for a trip to west to visit relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Ketcheson attended the farewell party of their grandson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Williams), at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Williams at Rossford on Monday night. Ted and his wife are leaving for England on the 15th September where he will be stationed for three years.

Mrs. Kenneth Stewart, of Lakefield, called on friends on Tuesday and spent the tea hour with Mr. and Mrs. Blake Ketcheson.

SULTAN LIKES THE STATUS QUO

Legislature Opens Session With Ceremony

TORONTO (CP)—The booming 15-volley salute of ancient guns and the stepping of arms presented by guards recalling earlier days will signal the opening today of the 25th session of the Ontario legislature.

Lieutenant-Governor Louis Breithaupt will enter the parliament buildings at Queen's Park past a guard of honor from Kingston's Fort Henry.

The guard, a civilian organization employed by the Ontario department of highways, is appearing at the invitation of Premier Frost to increase the atmosphere of the opening of the first Ontario parliament in Kingston in 1841.

The guard has brought along its own cannon for the traditional 15-gun salute. The ceremony is scheduled to start about 2:30 p. m.

The session is not expected to continue beyond Oct. 7. The main reason for its assembly is to recommittee the select committees dissolved when the election was called. They are committees of toll highways, air pollution and car registrations.

LEARNS TO SPEAK

After the lieutenant - governor reads the speech from the throne, the government likely will make a motion to dispense with debate on the speech to give opposition leaders—Farquhar Oliver of the Liberals and Donald MacDonald of the CCF—a chance to speak.

Premier Frost is expected to speak briefly on unemployment and health insurance, both to be discussed at the forthcoming Dominion-provincial conference in Ottawa. The premier also is expected to refer briefly to the proposed all-Canada natural-gas pipe line from Alberta.

For the first time, thousands of civil servants are to view the opening ceremonies.

Premier Frost issued instructions to departmental heads Wednesday night that all employees be given time off.

Swiacki Fines Entire Team For Poor Play

TORONTO (CP)—Coach Bill Swiacki of Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four said today he has fined his entire team for-playing poorly on Monday's game against Hamilton Tiger Cats. Argos lost 37-, after beating Hamilton 31-6 last Saturday.

Swiacki said Hamilton Stadiums were fined $50 each and Canadian players $25.

"We fumbled four times and dropped passes we should have completed," Swiacki said.

"You can't win games that way."

It is the first time an entire Canadian team has been fined for losing a game. The fines will be deducted from the players' pay cheques.

Argos were out practising Wednesday night in good spirits, but none would discuss the fining.

Marmora

MARMORA. — Mr. Robert Aunger of Bronte, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Aunger.

James Walker is a patient in Civic Hospital, Peterboyough, having injured his back while swimming in Crowe Lake on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. James Martin and family, spent the week-end in Toronto, and attended the CNE.

Mrs. Roy Walker was in charge of cooking at the Standard church camp at Ivanhoe, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Walker, Mr. Robert Walker, and Miss Joan Holmes of Madoc, visited the CNE on Monday.

Master Douglas Plumley returned home to Peterborough on Monday after a two weeks' visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Aunger.

Relatives of Robert Walker entertained him at a wiener roast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Walker and Mrs. Walker on Saturday evening, prior to his entering the Royal Military College, at Kingston, Ontario.

FISH LOST

GLOUCESTER, England (CP)—Thousands of salmon and trout have died in West country rivers during the last six weeks, due to low water levels.

BACK IN ENGLAND

—Central Press Canadian

This is a new photo of HAF Group Captain Peter Townsend, who was ordered back to England from Belgium to attend the annual Farnborough Air Show. Critics immediately began speculating whether or not there would be a meeting between the "exiled" flier and Princess Margaret, who had reached her majority and is now free to make her own choice for a husband.

Nervous, Rundown: Food Caused Gas, Indigestion

Had Poor Appetite, Always Tired. Limbs, Back Sore, Painful. Tells How She got First Relief by Taking Syntona.

"After the good results I got by taking Syntona Herbal Compound I will recommend this medicine to any one suffering as I did," says Mrs. Rita Lucas, 1429 Yonge St., London, Ontario, in a recent report.

"I felt terribly run down and had lost considerable weight. I had a poor appetite, bloated and gassy. I caused awful nasty pains. Heartburn and indigestion kept me awake nights. Constipation would seem to relieve the feelings and belch up hot, sour liquids. Nervousness resulted. Considering I was a daily worry to me and I suffered from sore, painful and limbs. I would get bad headaches and was extremely nervous most of the time.

"A friend advised me to try Syntona and since I've been taking this medicine I can say I have not felt so good in years. The constipation, gas, indigestion and pains are relieved. I am free of constipation, have a good appetite and enjoy my meals once again. Also I am free of headaches and sleep better at night, as my nerves are calmed down, so now I can do my work without nervous worries as usually used to I did before."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville by Delan the Druggist.

Nine Persons Picked Up By Mail Boat

LITTLE CURRENT, Ont. (CP) — Nine persons, including four children, were transferred from a small motor vessel in danger of running aground in northern Lake Huron Tuesday.

They were picked up by a mail boat skippered by Morland Hebert, after he noticed that the smaller vessel, the Julia, fell behind on a trip from Little Current to Killarney, on the north shore. The Julia's motor failed in rough seas and waves, whipped by 40-mile-an-hour winds, threatened to batter it on rocks.

Capt. Hebert threw a tow line to the Julia and its passengers and crew were taken aboard the mail boat.

Rescued were Mrs Christine Pitfield, her daughter, Marie, 11, Mary Lowe, Roberta Lowe and Elaine Lowe, Capt. Joseph Lowe and three crewmen, not identified.

FISH DISCARDED

PORT STANLEY (CP) — Hundreds of small smelts washed up along the shoreline appear to have been discarded by commercial fishermen, said conservation officer Daniel Neill Wednesday night. The officer came to Port Stanley to investigate a report that these little fish had been dying in large numbers An inspection of the dead fish shows marks of picking out hooks used by fishermen At present smelts have no value and those drifting ashore are mainly too small for market.

British Labor Congress Rejects Overtime Protest

SOUTHPORT (Reuters) — The Trades Union Congress has narrowly rejected a resolution calling for less overtime and a strong campaign for a 40-hour work week.

The motion, sponsored by the tiny blacksmiths' union, sparked a sharp debate that ended in near uproar before the final vote. It was rejected by a margin of only 639,000 member-votes, out of TUC's total of nearly 8,000,000.

Delegates protested that the proposed drastic cut in overtime might create a severe labor-shortage for Britain, which already has full employment. To this the mover of the resolution, J. Jarvie, declared: "Cut the callup (for the armed forces)—and bring the boys home."

Earlier the convention barely turned down a left-wing demand that industry be progressively nationalized to guard against "robot-run" factories creating unemployment.

The vote on the basis of total membership in the Trades Union Congress was 4,465,000 against the measure and 3,359,000 for it.

16 YEARS IN STABLE

BRUSSELS (Reuters) — A 32-year-old man, shut in a stable for the last 10 years, has been discovered at nearby Hinove, police reported today. The man, Micael Beyaerts, had a beard nearly a foot long and was almost unable to talk. Police said his mother admitted keeping him locked up because he had trouble walking.

GORE

Bride, Bridegroom Presented With Fine Gift

THE GORE — A large crowd gathered at Mr. Ralph Redner's on Wednesday evening to honor Mr. and Mrs. Bev. Grey, (nee Barbara Redner), with a shower.

Following a time of visiting, Mr. Don Spencer called the gathering to order for a sing-song and short program after which the bride and bridegroom were asked to take special chairs. Mr. Norman Reid read a fine address to them expressing the appreciation of the community for Barbara's life and work here and wishing both Barb and Bev. the best as they face the future together.

PRESENTATION

Mr. Alfred Cairns and Mr. Winston Fulver made the presentation of a knee-hole desk in red maple. Both Barb. and Bev. made feeling replies.

Mr. Reid entertained the crowd by showing colored slides of the wedding and reception at Centre Church on August 20th.

Refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed.

Little Benny's Notebook

Ma was shaking her head thoughtful, saying to pop, William, this is an awful thing to say about innocent people, but I'm sure they're not innocent. I'm sure the Berdhouses cheet at bridge, she said.

Yee gods, pop said, and ma said, I'm positive they have private secret signals. Didn't you notice how they sort of drummed on the table with their fingers in an apparently absent minded way? she said.

I noticed they won every rubber and even every game, but I cant believe that, pop said, and ma said, You're so trusting, William. If you found a strange hand in your pocket you'd think it was a casual mistake, she said.

Then it's time I reformed, pop said. We'll give the Berdhouses a dose of their own medecine, We'll give them the eyebrow treatment. If I bid one spade and twitch my left eyebrow, it means I really have enough strength of an opening 2 bid. If I twitch my right eyebrow, it means I also have good support for harts, and if I twitch both eyebrows, you'll know I have either all 4 kings or elts 3 aces and 2 kings. Of course it takes a little practice, he said, and ma said, Well I should think it would, and even if it was possible to do without being a contortionist, I wouldn't take money under such falls pretenses, even from the Berdhouses.

Oh, we wont take their money, pop said. After we've beeten the tar out of them, we'll explain it was all a joke, and maybe they'll take the delicate hint and stopp drumming on the table, he said, and ma said, Oh, we just wont play with them again, that's a simpler solution.

By golley I never though of that, pop said.

And he got in back of his paper laffing.

You don't argue with a locomotive. So a manufacturer of rail equipment has developed a lightweight rail inspection car that carries four people yet can be taken off the track by one man.

Since men who design rail cars, aircraft and other transportation equipment regularly use aluminum to cut down dead weight and increase pay load, it is no surprise that aluminum was used to replace heavier materials in many parts of this inspection car. The person who will be surprised is the locomotive engineer who first sees a rail inspector nonchalantly — and single-handedly — hoisting his scooter from the track.

Mr. A. R. Zummack, Christian Street, Hanover, answered his telephone with the words "Dominion Stores Lipton Soup" to win the grand prize of one thousand dollars in the Dominion Fortune Hunt contest last Saturday night. Other places called were Kingston, Sarnia, Windsor, Aldershot and Hanover. Mr. Zummack would have won an additional one thousand dollars if he had possessed a label from the Phantom Brand and a Dominion Stores cash register receipt of five dollars or more dated last week. Make sure you are ready this week — you may be called and win the grand prize.

You can win $2,000 this week in the DOMINION "Famous Brands" FORTUNE-HUNT. First, find the "Phantom Famous Brand" listed on this page but not illustrated. Next, if your telephone rings between 8 and 9 o'clock E.D.T. next Saturday evening, DO NOT ANSWER HELLO or you will be automatically disqualified from an opportunity to win $2,000. Instead of answering HELLO, say "DOMINION STORES" and then state the name of this week's "Phantom Famous Brand." If you do, and it is the DOMINION FORTUNE-HUNT calling, you will win the Grand Prize of $1,000.

$1,000 BONUS! If you win the Grand Prize and have in your home at the time a box top or label from this week's "Phantom Famous Brand" (or a reasonable facsimile) PLUS a Dominion cash register slip dated this week and totalling $5.00 or more, you will qualify for a bonus prize of $1,000.

$100 CONSOLATION PRIZES! If the DOMINION FORTUNE-HUNT calls your telephone number and you make the mistake of answering HELLO, but can still name this week's "Phantom Famous Brand," you will qualify for a consolation prize of $100.

GRAND PRIZE MUST BE WON! If this week's Grand Prize is not won on Saturday night, it will be added to next week's Grand Prize of $1,000. This will be repeated if necessary until someone wins the accumulated Grand Prize.

PROMISES BETTER TV RECEPTION

"The secret is in the aerial," says Stan Hosken of North Bay, Ont., who has a plan whereby his city may have clear TV reception from points 250 miles away. The experimental aerial, under which his son David is standing above, has proved, says Stan, that his idea is correct and he has received financial backing of $30,000 from the city council and private interests to construct a high-level antennae to provide all TV owners with equally clear reception. If his invention, which he has not yet patented, proves successful on the large-scale model, it will undoubtedly be adopted by other Northern Ontario points.—Central Press Canadian.

CHALLENGE OCEAN IN SMALL SHIP

These amateur sailors, two South Africans, an Australian and an American, are shown aboard the 35-foot ketch "Jenny Wren," just before they set sail from Burlesdon, Eng., on the first leg of a nine-month voyage to South Africa. From left are Bill Goodman, 23, of San Francisco, Cal.; Derek Macey, 30, and Gordon Webb, 22, Capetown, South Africa, and George Carmody, Brisbane, Australia. — Central Press Canadian.

WHO SAYS TALK IS CHEAP?

For "unbecoming conduct" displayed during recent game in Chicago, Frank Lane, general manager of the Chicago White Sox was fined $500 and ordered to make a public apology. The punishment was meted out by Commissioner Ford Frick. According to newsmen who covered the game, Lane stormed into Harridge's box at the ballpark and yelled at umpire. Lane said his remarks were aimed at Cal Hubbard, chief of umpires seated in Harridge's box, and not at Harridge.

Wallbridge

WALLBRIDGE — Mr. and Mrs. Fred Melloit have moved in Mr. Hudson Ketcheson's apartment. All welcome them back in this neighborhood.

Mr. Almer Moore spent a couple of days, recently, with relatives in Norwood.

Mrs. Ross Pound and son, Dale, and aunt, Mrs. Frank Harris, spent Tuesday with her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor of Hillier.

Mr. and Mrs. Carman Sine and Glen, of Harold, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Sine.

Lieutnant Robert Fisher and Mrs. Fisher, and Mr. Roy Sine spent a recent week-end with the latter's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Betts, of Metcalfe.

Mr. and Mrs. Fisher have returned to their home in Harrie having spent the past month with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Sine, and other friends and relatives.

Read

READ — Mr. and Mrs. Leo McKenny, of Ardoc, and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Corrigan of Oshawa spent the week-end with relatives here.

The auction sale held at Mr. James Meagher's on Wednesday was largely attended. All are sorry to lose Mr. and Mrs. Meagher from this district.

One of the popular young men, Mr. Kenneth O'Hay, was married in St. John's Church, Kingston, on one never turn back.

Sunday school will reopen next Sunday, with Mr. Jack Baxter as superintendent, and Mrs. Stanley Hart, Mrs. George Harris, and Mrs. Jack Baxter as assistants. Mr. Jack Hart, who has been so faithful to the Sunday school as teacher of the primary pupils, leaves shortly to take up theological studies at Queen's University. The prayers of the neighborhood go with Jack, and all rejoice that he has heard and answered the Master's call.

The Women's Association met in the church hall on Wednesday evening with Mrs. George Morse as hostess and Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Vader as lunch committee. Plans were made for the fall activities and a social hour enjoyed by all.

Church services in the Carrying Place United church will be withdrawn this coming Sunday, in order that many may join in worship with Consecon on their anniversary. The Rev. J. Wolfraim will bring the messages at 11 a.m., and 8 p.m. Carrying Place choir will assist with the service in song.

The memorial window in the United church has been sent away for repairs. Its beauty is appreciated even more deeply when Saturday morning, to Miss Florence Larkin, of Railton.

Schools re-opened on Tuesday morning with the same teachers in charge as for the previous year.

Gardenville

GARDENVILLE. — School bells again call the children of the community to the interesting activities and friendships of "school days." Master Jimmy Vader began studies this week.

Miss Bev. Walker and her fiance, Mr. Hughes of Toronto, spent the holiday week-end at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Walker. Mrs. Walker had the misfortune to break her wrist recently. All hope for her, a steady improvement.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Hart and family, and Mrs. Sarah Hart, attended the funeral of Mr. Hart's uncle, in Havelock on Sunday. Mr. Hart died in Smiths Falls and burial was in Havelock under the direction of the Masonic Order.

Church services resumed in the Carrying Place United church on Sunday, after the summer recess. The Rev. E. V. Cook brought a challenging Labor Sunday message based on the text in 1 Kings 18:21: "If the Lord be God, follow Him". He pointed out that one must, in his or her daily Christian living let nothing stand in the way of serving God and once absent and its return awaited.

Mrs. A. L. Burke of Belleville, spent the week-end with her daughter and son-in-law, and Mrs. Jack Baxter and wee Susan. Mr. Arthur Brough of Thomasburg, and Mrs. E. Kennedy of Belleville, were Sunday guests at the same home.

Mrs. A. Kemp entertained her family, at her cottage for the holiday.

Mrs. Grace Hawkes and Gloria of Toronto, spent the long week-end at their cottage, Pine Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Tilley and family of Balsam, were guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Dymond, on Sunday.

Miss Gwen Hart begins duties in Trenton Memorial Hospital, shortly. The neighborhood was proud of Gwen being honored with the gold medal for proficiency in the three years of her training in Belleville General Hospital. She will be assisting in the operating room in the Trenton hospital.

Mr. Herb Hart, who was seriously injured in the spring as the result of a motorcycle accident, is able to be up on crutches in the Trenton hospital and hopes to return home shortly. The good wishes of all are with him from day to day as he has been so courageous throughout his convalescence.

Several from here are working in the Consecon canning factory.

Mr. Jack Vader is erecting a large new barn.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill entertained their family from Toronto over the week-end.

Mrs. Jack Baxter and Susan called on Mr. and Mrs. Harry Young, Mr. and Mrs. George Landon and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walker and family on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Landon had two of their sons and families to visit them on Saturday.

Mrs. Ida Chase had guests from the United States for the holiday.

Mr. Arnot Young and Mr. Keith Young are busy tarring their nets in preparation for the fall fashing season.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Snider and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Young attended the Canadian National Exhibition on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Baxter enjoyed it on Wednesday and met the parade of "the cars of yesteryear" on their way up. The women's costume in keeping with the age of the car, blowing in the wind, made a colorful and interesting sight. The enjoyment of the owners and passengers was contagious.

Discovery of Bear-Torn Bodies of Hunters Gave Que. 'Most Gruesome' Murder Case

READY TO FIGHT ALL U. S. FORCES

Miss Elzie Mumma, 55, a farmer in Hummelstown, Penna., points to a book as she holds the gun with which she has threatened to shoot the next government inspector who sets foot on her land. She is being sued by the U. S. for growing 18 acres more wheat than federal quotas allow on her 70-acre farm. Miss Mumma, declaring she had asked no aid from the government, said she was free to plant crops as she saw fit, and that she would protect her land from any intruders, even at the cost of her life.

Four Negro Children Found Dead in Trunk

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—Four Negro children, ranging in ages from 11 months to 11 years were found dead in a trunk here Wednesday. Police said they had suffocated.

Dr. W. M. Summerville, Mecklenburg county coroner, said the bodies were crowded into a 3-foot heavy round-top trunk in a bedroom in their parents' home. They had been dead from one to six hours.

They were identified as Dewitt, 11 months, Marsha Elizabeth, 3, Charles 5, and Joyce Ann, 11, children of Marshall Caldwell.

Caldwell, 30, told police he returned home at 5:30 p.m. and missed the children.

Seeing clothing scattered in the bedroom, he investigated a trunk and discovered the bodies.

The mother was away during the afternoon visiting an employment office.

Judge Corrects Report on Views About Strikes

TORONTO (CP)—Lord Justice Alfred Thompson Denning of the English Court of Appeal says that his expressed opposition to the big strike and power of labor unions was aimed primarily at certain types of strikes.

In reporting his appearance on a labor relations panel at the Canadian Bar Association meeting last Thursday The Canadian Press reported him as saying that the strike is an outmoded labor weapon and has no place in a civilized community.

Commenting on this, the jurist said the CP story was not inaccurate but was "too broad an interpretation of my remarks."

"Specifically," he said, "I made the point that, in my opinion, when a small group of people strike for a whole community to gain their own ends, that is wrong."

In its report CP said the jurist's remarks brought no comment from the two union representatives on the panel, Walter Mitchell of Ottawa and David Archer of Toronto. Subsequently at a meeting of the Ottawa and district Trades and Labor Council, Mr. Mitchell said he had not protested the remarks because they had concerned strikes between rival unions, a type of strike, which is a jurisdictional dispute, in illegal in Canada, so there was no need for me to comment," he said.

SPEEDING IN LOT

PLAINFIELD, N. J. (AP)—Mrs. Katie Williams, 40, has received a police summons for speeding in a parking lot. Police said she drove into a lot, hit a mailbox, circled a cabinet, and a field fireplace stacked to the rear of a furniture store and collided with two parked cars.

NEW STYLE RESCUE DEMONSTRATION ENDS IN CRASH

"A motor launch leaves the scene after taking up the pilot and crewman of a helicopter that crashed at sea off Chesterfield, England, while taking part in a demonstration of a new-type rescue device. The school of mobile survival and rescue at Thorney Island was holding the press debut of the "Sarah" (Search, Rescue and Homing) method when the crash occurred. Standard rescue methods, however, were used in picking up the two men in the helicopter.—Central Press Canadian.

QUEBEC (CP)—More than two years ago, searchers in the Gaspe wilderness of Quebec stumbled across the bodies of three American sportsmen, their remains torn apart by the bears they set out to hunt.

The discovery in July 1953 was the beginning of what hardened police officers describe as "Quebec's most gruesome murder case."

It's official ending may come less than four months from now on Sept. 23 when Wilbert Coffin is scheduled to be hanged at Montreal's Bordeaux jail for the murder of 17- year -old Richard Lindsey, the youngest of the hunters. The others were Lindsey's father Eugene, 47, and Albert Clear, 32, all natives of Hollidaysburg, PA.

Since Coffin's arrest shortly after a coroner's court inquest disclosed young Lindsey died of shotgun wounds, the 44-year-old prospector's name has become well-known in Quebec hotels. The public is now being given a chance to forget it.

IMITATION GUN

Last Tuesday, Coffin used an imitation gun fashioned from soap to escape from the death house cell and flee from the Quebec jail where he had been held since July 1954 on a charge of first degree murder, and a half later, however, after being recaptured 20 miles away, admitted to refusing him or lose all hope of a reprieve.

Defence counsel Raymond Maher, described his client's escape as "a magnificent piece of work and that is not guilty of murder."

Coffin now is in the Montreal jail.

Although his chances of a reprieve have been slim since Mr. Justice Douglas Abbott of the Supreme Court of Canada last week in Ottawa turned down a defence motion for leave to appeal there are still two possibilities left.

The appeal motion can be presented to a full bench of the Supreme Court or the federal cabinet can intervene and commute the death sentence.

SENSATIONAL TRIAL

At the trial in the Gaspe coastal village of Perce, the testimony and questioned status of Coffin's common-law wife, pretty Blanche Petrie of Montreal, provided a flood of excitement at the trial which drew reporters from across Canada and the United States.

Miss Petrie testified that Coffin visited her in Montreal a few days after the bodies were found and had in his possession binoculars and rifle sights identified as belonging to the slain men.

Defence counsel angrily objected that Miss Petrie was not legally competent to testify at the trial because law prohibits a wife from testifying against her husband.

In a precedent-shattering judgment, however, Mr. Justice Lacroix ruled that a common-law wife is the same in the eyes of the law as a formally married woman and allowed her testimony to stand.

MET HUNTERS

The crown concentrated on trying to show that the hunters were ambushed in two lonely logging camps around 30 miles west of Gaspe.

Witnesses said the men entered the bush near Gaspe about June 12 in a small truck. They said Coffin met the three hunters part-way in the forest after their truck had become mired and drove to town with Richard Lindsey to buy a new fuel pump.

Others said Coffin was seen June 13 in Gaspe where he bought a rifle and shells at the Uniform Tailor Store. Coffin was also

2ND THURLOW

Neighbors' Aid Enjoys Fine Program

2ND. THURLOW.—The August meeting of the Neighbors' Aid was held at the home of Mrs. Stewart Ray on Wednesday afternoon. About 45 adults and 20 children were present.

The president, Mrs. D. Atkins, was in charge. A welcome was extended to all and thanks to the hostess for opening her home for the meeting.

The secretary read the minutes and correspondence. Bill were handed in and voted paid. A note of thanks was given to Mr. Arnold Mitchell for cutting the grass on old property, which is to be fixed up in the future with a picnic table.

Minutes of the 1936 meeting were read and proved most interesting. It was decided to read the minutes of meetings held from the above date at each session.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Bruce Pratt and Mrs. Thomas Pratt on the regular day in September.

PROGRAM

The following program, arranged by Mrs. J. Craig, was enjoyed: reading, "What Can a Little Chap Do?" by Keith Greatrix.

A table of vegetables taken from the "Girls' Garden Club" gardens, was displayed. Mrs. C. Reid, leader, Mrs. A. Greatrix, assistant, deserve much credit for their leadership with the girls' work.

Miss Lola Emerson outlined the "Girls' Wardrobe". A chart made by the girls from the girls' "Happy Gang" Sewing club last winter, with Mrs. C. Reid, leader, Mrs. Robert Atkins and Mrs. J. Parrott, assistants.

Miss Emerson told of the various materials and accessories for each outfit for dress, sports and suits. Choice of proper clothing and proper accessories is most important as well as economical.

GARDEN WORK

Mrs. A. Greatrix told of the girls' garden work and made mention of the many vegetables, flowers, grown by the girls, also song by the Garden Girls' club, "Happy Wanderer", with suitable wording inserted, was enjoyed.

June Reid gave a paper on what they grew in their gardens and the many ways to serve them.

Mrs. Bernice Stratton, Elizabeth Craig demonstrated making of salads which was very appetizing indeed.

This concluded the interesting program. A hearty clap was given the girls.

The president thanked Mrs. Craig and all who helped make the program such a success.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and Mesdames Stickle, Barlow, Pratt, and Greatrix.

Next month's lunch committee includes, Mesdames C. Clarke, O. Stratton, J. Huff and A. Mitchell.

Two Seamen Probably Save Town by Act of Bravery

TWILLINGATE, Nfld. (CP)—Two seamen probably saved this northeastern coast fishing town Tuesday night when they leaped aboard the blazing, oil-laden motor vessel Winnifred Lee and dropped her anchors in mid-harbor.

The Winnie Lee caught fire late in the afternoon at the government wharf. She carried 500 drums of oil and gasoline for delivery farther north.

Capt. Douglas Manuel ordered the crew aboard his motor vessel Botwood and they attempted to drag the burning ship out of the harbor.

The first line broke. By the time a second was rigged and the ship towed to mid-harbor, oil drums were exploding and flames were shooting high into the air.

Fearing the Winnifred Lee would break again and drift ashore near other vessels and warehouses, Capt. Manual had the Botwood moss in near the swirling inferno. Two unidentified seamen jumped aboard.

While drums erupted behind them in blasts of flame, smoke and flying metal, the men dropped the anchors, holding the burning ship in a relatively harmless spot.

They jumped clear just before the fire reached the hold and wrecked the ship with a final explosion.

WANTED MOST IN NEW YORK

Elmer "Trigger" Burke, charged with slaying one of his best friends, Edward "Pooch" Walsh, July 23, 1952, returned to New York from Charlestown, S. C., where he made a vain try to have himself extradited to Boston, Mass. There, the only charges against him are jailbreaking and possession of a submachine gun. The FBI is also investigating the possibility that Burke was connected with the $302,000 holdup of the Woodside, Queens, Branch of the Chase Manhattan bank. The Queens robbery is the largest bank holdup on record.

Hillier

HILLIER — School re-opened on Monday with the lads and lassies back to school routine. School buses are again in operation.

In the event of Mr. and Mrs. Claud McCartney's quiet 50th wedding celebration the last week, they received many callers and were presented with beautiful gifts from their many friends and relatives among which were goldsmums from the Rose Hall Sunday school, and a golden colored fallen blanket from the community.

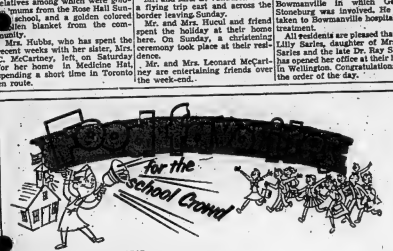
Mrs. Hubbs, who has spent the recent weeks with her sister, Mrs. C. McCartney, left, on Saturday for her home in Medicine Hat, spending a short time in Toronto en route.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Colin Mindle who were married last Saturday. The employees and co-workers presented Colin with most useful and suitable gifts.

Regret to report the recent return of illness of Mrs. Corn MacDonald. She is with her daughter, Mrs. St. Pierre, Belleville. Her many friends hope for recovery in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Vanduzen made a flying trip east and across the border leaving Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hurel and friend spent the holiday at their home here. On Sunday, a christening ceremony took place at their residence.



Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McCartney are entertaining friends over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Clapp are spending their holiday in Toronto.

Mrs. Millson and Mr. and Mrs. A. Moffatt, Bowmanville, visited Mr. and Mrs. A. Wanamaker last Sunday. They attended the service at Hay Bay church. Mr. M. A. James of the Bowmanville Statesman and Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Williams were also in attendance. Mr. and Mrs. Clancy, Campbellford, also attended this service.

A serious accident occurred near Bowmanville in which Gerald Stoneburg was involved. He was taken to Bowmanville hospital for treatment.

All residents are pleased that Dr. Lilly Sarles, daughter of Mrs. R. Sarles and the late Dr. Ray Sarles has opened her office at their home in Wellington. Congratulations are the order of the day.

GREEKS REJECT CYPRUS SOLUTION

While their countrymen at home wrecked Greek stores and houses in a demonstration against Greek control of the Mediterranean island of Cyprus, Turks in London, England, staged their own demonstration for the benefit of the commission discussing the future of the island. The Turks marched from Soho to Trafalgar square with banners reading: "Down with Enosis" or union with Greece.—Central Press Canadian.

Population of Cyprus is predominantly Greek and here a group of them parade in the city of Nicosia demanding that control of the island be given to Greece. The conference of representatives of Britain, Greece and Turkey in London have reached no agreement on the status of the island, but British foreign secretary has offered a measure of self-government. The Greek delegation rejected the offer.—Central Press Canadian.

Says Canadian Safety Research Lags Behind U.S.

By KEN SMITH

Canadian Press Staff Writer

DEARBORN, Mich. (CP)—Accident prevention in Canada is falling dangerously far behind the United States, a top Canadian traffic expert warned Wednesday.

Dr. Harold Elliot, of Montreal, chairman of the Canadian Medical Association traffic accident committee, said in an interview that immediate financial aid to help research into the cause of accidents is needed in Canada.

If his aid is not forthcoming at once, he said, Canada will be 10 years or more behind the U. S. in trying to conquer what he called "one of the greatest killers of our time."

Dr. Elliott, here as a Canadian delegate to the first National Traffic Safety Forum, suggested Canada should have teams of trained analysts across the country to determine the cause of every accident with the aim of trying to prevent a similar occurrence.

An estimated 4,000 Canadians will die from traffic accidents during the next 12 months, Dr. Elliott said, and the number will increase steadily unless steps are taken.

EDUCATION NEEDED

W. Arch Bryce, secretary of the Canadian Highway Safety Conference, said earlier that Ontario highways are among the most congested in North America.

Unless drivers are educated to safe habits, the toll of dead and injured in the province would climb to even more alarming heights.

Persons using modern vehicles should be taught the advantages of modern safety developments such as seat belts, and should learn to use them at all times, he said.

Good driving should be taught to teen-age groups in all Canadian schools to prevent another generation growing up with "sloppy habits."

CLUB OPPOSED

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Jockey Club said Wednesday it will "vigorously" oppose any move by the city to expropriate its Woodbine Park property in Toronto's east end. The club, which recently built a new race track in suburban Malton, said in a letter to metropolitan officials it plans to have harness races on the present track and flat racing on a new half-mile track to be built at the park. The Metro roads committee has been studying a proposal to expropriate a corner of the park for street improvements.

Two Women Die In Car Accident North of Barrie

BARRIE (CP) — Two women were killed, and two other persons injured Wednesday night, in an accident on the Phelpston road, 12 miles north of here.

Mrs. Bertha Kenwell, 48, of Holly, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Betty Kenwell, 28, also of Holly, died when their rear went out of control on a gravel road, and skidded 100 feet on its roof, along a muddy ditch.

The son and husband of the two women, Ivan Kenwell, 28, was admitted to hospital here with a possible fractured rib. Driver of the car, Margaret Breen, 30, of Long Branch was cut on the head, face and legs.

BRIEF FREEDOM

Wilbert Coffin, under sentence to be hanged Sept. 23 for the murder of a young Pennsylvania hunter in the Gaspe woods, is shown outside Quebec jail after he surrendered following his escape. Using a gun made of soap, Coffin tricked his guards and broke out of jail. He returned in a couple of hours after his lawyer convinced his his bid for an appeal against the murder conviction would have a better chance of being heard. He was taken to Montreal's Bordeaux jail. (CP Photo).

IVANHOE

St. Andrew's Club Hears Fine Talk on Jamboree

IVANHOE—St. Andrew's Presbyterian club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Barton Haggerty on Friday evening. Mrs. Harold Thompson, president, presided and opened the program. The Rev. W. H. V. Walker led in prayer. The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. W. H. V. Walker. The lesson was taken from 1st Corinthians verse 3.

A short business session was held. Interesting letters written by Donald Wilson, who is in South America, were read by Mrs. John McInroy. A solo was given by Mrs. William Donnan.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harding of Stirling, guest speakers, were introduced by Mr. Walker. Mr. and Mrs. Harding have recently returned from the Boy Scout jamboree, held in Niagara Falls. Mr. Harding, Scout master for Troop 13 of the Kingston district, gave a detailed account of the ten days spent in camp. Mrs. Harding, who was in a canteen, also told of her interesting experiences meeting with Scouts from every country in the world.

They displayed many souvenirs, badges, crests, neckerchiefs, exchanged with Scouts from other countries.

PURPOSE OF JAMBOREE

The purpose of the jamboree held only every four years, is that thousands of Scouts live together in peace and unity in spite of religious, racial and language differences.

Mrs. Harry Benson in expressing grateful thanks on behalf of the club members, said "surely this presents a challenge to us men and women of our country."

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants.

Yankees And White Sox Feeling Most Of Pressure In League Race

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GARRY ALEXANDER

ONE BY ONE

Belleville's representatives in the Ontario Baseball Association and the Ontario Amateur Softball Association playdowns are becoming fewer as the local clubs bite the dust before some of the top teams in the province.

This is not a disgrace. Everyone of the teams eliminated so far has gone down fighting and on several occasions breaks have decided the issue. They have accepted their defeats in true sportsmanlike style and issued the age-old warning, "wait 'till next year."

The Belleville Orfuns were the first to taste defeat. They were a top-notch club all year and many picked them to go a long way in the OASA Senior "S" playdowns if they did not take it all. Kingston Warren's Orphans put an end to their hopes in the first round, losing the first game here but coming back to take the next two at home. Errors actually cost Bill Spafford's crew the series for they were winning the second game 2-0 when the infielders lost their touch. That's the break of the game and it could well have gone the other way.

The Haggis Juniors were next on the list, dropping a pair of 4-1 decisions to the Oshawa McCallum Transportees in the first round of the OBA playdowns. Both games were close with the losers making a good showing for their first year. Many of the players were in their initial year of organized ball and above the all-star calibre set up with the expert coaching of Al Kelleher could bring a provincial title to this city in the near future. Kelleher taught the boys a world of baseball in the short season and chances are most of them will never forget it.

Meanwhile, Art Wright's Juveniles took quite a licking from a Kingston all-star team. There were not enough players to form a juvenile league here this year so one team was formed. They had no intention all season of playing ball and a club cannot expect to practice once a week or so and then travel far against teams who have been playing regularly.

The Point Anne Concentrates were pitted against Trenton in the first round of the OASA Intermediate "A" series and disposed of that crew in three games.

The second round was different, however, as the Peterborough Seabook Motors crew pulled out a two-games-to-one win to eliminate the Point Anne crew. The Petes took the first game by one run in eleven innings, Cementmen came back to tie it on their own diamond but dropped a thrilling 4-3 decision in the deciding battle on Tuesday night. Both series featured excellent pitching and fielding on both teams as well as a few timely hits.

Point Anne is not finished with the OASA however. The team entered the new setup, Industrial, this season and will meet either a Toronto team or Waterloo for the provincial championship. OASA convener Don Lee reports that this series will likely begin next week and should be a close one all the way.

STILL IN

Coach Temple's Belleville Bobcats took their first round OASA Intermediate "AA" series without playing a game when Kingston defaulted the series.

The Cats are engaged in the Ontario semi-finals against Peterborough Stoney's, having won the first game 5-0. The second fixture is slated for the Litlock City Friday night at 8:00 p.m. and the Temple group hopes that the locals will last a lad longer than their fellow teams. Many of the minor baseball and softball clubs are also very much in the running for Ontario titles.

PLAYERS MEET

A reminder to all Senior "B" hockey players who wish to keep a team in Belleville calls attention to a meeting at Memorial Arena tonight at 8:00 p.m.

Nothing has been said about this meeting as to what will be on the agenda but all seasoned and prospective players are asked to attend. The players may come up with a few surprises to keep the game alive here.

TERRIFIC BOUT

What should be one of the wildest free-for-alls in the history of Memorial Arena will take place here Friday night when Whipper Billy Watson unites with his old buddy and long-time sidekick, Pat Flanagan in the weekly "rasslin" card.

When these two popular masters of the wrestling game get together it always means wrestling at its best. Followers of the pastime will recall their spectacular battles here with such madmen as Ski Hi Lee and Fred Atkins just to name a pair of a long list of mat teams.

Whether they won or lost it was always an exciting show from the first bell. Whipper employs a bagful of specialty holds such as the commando hold, the whip and the corkscrew, any of which can render an opponent as helpless as a goldfish on an eight-day shore leave. Flanagan, who has less hair on his pate at each bout, continues to hold his own and seems to be at his best when fighting with Watson. His mule kick never fails to confuse the person on the wrong end of it while that Irish jig is a sure sign that his equally Irish temper is about to explode all over the ring.

Their opposition for this one will be none other than the Terrible Teuton Terrors, Karl Von Schober and Fritz Von Erich. Now, for the fans who attend every wrestling match here, no more need be said, for they know what a ruthless pair the Vons are. But just in case you've missed these boys in action, ask Lord Layton, Pat Fraley, Doug Hepburn, Prince Maivia or Flanagan what they're like.

The German pair have disposed of these boys along with fellows of their own type such as the KalmiKoff brothers. Try to think of the worst punishment you could hand out to your worst enemy and let me tell you, the Vons thought of it first. They stop at nothing to win and if the man in white fails to co-operate with them, he usually gets a little of the same stuff.

We could go on all day explaining some of the tricks that Herve Fritz and Karl have used here but it would likely be a waste of time. They would only come up with a new bag of dirt and you could be sure it would be just as rough as the first.

Two other bouts will serve to warm the crowd up (not that they'll need it), with Bob Leitler, who was a hit here last week, tangling with colorful "Doc" Gallagher in the semi-windup. The first bout, which gets under way at 8:45 p.m., will see Sandy Scott clashing with the Polish Giant, Firpo Zbysko.

Teams Are Caught in Vise Between Cleveland, Boston; Dodgers Need One More Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It looks like New York and Chicago, caught in a vise between Cleveland and Boston, are feeling most of the pressure in that tight American League race while the first place Indians and the robust Red Sox are playing 'em free and loose.

Cleveland, making a half-game lead look big, rumbled past Baltimore 4-2 Wednesday night as Early Wynn gained his 200th major league victory and gave the Tribe seven triumphs in the last nine games. The Bostons, too, had a ball, blasting Detroit 7-4 for their sixth straight success.

The Yankees and White Sox got home safe to hold the pace, but they had a much tougher time of it. Whitey Ford spun his second shutout in as many days, yet the second place Yanks had to scrap to beat Kansas City 2-1. And Chicago, 1½ games behind Cleveland and the same one ahead of fourth place Boston, had a heckuva scare before edging Washington 4-3.

In the National League, meanwhile, Brooklyn whipped Milwaukee 3-1, giving the Dodgers no worse than a tie with the Braves in more victory by the Brooks, or another Milwaukee defeat, puts the pennant in Brooklyn.

DODY HITS TWO HOMERS

Wynn marked up a 16-9 record for the season while Chuck Stobbs, The Tribe backed him with four doubles-pair and Larry Doby's two homers that drove in four runs.

The Yanks bulled out of a 1-1 tie when Arnie Portocarrero, who no-hit New York until the fifth, walked home the winning run in the ninth.

Ford now shares the Al lead with Boston's Frank Sullivan with 17 victories.

Sullivan needed help to get his 17th. Ellis Kinder came on in the ninth after Billy Gardner had scored on a run homer to Frank House and a walk with none out. The Red Sox smacked over six runs in the first three frames off rookies Jim Bunning and Paul Foytack.

FIVE HITS

The Dodgers needed just five hits to put the Braves on the ropes. They scored their runs in the third off Lew Burdette on two singles, a walk, an error by second Carl Pavilcik's double. Billy Loes spaced six hits for his 10th victory.

In the other games, Bob Friend tossed a one-hitter, striking out and walking none, as Pittsburgh beat Chicago 2-0. New York walloped St. Louis 8-2 with winner Johnny Antonelli hitting one of three giant home runs, and Cincinnati raced the best of two errors to overhaul Philadelphia 6-3.

The only cub hit off Friend, who won his 11th, was Frank Baumholtz' scratch single in the fourth.

Royals, Leafs Drop First Games In Playoffs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The pennant - winning Montreal Royals and the runner-up Toronto Maple Leafs, who battled right down to the finish for the International League championship, found themselves one down today after the first game of the playoffs.

Royals, who had taken four straight from Rochester during the weekend to sew up the flag, bowed to Red Wings 6-1, at Montreal. Leafs dropped a 3-2 decision to Cuban Sugar Kings at Toronto. Havana had eliminated third placing Syracuse Chiefs in a two-game total series.

Second games of the best-of-seven series will be played tonight at Montreal and Toronto.

Montreal will try to square matters by sending Glen Mickens (13-9) against Bill Wight (11-9). Toronto will call on Ed Blake (17-13) to oppose Jose Bracho (9-5).

ERROR HELPED KINGS

Royals were unable to do anything with the offerings of a rested Hal Brandt. Rochester's five righthander gave up five hits, including singles by Jim Williams and Rocky Nelson, fanned seven and passed only two. His battery mate, Ebba St. Claire, struck the big blow for Red Wings, a threerun homer in the fifth inning.

A two-base throwing error in the seventh by Leo Cristian, Leo League's most valuable pitcher, gave Sugar Kings their win.

Cristian, who has a 20-5 record during the regular campaign, was touched for only four hits. Havana's runs in the seven innings he pitched. He might have escaped the defeat but for his own error that put the Cubans out in front after Toronto had tied the score with two runs in the sixth.

Charlie Harris held Toronto hitless for the last 3 2-3 innings to gain credit for the victory.

GUESTS OF FAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — It isn't often that baseball players and foreign diplomats mix socially but Nicaraguan Ambassador Guillermo Seville - Sacasa turned the trick Wednesday.

The ambassador, a baseball fan, gave a luncheon in the embassy for members of the Washington club of the American League. The occasion was the return of the Senators from a long road trip.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

Sam Snead's Golf School

Our player's club should be parallel to the ground.

Our player today is not exactly displaying classic form. He seems to have swayed his head and body out of position on his backswing. He hasn't rotated his hips or pivoted his left knee enough. As a result he appears out of balance at the top of his backswing.

In addition, as you can see, his club has dipped below the horizontal (or line parallel with the ground). First of all, such an exaggerated backswing is always dangerous for any but a skilled player with really powerful wrists, because its so difficult to correctly retime the clubhead and get it back to the ball in co-ordination with the hands and other parts of the body.

But more serious, almost the only way that this man could get the clubhead as low as he has it here (with his hands in the position they're in) is by loosening his grip at the top—and that's fatal! You must keep a firm, but not tense, grip with your left hand throughout the swing and particularly at this point where there is so much inclination to relax it.

Furthermore, it is best for the player to try to keep his backswing shorter for control. This means bringing the club back no further than parallel with the ground on wood shots, and not even that far on irons.

Detroit Tigers Sell Franchise Of Buffalo Bisons

DETROIT (AP) — After losing almost $100,000 on them during the past two years, the Detroit Tigers Wednesday sold their Buffalo, N.Y. farm club to a Buffalo citizens group for an undisclosed amount.

The sale of the Bisons, an International League club, is believed to be the Tigers' first move toward establishing working agreements with minor league clubs, rather than having them owned outright.

The club was sold to a syndicate headed by John Sigimeier and Harry Ridgeler, oldtimers in the minor leagues.

A 20-day option was placed on the agreement whereby the Buffalo group must raise $150,000 within that time to "insure continued operation of the club."

Six Swimmers Who Started On Wildcat Lake Ontario Swim All Met With Failure

By GEORGE HANCOCKS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (CP) — Marathon-swim hysteria moves to Toronto tonight, leaving this little town on the mouth of the Niagara river to straighten itself out after two days of confusion.

The country's most tallyhooed swim entertainment, the $25,000 32-mile swim across Lake Ontario—sponsored by the Canadian National Exhibition — was cancelled just after noon Wednesday "for safety reasons."

In its place a 32-mile swim on a three-mile course at the Toronto waterfront has been substituted. It is scheduled to go at 1 a. m. EDT Friday.

Six swimmers disagreed with the official verdict and plunged into the lake anyway, in a wildcat marathon of their own. But, one by one, abandoned their attempts on the stretch of water between here and Toronto.

COVERED 16 MILES

The best effort was by Nestor Quiroz, a 28-year-old Argentinian who was making good headway until an attack of nausea forced him out at 1:30 a. m. EDT today. He had covered about 16 miles.

The others failed were Bob Quinn, 25, and Abe Beker, 24, both of Toronto; Nicholas Werner, 18, Baltimore; Jim Woods, 40, Asheville, N. C., and Clifford Snowiton, 29, Milton, Ont.

Following a meeting of the CNE sports committee Wednesday night, chairman Harry Price announced details of the swim that will substitute for the mass cross-lake attempt by more than 30 marathoners.

The course is a triangle with its base along the CNE waterfront. Its perimeter is three miles and swimmers will go around it 10 times. They will switch from one-mile laps along the waterfront to make up the 32 miles, roughly comparable to the lake crossing.

When the start was announced from 2 p. m. to 5, from 5 to 6, and then hourly until 9 a. m., a deluge of swimmers and their coaches was called. The group proved too noisy and a five-man committee was formed. The committee recommended the race get 32 p. m. and not from 2 p. m.

However, small-craft warnings had been raised and, while the five-man committee was in session, powerful whippers decided they would not take their boats out while the warnings remained up.

Later the swim was cancelled.

Some swimmers disagreed with what they termed "poor management," muttered discontentedly but most went along with the decision.

Others, like Brenda Fisher of England, who had her beaten-for English channel were more interested in the lake swim. Brenda's manager, Mark Shaw, suggested she may stay around for a while and try it when weather conditions are more favorable.

Dixie Walker Riled Over Blast Given by Cook

MONTREAL (CP) — Dixie Walker, manager of the Rochester Red Wings, said Wednesday that the Toronto Maple Leafs' brass "seem to know more about my pitching staff than I do."

Walker was somewhat riled over the blast from president Jack Kent Cooke of the Leafs, supported by manager Howie Sewell, that Montreal Royals were given an easy ride by Rochester to win the league pennant.

Cooke claimed that Walker had used second-line pitchers in the Wings - Royals final doubleheader Labor Day. The Royals took both games—while the Leafs were also defeating Buffalo and Rochester won the pennant by half a game.

Walker said Cooke and the others are proving themselves "a poor sportsmen."

"I used the pitchers I thought had the best chance to win for me," said the Rochester manager. "Things didn't work out, that's all."

The Toronto people were particularly critical of Walker starting Bob Kelly, Rochester's "mop - up p'-ber," in the first game Monday.

"They're not beefing, they're crying," said Walker. "I only hope we get past the Royals in the semi-final playoffs and meet the Leafs in the final, that's all."

STRATFORD WINS

STRATFORD (CP) — Stratford trounced St. Catharines 13-7 here Wednesday night in the first of the best-of-three provincial women's softball union intermediate finals.

The second game will be played in St. Catharines Friday night.

Stratford got 15 safeties to come from behind a 5-0 deficit.

Helen Haynes and Audrey Rhodes led the parade with three hits apiece for Stratford. Marg Schram, Joyce Dobbs and Marg Smith had two each for the losers, while Lorraine Barry swatted a three-run homer in the second.

Carmen Basilio Earns Decision Over Gil Turner

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio and his managers took time today for a second thought before deciding whether to challenge for Carl (Bobo) Olson's middleweight title. Gil Turner gave them cause to pause Wednesday night.

Basilio edged out a split decision over the young Philadelphia Negro in their 10-round non-title fight at the War Memorial Auditorium. Turner figured his surprising showing had earned him another chance at Carmen, who won for the title.

Joe Netro, one of Carmen's managers, still talked about challenging Olson. But the other half of the managership, Johnny Dejohn, cautioned:

"That's Joe who wants to fight Olson. What can we gain now by getting a fight with him?"

Both agreed that Basilio's next opponent should be Johnny Saxton—would be in defence of his 147-pound crown. They said the opponent would be decided in talks next week with Jérmes D. Norris, president of the International Boxing Club.

Elgins One Game Away from Title Of Intercounty

ST. THOMAS (CP)—St. Thomas Elgins are one game away from capturing the Intercounty baseball league championship.

Elgins, on the strength of a pair of three-run innings and timely pitching was called. The group proved too costly and a five-man committee was formed. The committee recommended the race get 32 p. m. and not from 2 p. m.

However, small-craft warnings had been raised and, while the five-man committee was in session, powerful whippers decided they would not take their boats out while the warnings remained up.

Later the swim was cancelled.

Some swimmers disagreed with what they termed "poor management," muttered discontentedly but most went along with the decision.

Others, like Brenda Fisher of England, who had her beaten-for English channel were more interested in the lake swim. Brenda's manager, Mark Shaw, suggested she may stay around for a while and try it when weather conditions are more favorable.

No Mail Orders Will Be Filled At Brooklyn

BROOKLYN (AP) — Tickets for the world series games in Brooklyn may be purchased only at Ebbets field 4:45 p. m., Monday, Sept. 26, the Dodger management announced Wednesday. No mail orders will be filled, Harold Parrott, general manager, said.

The third, fourth and fifth games of the series are scheduled for the following three days.

Parrott said that every ticket window at Ebbets Field would be utilized and that each customer would be allowed two strips of tickets for the three games. A box seat will cost $31.50 for the three games, a reserved seat will cost $22.05.

Bleacher seats, at $2.10 each, and $4.20 standing room tickets may be purchased on a single game basis that night.

MEET LEAFS IN OPENER

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League announced Wednesday that the 1955-56 season will open at home here with Toronto Maple Leafs the opposition.

For the last several seasons, under the schedule arrangement, Chicago Black Hawks were the visitors on opening night.

For the second home game, Oct. 9, Canadiens will be hosts to Boston Bruins.

Canadiens have 23 Thursday and 23 Saturday dates for their 35 home games.

Wilmer Fields Registers .425 Batting Average

GALT (CP) — It was Wilmer Fields' year in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League this season.

The former outfielder with Toronto Maple Leafs in the International League who now plays for Oshawa Merchants wrapped up the top mark in five different categories, official league averages showed Wednesday.

Fields registered .425, the highest batting average the league has record in most runs, 82, to equal the previous high set by Pete Karput of Galt Terriers last year.

Don McLennan of London Majors equalled the record for triples hit in a season. He clubbed in three-base blows, the same number London's Russ Evon hit in 1950.

Butch Lawing of St. Thomas Elgins was walked more than any other player. He received 44 free passes. The unenviable mark of most strikeouts went to Galt's Harry Evans who fanned 38 times.

Oshawa, 1954 pennant winners, had a .296 team batting average to lead the league.

This Season Is Last One Says Kiner

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ralph Kiner, whose home run bat earned him more than $500,000 and won him a place among baseball's greatest sluggers, decided Wednesday this season will be his last.

The big Cleveland Indian outfielder will be 35 next month. He has trouble with his back and legs. He's lost the swing and power that kept him at the top of the National League in home run hitting during seven seasons, from 1946 to 1952 while he was a Pittsburgh Pirate.

"If you hit 40 home runs you don't feel your aches so much," Kiner said. "When you don't do the job you hope to do, it makes everything worse."

When they obtained Kiner from Chicago Cubs last November, the Indians hoped he would regain his stride and clout about 40 homers. He has hit 36, is batting .242 against .285 for nine previous major league seasons, and has driven in 81 runs.

Tindall Worried About Team's Key Position

KINGSTON (CP)—Frank Tindall, coach of Queen's University Golden Gaels of the Junior Intercollegiate Football Union, is worried about the key position of the team, even though he has two quarterbacks among the 48 candidates in training camp.

Both candidates are freshmen. Tindall does not yet know whether last year's quarterback, Bryan Upson will return to college.

The two leading candidates for the intercollegiate union squad are Bill Cooke of the 1954 Kingston Collegiate Vocational Institute and Pete Redfern of Ottawa's Carleton College.

The Gaels have made rapid progress and will have to maintain that pace since they will be tested against Toronto Beach of the Ontario Rugby Football Union in an exhibition game here Sept. 10.

Walker May Be Replaced As Cards' Manager

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A decision is due next month on whether Harry (the Hat) Walker will be replaced as manager of the staggering St. Louis Cardinals, general manager Dick Meyer indicated Wednesday.

Meyer conceded some thought has already been given to the question of a 1956 manager for the club, rated a possible darkhorse pennant contender at the start of the season but now struggling to keep out of the cellar.

"In a season such as this has been," Meyer said, "you conceivably might do a lot of things now in haste that aren't well considered. We're not about to let that happen."

The hapless Cardinals were disappointing under Eddie Stanky early in the season and were in fifth place, half a game out of the first division, when Stanky was fired May 28. But they've been even worse under Walker and are deep in seventh place, just four games ahead of last-place Pittsburgh.

Owner, Groom Suspended By Track Stewards

TORONTO (CP)—Bill Edmiston, owner and trainer, and groom William Warden have been suspended by stewards at Woodbine race track for the alleged drugging of a horse, it was announced Wednesday. The case has been referred to the Ontario racing commission.

The ruling was made following a report by the commission analyst that a urine sample taken from the horse, Daring Spirit, disclosed the presence of a drug, ephedrine.

Daring Spirit won the fourth race at Woodbine Monday and was claimed out of the race for $2,500 by the Triple A stable.

Entry of Daring Spirit will not be accepted until the case has been disposed of by the commission.

The winner's portion of the purse won by Daring Spirit has been forfeited to Crowson, second money to Beitel and third to High Ruler. Starters said the ruling will not affect the betting on the race.

Shamrocks Will Strengthen Team For Playoffs

VICTORIA (CP) — Coach Red McMillan of the Victoria Shamrocks indicated Wednesday he will seek to strengthen his team for the Mann Cup lacrosse champion-ships starting here Monday night.

He said after learning that the defending champion Peterborough Trailermen plan to add Fergus Thistle star Tony D'Aniello to their roster, McMillan said:

"If they are going to start padding, I guess we'll have to follow suit."

The coach indicated he will seek replacements for flashy Jack Blonda and defenceman Bob Monaghan.

Blonda left for the Toronto Maple Leafs hockey training camp after Shamrocks knocked out Nanaimo Timbermen in the Inter-City League championships and Monaghan injured his leg in the final game.

Nanaimo's Fred Fulla has been named spare goalie for the series and can be called on by either team if a regular goaltender is injured.

Cleveland's Past and Present Strikeout Sensations

The old and the new in strikeout kings give out with their best smiles in the Cleveland Indians' clubhouse in Cleveland. Smiling southpaw rookie who leads the majors in strikeouts, gets congrats from Bob Feller (right), the former king who still is a member of the Tribe's mound corps. Score struck out 15 Orioles to give him a season's total of 209, which makes him the first pitcher to pass 200 since 1948.—Central Press Canadian.

U.S. Leads Tuna Derby Thanks To Big Shark

By GERRY MARTIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WESTPORT, N. S. (CP)—The United States carries a 500-point lead into today's second day of the International tuna tournament but the sympathetic favorite is pointless Argentina.

Textile Manufacturer Al Whisnant, Jr., of New York, boated one of the two fish scoring Wednesday to shoot the U. S. team into the lead. Carlos Beltrame of Caracas caught one for Venezuela and Arthur E. Llavallol saw his catch—biggest of the day—spoiled by a shark as his guides were pulling it into the boat.

Whisnant's catch was a 585-pounder and—scoring a point for each pound, plus 200 points for the largest fish caught and splitting honors with Beltrame's 585-pound fish of the day—gave the United States 885 points.

VENEZUELA SECOND

Venezuela has 377 points, the weight of Beltrame's fish plus the extra 100 points on the split with the United States.

Along the Argentina, the British Commonwealth, Cuba and Mexico, the defending champs, have yet to boat a fish.

The lone boat to get a strike scored in the fishing grounds Wednesday was accompanied by heavy swells and hampered the world's top big game anglers and made the opening day a catch-as-catch-can affair.

Llavallol, the captain of the Argentine team, told how he fought a tuna for 105 minutes and his guides gaffed it for the ride when the shark shot up under the boat and "he bite two times" about 15 pounds from the dying fish.

The bluefin when weighed at dockside hit 1,000 pounds, more than enough to give the Argentine a big lead. International Game Fish rules however, state the angler must hull the fish, weigh and vet—and the dead fish cannot be counted. The judges ruled the shark killed Llavallol's fish.

GOOD NEWS FOR NASHUA!

Rex C. Ellsworth, owner of Swaps, which was beaten by 4½ lengths by Nashua in their record-$100,000 match race in Chicago, is shown with the horse after he announced that an injury to Swaps' right foot might keep the horse out of competition indefinitely. Ellsworth said that Swaps, with Jockey Willie Shoemaker up, ran most of the mile and a quarter match race after the injury. Sonshine Plumps for Peace With U.S. Football League

By W. E. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Harry Sonshine, radiating goodwill and friendliness, plumped Wednesday for peace with the U. S. National Football League, a football commissioner for all Canada and rule changes to provide unlimited interference.

The general manager of Toronto Argos, who caused great consternation and warlike cries in the NFL by raiding top talent, talked with newspaper and radio men at a luncheon arranged by Montreal Alouettes, pro team.

It was all hearts and flowers. Sonshine beamed up on Vic Obeck, Als' vice-president, genially swerved questions tossed by his audience and rattled along so smoothly under-his own steam he forgot to eat his pie.

The only thing that caused some belief Harry may have horns after all was his blunt statement he hopes his Argos beat the bejabbers out of Alouettes come Saturday. He even said Hamilton Tiger-Cats well deserved their victory over Argos last Monday.

"We want peace with the NFL provided we get equal rights for such as the draft, waivers and trading of players," said Sonshine.

AID FOR CLUBS

Sonshine said the NFL has shown private ownership can and is putting something over and that commissioner Bert Bell has always striven to help weaker clubs.

"Not all our clubs are privately owned, but I think we in the Big Four are operating more now as a league than as individuals.

"I would like to see a commissioner for all Canada and I don't think we will get any place until we have one. Maybe that's a year or two away yet but it's got to come. The NFL is financially sounder through Bell's efforts."

Sonshine said he would like to see unlimited interference introduced in the Canadian game by next season.

"I think our rule-book should be rewritten. I don't think our officials can fairly call the 10-yard interference rule. I don't mean we should go ahead and adopt American rules entirely. You'll find anyway the second objective is to get the blocking now is within the 5 yards."

Pitching—Whitey Ford, Yankees, hurled his second consecutive 6-0 shutout, beating Kansas City 9-1.

Batting — Larry Doby, Indians, drove in four runs with two home runs in 6-0 triumph over Baltimore.

HOPE TO RETURN

CLEVELAND (AP)—Vic Wertz now recovering from a mild attack of polio, said Wednesday he hopes to get back into a Cleveland Indian uniform for the last 10 days of the season.

"I'm getting stronger every day and I may be able to do some batch-hitting before the end of the season," he said in a press conference at University Hospital.

The first baseman and outfielder is out of the isolation ward now and has had no paralysis.

TV—Radio Column

Most Viewers Turn TV Set To Channel and Let Her Run

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—One problem in writing a television column is that you're seldom relaxed when looking at the set. You're always hunting for something significant.

Eventually you begin to think the rest of the country looks at TV the same way: carefully scouting programs in advance, organizing time to make sure they see this and that, switching from channel to channel.

But most people don't watch in this manner. Networks, agencies and experts of all kinds agree that the normal set habit is turn on the set and let her run. Thus the times before and after popular programs are valuable commercial spots.

Last Sunday evening I looked at the set like a normal human being. My choice was the Ed Sullivan show. I wanted to see if they could entertain me. I was tired of significance." I wanted to be normal.

WAS ENTERTAINED

The Sullivan show held and entertained me. The action of the Ice Capades" at Atlantic City took me out of the basement. There was music and amusement. Suddenly it was 9 p. m. Time to another channel? No, sir. I was being entertained. Why should I get out of my chair?

On came GE Theatre with Joseph Cotten starring in High Green Wall." It was superb.

Half an hour later came Stage 7 with a sickly done item called Where You Loved Me," starring Macdonald Carey as a clown whose wife left him. Then came Appointment With Adventure," which presented a neat drama about some zany happenings on an island. Finally came What's My Line?" with the old panel shepherded by John Daly.

I was relaxed. I had been entertained. TV had performed a great service.

It must be fun to be a normal viewer.

South Hastings Baseball League

Shannonville pulled to within one game of the South Hastings baseball league championship last night when they handed Canniton a 3-2 defeat on the latter's home diamond.

This gives Shannonville a three-games-to-two edge with the next fixture slated for the leader's field on Saturday afternoon as part of the Shannonville Fair.

Juby toiled the distance for the victors, giving up only one hit while whiffing seven and walking three. Harvey Stoliker threw for Canniton, touched for three hits, fanning five and passing two.

With the score tied at 1-1, the winners plated three runs in the second stanza. Stuart and Howard walked and Juby had an infield hit to fill the sacks. Barberstack followed with a double for two markers and Hill filed to left for the other tally.

They scored their first-frame tally on an error and Bennett's hit. Harder's hit accounted for Canniton's initial run while Juby walked their second run across.

The winners left six on the base paths while Canniton stranded five.

Lineups—

Shannonville — Barberstack, Marsele, G. Hill, Sero, Bennett, G. Lewis, Stuart, Howard, Juby.

Canniton — Harder, Marner, Moore, MacDonald, Sheffield, Cole, Baker, Wynn, H. Stoliker.

Umpires—Townsend (P) and L. Carson (B).

LINE SCORE	R.	H.	E.
Shannonville	1 2 0 0 0 —	4	3
Canniton	1 1 0 0 0 —	2	1

The Kibitzer

There is an old Spanish-American war vet custom of saying: "You don't have to be crazy to play bridge, but it helps a lot." Sure does! You would be surprised how much it does.

Crazy bidders get themselves into the darndest contracts. So, to fulfill such incongruous final bids it takes all the ingenuity they can muster. It makes brilliant card players out of them.

I must tell you what happened in the deal you see here:

NORTH
♠6 4 2
♥K 8 5 4 3
♦K 9 5
♣A 3

WEST	EAST
♠—	♠K J 9 7
♥Q 10 2	♥10 9
♦Q 10 9 8	♦6 4 2
♣K Q 10 9 8	♣7 6 5 4

SOUTH
♠A Q 10 8 5 3
♥A 8
♦7 3 2
♣J 2

The players must have gone nuts to bid their hands like this:

South	West	North	East
Pass	3 ♠	Double	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	5 ♦	Pass
6 ♠	Pass	7 ♠	Double

Sticking his neck way out was west with his bid of five diamonds. North and east were in his penalty double of it. East bid six clubs because he thought his partner was asking for choice.

South had no business to let opponents off the hook. His small slam spade bid made bait of his own side. How north could see a grand slam in spades is something only a conjurer could answer.

Nothing constructive have you learned from what these players meant by their bids. But if no explanations were given here, gobs of letters would ask why; unaccompanied by self-addressed envelopes.

It is a pleasure to pay for stamps to send the answers. It is no trouble to carry on my tours in extra trunkful of envelopes. But I hate to take a secretary who spends all her time addressing them.

So, what is my purpose in showing you this deal? West made an opening lead of his club king and I'll be dogone if the galoot in south did not take all 13 tricks with spades as trumps.

Surprising what can be done when you must.

Alabama Lawyer Gives Up Chase For Gisele's Hand

WINNIPEG (CP)—An Alabama lawyer who says he has pursued the heart of radio and television star Gisele MacKenzie since he fell in love with her on television four months ago will pursue no more.

Edward Gachet Branch of Montgomery, Alabama, who has travelled thousands of miles following Gisele and written her daily love letters, said in an interview he had decided to quit the chase because he was told he was disturbing her.

"And I would rather die than hurt Miss MacKenzie," drawled polite Mr. Branch.

The 43-year-old southerner, who previously followed Gisele to New York and Las Vegas, followed the singing star to Winnipeg Monday.

Gisele's father, concerned over Mr. Branch's attention, notified city detectives.

Tuesday detectives told Mr. Branch at his hotel Gisele did not care to see him and suggested he not call on her again.

"Man if I had been told before I was annoying Miss MacKenzie, I certainly wouldn't have followed her," he said. "I simply love her too much to want to hurt her in any way."

Dewey Martin Wonders Why He Cannot Get 'Hot' Roles

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Should Dewey Martin rip his T-shirt, ride a motorcycle and snarl 'at females?

Sometimes the lad thinks he should. It seems to be the way to get ahead in Hollywood. But Dewey doesn't because:

1. He likes nice clothes.
2. He prefers a sports car.
3. He likes girls.

The source of his frustration is the normal struggle to win prize film roles in this town. Dewey has put in some impressive performances; his work in "The Desperate Hours" is said to be of Oscar quality. But he is passed up for roles he earnestly seeks—and for the strangest reasons.

LOST TWO INCHES

He has apparently lost two hot roles to one of the members of the blood-and-guts-in-battle set. Dewey didn't name his adversary, but it's obviously James Dean.

I didn't get the part in 'Giant' because they said I wasn't big enough," said medium-sized, slim Dewey. So who gets the role?"

Answer: Medium - sized, slim James Dean.

Now Dewey has apparently lost out on the Rocky Graziano role in "Somebody Up There Must Like Me."

Guess who MGM is planning to borrow for the role—James Dean.

AT THE McCARTHY — Marlon Brando and Mary Murphy find romance in Columbia Pictures' "The Wild One" the Stanley Kramer Production starring Brando at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre. Robert Keith is featured with Miss Murphy. Also on the same program is the thrilling-packed story "Cell 2455 Death Row" featuring William Campbell.

AT THE CAPITOL — Burt Lancaster is the Apache warrior, Massai, famed in American legend as the fierce, vengeful brave who alone held off an American Army, in the Technicolor adventure film "Apache", produced by Harold Hecht and co-starring Jean Peters. On the same program in Technicolor "Beachhead", starring Tony Curtis, Frank Lovejoy and Mary Murphy. Both Technicolor attractions, open tonight at the Capitol Theatre.

Among the other reasons he is turned down for roles, particularly by some of the more mature leading ladies, is that he's too young. Dewey will be turning 23 shortly and wonders if he will have to grey his hair to convince people he's no kid.

BULB EXPLODES

Furthermore, it's tough for a young actor to break into print, especially when in association with an established name.

Dewey illustrated with Humphrey Bogart.

During the filming of "The Desperate Hours," he and Bogie were standing off stage during a scene that was witnessed by a famous visitor, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

Bogie happened to bump against one of the giant lights. He and Dewey watched it sway, then the big bulb exploded in their faces.

Bogie was hit in the forehead by a piece of hot glass. Two larger pieces landed in Dewey's scalp, burning and cutting. Soon the blood covered his face.

The next day the headlines declared that Bogart was injured in an explosion that imperilled Mrs.

But the filming of "The Desperate Hours," he and Bogie were

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Friday, September 9, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — A special day with possibilities of unusual happenings. Interesting news. – Be on the alert and don't miss any of the good things; neither neglect duties, daily routine tasks.

April 21 to May 20. (Taurus) — Look to the healthy attractions, the strong, conscientious people and the wholesome activities. Never let yourself wander from the safe, right road. — It is too easy, too confusing, and too hard to return.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Don't let anyone down your spirits and zest for life's good things. But, at the same time, stick to a sensible tempo and be tolerant, even toward those who may irritate you.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Take over where you think you can do some good. But don't take over just for the sake of ruling. Too often we are prone to do this. Listen as well as speak; you will hear much.

July 24 to August 22 — (Leo) — Don't do what you would not do if you were truly conscientious. Be on time; smile, especially at the things that matter. Therein is usually the simple recipe for peace, smooth sailing.

August 23 to September 23 — (Virgo) — You can do more good for yourself and those you truly love by being calmly attentive but not overdoing or straining in anything. Anxiety upsets, causes confusion.

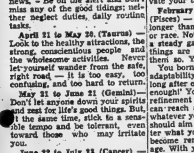
September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — Do things in a well trained, self-sufficient manner as the well-rounded Libran generally does. Remember, conserving energy is important. Don't rile at opposition; use strategy.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — Keep looking on the brightest side of everything. That is important for health, satisfactory work, future happiness. Need substantial people; don't be misled through sentiment.

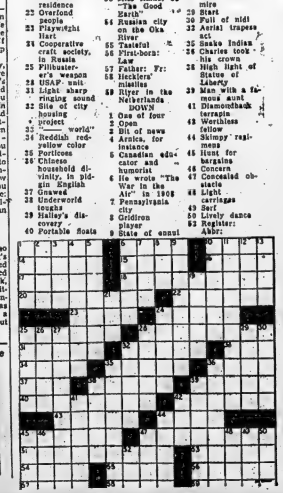
November 23 to December 22 — (Sagittarius) — People of different ages have different feelings about various matters, different viewpoints. It is wise not to argue. Intelligent discussions, however, is always in order.

December 23 to January 21 — (Capricorn) — Follow the rules you have found best, and guard against those who would try to break down your moral code. Give and take, and keep smiling. You will not lose.

January 22 to February 20 — (Aquarius) — Do not mind that others do not notice all you do to the best of your ability; just keep on with the work. Remember the importance of humor. Use, cultivate your talents.



February 21 to March 20 — (Pisces) — If something has taken longer than expected, don't chafe or fume. Nothing continues like a steady gait and cheerfulness. If things are going smoothly, keep them so. You can.



You born today have versatility, adaptability and a will to achieve long after others have said, "That's enough!" Your industriousness and refinement are outstanding. You can reach admirable heights in whatever your position in life, and should aim to accomplish, no matter what your age. Virgoans often become renowned after middle age. With your practical side, you should not indulge in petty criticism, looking for dimly into others' shortcomings. Don't let annoyances worry you and see you much happier you will be. You have faith, endurance. Birthdate: Count Leo Tolstoy, writer, philosopher; Luigi Galvani, Italian physiologist.

MONK FOUND DEAD

PENANG, Malaya (AP) — Teo Loo Lok resident monk of Penang's famed snake temple, was battered to death early today as he prayed beside his pet pythons. The monk, who a week ago escorted British Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd through the temple, was found near the python pit by a temple sweeper, badly beaten about the head.

A FAST TRIP

TORONTO (CP) — A four-year-old Oakville child, choking on a jagged stone swallowed while playing in his backyard, made the ride of his life Wednesday. A taxi and two police cruisers teamed up to take Carl Waldon to the Hospital for Sick Children here where doctors removed the stone. The taxi car blew a tire and barely missed turning over.

OFFER AMNESTY

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (AP) Malaya's new elected government moved today to end the seven-year war with the Communist guerrillas by offering an amnesty to all Reds who came out of their jungle hideouts and lay down their arms. The move followed a campaign promise made by the Chinese-Indian-Malay Alliance government which took office last month after a smashing victory in the peninsula's first parliamentary election.

LOB DYNAMITE BOMBS
SALERNO, Italy (Reuters)—Two fishermen were killed Wednesday night with "causing a ship wreck by throwing bombs" after an Italian fishing vessel and other rivals allegedly lobbed dynamite bombs to warn it off their coastal fishing ground. A lifeboat picked up the crew of three. They are the survivors blew a hole in the bottom of their vessel.

Pearce Family Holds Reunion At Rose Hall

On Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McCartney, Rose Hall, there was a gathering of some of the descendants of the late Reuben Pearce, who was the grandfather of Mrs. McCartney. Of an original family of fourteen only two remain—Mrs. George Hendry and Mr. Josiah E. Pearce, who was unable to be present.

Among those at the family gathering were Mrs. Walter Miller of Trenton, whose father was the late William Pearce, the eldest son of the family. The late Philip Pearce was represented by his daughter, Mrs. Cory Snider of Smithfield, who teaches music in several Prince Edward county schools, and by Wilfred Pearce and wife, of Oshawa. Mrs. Snider's two daughters, Mrs. Morgan Baker and Mrs. Frank Hamilton of Brighton, were present with their husbands and families; also present were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Snider of Brighton. Ted is popular radio announcer for the Belleville-Trenton radio station CJBQ.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dennis of Toronto, were the representatives of the Charles Pearce branch of the family. With them was their youngest daughter, Patricia. Miss Neta Ellis, Mrs. Robert Walker and Mr. Clinton Ellis of Wooler, whose mother was Rachel Pearce, were present at the gathering. Mr. Ellis has recently returned to his teaching post on the Toronto school staff from a three years' leave of absence, during which he taught English at the famous Swanael Gakuin University in Japan.

Mrs. Edwin Jeffry of Oshawa, whose father was the late James Pearce, came down with Mrs. Thomas Pearce, who also lives in Oshawa. Mrs. Thomas Pearce was Sarah Zufelt of Wellington.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hendry (Margaret Ann Pearce) had their entire family with them—Mr. Clarence Hendry, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fox, their daughter, Mrs. Elmer McFaul, and son Ronald Fox, wife and family. Mrs. McCartney is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hendry.

A happy day was spent in getting acquainted with grandchildren and in recalling stories of former years. Everyone did justice to the abundance of good food and all agreed that a repetition of the gathering was a definite date for the summer of 1956.

Wooler

WOOLER—Mrs. S. L. Terrill and Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Putnam spent Saturday in Port Hope.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Ruttan and two boys, returned to their home in Stratford, after spending two weeks with Mr. Ruttan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ruttan.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Badgley, Delbert and Marjorie were Sunday guests of Mr. L. E. Bryant, who is confined to his bed suffering with pneumonia.

Mrs. Emma Bentley spent Wednesday afternoon visiting her son, Mr. Norman Bentley of Brighton, who is suffering with a broken hip.

Mrs. Jack McDonald and Mrs. C. R. Terrill spent Monday in Campbellford.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Putnam spent Wednesday in Lansdowne.

Mrs. S. L. Terrill, Mrs. W. McCool and Mrs. V. Teal spent Wednesday in Brighton.

Miss Dawn Nelson spent last week with her sister, Mrs. Earl Duncoon in Oshawa.

Mrs. A. Nelson of Campbellford and Miss Nola Nelson of Toronto, were Friday afternoon callers of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Nelson and Mrs. Lorna Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Taylor and Dickey of Pontiac, Michigan, are visiting Mrs. Taylor's parents Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ruttan.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Redcliff spent Sunday in Campbellford.

Mr. William Stacey spent a week with his daughter in Oshawa, Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Wessels, Mrs. C. L. Wessels and Mrs. Parcel spent Sunday afternoon with friends at Consecon.

Butcher Sells $800 in Cash For Sausage

DETROIT (AP) — Anthony Mangiapane, 45, wrapped $800 in brown paper and put the package by the cash register in his butcher shop Thursday night.

A woman customer walked in and Tony waited on her before placing the money in a safe.

"She pays me, she leaves, then I think of the money," said Tony, "I grab the package. It's not like money. I open it—it's her sausage."

Hope it'll, Tony added: "Maybe in a few days when the lady takes it out of the ice box to eat, she'll bring back the $800. Freezing won't hurt it."

General Motors And Union Think Accord Likely

TORONTO (CP) — Possible peaceful settlement of the General Motors of Canada-United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) dispute was foreseen by both labor and company representatives as negotiations moved into the second day here today.

The five-hours-a-day, seven-days-a-week bargaining for a new agreement for the 10,000 employees at the GM plant in Oshawa began Thursday.

Negotiations for the other 7,000 Canadian GM employees were expected for the weekend because labor officials had previous commitments. Negotiations for the two groups are being conducted separately; each has its own contract.

Chief among the UAW's demands is a version of the guaranteed annual wage. Other major demands, among the more than 100 it seeks, are compulsory union membership, a company-paid health plan and an apprenticeship program.

Wage increases are included, with a demand for a total of 12 cents an hour over the basic rate of $1.46 for employees at London, Ont., St. Catharines, Windsor and Scarborough. The union wants the rate at Oshawa to be increased to equal the $1.65 paid by Ford of Canada.

Talks covering the four-city master agreement will resume Monday.

Two top union officers from Detroit are expected to participate in the discussions next week. They are John Livingstone, a UAW international vice-president and chief of the union's General Motors department, and his assistant, E. J. Patterson.

Three Killed As Plane Crashes

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — The pilot of a stricken DC-3 stretched his glider to the limit. But it wasn't enough, and the plane crashed 150 yards short of the Lockheed air terminal runway Thursday, killing the pilot, copilot and a ground worker and injuring 24 persons.

Pilot Joseph Amos Bradsher, 31, radioed shortly after taking off for Oakland, Calif., with 30 passengers that his starboard engine had failed.

Today's Chuckle

June: "Is he! When he got his letter for football, I had to read it to him!"

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) — Synopsis: A disturbance located over Minnesota today will move into northern Ontario by Saturday morning. Cloudy skies and showers will occur across northern Ontario today. Southerly winds will bring warmer and into southern Ontario. A few light showers are forecast for the lower Great Lakes regions.

ST. LAURENT PREFERS OWN RELIEF SCHEME

Welcomes Ontario's Health, Pipeline Plans

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said he welcomes Ontario's suggestion for health insurance and the Trans - Canada pipeline but that he thinks Ottawa's unemployment relief proposals are better than Toronto's.

The prime minister arrived Thursday night by RCAF plane from his western tour made in connection with the jubilee anniversaries of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Alberta. He was met at the airport by Citizenship Minister Pickersgill.

He commented for reporters on statements made Thursday in the Ontario legislature by Premier Frost.

Of Mr. Frost's unemployment-relief proposal, the prime minister said: "We have made a suggestion before. It has been discussed and may get further consideration. It doesn't strike me as being as good as the formula we have suggested."

56-CENT SUBSIDY

Mr. St. Laurent's Ontario's formula calls for payment by the federal government of an unconditional 50-cent subsidy for each lost working hours. He said it was proposed last fall at the federal-provincial conference.

The federal government's formula was offered at the June federal-provincial meeting. Under it, Ottawa undertook to pay one-half the cost of providing welfare relief for persons in excess of 4% per cent of the provincial population.

But, Mr. St. Laurent said on his arrival in Edmonton, "we have no closed mind" to other proposals. The Ontario proposal would be considered on its merits If it were submitted at the coming meeting of the federal government with that Ontario will present the Ontario conference with a plan for full hospital coverage. He said the provincial government has worked on it for months.

MEET NEXT TUESDAY

Mr. St. Laurent commented: "His government has the right to introduce a full hospital plan. British Columbia has one. The premiers is to the conference it will be ready next Tuesday.

But federal-Ontario views on the Trans-Canada pipeline will be discussed before October, Mr. St. Laurent said Thursday night when Ontario and federal officials will meet here next Tuesday for pipeline discussions.

Premier Frost told the legislature Ontario has expressed its willingness to participate in any practical scheme to consider all proposals for building an all-Canadian pipeline from Alberta to the east.

The prime minister returns to Ottawa by RCAF plane today for the week-end. However, he said he will be back in the capital for Tuesday's pipeline talks with Ontario officials.

MAY SET UP BOARD

OTTAWA (CP) — The government may set up next year an appeal board to deal with deportation cases involving alleged immigrants, it was learned Thursday. It is understood Immigration Minister Fairclough, after several months been studying the possibility of forming some kind of an appeal board.

Martin Scheduled to State Canada's Disarmament Policy

By RUSSELL ELMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) —Health Minister Paul Martin is scheduled to make Canada's first policy statement on disarmament today as the UN disarmament subcommittee ends its second week.

Mr. Martin will outline Canada's policy in a set of answers to questions the Soviet delegate, Arkady A. Sobolev, put to the Western powers last week.

Sobolev questioned Britain, France, Canada and the United States on their attitude toward an Russian disarmament plan of May 10, calling for establishing a cellon the size of armies and the gradual prohibition of atomic weapons.

British Minister of State Anthony Nutting and the U.S. delegate, presidential adviser Harold Stassen, is partial replies to the Russian proposal. Nutting opposed the Soviet plan for control by the UN Security Council, saying that atomic weapons against aggression in the interim period before a total ban on nuclear armament becomes effective.

Nutting and Stassen objected on the same grounds—that they would have been a ready suggestion guaranteed under the UN charter and should not be qualified by a Security Council veto.

Nutting also noted that the Russian plan for control was somewhat similar to an Anglo-French proposal presented at the London disarmament talks last spring but that the Western plan was guaranteed through system of inspection and control.

The Soviet news agency Tass reported from Moscow Thursday night, however, that Sobolev told the sub-committee Wednesday that Russia "considers it fully possible to set up an international system of control fully capable of implementing the program of armament reduction and prohibition of atom weapons.

Tass reported Sobolev as saying that atom weapons alone "would not decide the outcome of war" and therefore their proposals for establishing a system of international control start from the premise that it is essential to create conditions which will preclude the aggressive intentions of any state could be immediately revealed and other states warned.

The Soviet government also declared, along with the Western powers, that it was not possible to have a 100-per-cent effective control, since "certain forms of disputes once the bombs have been destroyed," Tass continued.

Sobolev's statement, apparently, is a form of reply to the U.S. proposal for an exchange of military blueprints with the Soviet Union and the setting up of aerial reconnaissance to guard against surprise attack.

Sobolev's statement, as reported by Tass, still does not spell out the Russian plan in detail but it was thought possible that he will elaborate on it in more fully in the conference room.

Moroccan Settlement Likely In Time to Avert Bloodshed

PARIS (AP)— French hopes mounted today that a Moroccan settlement will be reached before next Monday, time in which further bloodshed in the violence torn North African protectorate.

Officials of Premier Edgar Faure's government said an agreement was in sight and that an announcement would be made "in the next few days."

A high French source at United Nations headquarters in New York said Sultan Mohammed Ben Youssef, Sidi Baraja Arafa by Monday will name a viziers and ministers to replace Mohammed Ben Youssef, Si Bekkai, to head a regency council in Morocco. Si Bekkai is the former pasha of Sefrou.

Moulay Arafa, the UN source continued, will retire to the interior palace at Fez. He will preside the council to rule until France and the Moroccans settle their quarrel over the sultan's future role.

The French exiled Ben Youssef to Madagascar in 1953 because of his nationalist sympathies, replacing him with Moulay Arafa. The proached.

Under Faure's plan, Ben Youssef would be allowed to live in France until his death, but not in Morocco. Meanwhile, the regency council would form a government representative of the Moroccan factions to negotiate for more home rule in the protectorate.

Faure himself set Sept. 15 as the target date for action when he began negotiations with the nationalists last month. Subsequently a conference of the Casablanca, Morocco's biggest city, called a general strike for that date. The military Arafa was still on the throne.

Many in Morocco fear that the strike, if it materializes, will touch off another blood bath similar to the massacre of 20-21 in which 132 French and pro-French Moslems were killed.

Negotiators on all sides intensified their activities as the target date for the settlement

Adenauer Insists Russians Must Free German Prisoners

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today on an agreement on release of German war prisoners held by Russia as part of his price for establishment of formal relations between his West German government and the Soviet Union.

Adenauer told the opening session of his historic first conference with the Kremlin leaders that it is unthinkable to establish formal relations between our states so long as the question of the prisoners remains unsolved."

Speaking across a long table in the white marble and gold hall of Spiridonovka Palace, Adenauer also pleaded with Russians to "dedicate all your energies to a rapid solution" of the problem of German reunification.

He said, however, that he would not make reunification a basic condition with the Kremlin leaders, but suggested it be taken up in connection with the big three Western powers when the foreign ministers meet in Geneva with the Soviet Union and the United States meet in Geneva next October.

Adenauer said in asking release of the prisoners that he was not making a "pre-condition," but rather underlining an essential to the establishment of relations across the Russians had listed as the purpose of their talks Thursday.

(The West German government claims that nearly 100,000 Germans are held in the Soviet Union. The Russians and the East German Communist government insist that the number is less than 5,000).

Soviet Premier Bulganin is reported ignored the question of the war prisoners. On reunification, he reiterated Russian claim that West German membership in NATO and the European Defence Union barred the big barrier to reunion of West and East Germany.

Five Argentine Officers Wanted For Conspiracy

By BRUCE HENDERSON

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Sundaer orders were out today for a dozen more of the other Argentine army officers accused of plotting the overthrow of President Juan Peron.

The unique procedure, a notice published on page five of the Peronista newspaper El Epoca orders Brig.-Gen. Delfino Benigno Caballero Balaguer and four subordinates of the 9th Cuerpo garrison to appear for a hearing on conspiracy charges.

The order seemed to confirm reports on unrest in the garrison, which is the manufacturing and livestock centre 350 miles west of Buenos Aires. It also implied that the five officers were not at their posts.

The notice, signed by Maj.-Gen. Jose Sosa Molina on his first day in command of the four-star post, warned the five that if they do not appear before him within 48 hours they will be "guilty of being declared rebels."

BREAKS MARK

OTTAWA (CP)—A French civilian jet aircraft Thursday broke its own speed record for the 100-mile flight from Montreal to Ottawa, covering the distance in 11 minutes. The twin-jet aircraft, made for civilian and military use, Wednesday flew from Montreal in 24 minutes and returned in 20 minutes. It was piloted Thursday by Allen Raines.

RAILWAY UNIONS PLAN TO DEMAND 25-CENT BOOST

Will Push Slogan For Federal Subsidy

By JOHN LEBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Demands for a wage increase of about 25 cents an hour and for a welfare plan likely will be at the top of the list when spokesmen for some 100,000 railway employees open negotiations with the railways shortly.

Another probability, it was learned today, is that the unions will call for a federal subsidy to the railways to compensate them for the cost of any wage rise they get and thus put them into better financial position to boost pay.

The demands are to be drafted, it became known today, at a Sept. 13-14 meeting of the 150-member general conference committee of the rail unions. These include 14 "non-operating" unions and three running trades groups.

The non-operating group that staged the paralyzing national rail strike of 1950. A year ago, a strike was threatened over contract demands but called off when the government agreed to appoint a fact-finding board with an intention to call Parliament into emergency session to outlaw the move.

SIDE SUGGESTION

The report that the unions, reluctantly, accepted arbitration of the dispute by a government-appointed conciliation board, Gordon M. Sloan of the British Columbia Appeal Court.

Mr. Justice Sloan gave the employees part of what they wanted and threw in, as a side suggestion, the idea that the railways should be helped from the treasury because of their loss of potential revenue in the low-interest Crowsnest Pass rates under which export-destined grain is carried in the West.

Advance information on the unions chiefs' meeting is that they will latch on to the Sloan proposal and push it with the government while keeping one eye on the negotiations directly with the rail companies.

Estimates on the amount of subsidy that would be needed to make up for revenue deficiencies from the Crowsnest rates range from $20 million to $67,000,000 a year.

REVENUES BOUNCING

On their new demands, it was understood, the unions will be basing their requests on the general upgrading of giving the railways a federal subsidy and partly on the fact that railway revenues are bouncing this year. All the carriers received big increases and substantially higher revenues than a year ago.

The non-company contracts, based on the Sloan arbitration report, expire Dec. 31. Negotiations can start 60 days before that date, and this is the first time the unions will assemble here this month.

TRAPPED IN RUINS

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Storm rains sweeping southern Mexico's Pacific coast Thursday trapped 50 Cuyuga village jail in Quirreros state, killing five prisoners who were cowering in their cells.

The highway between Mexico City and Acapulco, Guerrero's big coastal resort, was cut by several small landslides as the downpour lashed Mexico City and Oaxaca, another tourist spot. Traffic was suspended because of washouts.

Tyndall Ave. Tycoons Raking Yearly Profit from Tire-Bruised Lawns

TORONTO (CP)—The tycoons of Tyndall avenue are raking in their yearly profit from tire - bruised lawns.

The area is a convenient carparking distance from the playing grounds of the Canadian National Exhibition. But for two weeks in late summer, the spirit of free enterprise and competition reigns supreme on the avenue and adjacent streets.

Prices vary with the distance from the gates of the CNE, from the 50-cents-and-take-your - keys area through the $1.00, $1.50 and $2 sections.

Business is bound to boom. The CNE, with two days to go, has pulled in a total of 3,258,000 customers and not many come on foot.

Size of the lots varies from the perfectly professional to the garage-stamp amateur. One woman then get away with that."

Campbellford Grandmother Sings As She Swims 3 Miles in 6 Hours

TORONTO (CP)—Most persons are lazy grow older, start to take it easy. But not Mrs. Dorothy Trembley of Campbellford, Ont.

Mrs. Trembley, a 55-year-old mother of five, begins at 40. Thursday night placed third in the 22-mile Canadian National Exhibition marathon swim off the CNE waterfront.

Mrs. Trembley is no stranger to CNE swims, having started her by swimming the 1952 race. It was then she was considered a marathon swimmer.

Since then she has only missed two CNE swims—in 1952 and 1954. In 1950 she placed sixth in the 10-mile CNE marathon, 'collecting $100.

Today she quit at 7:10 a.m. EST after covering less than three miles in 6 hours.

The good-natured Mrs. Trembley was accompanied by her husband, Lumley, and a number of there for my own swimming lessons. She does it on her own time and receives nothing for it unless her pupils—71 of them—wish to make a donation.

Except they give me about 25 cents a lesson for 12 lessons," she said. "I treat myself to a steak after 12 lessons, I give them the whole blasted schoolie free.

"I haven't had one full me yet."

Thursday night, Mrs. Trembley spent almost all the time in the water. Her husband, Lumley, was in a boat with her police, who occasionally stopped at the side to give her hot tea. Her amazed spectators she floated on her back most of the night and sang songs. Her favorite, "Shing Down a Hill with You," is a song of her own composition.

When asked why she didn't try to finish the course, Mrs. Trembley said:

"I'm no racer. I can't beat Cliff Lumley and a lot of there for my own satisfaction and the town of Campbellford who sponsored me."

Chicago Traffic Like Air Raid Says Londoner

CHICAGO (AP)—A London traffic expert took the wheel in a Chicago taxi Thursday and:

Ran on red light; drove over pedestrian safety island; backed gently into a policeman on a motorcycle; frightened several hundred pedestrians, and came within inches of smashing into a truck.

But no grief came to Alexander Samuell, a former cab driver and forecast chairman of London's traffic advisory committee. One of his passengers was Capt. Michael Ahern, Chicago's traffic chief, another was Col. Arthur Young, London police chief.

Samuell's comment on the 40-minute drive in downtown Chicago: "It's rather like a bombing raid."

Sent to Trial On Murder Count

GUELPH (CP)—Lloyd Raymond Lester, 21, Thursday was committed for trial on a charge of murdering his mother.

Mrs. Annie Lester was slain with a shotgun in their home last March 4.

Lester's lawyer had won an appeal against an earlier committal on grounds that a statement allegedly made and introduced at the preliminary hearing may have been inadmissible evidence.

Thursday's hearing resulted in the original trial date, Sept. 19, being confirmed.

ASKED RELEASE

Joseph Lester, the young man's father, testified that on one of the weekly visits to his son in jail he asked him: "What made you do it?"

"He said: 'I don't know—it happened so fast,' snapping his fingers. He said his mother called him names and told him to lower the radio," Joseph said.

BANNER PRESENTED BY BEESWING FIRM

The Belleville unit of the ANAF "now is the proud possessor of a new banner, specially designed for it.

Presented by the O'Keefe Brewing Company, the flag displays the association's crest on a blue background of royal purple silk with the "Shoulder to Shoulder" motto of the ANAF worked in gold.

It was officially presented to the association by the company's district representative, James Williamson. In the course of a speech Mr. Williamson told assembled ANAF members that the flag would serve as a memento to comrades fallen and would be held in high esteem by those honoring and following the banner.

Local ANAF president W. J. Ford, received the banner on behalf of the unit.

Senior Citizens Entertain Trenton Club Members

The Senior Citizens' Club of Belleville entertained members from the Trenton Club at their first fall meeting held on Wednesday evening, September 7, in the Kiwanis Centre.

President Jack Cooke welcomed all present and on behalf of the club thanked past president, Leslie Field, for his untiring efforts and splendid leadership during his two-year term of office. In remarks Mr. Field thanked all Senior Citizens for their support and co-operation. An account of the club picnic held at Crystal Beach was read by the secretary, Mrs. Drummond. Congratulations were extended to all those whose birthdays occur in the month of September. A short and interesting talk was given by Mrs. Kirby, Senior Citizen member from England.

Euchre and other games were played with prizes won by Mrs. Burrows, Mrs. Tomlin, Mrs. Thorn, Mrs. Thomson, Mrs. McGargan, Mrs. Springer and Mrs. Hall.

At the close of the evening refreshments were served by the social committee.

Theatre Guild Will Sponsor National Ballet

The Belleville Theatre Guild will sponsor a two-day appearance of the National Ballet of Canada in Belleville in November.

Members of the Guild approved the sponsorship unanimously on Wednesday at the season's first meeting in Queen Victoria School.

Classical ballet will be presented on the first night of the tour. Modern ballet stylings will feature the second night's production. Plans for the appearance of the company, which includes 65 dancers and musicians, will be arranged following further discussions with representatives of the company.

Robert Tanner led a discussion on "The Three Stratfords" at Shakespearean festivals held each summer in England, in Canada and now in the United States. He spoke of the visits to Stratford, Ont., and Stratford, Conn., recounting in detail his impressions of the theatre, the players, the productions, and the festival sets. The group joined the discussion with personal observations made at the Stratford, Ont., festival.

Casting for a workshop play to be presented at the next meeting followed the discussion. Refreshments were served.

Obituary

ARTHUR LORNE BROUGH

In Foxboro United Church, which was filled to capacity with sorrowing friends and relatives, the funeral of Arthur Lorne Brough took place at 2 p.m. yesterday afternoon. A wealth of floral tributes testified in a small measure the high esteem in which the deceased was held in his community.

Rev. R. F. Dirk assisted by Mr. Jack McMurray conducted the service in the church and also the graveside prayers at Zion Hill cemetery, where interment took place.

The bearers were Dr. S. Demorest, Reginald Skinner, Bernard Hollinger, Kenneth Brewer, Cecil Ketcheson and Arthur Ray.

LATE MRS. FRED KNAPP

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Fred Knapp, Deseronto, were held from the Bell and Anderson Ltd. White Funeral Home to St. Vincent de Paul Church where Requiem High Mass was said by Rev. Father G. T. Martin. Interment was in Mount Pleasant cemetery.

Mrs. Knapp died Tuesday at the Hotel Dieu Hospital in Kingston following a brief illness.

Born in Deseronto 82 years ago, she was formerly Aleta Lord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jason Lord. She had lived in Kingston before coming to Deseronto where she was a member of St. Vincent de Paul Church and of the Catholic Women's League.

She is survived by her husband and one brother Anson Lord of Deseronto.

Bearers at the funeral were E. Dowland, Jr., Wm. Palmer, J. Cleland, D. Kinnett, R. Joyce and A. Leverture.

Group Insurance Plan Adopted By Chamber

Chamber of Commerce members will now have the privilege of enjoying group insurance plans which will be put into effect, by the Chamber, in co-operation with Wood, Gundy & Company Limited Life Assurance Company.

Benefits of the group insurance cover life, accidental death, and dismemberment, weekly indemnity, daily hospital benefits, special hospital extras, hospital maternity benefits and surgical benefits. The group plan will be open to all members of the chamber and to their employees. The chamber directors feel that this group plan would cover these employers and employees in the city particularly of smaller firms who are unable to enjoy the benefits of group insurance.

The chamber will again this fall, the future, sponsor a general membership meeting, to discuss chamber activities and plans for the future.

Two new members were adopted into the chamber, they are, Mr. George E. Board, manager, Belle Ale Motel and Mr. A. Walmsley, proprietor Ontario Cookware.

HOLD COURSE

OTTAWA (CP) — Thirty-five officers of the Canadian army militia are taking a special new two-week course at Camp Borden, the army said Thursday. The training is described as a minor version of the training course given at the Canadian Army Staff College, Kingston. It is to be held each September for officers holding the rank of captain or higher.

Auto Industry Going to Stress Safety Devices

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The ghastly highway toll is spurring the auto industry to stress safety devices.

Car manufacturers can't keep motorists from running into each other, but industry spokesmen say that crash injuries when accidents happen can be cut by at least one third if safety devices to be offered with the 1956 models are used.

Car makers are teaming up with medical research experts to seek still further ways of cutting the death and injury toll on the highways.

Cornell University announces that Chrysler and Ford have each given $200,000 to the automotive crash research program centred at the department of public health and preventive medicine of the university's medical college in New York City.

Chrysler's studies show that 40 per cent of all injured drivers are hurt on the steering assembly. Ford engineers are demonstrating a deep-centre safety steering wheel which slowly gives when head-crash impact, distributing the shock over a wider area. Chest rather than letting him be impaled on the steering column as at present after the crash, they explain.

Indiana state police research shows that a passenger's chances of escaping injury in an accident are two to one if he is not thrown from the car by a crash. Auto engineers are coming out with new door-locking mechanisms they say will keep doors from springing open on impact.

Most of the new models will be equipped with—or can be equipped with—seat belts, many like those with which airplane passengers are belted in for take-off. These belts will help keep occupants inside the vehicle.

They also will cut down the chances of passengers being thrown against the instrument panel. Cornell research shows that 35 per cent of those injured in the front seat are hurt on the instrument panel.

Crash cushioning for the instrument panel and sun visors is being demonstrated by car engineers who claim the padding is five times more shock absorbent than sponge rubber, and distributes the force of an impact over a wider area of the head or body.

A final device being shown is a safety rear-view mirror with a new wide-angle lens designed to cut the chance of glass falling out when shattering—a danger that causes about four per cent of all injuries to front-seat passengers.

Western Farmers Facing Wheat Problem--Hees

OTTAWA (CP)—The Liberal government has been unable to adjust its approach to selling wheat against stiff competition from farmers' market, George Hees of Toronto, national Conservative representative party president, said Thursday night.

Mr. Hees, just back from a three-week tour of the prairie provinces, said that in the last week the majority of western farmers facing a serious situation. Their crop being harvested, grain elevators still were clogged with old wheat and farmers' deliveries were declining to the vanishing point.

In the first 11 months of the last crop year ended July 31 Canada's wheat sales had declined 40 per cent from the previous year while the other major exporting countries had scored increases ranging from 22 to 39 per cent.

"Over a period of years they (the federal government) became so accustomed to handling what come to them that they have been unable to adjust their approach to the problem of selling what is against stiff competition," Mr. Hees told a meeting of the Eastern Ontario Progressive Conservative Association.

"The result has been that our more aggressive competitors are beating Canada in the markets along the line and are stealing additional sales which could just as well be ours."

Wellington On The Lake

THE ORIOLE'S FAREWELL

Faintly I heard his whistle,
Echo of verdant June.
Oh! How my pulses quickened
My heart with his song atune!
And there on a swaying tree-top
I saw his plumage bright,
And memories of happy summers
Were stirred in the morning light.

But his song held a note of sadness,
His song in a minor key
As farewell song to the summer,
To his summer home and me.
For today he is flying southward
And in spite of the spirit,
The joys of youth's bright summer
Will never with him return.

— Helen B. Anderson.

WELLINGTON—We miss the birds. The robins that came to our window every day begging for crumbs are no longer here. The orioles too is silent and the wrens that brightened the morning hours with their friendly call have also disappeared. How happy they were flitting in and out of Mr. and Mrs. Walker's, Brewer's and Moore's attracted a large number.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carley and Mrs. Olga Hall and Miss Marjorie Blakely enjoyed a motor trip along the St. Lawrence beyond Gananoque on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Orr of Belleville spent the week-end at her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Vandewater. Mr. and Mrs. Orr will soon be residents of Camden, Ontario, where he will be manager of the Bank of Montreal.

Mrs. T. H. P. Anderson and Mrs. Farnsworth of Belleville, are holidaying in one of the Hall cottages here.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Benway and Joyce, called on Wellington friends on Sunday. Charles' many friends were delighted to note his recovery after a prolonged illness. Miss Joyce Benway returned to Kingston on Monday to resume her studies.

The many friends of Mr. Gerald Stoneburg are pleased to learn that he is a patient in the hospital at Bowmanville from injuries received in a recent motor accident.

A pre-nuptial shower sponsored by Mrs. Allen Pettingill and Mrs. Glendon Sanders for Miss Geraldine Bowen, bride-elect, was held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Goodgumbus. Miss Bowen was honoured by the receipt of gifts from her girl friends and thanked them graciously for their kindness. Delicious refreshments were enjoyed.

WELLINGTON MANOR

It was a pleasure to visit Wellington Manor Retirement Home for or, now owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hall. The situation is beautiful, with the velvet lawn sloping to the lake, and gorgeous with flowers on every side. While retaining its historic and antique charm, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson are improving the appearance of this grand old house from year to year. Last year by Wellington's pioneer settler, the Daniel Hagerman.

In his address at Hay Bay church recently the Rev. J. Wilson referred to the adventurous spirit of our pioneers and the hardships and privations they endured in rearing new homes in the wilderness. Let us not forget the pioneer restless age to honor their memory.

From a friend in Kitchener I received the following announcement: "Mr. and Mrs. Vasil Nicolruff, 25 Jack Avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Anne, to Mr. Edward C. S. Wilson, son of Dr. and Mrs. Clifford S. Wilson, 139 Frederick Street. The wedding will be held September 10, at Trinity United Memorial Chapel at 7.30 p.m."

Friends interested as Mrs. (Dr.) Wilson, mother of Edward C. S. Wilson, is a daughter of the late Inspector Ed. Benson and his wife, Stella Vanderwater, formerly of Wellington. Miss Gena Benson, who spends summer holidays here in her mother's home will attend the wedding.

DIE IN CHAIR

OSSINING, N.Y. (AP) — Two New York city holdup slayers died in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison Thursday for the murders I. Mead, 23, and Edward J. Nicholas, 28, were pronounced dead for the shooting of Arville A. Davis, 66, in a $200 over-the-counter holdup in New York city May 9, 1954.

WELL-KNOWN WAITER

NEW YORK (AP) — Hugo Schenke, who served many of the world's notable personalities during his 50 years as a waiter at Luchow's restaurant, died Thursday at the age of 75. Schenke was the favorite waiter of writers, actors and diplomatic and society figures, and corresponded with many of them after they left New York.

Canadian Visit Pleases Soviet Farm Delegation

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government has brought the Soviet farm delegation to the end of a 15-day, 4,000-mile farmlands tour and despite the anti-Communist demonstrations, the Russians now appear to be fairly happy about their first venture in the west.

Delegation leader Vladimir Matskevich described it as a great press conference today at which he will outline the experts' impressions of Canada for the Soviet government in the news bulletin issued by the Soviet embassy already indicates the Russians' mood.

It is one of emphasizing growing friendship with Canada and bracketing off the anti-Red demonstrators as not representative. The disturbances in Winnipeg, London, and Montreal were "deplored" by a statement no person not supported by the Canadian people, the news bulletin quoted Mr. Matskevich as saying.

COMMON LANGUAGE

It quoted him as saying the delegation has found a common language of friendship and businesslike co-operation with the Canadians they have met.

The Canadian government also has been emphasizing the friendship side. Works Minister Winters said at a luncheon for Thursday that it was fitting that the tour should end "under warm and friendly skies." He thanked agricultural officials for making the tour "so successful" and invited the Russians to come again.

The garden party attended by federal officials and their wives as well as Mayor Charlotte Whitton, was the last of the farm and social functions for the farm experts.

The delegation has been received to 10 from 12. Two were dispatched to New York and Washington Thursday to clear up some "financial matters" pertaining to the tour and to prepare for the Russians' departure for the Soviet.

The 10 here will leave for New York Saturday and there will be rejoined by the other two for the homeward journey.

Unemployment Insurance Act Changes Oct. 2

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian workers will make weekly instead of fortnightly payments to the unemployment insurance fund starting next month.

This is one of the main features of new regulations under amendments to the Unemployment Insurance Act approved at the last session of Parliament. The revised act will be proclaimed Oct. 2.

Among scores of changes, the new rules provide that $34 the amount of insurance an unemployed married person may draw like coverage.

The maximum single unemployed is raised to $23 from $17.10.

Under new regulations weekly contributions by employees and employers will be based on actual earnings in a week. They will not be based, as at present, on the number of hours or days in which the employee is employed or the rate of earnings for a full week.

The new regulations provide, for example, that contributions by employer and employee for a person earning $35 to $39 a week will be 42 cents each for the week. These contributions will be paid regardless of whether the individual works one or five days.

At present contributions by the two groups are 48 cents a week if a person earns $35 to $39 a week. Rate of contribution for persons earning less than $35 a week is 36 cents a day for each day worked. Minimum contribution under current regulations is 24 cents for earning $4,800 a year is 54 cents a week. Under the new regulations there is no change in the wage ceiling but workers earning between $31 and $37 a week will pay 56 cents and those earning $37 a week and over will pay 70 cents.

Pleads Not Guilty

GUELPH (CP) — James E. Nicholson, building superintendent of the Ontario Agricultural College here, Thursday elected trial by a judge and jury after pleading not guilty to a charge of theft of building materials from the institution. The preliminary hearing resumed today before magistrate Fred Watt.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—Trading was at its fastest pace in about a month during the first hour of today's stock exchange session. Volume at 11 a.m. was 1,283,000 shares compared with 1,290,000 Thursday.

Industrials were mixed with most price changes in fractions. Algoma Steel and Weston's were at new highs, gaining ¼ to 85¾ and a point to 122 respectively. Confederation Life headed the lower issues, dropping 16¼ to 190.

Base metals moved irregularly. Eastern Smelting was up 45 to $7.25 after touching a new high of $7.35, and Opemiska jumped 20 to $9.40. Sherritt, Geco and Granduc were a little easier.

Among uraniums, Gulch retreated 15 to $1.65 after moving up Thursday.

Changes in western were pennies. British and Royalite were among the winners.

Best golds advance went to Consolidated Discovery, up 15 to 54.15. Bralorne moved off 10 to $3.60.

Mogul was up a top value of $3.35 with a 10-cent improvement in holding companies.

DOLLAR RATE

MONTREAL (CP) — The U.S. dollar was at a discount of 1 5-16 per cent. in terms of Canadian reported at noon EDT, today. Thursday's noon rate was 98 21-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.74¾ unch.

Smash New Cars To Test New Safety Equipment

DEARBORN, Mich. (CP) — Spanking new cars were deliberately smashed together here, in a practical demonstration of how passengers could avoid serious injury by using the latest safety equipment.

The cars, fitted with safety belts, padded interiors and shock absorbing steering wheel, highlighted demonstrations at the first national safety forum which ended Thursday.

Automotive engineers here expressed the hope that these safety innovations will reduce injuries by 15 to 30 per cent.

The cars, demonstrating equipment which will be offered in 1956, were "manned" by life-like dummies for the crashes. They were hurled into each other at speeds up to 45 miles an hour.

Polio Incidence In Canada Down By 73 Per Cent

OTTAWA (CP) — Incidence of polio in Canada so far this year has dropped to 27 per cent of the average rate for the 1950-54 period.

The health department announced today that 344 cases of polio were reported up to Sept. 3 compared with a five-year average for that date of 1,986. There were 372 cases of paralytic polio compared with an average of 952.

Polio deaths this year total 17 compared with 58 up to Sept. 4 last year.

Ontario has had 103 cases this year, with a five-year average of 624.

Weekly Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP)—Cattle prices were strong to 50 cents a hundredweight higher this week at the Ontario stockyards. Calves, hogs, sheep and lambs were steady.

The run of 7,800 head of cattle was 1,200 less than last week, although some 650 head more than for the same week in 1954.

The comparatively light run, generally attributed to the short week, met an active demand with steers showing prices gains of 25 cents a hundredweight and cows 50 cents a hundredweight and more. There were no exports to the U. S. and shipments east continued light.

Replacement cattle met a brisk demand at full and steady prices, while common and medium grades made up the bulk of the offering. The few good stockers available sold at $18 to $18.75 with some good light stock calves selling at $19. Commons were $12-16; mediums $16-17.50.

Choice steers, all weight, $20.50-21.50; good steers, $19.50-20.50; mediums $17-19; commons $12-16; good heifers $18-18.50; mediums $16 - 17.50; commons $12; choice steers and heifers $8-12; choice fed yearlings $21.50-22.50; good fed yearlings $20.50 - 21.50; mediums $17-20; good cows $12-12.50; good light heifery cows $13 - $14; canners and cutters down to $6; good heavy bologna bulls mostly $13 with a few good heavy bolsterly bulls at $13.50; common and medium light bologna bulls to $9.

Calf receipts were about 225 head less than last week. Prices for the run of 1,875, however, were unchanged with good and choice grades selling at $22-24. There were some sales to $24.50 and a few extreme tops at $25. Medium $16-21; commons $10-15. Grass calves sold for slaughter here $10-15.

Hogs were 2,500 head. Prices were steady with grade A selling at $28.25 with several loads out at $29; some $18.25 a hundredweight dressed; sags 2 cents under weight dressed.

Sheep and lambs totalled 1,850. Lambs were steady at $19 a hundredweight for good handyweight ewes and wethers. Bucks were discounted $1 a hundredweight. Lambs weighing 85-100 or more were discounted $2 a hundredweight. Common and medium lambs were $13-17 a hundredweight. Feeder lambs were mostly $16-18 a hundredweight with some sold back to the country at $17. Good light ewes were generally $8; common and heavy sheep down to $3.

BREAK NEGOTIATIONS

CHICAGO (AP) — The International Harvester Company and the United Auto Workers Union (CIO) Thursday broke off negotiations indefinitely after efforts to settle a 16-day strike of 40,000 employees in seven states. The union earlier had rejected what the company termed its final offer. This included a layoff plan and a 10-cent hourly wage increase.

Paper Defends Polo Playing Of Duke on Sunday

LONDON (Reuters) — The Church of England Newspaper has defended the Duke of Edinburgh from what it calls the "mean and distorted carpings" of the Free Church of Scotland's newspaper about his custom of playing polo on Sundays.

Earlier this month, Prof. R. Finlayson, editor of Scottish Monthly Record, expressed "pained regret" about this "breach of the Sabbath."

The Church of England Newspaper comments: "A game of polo after church might have a salutary influence upon the livers of Prof. Finlayson and his congregation.

"MUST BE WARY"

"The public must be wary of the carping attacks of the Wee Frees" (Free Church of Scotland) on Her Royal Family.

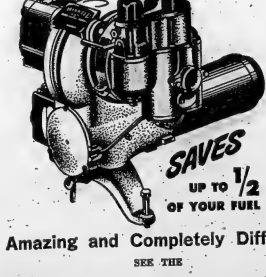
Prof. Finlayson may not wish to play polo after church on a Sunday but if he has no reason why the duke should exercise a similar self-denial.

"The kind of Sunday in which the professor takes satisfaction would drive no distraction such a person as the duke.

"It would hardly be possible to imagine a Royal Family setting a finer example to the nation than it is mean and disloyal to make some petty private pretext for the basis of carpings to which adequate reply would hardly be possible even if it were only private persons who were the targets."

Suspend Sentence For One Year On Theft Charge

Appearing for sentence following a plea of guilty to a charge of theft of a heifer, Perry Brant, Shannonville, was given suspended sentence for one year by Magistrate T. Y. Wills in city magistrate's court today.



Brant appeared yesterday in county magistrate's court and was remanded until today for sentence. He was ordered to pay court costs of $17.50 and restitution of $34.06. Brant will also be examined by Dr. Billings.

William Bigelow was freed on a charge of theft when the case was dismissed by the magistrate after hearing Crown evidence. Bigelow was charged with theft of a woman's purse from the T. Eaton Company. He sold the purse at a beverage room for 50 cents.

In dismissing the case Magistrate Wills stated that the Crown had failed to establish that the purse had been stolen.

Howard Babcock pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of an accident and was assessed $100 fine and $3.50 costs.

ONTARIO AIRMEN TO CANADIAN NATIONAL EXHIBITION

Flying Officer P. J. Middleton of Toronto discusses the C.N.E. air display today and Saturday, with (left to right), Sgt. John H. Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Ferguson of Frankford, Ont; LAC Bill Babbie, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Babbie of Bloomfield, Ont.; and LAC A. G. Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Wood, 636 Sherbrooke St., Peterborough, Ont. All are members of the RCAF's 413 all-weather CF-100 Canuck Squadron, which will be participating in the giant air show over the CNE waterfront. Altogether over 70 jet and piston-driven aircraft will combine to present the biggest and fastest air show ever seen at the "Ex". (National Defence Photo).

Male Stars Have Not Courage To Wear Shorts in Public

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Let's face it, men, we haven't the courage to throw off the shackles of our stupid hot-weather clothing.

This becomes evident in a query of male movie stars during the sizzlingest hot spell in local history. They were asked how they felt about Bermuda shorts.

Whether in the steaming jungles of the Congo or the sun - baked beaches of the Bahamas, the sensible Briton wears pants cut an inch above the knee — no higher, mind you; that would be vulgar. And what do we cousins in the colonies do? We walk around in 100-degree heat with long wool pants hugging our legs.

You'd think that film stars, traditional style setters, would strike a blow for freedom of the American male. I corralled William Holden and Dewey Martin and asked them what they thought about Bermuda shorts.

Said Holden: "I think they're wonderful—in Bermuda."

Added Martin: "I like them a lot—on girls."

The cowards. And there they were on a 110-degree day wearing long pants, shirts, ties, coats, etc. No pioneer spirit there.

How about George Gobel? Surely he'd be enough of an individualist. I wandered to the "Birds and the Bees" set, and what do you know? There was homespun George in shorts. Of course, it was a jungle scene for the picture.

"Would you wear shorts in public?"

"Well, not hardly. I wear 'em around the house and maybe to play golf now and then. But I don't think I'd wear 'em out and around."

Surely, I thought, Humphrey Bogart would be my pigeon. The old curmudgeon. The ruler of stupidity, I called him.

"Hello, Bogie! How do you feel about wearing shorts?"

"Wear shorts 'em? I stay in my pool in weather like this. Haw! Haw! Haw! Stick to the point. Would you wear shorts?"

"Not me, old boy. My knees are not for the consumption. Knobby, you know."

Tyrone Power seemed like an unlikely possibility. Surprisingly, he expressed favor.

"Sure, I think they're the sensible thing to wear. I don't think it matters how your legs look. After all, you don't expect a man to have legs like Betty Grable."

"But have you ever worn them?"

"No," he admitted.

And so I return to the office in disappointment, watching the co-workers swaltering in ties, shirts and long pants. One of the fellows has been urging me to pioneer the Bermuda shorts myself. I have declined.

No courage, either.

Wolves Chase Moose Into Tent, So Women Flee

LONG LAC, Ont. (CP) — Mrs. Margaret Ambrose and her niece were close to nature last week-end.

While camping out near this northwestern Ontario town, the wonga were awakened during the early hours when a moose knocked down their tent. Right behind the moose was a pack of pursuing timber wolves.

The women joined the moose in flight to a nearby lake. In order to escape Mrs. Ambrose's niece fell from a canoe into the water.

THE TRAGEDY OF CYPRUS

A fortnight ago His Excellency Raoul Bibica-Rosetti, Ambassador of Greece to Canada, visited Belleville and, in an interview with a reporter of this paper, commented on the Cyprus crisis.

His Excellency made out a logical case for the Cypriotes' plea for the right to self-determination.

A few days later, the Ontario Intelligencer commented editorially on His Excellency's views, stating that no matter how logical the Cypriots' case might appear there were other factors to be considered.

"At the same time," the editorial concluded, "this is not a question which is insoluble so long as those with warm minds do not also possess hot heads, and the cool-headed are not also cold-hearted."

It is now tragically evident that there are hot heads to be reckoned with — and not all of them Cypriots.

The rioting in Turkish cities of Constantinople and Smyrna, (now Istanbul and Izmir), is a clear indication of the depth of Turkish feeling on the situation in Cyprus. Both these cities have large Greek populations and their riots were directed against the minority citizens of that race. Nor does the official Turkish explanation that the riots were the result of "a Communist plot and incitement" ring true. It may well be that Communists took advantage of the passions of young Turks to stir up trouble, but no such "plot and incitement" could have succeeded had there not already existed an atmosphere of tension and of resentment at Greek efforts to acquire control of Cyprus.

The alarming part of the situation is that the defence of the eastern Mediterranean against the threat of Communist infiltration and aggression depends upon close team-work among Turkey, Greece and Great Britain. Britain's interest in Cyprus is that she is to play her proper role in this alliance. The Greeks recognize that fact and are willing, even eager, for Britain to retain bases in a Cyprus granted self-rule.

But, asked the Ontario Intelligencer in its earlier editorial, "what would happen if, courting Greek favor, Britain alienated Turkey?"

As the distance, in miles and in outlook, that may have appeared to be a foolish question. What could the Turks care about a little island which they had not ruled for almost eight decades?

This week's riots in Istanbul and Izmir answer that question.

The Turks care — a lot.

It is frequently difficult, if not impossible, for Canadians to realize the depth of national sentiments existing in small nations with long histories. Animosities which one would suppose would have been eradicated by the passing of the years are easily fanned into flames. Greeks and Turks are ancient enemies. Of recent years they have been co-operating, in apparent harmony. But, when even a small-disagreement arises, old hates prove stronger than new friendships and commonsense is proven no match for long memories. Only the tragic meaning of the crisis can answer Cyprus. There appears now to be no possibility of any solution which will give reason for confidence that Britain, Turkey and Greece will continue to provide each other with that whole-hearted mutual support so much to be desired in guarding against the danger of any Red designs to expand into the Middle East and the Aegean area.

WIVES TO THE RESCUE

Writing in "The Atlantic," Sumner H. Slichter takes a close look at the guaranteed annual wage and discusses its effects on the economy of the United States. Several factors are involved in the whole, Mr. Slichter says, but one must conclude that the widespread adoption of supplementary unemployment compensation would strengthen rather than weaken the dynamic influences in the American economy."

Most interesting section of his survey deals with the argument, advanced by some, that the guaranteed annual wage will make men unwilling to work. Slichter replaces several reasons for doubting this contention. His first one appears reason enough.

"In the first place," says Mr. Slichter, "wives do not care to have idle husbands around the house when jobs are available, and the influence of the wives is not to be overlooked."

How true!

One must remember, however, that the displeasure of wives is not confined to women who are dissatisfied with American continent. Could it be that, in the Orient, where a husband is still the master of the house, the arrival of annual wage might be dangerous to the economy of the country? Would men in other lands be willing to be forced to work for the enthronement of the idle woman before they dare talk turkey to the big boss?

"HARVESTER SPECIALS"

Remember when they used to run harvester specials in Eastern Canada, to assist in taking off the bumper grain crops in Western Canada? When whole trainloads of men climbed aboard at Toronto, and other big centres for a cheap trip to the West, and a chance to make good money threshing and threshing? That does not seem long ago, but the excursions have long since passed into almost-forgotten history. — Stratford Beacon-Herald.

NEW HOME

o the builders depart, the new home's just begun, ble owners will find there's still much to be done,
igh possession may come on the specified date, indows are stuck and the carpets are late.

e's furniture missing that still is to come.
re leaks in the taps and

There's a cupboard the carpenter shelving forgot,
And strangely the hot water doesn't get hot.

I know that they wondered why
often I'd grin
When they told me on time they would surely move in.
But I'd once built a house for

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

Sept. 9, 1935

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elvins are quietly observing today the Diamond or 60th. anniversary of their wedding at their home on North Front Street. They were married by the late Rev. Canon W. Burke in St. Thomas' Church. Both were born in this city and have resided here constantly; they are numbered among the remaining pioneers of this city. Mrs. Elvins was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Conolly. Mr. Elvins is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Elvins. He is one of the oldest active grocers in the city and has been in the business established by his father, the late Richard Elvins, many years ago and in the same building which is known as the Elvins Block, more and Mrs. Elvins have many friends who will be happy to extend to them congratulations and good wishes, the former spending there will be a family gathering at home.

30 YEARS AGO

Sept. 9, 1925

Mr. George K. Graham's pigeons won numerous prizes in the classes in which they were entered at the Toronto Exhibition. The Standard Bone and Company of this city have been awarded the contract to re-roof the Picture Gallery and also repair the walls. The armouries were considerably damaged by the storm alone in that district a short time ago.

Mr. S. S. Gerow of this city attended the convention of the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen in Kansas City recently.

Mr. Joseph Tozer of Toronto, formerly of this city, is visiting friends here.

Messrs. J. V. C. Truaisch and Terry Dolan have returned home from Lakefield, where they spent Labor Day with Mr. and Mrs. Wesleymoon Lake. They had excellent sport fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Elvins of this city observed the 50th. or Golden Anniversary of their Wedding on Sept. 9. Many friends will be pleased to extend congratulations and good wished

Eddie Guest Honored

By Royce Howes
(Associate Editor, Detroit Free Press)

"More consistently than any man in the newspaper business of ours, Eddie Guest has shown us that returns paid in both tangibles and intangibles — by the constant exercise of simple human sympathy, of human understanding. Their dividends have been love, respect and confidence."

With this keynote message from Detroit's Mayor Albert E. Cobo, Arthur H. Knight, the Detroit Free Press editor, and 750 friends gathered at the Veterans and best-known staff member at a luncheon celebrating the poet's completion of the years he has broken service with the paper.

74th BIRTHDAY

Honored with Mr. Guest, who celebrated his 74th birthday the following day, were 231 others who have worked for the paper for 25 years or more.

Toastmaster at the luncheon, held at the Hotel Statler, was Lee Hills. Free Press vice president and executive editor. Among the speakers were Basil L. Walters, executive editor of the Knight Newspapers, and Henry C. Weidler, Free Press business manager.

It was on a summer day in 1895 that the long, happy association of poet and paper began. Young Edgar A. Guest, working as errand for his father, met Charles Hoyt on the steps of the Free Press Building.

Hoyt, an accountant for the paper, introduced the druggist where Eddie was a boy of all work. He bought lights of him and, at the chance meeting outside the Free Press, offered Eddie a job. Eddie took it.

It was thus that Eddie Guest, still several weeks short of his 16th birthday, began a newspaper career that has lasted 60 years.

15,000 VERSES

The date, Dec. 11, 1886, is firmly fixed in the annals of the Free Press. It was on that day that the paper carried its first of some 15,000 Eddie Guest verses.

For a year he was a copy boy, then a reporter. By the time he had reached a mere 24 he had shone so brilliantly that he was given his own column. He fell into the habit of beginning it each day with a bit of verse.

As he had once clipped the verse of others to amuse the copy-city, editors now began to clip the verse of Eddie Guest. His fame spread fast.

There were three books of Eddie Guest verses on hand in 1908, which Eddie produced with the help of his younger brother, Harry.

By 1916 Eddie Guest's reputation spread so far that propositions came from book publishing houses and syndicates. He signed up that year with Reilly & Britton (now Reilly & Lee) for books and with George Matthew Adams for syndication. These connections still stand.

Eddie doesn't miss deadlines. Every week the quota of verses comes off Eddie typewriter. Every day what he writes is read by an estimated 10,000,000 readers of more than 100 newspapers.

Famed poet, Radio star, Lecture-platform luminary, Hollywood. It could all be a far cry from the newspaper business.

But in Eddie Guest's case it through the years he persisted in wasn't. Whatever else he was, all being a newspaperman first.

By Any Other Name

(Cleveland Plain Dealer)

In the interests of armed force unification the dark navals will be come a mob after Oct. 1. But we have a hunch that decks will continue to be "swabbed" even though the operation is done with a mop.

A sailor can't make his objection to operating a swab would be most unhappy pushing a mop. It's all in the name.

New Society Hates Genius

(By J. B. Priestley in The London, Eng., New Statesman and Nation)

In our new society there is growing dislike of original creative men. The manipulators do not understand them; the manipulators fear them. The two types of men regard them with horror, although no psychologist can be found for them.

We could do with a few original creative men in our political life, if only to create some enthusiasm, to release some energy. But where are they? We are asked to choose between various shades of the negative. Neither bore the cold, colorless men, without ideas and with no other passion but a craving for success, get on in this society. . . .

I often have a nightmare vision of a future world in which there are billions of people, all numbered and registered, without a gleam of genius anywhere, not an original mind, a fresh personality, on the whole, packed globe. The twin ideals of our time, organization and quantity, are then seen to have won. . . .

We would like to have some towering geniuses, to reveal us to ourselves, to lead and fire, but of course they would have to fit into the pattern of our society and be ready to take orders from second administrative types. We have cultivated mediocrity for so long that we readily allotted to various types of genius; we have colossal fuss-making about scientists, we have built up the personality cult, we have our pundits, our highbrow-and-lowbrow-and-middlebrow.

We have throughout the land, painters and sculptors are teaching painters and sculptors to teach students how to teach teachers of painting and sculpture: in an infinite regress of unoriginal civilization. Never were there more publishers of literary books. All the wave-lengths hum with comment upod and discussion of the arts. Our society ought to be ablaze with genius. And if it is not, then perhaps it is because there are too few flames and far too many extinguishers. . . .

I happen to be fairly well acquainted with new fiction . . . I read scores of these books, you cannot browse in them, you must read. Yet among all these novels, where are the established writers waiting for that master, the other kinds of creative artists? Who and where are the massive talents, the towering personalities, the men of genius? . . .

I shall be told that we are reaching the end of a cultural epoch, that there is nowadays an age of criticism and not creation. This sounds all right until you look record for the criticism, and then you realize that it is out of date, that we have passed that point, that we are beginning something new and not too comfortable.

True we have criticism in quantity, but what about the quality? I do not say we have not still among us some critics well worth reading, but in the past, and not so short-winded; a spirit down a dusty road, on the lips of some the fit companions of the creative giants? . . .

No this is not an age of criticism. It is the new age of snap personal judgment, of the half-baked, of that, of snippety comment, of art reviews by statistic, of newspaper twaddle about somebody's head or boots.

In this chilly atmosphere a creative man feels himself to be like a rogue elephant. The flame of genius can find no fuel in it. So the great voices, proclaiming our deepest hopes, our anger and our brotherhood, no longer need to be raised. In the past, do not speak for us in our present situation, our millions of innocent people, who have to live with the dreadful threat of the promised land, wonder why they are not as happy as they ought to be. They wait for the truth that genius always proclaims, and some of them will have to wait a long time.

Conduct Test Of Monorail

(Montreal Gazette)

The United States is to make its first test of monorail. This is a method of public transportation which existed for 54 years in the Ruhr Valley in Germany. It is a special kind of elevated railway, in which passenger cars travel by a rail above its roof.

However, there has long been dissatisfied with its bus transit system. It has decided to test the monorail system. A mile track has been constructed in an old race track at Disneyland. Then the city will find out just how it works and whether it could be adapted more widely.

One of the chief merits of the system is that it costs about $2 million a mile compared with a mile for the usual type of elevated railway. But the very fact that 54 years have passed before an experiment was made in North America, and that even now it is to be tested first in an old race track, hardly suggests that it is the answer to the problem of city transit. Nevertheless, if the test proves successful it will be welcome.

New York is taking down its old elevated railway, and has considered if a new form of elevated railway should take its place.

But many cities are keeping an eye on the monorail, nonetheless. The feeling seems to be that in these days of congested traffic, any system is worth having a look at, even if this experimental line runs only 830 feet.

Paid With Life For Modesty

(Brockville Recorder and Times)

It seems hard to believe but a young woman has actually drowned because of her modesty over a rather odd situation in this day and age. Yet, on reading of the circumstances it is quite easy to picture in the mind's eye a modest born a generation too late, who was too shy and modest to save herself from drowning.

According to the news story, a young woman was bathing with her friends in the Thames and was drowned — all because she was to proper to lift her skirt above the water to swim to safety. Instead she allowed herself to be drowned rather than have her modesty outraged.

Modesty has long been considered a virtue in the female sex, but this is carrying it to the extreme. Perhaps it is just that I have always been more interested in dollars than decency.

But the fact remains that despite great wealth, great power and the fare that characterizes these times, really and truly the majority of Canadians still have the old-fashioned modesty, a thousand things strive to divert our attention from this fact. Modern merchandizing, as practiced by the supermarkets and the big department stores, has become a theatrical art. Drama is injected into the selling of goods, if only the court: "Her skirt may have restricted her movements. She was a modest girl. She would not lift her skirt, she would allow it to cover her ankles."

In an era of Bikini bathing suits, of immodest Italian fashions, shorts and low cut blouses. It is most difficult to realize that such modesty still exists. While such modesty causes many a raised eyebrow, in some cases it might be preferable — especially when shield modesty reserve has been a direct contribution to an unnecessary drowning!

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

PROBLEMS

The highest purpose of our birth was not merely to eat, sleep, and to gratify ourselves. We are full of use—to make others happy, to carry out comfort, and to fortify the faith of them with whom we come in contact. Misers are not happy even in their money, much money they may continue to hoard. The selfish people who live only to expend themselves that this world be a freer and more inspiring place in which to work and live.

We were put here to face problems and to master them in the best way we know. Problems are universal. Everyone has them, as well as unremitting and pains. The objective is universal good and everything stands in opposition. Peace of mind and peace of soul is to be found by each of us to be worthy and friendly.

We wouldn't amount to much if we never had problems to solve. Problems challenge the faith, the courage and the strength of us all. The great of this earth have been, and are, the courageous ones who brush aside difficulties and who do the "impossible" things that others say cannot be done. They are to mind the outstanding men and women of the world, the men who have lived, solved them, and kept passing on to greater things.

Nations, as we know, have problems that at times seem insurmountable—but in time they are solved to the benefit of all. The great nations are those that always have problems, but who face them without fear and confidence. We, as individuals, must do the same, armed with resolution whenever the emergency calls.

It takes good thinking to solve problems. It takes good thinking for trained men and women. Think then, Canadians. Think! Don't constantly faced, and Henry Ford. The people thought the latter was mad when he demonstrated with that small "horseless carriage" that there was a place for "the universal automobile," to get people out into the clean open air and give them time in carrying on their work, no matter what that work might be. The problem was solved! Then it was that the timid people had the confidence of the pioneers. Problems? Never will there be none!

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

How Much For One Tooth?

In a survey, sort of a sampling of the condition of the teeth of people in all parts of the country, urban, rural and metropolitan, it was found (Public Health Reports) that of each 1,000 persons, 647 had fillings, 286 had their teeth 18 had bridges, 17 had crowns, 12 had plates and . . .

Shame, shame on you poor souls who squander your money on brushes and glorified soap.

One hundred and five thought enough of their teeth to keep 'em in good working condition. In other words, 105 out of each thousand Yankee Wisecracs reached by the survey visited the dentist once a year for prophylaxis. The other 895 just brush their teeth like mad, with whatever magic and germ-killer the pretty boys and girls in the magazines and listen with ears that didn't the dentists themselves teach or imply, only a few years ago, that "a clean tooth never decays."

Prophylaxis

Every dentist knows what it means, but unfortunately a good many dentists demand their patients to regard it as an extraordinary cleaning, comparable with spring housecleaning in the halcyon days when we had carpets (huh, I mean the carpet, the rag carpet) on the line in the yard and beat the bejabers out of it.

Not so sure, a good dentist generally scales, cleans, and polishes, or directs his technician to do so when he or she has finished the important part of prophylaxis — the inspection of teeth and gums and whatever treatment this inspection shows the patient requires.

Health, good condition, good looks, vim, functional efficiency, longevity—or in a word, good nutrition — begins in the mouth where an important part of digestion occurs, the insalivation of starch and digestion of cooked starch by ptyalin, an enzyme in the saliva, if the food is properly masticated. This is physiology and hence dull and uninteresting to the cocktail-barbiturate set.

For every tooth lost and not immediately replaced by a functionally efficient denture, deduct one to two years from your life expectancy.

In other words the value of a tooth is what you'd give for another year of good health."

In this column several times I have said every functionally efficient tooth, your own or your denture's worth at least $1,000. I cited here recently a court's estimate of the money compensation for the loss of teeth at a base rate of $1,-000 per tooth.

TRIFLING ADVENTURE

A teacher remarked recently that application counts vastly more in the making of a satisfactory character than does ability. People who test very high in the matter of ability often go to college and either flunk out or maintain an unsatisfactory standing in scholarship.

All this, of course, is just another way of saying that moral character is of more importance than ability, perhaps it would be better to say that high-grade moral character and character not so high-grade is destined either to failure or half-success. Many times when they go to college and confront freedom for the first time, simply by wide contact the same is true of girls. In fact it can be said with considerable certainty that there has not been a time in generations when young people were in greater need

Balmy Beach Turned Down On Request

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Balmy Beach, the play-for-fun team of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, didn't have much fun at a league meeting here.

A Beach request to play six United States imports—even for free—was withdrawn Wednesday night after the league's two other teams said it wouldn't be good policy.

Beach said it wanted to play two Sarnia castoffs, Bernie Richardson and Bobby Lee, in addition to its four regular imports, Harvey Singleton, Bill Bass, Ulysses Curtis and Ossiem Fisher.

Sarnia was willing as long as it could play six imports too. Norm Perry, Sarnia president, said it wouldn't be fair to the Sarnia players to ask them to play against six imports when they only had four. Kitchener said no because it couldn't afford two more imports.

The ORFU last March agreed four imports would be the limit. They must be declared after the team plays its third game. Sarnia is the only team that has played three games.

The six Beach players were classified as U. S. imports under a Canadian Rugby Union rule change this year that to be classified as Canadian, a player from the United States must have his Canadian citizenship.

Previously the rule was that if the player had played four consecutive seasons of Canadian football he was a Canadian. Most of the six Beach players have played four consecutive seasons.

PREPARE BRIEF

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's two big labor congresses, their planned merger still not formally complete, already are starting to act in unison. The Trades and Labor Congress and Canadian Congress of Labor are preparing a joint brief to the royal commission on Canada's economic future. It likely will be presented early next year.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — "There'll be no letup if I can help it. We'll win as many as we can from here on in."

So said Walter (Smokey) Alston after his Brooklyn Dodgers squelched Milwaukee Braves 10-2 Thursday night and clinched the National League pennant on the earliest calendar date in the history of the circuit.

Alston, the "unknown" who was named Brooklyn pilot at the close of the 1953 season after four seasons at Montreal, said his uppermost problem is guarding against a letdown.

A letdown might be expected since Dodgers can sit back and watch four American League clubs —Cleveland, New York, Chicago and Boston — whack each other around for the chance to meet them in the world series starting Sept. 28.

TWO WAYS

There are two ways of looking at such a situation:

Brooks will be well rested and will have their pitching rotation set for the eventual American League winner, tired after the long dog fight for the title.

Or, the team that finally wins the home-circuit crown will be keyed to a high pitch and carry it over into the autumn classic against a National League entry that has lost its edge because of the absence of pressure.

It was Brooklyn's 11th pennant since the circuit was founded in 1876 and the ninth since 1900. The modern Bums, with five pennants in the last seven years, have never won a series.

Brooks left little doubt as to their target from the opening gun, ticking off winning streaks of 10 games and leading by 9½ lengths after their first 24 games.

SINCLAIR LEAVES

OTTAWA (CP) — Fisheries minister Sinclair, painfully injured when a stairway collapsed early last month during his visit to Petropavlovsk, has left the Russian fishing centre on the Bering sea for Peiping. The external affairs department was informed Thursday by cable that Mr. Sinclair left by Soviet whaling ship Sept. 3. He is due in the Communist China capital next Tuesday.

Etcheverry May Not Line Up Against Argos

MONTREAL (CP)—The possibility has arisen that Sam Etcheverry will be among the missing when Montreal Alouettes are host to Toronto Argos Saturday and that Joe Zeleski will take over at quarterback.

Etcheverry suffered a charley-horse injury in Monday's Big Four game at Ottawa and hasn't worked out regularly.

There was the further possibility, although believed less likely, that halfback Chuck Hunsinger will miss his third game because of a groin injury.

Coach Douglas (Peahead) Walker classed both players as doubtful.

Ticats and Als Ready to Make Player Trade

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four will trade Blackie Kincaid, a halfback from University of South Carolina, to Montreal Alouettes in exchange for either Jim Staton or Al Mazurkowiecki, both tackles, it was reported Thursday night.

Kincaid, 182-pound back who once was the property of Washington Redskins, said he had talked with Montreal coach Doug Walker and would report to the Alouette training camp "as soon as possible."

The 27 - year - old Staton was named to The Canadian Press Big Four all-star defensive team last year.

Meanwhile, Jack McGee, 23-year-old guard traded by Toronto Argonauts along with Nobby Wirkowski and Johnny Tedondi in a deal that sent halfback Dick Brown to Toronto, was given his release by Hamilton. The cut was the first expected during the short time required for declaration of 10 American imports.

WILL VISIT RUSSIA

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Prime Minister Tage Erlander of Sweden said today that he has accepted an invitation to visit the Soviet Union early next year. Sedish Foreign Minister Osaten Unden paid a semi-official visit to Russia last summer.

Par Baffles All But Handful Of Top Golfers

SCOTCH PLAINS, N. J. (AP)—Marty Furgol and Walker Inman shot 68s to lead the field as par 70 baffled all but a handful of the 155 entrants in the $50,000 Canadian Open golf tournament Thursday.

The humpy Shackamaxon Country Club course took a tremendous toll from aspirants to the $10,000 first prize. The list included practically every active "name" pro.

Two strokes behind the leaders was a trio that eked out a draw with par. The three, all tournament - hardened veterans, were Freddie Haas, Ted Kroll and diminutive Jerry Barber.

SNEAD IN CLOSE

Sam Snead, the favorite, stayed in close with a 71, the same score registered by Carry Middlecoff, Gene Littler, Dick Mayer, Bud Holscher and Bob Crowley.

Jerry Kesselring of Kitchener, Ont., who tied last week for fourth place in the $20,000 Insurance City Open in Wethersfield, Conn., was five strokes behind the leaders, bracketed with six others at 76. He shot 37 for the opening nine and 36 for the incoming nine.

The tournament will continue through Sunday with 18 holes scheduled each day, and the field cut to 60 and ties after today's round.

Motor Accidents Take Huge Toll

OTTAWA (CP)—Motor vehicle accidents cost nine provinces in Canada 140 dead in May, the bureau of statistics reported today.

In all provinces but Quebec a total of 9,257 accidents were reported to police, taking a toll in addition to the dead of 3,854 injured and $2,936,154 in property damage—more than half this total in Ontario alone. Figures from Quebec were not available.

There were 126 accidents resulting in fatalities, 2,682 that caused injury and 6,449 in which only property damage was involved.

Ontario had 86 dead and 2,216 injured.

St. Thomas Wins Baseball Title 2nd Straight Year

OSHAWA (CP)—St. Thomas Elgins are Senior Intercounty Baseball League champions for the second straight year.

Elgins won the title Thursday night as they took advantage of five Oshawa Merchant errors to win the fifth game 10-4 and the best-of-seven final series 4-1.

The champions lost only one game in the eight playoff contests they played. They swept by Brantford Red Sox in three straight in a best-five semi-final series after ending the regular season in a second-place tie with Kitchener Panthers, knocked out of the running by Oshawa in four games during the semi-finals.

Both teams smashed 11 hits but, as in the other four games of the set, Merchants couldn't bunch their blows effectively. They left nine men stranded on the basepaths against four left by St. Thomas.

Elgins went out in front 2-0 in the second inning but Merchants tied the score in the third. Then St. Thomas scored eight runs in the fifth, four in the seventh and a pair in the eighth—before Oshawa counted two in the final frame.

HURLED WHOLE GAME

Manager Tommy White pitched the entire game for the champions and also hit three singles in three official trips to the plate. He drove in a run and added a sacrifice bunt.

What proved to be the final run was the first to cross the plate in the seventh. Shortstop Herm Mazzo opened the inning with a single and was followed by White who also singled. Ollie Wall sacrificed both runners and was safe on a throwing error.

Cec Hall started on the mound for Oshawa but as blasted to the showers in the seventh with Billy Myers taking over.

The biggest thorn in Merchants' hitching side was Mazzo. The shortstop, who committed the winners' only two errors, hit four singles in as many trips to bat.

Mr., Mrs. A. Bates Honored On 25th Anniversary

ROSLIN — About 45 friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bates of Roslin, gathered at their home on Saturday evening last to surprise them on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Bates were married on August 7th, 1930 in the Anglican church, Tweed, officiated by the Rev. Arthur Smith, now rector of Christ Church, Deer Park, Toronto.

Attending the couple at that time were Mr. Miles Sexsmith, now with Harry Mouck, of Peterborough, and the bridegroom's brother, Mr. William Bates of Roslin. Both were present at the anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Bates have four children: Isabelle, Reg. N., who is nurse at the offices of Drs. Hart and Empson of Roslin; Mary, employed at the Hydro office in Belleville; Mrs. Douglas Reid (Norma) of Niagara Falls, and Donald, at home.

The family presented their parents with a Lazy-Boy chair and Mr. and Mrs. Bates also received many other gifts.

Cards and a social time were enjoyed, followed by refreshments.

Best wishes were extended the couple for many more years of happiness.

St. Margaret's Celebrates 5th Anniversary

Almost five years ago to the day, on September 10, 1950, upon the completion of the basement of the new church, the first service was held in St. Margaret's-in-the-Hill. This coming Sunday the anniversary of that event will be commemorated.

From 1950 to 1951 the Rev. R. M. Caldwell was in charge, and in 1951 the present rector, the Rev. L. Arthur Page, after a short ministry at Roslin, Ontario, assumed the parish rectorship. Previous to this, Mr. Page had, for four years, been assistant rector at St. Alban's Cathedral in Prince Albert, Sask., and rector of St. George's Anglican church in the same city for a period of ten years.

During the past five years the congregation has grown with 145 families now attending. There are two Women's Guilds, the St. John's Guild, and St. Margaret's Guild; one Women's Auxiliary, a Girls' Auxiliary, a Junior Auxiliary; an Altar Guild, a Little Helpers' branch, and a Men's Club.

Last year a pledge of $43,000 was made to the building fund, of which Mr. J. Bennett is treasurer, and Mr. J. Ritchie, chairman.

At the present time, the building committee, under the chairmanship of Mr. S. Sillitoe, is formulating plans for the completion of the church in the not too distant future.
